HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

A MOST MIRACULOUS CURE OF BAD LEGS, AFTER 43 YEARS' SUFFERING.

Extract of a Letter from Mr. William Galpin, of 70, St. Mary's Street, Weymouth, dated May 15th, 1851.

To Professor HOLLOWAY,

SIR,—At the age of 13 my wife (who is now 61) caught a violent cold, which settled in her legs, and ever since that time they have been more or less sore, and greatly inflamed. Her agonies were distracting, and for months together she was deprived entirely of rest and sleep. Every remedy that medical men advised was tried, but without effect; her health suffered severely, and the state of her legs was terrible. I had often read your Advertisements, and advised her to try your Pills and Ointment; and, as a last resource, after every other remedy had proved useless, she consented to do so. She commenced six weeks ago, and, strange to relate, is now in good health. Her legs are painless, without seam or scars, and her sleep sound and undisturbed. Could you have witnessed the sufferings of my wife during the last 43 years, and contrast them with her present enjoyment of health, you would indeed feel delighted in having been the means of so greatly alleviating the sufferings of a fellow creature.

(Signed) WILLIAM GALPIN.

A PERSON 70 YEARS OF AGE CURED OF A BAD LEG, OF THIRTY YEARS' STANDING.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. William Abbs, Builder of Gas Works, of Rushcliffe, near Huddersfield, dated May 31st, 1851.

To Professor HOLLOWAY,

SIR,—I suffered for a period of thirty years from a bad leg, the result of two or three different accidents at Gas Works, accompanied by scourbutic symptoms. I had recourse to a variety of medical advice, without deriving any benefit, and was even told that the leg must be amputated, yet, in opposition to that opinion, your Pills and Ointment have effected a complete cure in so short a time, that few who had not witnessed it would credit the fact.

(Signed) WILLIAM ABBS.

The truth of this statement can be verified by Mr. W. P. England, Chemist, 13 Market Street, Huddersfield.

A DREADFUL BAD BREAST CURED IN ONE MONTH.

Extract of a Letter from Mr. Frederick Turner, of Penshurst, Kent, dated Dec. 13th, 1850.

To Professor HOLLOWAY,

DEAR SIR,—My wife had suffered from Bad Breast, for more than six months, and during the whole period had the best medical attendance, but all to no use. Having before healed an awful wound in my own leg by your unrivalled medicine, I determined again to use your Pills and Ointment, and therefore gave them a trial in her case, and fortunate it was I did so, for in less than a month a perfect cure was effected, and the benefit that various other branches of my family have derived from their use is really astonishing. I now strongly recommend them to all my friends. (Signed) FREDERICK TURNER.

A WONDERFUL CURE OF A DANGEROUS SWELLING OF THE KNEE.

Copy of a Letter from John Forfar, an Agriculturist, residing at Newborough, near Hexham, May 15, 1850

To Professor HOLLOWAY,

SIR,—I was afflicted with a swelling on each side of the leg, rather above the knee, for nearly two years, which increased to a great size. I had the advice of three eminent surgeons here, and was an inmate of the Newcastle Infirmary for four weeks. After various modes of treatment had been tried, I was discharged as incurable. Having heard so much of your Pills and Ointment, I determined to try them and in less than a month I was completely cured. What is more remarkable I was engaged twelve hours a day in the hay harvest, and although I have followed my laborious occupation througeout the winter, I have had no return whatever of my complaint. (Signed) JOHN FORFAR

AN INFLAMMATION IN THE SIDE PERFECTLY CURED.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. Francis Arnot, of Breahouse, Lothian Road, Edinbro', dated April 29th, 1851.

To Professor HOLLOWAY.

SIR,—For more than twenty years my wife has been subject, from time to time, to attacks of inflammation in the side, for which she was bled and blistered to a great extent, still the pain could not be removed. About four years ago she saw, in the papers, the wonderful cures effected by your Pills and Ointment, and thought she would give them a trial. To her great astonishment and delight she got immediate relief from their use, and after persevering for three weeks, the pain in her side was completely cured, and she has enjoyed the best of health for the last four years.

(Signed) FRANCIS ARNOT.

The Pills should be used conjointly with the Ointment in most of the following cases;—

Bad Legs	Chiego-foot	Sore-throats
Bad Breasts	Chilblains	Skin diseases
Burns	Chapped hands	Scurvy
Bunions	Corns (soft)	Sore-heads

	Contracted and Stiff Joints	Ulcers
		Wounds
Fistulas	Gout	Glandular Swellings
Lumbago	Piles
Rheumatism	Scalds	Sore Nipples
Coco-bay	Elephantiasis	Yaws

LADIES' NAMES.

There is a strange deformity
Combined with countless graces,
As often in the ladies' names
As in the ladies faces.
Some names are fit for every age,
Some fit for only youth,
Some passing sweet and musical,
Some horribly uncouth;
Some fit for dames of loftiest grades,
Some only fit for scullery maids.

Ann is too plain and common,
And Nancy sounds but ill,
Yet Anna is endurable,
And Annie better still.
There is a grace in Charlotte,
In Eleanor a state,
An elegance in Isabella,
A haughtiness in Kate;
And Sarah is sedate and neat,
And Ellen innocent and sweet.

Matilda has a sickly sound,
Fit for nurses' trade;
Sophia is effeminate,
And Esther staid and sage;
Elizabeth is a matchless name,
Fit for a queen to wear,
In castle, cottage, hut or hall,
A name beyond compare;
And Bess or Bessy follow well,
But Betsy is detestable.

Maria is too forward,
And Gertrude is too gruff,
Yet coupled with a pretty face,
Is pretty name enough.
Adelaide is fanciful,
And Laura is too fine,
But Emily is beautiful,
And Mary is divine.
Maud only suits a high born dame,
And Fanny is a baby name.

Eliza is not very choice,
Jane is too blunt and bold,
And Martha somewhat sorrowful,
And Lucy proud and cold;
Amelia is too light and gay,
Fit only for a flirt,
Caroline is vain and shy,
And Flora smart and pert,
Louisa is too soft and sleek,
But Alice, gentle, chaste and meek.

Harriet is confiding,
And Clara grave and mild,
And Emma is affectionate,
And Janet arch and wild,
Patience is expressive,
And Grace is old and rare,
And Catharine is warm and dutiful,
And Margaret frank and fair,
And Faith, Hope, and Charity
Are heavenly names for sisters three.

Miscellaneous.

MARRIAGE CEREMONY IN SOUTH CAROLINA.—A case of bigamy was recently tried in Cheraw county, South Carolina, and discharged. In the charge of his honor, Judge Frost, to the jury, he remarked that there was no law in the State of South Carolina prescribing a marriage ceremonial. If Mr. A. and Miss. jump over a broom, the former saying I take this woman to be my wedded wife, and the latter, I take this man to be my wedded husband, and go to housekeeping, they are legally married, have entered into a bond of union which cannot be annulled, so long as they both do live.

HUSBANDS.—It may be said generally of husbands, as the woman said of hers, who had abused her, to an old maid, who reproached her for marrying him—"To be sure he is not so good a husband as he ought to be, but he is a powerful sight better than none."

"Now, papa, tell me what is humbug?" "It is," replied papa, "when mamma pretends to be very fond of me, and puts no buttons on my shirt."

A Gowk's Errand.

More than twenty years ago, one of the oldest and most respectable peruke makers in town was a Mr. C——, who kept an elegant shop in William Street. He was busily engaged on a bright morning of a first of April in brushing the dust from his glass cases and various delicate wares, when a milk-cart stopped opposite to his shop, and the person in charge, a burly countryman, stalked in to the counter.

"Are you Mr. C——?"

"The same, sir; at your service," was the answer.

"Lady Shaw Stewart wishes to see you at Ardgowan this forenoon, with a selection of the most fashionable frontlets."

The gratification of the dapper little periquier may be imagined at this order, direct from the most illustrious family in the district; and he assured the knight errant that the wish of the lady would be implicitly complied with.

A few hours after saw him knock for admission at the hall door of the manor house of Ardgowan, bearing with him several fancy boxes of frontlets. The name of the first hairdresser in Greenock was not new in the baronial hall, and the result of its announcement was an order from her ladyship to show him into the audience chamber. The lady immediately followed, and was received by the little man with all the air of a French dancing master.

"Very proud of your ladyship's patronage; very! Beautiful goods! All London make, and newest patterns!" and he proceeded to submit the frontlets for her ladyship's inspection.

Lady Stewart hastily glanced at them, but expressed her satisfaction at not having any occasion for such an article of female embellishment.

The little man hesitated for some time, looked thoughtful, and wondered if there might not be some mistake.

"I fear, Mr. C——," said Lady Stewart, "that you have been sent a gowk's errand; are you not aware that this is gowk's day?"

"I beg your ladyship's pardon—I see through it," said Mr. C——, looking terribly abashed; and quickly huddling up his wares, he made a hasty and awkward retreat through the policy, muttering curses all the way home on the authors of his gowk's errand, and vowing that never as long as he lived, would he be again sent to hunt-the-gowk on a first of April.

He was sitting in his shop on the afternoon of the same day, chewing the bitter end of disappointment, his wit busily engaged in trying to guess who had befooled him, when a boy entered in hot haste, and put the following note into his hand:—

"The editor of the ——— has heard of Mr. C——'s trip to Ardgowan to-day and as it will make a good joke for to-morrow's paper, he will feel obliged by Mr. C—— giving him the particulars."

The reading of the note acted on the periquier like a galvanic shock. The gowk's errand was bad enough, but to be made the laughing stock of the whole town was a thousand times worse. In desperation he rushed to the sanctum of the editor.

"In God's name, sir, you surely don't intend to make a fool of me in earnest!"

"How?" coolly asked the editor.

"How! Why in publishing in your paper my gowk's errand to-day to Ardgowan."

"My dear Sir, I never heard a word about it till now."

"The devil you didn't! Did you not send me a note a few minutes ago?"

"Not I."

"Done again!" gasped the enraged periquier as he rushed back to his shop, where he was greeted by two or three wags of neighbours, who had laid the whole plot; and the day's proceedings afforded much merriment at a late sederunt in the evening over a glass of toddy, which greatly abated the barber's chagrin; and we understand he had no reason afterwards to regret being sent as a hunt-the-gowk to Ardgowan.—Greenock Herald.

Sketch of a Fine Lady.

MARIE ST. CLARE is the type of a class of women not peculiar to any latitude, or any condition of society. She may be found in England, as well as America. In the northern free states we may have many St. Clares, more or less fully developed. When found in a northern latitude, she is for ever in trouble about her domestic relations. Her servants never do anything right. Strange to tell, they are not perfect, and she thinks it a very great shame. She is fully convinced that she ought to have every moral and Christian virtue in her kitchen, for a little less than ordinary wages; and when her cook leaves her, because she finds she can get better wages and less work in a neighbouring family, she thinks it shockingly selfish, unprincipled conduct. She is of opinion that servants ought to be perfectly disinterested; that they ought to be willing to take up with the worst room in the house, with very moderate wages, and very indifferent food, when they can get much better elsewhere, purely for the sake of pleasing her. She likes to get hold of foreign servants, who have not yet learned our ways, who are used to working for low wages, and who will be satisfied with almost anything; but she is often heard to lament that they soon get spoiled, and want as many privileges as any body else, which is perfectly shocking. Marie often wishes that she could be a slaveholder, or could live somewhere where the lower classes are kept down, and made to know their place. She is always hunting for cheap seamstresses, and will tell you in an undertone, that she has discovered a woman who will make linen shirts beautifully, stitch the collars and wristbands twice, all for thirty-seven cents, when many seamstresses get a dollar for it; says she does it because she's poor, and has no friends; thinks you had better be careful in your conversation, and not let her know what prices are, or else she will get spoiled, and go to raising her price, sewing women are so selfish. When Marie St. Clare has the misfortune to live in a free state, there is no end to her troubles. Her cook is always going off for better wages and more comfortable quarters; her chambermaid, strangely enough, won't agree to be chambermaid and seamstress both for half wages, and so she deserts. Marie's kitchen cabinet, therefore, is always in a state of revolution, and she often declares, with affecting eagerness that servants are the torment of her life. If her husband endeavours to remonstrate or suggest another mode of treatment, he is a hard-hearted, unfeeling man; "he doesn't love her, and she always knew he didn't;" and so he is disposed of.—Key to Uncle Tom's Cabin.

Sleeping Flowers.

Almost all flowers sleep during the night. The marigold goes to bed with the sun, and with him rises weeping. Many plants are so sensitive that their leaves close during the passage of the cloud. The dandelion opens at five or six in the morning, and shuts at nine in the evening. The "Goat's Beard" wakes at three in the morning and shuts up its blossom in the evening and opens its "day eye" to meet the early beams of the morning sun. The crocus, tulip, and many others, close their blossoms at different hours towards evening. The ivy leaved lettuce opens at eight in the morning, and closes forever at four in the afternoon.

The night flowering cureus turns night into day. It begins to expand its magnificent, sweet scented blossoms in the twilight, and it is in full-bloom at midnight, and closes, never to open again, with the dawn of day. In a clover field not a leaf opens until after sunrise!

So says a celebrated English author, who has devoted much time to the study of plants, and watched them during their quiet slumbers. These plants which seem to be awake all night, he styles "the bats and owls of the vegetable kingdom."

Limits of the Human Mind.

Sir Isaac Newton was one day asked why he stepped forward when he was so inclined? and from what cause his arm and hand obeyed his will? He honestly replied that he knew nothing about the matter. "But, at last," said they, "you are so well acquainted with the gravitation of the planets, tell us why they turn one way sooner than another?" Newton still avowed his ignorance.—Those who teach that the ocean was salted for fear it should corrupt, and that the tides were created to conduct ships into port, were little ashamed when told that the Mediterranean has ports, but no tides.—Who has ever been able to determine precisely how a billet of wood is changed into red hot charcoal, and by what mechanism lime is heated by cold water?—the first motion of the heart in animals: is that accounted for? Has any one divined the cause of sensation, ideas, and memory? We know no more of the essence of matter than the children who touch its superfices—Who will instruct us in the mehanism by which a grain of corn which we cast into the earth disposes itself, to produce a stalk surmounted with an ear?—or why the sun produces an apple on one tree and a chesnut on the one next to it?—Many doctors have said, "What know I not?" Montaigne said, "What know I"—Scientific American.

Waterloo Yarns.

The world has been listening for years to stories of Waterloo; but it would seem that like a certain other commodity, long since familiar to our readers, "there are a few more left of the same sort." We do not remember to have seen the following in print, though in these typographic times, were that really the case, it would be the most curious point in it:—An individual who owned a small tavern near the eventful field, was frequently questioned by visitors as to whether he did not possess some relics of the battle, and as invariably as honestly answered in the negative. But he was very poor, and one day while lamenting to a neighbor, not only his poverty, but the annoyances to which travellers subjected him, his friend cut him short with,

"Well, make the one help the other. Make some relics!"

"But what can I do?" inquired the poor one.

"Tell them that Napoleon or Wellington entered your shop, during the battle, and sat down on that chair."

Not long after an English tourist entered, and, inquiring for relics, heard the chair story. The chair was at once bought at an incredible price. The next comer was informed that Wellington had taken a drink, and the "Wellington tumbler" was accordingly sold. The third arrival gazed with breathless wonder at the nail on which Bonaparte had "hung up his hat." The fourth purchased the door posts between which he entered, and the fifth became the happy possessor of the floor on which he had trodden. At the last advices, the fortunate tavern keeper had not a roof to cover his head, and was seen sitting on a bag of gold in the centre of a deep pit formed by selling the dirt on which the house had stood!

A beautiful hyena and a wild cat, a present from the Queen of Portugal to her Majesty Queen Victoria, were brought by the Iberia to England.

ADVICE TO A BRIDE.—I beg to remind my new daughter that the husband has a thousand elements of disturbance in his daily avocations to which his wife is an utter stranger; and it will be her privilege, and her title to the respect of all whose respect is worth living, to make his own fireside the most attractive place in the universe for the calm repose of a weary body or excited mind. The minor comforts, which are the most valuable, because the most constantly in requisition, will depend more upon her looks, her manner, and the evidences of her forethought, than upon all the other occurrences of life.—Parental Precepts.

A NOBLE RESOLUTION.—When Sidney was told he might save his life by telling a falsehood—by denying his hand writing—he said, "When God hath brought me into a dilemma in which I must assert a lie or loose my life, he gives me a clear indication of my duty, which is to prefer death to falsehood."

GOOD ADVICE.—Never be put down by trifles. If a spider breaks his thread twenty times, twenty times will he mend it again.

Make up your mind to do a thing, and you will do it. Fear not if a trouble comes upon you. Keep up your spirits though the day be a dark one.

Fight hard against a hasty temper. Anger will come, but resist strongly. A fit of passion may give you cause to mourn all the days of your life.

FROM A CHILE LETTER.—An Englishman, married a Chileno woman, who has lost five out of seven children, asked his wife, the other day, where she supposed the other boys were. "Oh" she answered, "they are watering the flowers in the garden of the Lord."

MIND.—"Mind has a fearful power. It can sin. Mind has a tremendous susceptibility. It may suffer punishment. It may be made conscious of infinite displeasure and opposition. It may be wrecked in all its highest interests and hopes. All things else fulfil their course. None fail. None are frustrated. But this, in its defeat and perversion, may draw down upon himself an insupportable misery. It may be undone in its own undoing."

FALSEHOOD.—Falsehood could do but little mischief if it did not gain the credit of truth. Truth overcomes falsehood, and suspicion cannot live before perfect frankness.

The words of the widow Helvetius to Napoleon are worth remembering: "You cannot conceive how much happiness can be found on three acres of land."

The number of British castles of which there are known to be existing remains, is, in England, 461; Wales, 107; Scotland, 155; Ireland, 120; total, 843; and it is probable, if a more accurate search were made, it would be found near a thousand.

Councillor Lamb, an old man when the present Lord Erskine was in the height of his reputation, was a man of timid manners and nervous disposition, and usually prefaced his pleadings with an apology to that effect. On one occasion when opposed to Erskine, he remarked that he "felt himself growing more and more timid as he grew older." "No wonder," remarked the witty but relentless barrister, "every one knows the older a Lamb grows the more sheepish he becomes."

"You labor too hard on your composition, doctor," said a flippant clergyman to a venerable divine. "I write a sermon in three hours, and make nothing of it." "So your congregation say," quoth the doctor.

My German friend, how long have you been married? "Vel, dis is a ting vat I seldom do n't like to tauk apout, put ven I does it seems to be so long as it never vas."

NEW SUBMARINE TELEGRAPH.—The laying down of a telegraphic line between England and the continent, leading from London to Holland, is now in progress. It is to pass northeasterly from London, through the County of Suffolk, and to cross the German Ocean in nearly a direct line to the Continent. The place at which the work is now going on, is between Ipswich and Orfordness, on the sea coast. The iron cable is to be enclosed in an iron pipe, laid to the depth of two feet below the surface of the earth. Forty or fifty men are employed and it is expected that four miles of the line will be completed in the first fortnight. To avoid the expense of iron pipes, earthen pipes are to be adopted, throughout the greater part of the line. From the selection of a part of the sea for the crossing, which is much wider than at the channel at Dover Strait, it may be inferred that the laying of the line across the sea is not materially more expensive than to lay it on land, and that it is deemed equally safe as to lay it on land.—Boston D. Adv.

WILD ANIMALS FROM THE WEST.—Mr. Clarke Mills, the sculptor, has brought to the city of Washington some interesting specimens of the native inhabitants of the Western forests. Among them the buffalo, the elk, male and female, and the Mexican wild horse. The buffalo is from the Rocky Mountains, very wild and fierce, but long travel by rail road and steamboat has tamed it down very much. The wild horse is sixteen hands high, and a spirited fellow. He is reputed to be of the Andalusian breed, which the Spaniards introduced into Mexico in the time of Cortez, and which became wild. A few days since, while the buffalo was quietly feeding, his attention was attracted by a crimson shawl worn by a fair visitor, upon which he became greatly excited, threw himself into a belligerent attitude, and giving a tremendous bellow threatened to break from his confinement, to the alarm of the bystanders. The lady retreated, and his excitement subsided.—Ib.

STRAIGHT RAILROADS.—Two little attention has been paid in most of the railroads of more recent construction to the curves. These are much too frequent, and to abrupt for safety. Something is saved in the first cost, and often in the grade by frequent curves, but in the long run, the straighter the road the better. In this respect, as in most others, the Stonington road is an admirable work. For a good part of the distance, it is an air line, and it was so run, although the surveys showed that something would be gained in the first cost by curving. Some one asked why there were so many curves on the Western road, and was answered that there were twenty directors, and every director had a crook of his own. This was not true of some of them, but when one director had no crook of his own, we suppose another had two.—Providence Journal.

THE CALORIC ENGINE.—The Caloric engine which Capt. Ericsson has just completed for the office of the New York Evening Post, is to be forwarded to France in the Humboldt, in order to save a forfeiture of the patent; the law of that country requiring that a working model of the machinery patented shall be in operation within a given time. The limit not allowing sufficient time to build another engine renders the forwarding of this one inperative. The proprietors of the Post consent to this arangement, hoping to be supplied with another engine of the same kind in the course of a few weeks.

JAMAICA.—The steamer El Paraguay, from Charleston, arrived at Kingston on the 24th April, with two slaves on board, who had been secreted by the steward. Great excitement was afterwards raised by a report that another slave had been found on board by the Captain, and put in irons; a mob of negroes was collected, who became so threatening that the magistrates were forced to search the ship in order to pacify them. In the meantime however parties of negroes had gone off in boats, and began stoning the steamer, while another party proceeded to Port Royal, and tried to induce the Commodore to stop the steamer at that place, and subject her to another search. This was refused; quiet was finally restored, and the El Paraguay proceeded, leaving her steward, a colored man, who had been induced by the rioters to remain at Kingston.

ROBINSON CRUSOE'S ISLAND.—Capt. Skinner, of the ship Herman, which stopped at the island of Juan Fernandez, March 27th, for water, writes that he was much surprised to find a settlement of about 300 persons there, headed by a Governor. They were very kind, and furnished the ship with supplies. The same ship stopped at this island two years ago, and found no inhabitants.

The Great Britain steamship, which is to sail from Liverpool for Australia in June, is at present undergoing extensive alterations in the Sandon graving dock. In place of four masts as heretofore, she will only have three, rigged as a full-rigged ship; and instead of her two iron masts, she is having immense wooden ones substituted. Instead of the three-bladed screw, she is to be fitted with a new patent one.

The floor of her Majesty Queen Victoria's new residence at Balmoral, are to be made fire-proof with cast and rolled iron joists.

A prospectus has been issued in England for erecting, by public subscription, a breakwater or refuge, of 2,000 feet long, and 70 high, in a house of 100 feet in height, for the reception of shipwrecked mariners on the Goodwin Sands.

According to a return to the House of Commons it appears that the number of in door and out door paupers relieved in Ireland during the year 1852, was 141,822; in 1851, 170,480; being a decrease of 28,662 in the last year.

From a return to the House of Lords of the salaries and wages in the Post Office department, it appears that the number of persons employed in the Metropolitan branch alone, in 1851, was 3228, and the aggregate of their salaries, wages and allowances was £283,360. In 1831, the number of persons employed was 1759, and the amount of compensation £113,052.

Napoleon I. had bequeathed half of his private domain to soldiers. Their widows and children are raising claims to the legacies, and a commission is considering them.

COFFEE IN WESTERN AFRICA.—The whole land is covered with coffee. In Eravia and Kaffa, 209 lbs. can be purchased for about a dollar. A single tree in Monrovia yielded four and a half bushels in the hull at one time, which made 31 lbs. when shelled and dried. The celebrated Mocha coffee comes from the southern parts of Africa.

Women are naturally more warm-hearted and enthusiastic than men, more easily excited, and give way to their feelings with less restraint. There is nothing so charming as a young, lovely, and unsophisticated girl, in the outset of her career, with cheek all blushes, and heart all throb, ere the world and its habitudes have had power to repress the one and make her ashamed of the other—before the pure dew of the morning has been brushed from the budding rose, and life is still in its freshness and purity.

"The best regulated female mind is tinctured with an enthusiasm wholly unknown to calculating man. Woman theorizes on the world and its ways, and feels that she could sacrifice anything, everything for the object of her affection. Man looks at both sides of the question or, as he would have said, examines the debit and credit side of the account."

THE GREAT COMING COMET.

The following interesting details respecting the comet which is expected to make its appearance about the year 1856, are given by M. Rabinet, an eminent French astronomer, and member of the Academy of Sciences, in an article recently published in the N. Y. Courier des Etats Unis:

"This comet is one of the grandest of which historians make mention. Its period of revolution is about three hundred years. It was seen in the years 104, 392, 683, 975, 1264, and the last time in 1556. Astronomers agreed in predicting its return in 1848, but it failed to appear—manque au rendezvous, according to the expression of M. Rabinet—and continues to shine still, unseen by us. Already the observatories begin to be alarmed for the fate of their beautiful wandering star. Sir John Herschel himself had put a crape upon his telescope, when a learned calculator of Middlebourg, M. Bromme, re-assured the astronomical world of the continued existence of the venerable and magnificent comet.

"Disquieted, as all other astronomers were, by the non-arrival of the comet at the expected time, M. Bromme, aided by the preparatory labors of Mr. Hind, with a patience truly Dutch, has revised all the calculations and estimated all the actions of all planets upon the comet for the three hundred years of revolution. The result of this patient labor gives the arrival of the comet in August, 1858, with an uncertainty of two years, more or less, so that, from 1856 to 1860, we may expect the great comet which was the cause of the abdication of the Emperor Charles V. in 1556.

"It is known that, partaking of the general superstition, which interpreted the appearance of a comet as the forerunner of some fatal event, Charles V. believed that this comet addressed its menaces particularly to him, as holding the first rank among sovereigns. The great and once wise but now wearied and shattered monarch had been for some time the victim of cruel reverses. There were threatening indications in the political, if not in the physical horizon, of a still greater tempest to come. He was left to cry in despair, "Fortune abandons old men." The appearance of the blazing star seemed to him an admonition from heaven that he must cease to be sovereign, if he would avoid fatality from which one without authority might be spared. It is known that the emperor survived his abdication but a little more than two years.

"Another comet, which passed near us in 1835, and which has appeared twenty-five times since the year 13 before the Christian era, has been associated by the superstitious with many important events which have occurred near the period of the visitation.

"In 1066, William the Conqueror landed in England, at the head of a numerous army, about the time that the comet appeared, which now bears the name of Halley's comet. The circumstance was regarded by the English as a prognostic of the victory of the Normans. It infused universal terror into the minds of the people, and contributed not a little towards the submission of the country after the battle of Hastings, as it had served to discourage the soldiers of Harold before the combat. The comet is represented upon the famous tapestry of Bayeux, executed by Queen Matilda, the wife of the Conqueror.

This celebrated tapestry is still preserved in the ancient Episcopal palace at Bayeux. It represents the principal incidents, including the appearance of the comet, in the history of the conquest of England, by William, Duke of Normandy. It is supposed to have been executed by Matilda, daughter of Henry I. It consists of a linen web, 214 feet in length, and twenty inches broad; and is divided into seventy-two compartments, each having an inscription indicating its object. The figures are all executed by the needle.

"The same comet, in 1456, threw terror among the Turks under the command of Mahomet II., and into the ranks of the Christians during the terrible battle of Belgrade, in which forty thousand Musulmans perished. The comet is described by the historians of the time, as 'immense, terrible, of enormous length, carrying in its train a tail which covered two celestial signs, (sixty degrees,) and producing universal terror.' Judging from this portrait, comets have signally degenerated in our day. It will be remembered, however, that in 1811 there appeared a comet of great brilliancy, which inspired some superstitious fears. Since that epoch science has noted nearly eighty comets, which, with few exceptions, were visible only by the aid of the telescope. Kepler, when asked how many comets there were in the heavens, answered, 'as many as there are fish in the sea.'

"Thanks to the progress of astronomical science, these singular stars are no longer objects of terror. The theories of Newton, Halley, and their successors, have completely destroyed the imaginary empire of comets. As respects their physical nature, it was for a long time believed that they were composed of a compact centre, surrounded by a luminous atmosphere. On this subject the opinion of M. Rabinet, who must be regarded as good authority on such questions, is as follows: 'Comets cannot exercise any material influence upon our globe; and the earth, should it traverse a comet in its entire breadth, would perceive it no more than if it should cross a cloud a hundred thousand millions of times lighter than our atmosphere, and which could no more make its way through our air than the slightest puff of an ordinary bellows could make its way through an anvil.' It would be difficult to find a comparison more re-assuring."

A RICH EAST INDIAN.—From one of Bayard Taylor's Bombay letters, we extract an interesting item:—Sir Jamsetjee Jeejeebhoy—the leading merchant in Bombay—was the son of a poor man, and commenced his career in life as a buyer and seller of empty bottles. By prudence, economy and intelligence, he rose from one success to another, till at present his fortune is estimated at three crores of rupees—$15,000,000. He has given away in charities of various kinds upwards of $2,000,000, and scarcely a day passes without recording some further evidence of his generosity. Among other works which owe their existence to him—and for which he was knighted by Queen Victoria, being the first native who ever received that distinction—are the hospital which bears his name, the causeway from Bombay Island to Salsette—called Lady Jamsetjee's Causeway—and the aqueduct for supplying the city of Poonah with water. He is now verging upon his eightieth year, and very infirm. His eldest son, Cursetjee, inherits his enterprise and boldness, and possesses a large fortune of his own making.

NINEVEH.—The excavations of Nimroud have been re-opened, and a fine bas-relief has been found. It represents Assyrian warriors hunting a lion, and is perfectly well preserved. Some heads of ivory, finely carved and gilt, have also been found. It is believed that the very chariot of Asshur has been found! The French are very dilligent in their researches, and the Turks have also begun digging in the mounds of the prophet Johah, to the great annoyance of the mere dei out Mussulmen.

The Sardinian frigate San Giovanni, Captain Incisa, arrived at New York on Sunday, after a passage of 44 days from Genoa, whence she sailed on the 26th of March, with eighty-four of the refugees who were compromised in the late insurrection at Milan, and articles for the World's Fair. She is the first vessel of war that has visited this country from Sardinia. The refugees were refused admission into any other country, and the Sardinian ministers with the co-operation of the Ameriban minister there, generously offered them a free passage to this country, and directed the captain of the ship to give each of them $12 to supply their immediate necessities.—Though now destitute of pecuniary means, through the act of Austria, they are said to belong to some of the best families. Their friends in N. Y. have raised considerable money, however, and are exerting themselves to advance their future prospects in the country of their adoption.—Newark Adv.

The fruit crop in the vicinity of Boston is said to be very promising. The cherry trees are in full blossom, with the prospect of an abundant supply of fruit, which was not the case last year. Peaches also promise well: the apple and pear trees generally look well, but the crop of the former will not probably come up to that of last year.

The Observer.

St. John, Tuesday, May 24, 1853.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTH-DAY.—This day, the 24th of May, Her Most Gracious Majesty, QUEEN VICTORIA, will complete the 34th year of her age, and (within a month,) the sixteenth of her auspicious reign. Never, in the annals of British history, has a monarch more thoroughly reigned in the hearts and affections of the subjects to the British Crown, than the beloved Sovereign who now graces the throne of these realms; never has a reign been more distinguished for its benignity and tranquillity, for the general happiness and prosperity of the people, the wonderful and numerous improvements developed in arts, sciences, manufactures, commerce, social and political influences, domestic and international relations and intercourse. The blessing of the Almighty Ruler of kings and nations has eminently rested upon the British nation and its Sovereign during the present happy reign; and we devoutly hope, that that blessing may so be continued in its fulness, as to render that great nation more and more instrumental and influential in promoting the improvement of the world at large, and the general welfare of the human race.

This day, being Her Majesty's birth-day, is observed as a Holiday at the Public Offices and Banks. At 12 o'clock, noon, the various Companies of Firemen assembled in King's Square, in uniform, with their Engines and other Apparatus, where they underwent inspection by the Chief Engineer, T. M. Smith, Esq.; after which they marched in procession to the Barrack Square, where the two beautiful new Engines recently imported from New York, were with all due ceremony presented by the Corporation of the City to the two Carleton Fire Companies, for whom they were intended. Royal Salutes were fired as usual at noon; and the City in every direction and the numerous Vessels in port are gaily decorated with flags and colours.

CONCERT.—Last evening, SIGNORA VALENTINI gave her first Concert in this City, at the Mechanics' Institute; being assisted by Miss J. Harrison in the Vocal department, and in the Instrumental by Monsieur S. Wolowski. The above talented ladies have been induced to visit St. John, through the instrumentality of the Messrs. Wolowski; and from the announcements previously made, and the reports generally circulated in the community, with respect to their professional powers and accomplishments, much was expected by our musical amateurs on their appearance. We believe we may without hesitation say, that that expectation has been fully realised; and that our citizens experienced last evening a euphonic treat of a high order. The audience was large and fashionable, and testified by repeated hearty plaudits their satisfaction and delight. Signora Valentini's voice is of very extensive register, powerful, rich, clear and melodious; her powers of sustentation are astonishing, her sostenuto notes being remarkably long, clear and even. Added to these qualities, were a lively, dramatic manner and expression, which much enhanced the effect of her performance. Miss Harrison's organ, though weak, is sweet and clear; and her singing is correct and tasteful; and Mons. Wolowski's performances on the Pianoforte were, as usual, skilful and brilliant. At the close of the Concert, the Signora and Miss H. gave the National Anthem, the effect of which was admirably assisted by the Signora's energetic gesticulation; we could only have wished that in that piece the two Sopranos could have been aided by a good Tenor and Bass. The second Concert, it will be seen by an advertisement in another column, takes place this evening; and we confidently anticipate an overflowing house.

The election of W. H. A. Keans, Esq., as Alderman; and of Mr. Joseph Mercer as Councillor for Wellington Ward, has been confirmed by the decision of the Common Council: the objections urged by the opposing Candidates having been overruled.

GUY'S WARD.—Mr. William King was yesterday elected Alderman of Guy's Ward, Carleton, to fill the place of James Olive, Esq., recently elected Mayor.

SEAMENS' HOME.—We learn that last evening, eighteen Seamen entered their names as Boarders to this excellent Institution. Success to the Sailors' Home, say we.

DANIEL WEBSTER.—We have received from Mr. B. O'Brien a copy of a closely printed pamphlet, of 112 pages, entitled "The Great Orations and Senatorial Speech of Daniel Webster," with a fine likeness of the great Statesman, published by W. M. Hayward, of Rochester, N. Y.—The Work contains Mr. Webster's celebrated "Eulogy on Adams and Jefferson," delivered in Faneuil Hall, Boston, before the public functionaries, &c. of Massachusetts, August 2d, 1826, in commemoration of those two distinguished Patriots, who both died on the previous 4th of July; his Orations on "The First Settlement of New England," delivered at Plymouth, Dec. 22d, 1820, and at the corner stone of the "Bunker Hill Monument," June 17, 1825; and his memorable "Reply to Hayne," of South Carolina, delivered in the U. S. Senate in January, 1830. Its perusal will afford abundant gratification to the admirers of preeminent oratory, and of a truly great man whose voice can no more be heard on earth.

The book is on sale at O'Brien's.

MR. WHITNEY'S ORATORY.—It seldom falls to the lot of us Colonists to either hear or see the best delineators of character, or the finished masters of oratory. The gentleman whose lectures we now notice, is one who has stood the test of the critics of both the old and new world, and as such it places the amateur critic of this obscure corner of Her Majesty's dominions in a position easier conceived than described. That one individual shall stand up on a platform for several consecutive hours, and succeed in entertaining an audience, every one of whom, has his own idea of oratory, is scarcely to be realized, a majority of whom probably have never had an opportunity of witnessing legitimate readings of the great Masters of the Drama, or the Forensic powers of the great men of the day. Mr Whitney's delineations are both varied and unique, and only to be fully understood by those who have witnessed the originals. His figure, which is a good specimen of the heavy Saxon cast, coupled with his voice, which is powerful, sonorous, deep-toned, flexible and harmonious, are admirably adapted to produce effect. His passionate and feeling delineations are given with truthfulness and power, drawn substantially "from life, and to the life." In short, his powers of producing effect are of no ordinary calibre, and such as would fit him (if turned in that direction) to shine a Star of the first magnitude on the boards of either Covent Garden or Drury Lane. The task of entertaining an audience, single handed, composed of all classes of society, has seldom been attempted by even the most gifted in the Histrionic art. The very celebrated and eccentric Mr. Matthews, we believe stands alone as an Artist wholly unprofited in this department of the drama, and to the circumstance of his having confined himself solely to the "broad grin" and humorous delineations of actual character, even his towering talents would have failed to secure for him that meed of approbation so generally awarded by the public voice. Mr. Whitney, in his personations, it must be remembered, "stands all unarmed, and stands all alone," on the scene of action; he is not aided by either Scenery, Decorations, Dress or Concomitants. Laboring then as he does under all these disadvantages, it is with the true critic rather a matter of surprise that he escapes looking ridiculous, than that he is not eminently successful—Mr. Whitney's oratorical powers are to the uninitiated what the Paintings of the OLD MASTERS were to the British people on their introduction from the Flemish and Italian Schools, and can only be brought out and seen to advantage when united with suitable adjuncts of character. We feel fully assured, that could this gentleman be induced to make one instead of the many of Shakspeare's Heroes, he being then seen in a more fitting position, his acting would be both appreciated and acknowledged, to the full of his deservings. Ours is not the pen to do that justice to his intrinsic merits they deserve; he must be seen by judges, to be fully understood.

Mr. Whitney has proceeded to Fredericton and will appear in that city on Friday evening.—Com.

An Indian, who was ordained to preach the gospel by the Baptist Home Missionary Society, in Troy, a few days since, walked six hundred miles on snow shoes, accompanied by his wife and child, in order that he might attend the Convention and receive his ordination.

Ships continue to arrive at this port in large numbers, as will be seen by our shipping list.

The steam packet Genora took her departure from Quebec, on the 15th inst., for Liverpool, with a full cargo of butter, flour and pork, and 20 passengers; many of them being gentlemen connected with the army, with their families. She is expected to make the passage home in 14 days.

H. M. Ship Cumberland, 70, bearing the Flag of Vice Admiral Sir George F. Seymour, arrived at Halifax on Sunday, 15th, from Bermuda.

Four Saw Mills at Magaguadavic, owned by Mr. Gilmour, and one belonging to Mr. Brockway, were burned down on Tuesday evening last—fire supposed to have been caused by friction.

The steam mills of Messrs. Starr & Williams, at Richmond, near Halifax, were destroyed by fire on Saturday 14th inst—Loss estimated at £1350.

The Earl of Ellesmere, and Sir Chas. Lyell and Lady, &c., representatives of Great Britain at the New York Industrial Exhibition, are to be conveyed to America in the Leander, 50 gun frigate, one of the most efficient men-of-war in the Royal Navy of England.

The steamship Pacific, Capt. Nye, sailed from New York for Liverpool on Saturday, with 195 passengers and $100,000 in specie.

The Steamer Asia sailed yesterday noon from New York for Liverpool, with 137 passengers, and $616,000 in specie.

The steamer Fairy Queen has proceeded from this port to Halifax, Pictou, &c., with a view to being examined as to her fitness for carrying the mails between Prince Edw. Island, Shediac and Pictou. Mr. Whitney, the owner, has gone round in her, and we trust that he may be successful in obtaining the contract for this service. For many years we were indebted to Mr. W. for his exertions in introducing steam navigation on our water, when the trade was scarcely sufficient to induce any body else to try it, and now, when it has grown to importance, we regret that he is not deriving some advantage from a business which in a great measure he created.—Cour.

NEW VESSELS.—A handsome new barque, called the Manapia, measuring 358 tons, N. M., was launched a few days ago, from the building-yard of Messrs. J. J. and W. Olive, at Carleton. She was built for Messrs. R. M. and R. Allen, of Wexford, and has been fitted out by Messrs. S. Wiggins and Son, of this City.—Cour.

Launched, on Thursday last, and towed through the Falls, on Saturday, a fine new ship called the "Eastern City," 1227 tons, N. M., built by Mr. Alexander Sime, for A. McL. Seely, Esq. For symmetry of model, and superiority of materials and workmanship, she is not inferior to any of the fine vessels lately built at this port.—News.

SUSPENSION BRIDGE ROAD.—The new road leading to the Suspension Bridge, will be completed and opened to travellers by the month of July. The work is being pushed forward vigorously. The road starts from the Catholic Burial Ground in Portland.—Ib

MONTREAL.—Montreal is all astir; the river dotted with heavy shipping, the streets filled with boxes and bales of goods; merchants filling up their stores, and country merchants flocking in to make their purchases.

Mr. Whitman is the accredited agent for New-Brunswick, to the N. Y. World's Fair.—Mr. Whitman was last week in Quebec, the bearer of an invitation to the Governor General to be present at the opening of the Exhibition.—International Journal.

Her Excellency the Countess of Elgin was safely delivered of a son on the morning of the 27th inst. We are happy to learn that her Ladyship and the young Bruce are both doing well.—Quebec Chronicle.

European Shipment from Upper Canada.—The Toronto Patriot announces that a new barque called the Cherokee, of 361 tons, is now loading at that port for Liverpool. She is the first vessel which ever loaded there for England direct, and a good deal of excitement has been caused at Toronto by the novel sight. The Cherokee will carry 3,870 barrels of flour, and is to get 6s. currency per barrel freight. When loaded, she will descend the St. Lawrence, and proceed on her voyage.

The Wandering Jew affair at Toronto still continues to agitate the public mind. It is said that Lublin has proved a swindler. Dr. Burns, at whose instance he was arrested, died suddenly, immediately after the examination and discharge of the Jew. Lublin is now at large;—we noticed his arrival at the Montreal House, Montreal, some weeks ago;—he will probably be arrested.—Boston International Journal.

Her Majesty Queen Victoria, upon receiving the news of the melancholy accident which resulted in the loss of President Pierce's only son, personally wrote a letter to Mr. Ingersoll, in condolence for the sad affliction the President had sustained.

A young lady of fashion in Paris, Mdlle. Virginie de T., having died recently and very suddenly, her friends decided upon a post mortem examination. It was found that three of her ribs had encroached upon the liver to such an extent as to produce death. The young lady perished of tight lacing.

FREDERICTON, May 20.

Last week being in St. John, and having an hour to spare, we spent it in the company of a friend in a visit to the Lunatic Asylum. Passing over one of the worst samples of road which can be imagined—one which a back woods settlement might well be ashamed of—that along the Straight Shore, we crossed for the first time, the splendid Suspension Bridge over the Falls, a structure which not only St. John but the whole Province may justly be proud of.—But a few years ago, and the waters of the tremendous chasm which it spans so majestically, to the basin below, unseen by human eye save that of the savage of the woods; and unrelieved except by the wild rocks and lonely shrubs on their margin. The Indian has departed, the man of science has taken his place, and the site of the primitive wigwam is now occupied by one of the noblest specimens of Bridge Architecture on this whole continent.

"Roll'd and foam'd and madly swept"

The Asylum occupies a beautiful position a few rods beyond "the Falls," and is a fine Building, erected a few years ago under the Architectural superintendence of MR. STEAD, who is at present employed in perfecting the original design, by a much required extension which will probably be finished during the ensuing Autumn.

After an introduction to DR. WADDELL, the Physician and Superintendent of the Institution, whom we found to be one of the most agreeable gentlemen we ever met with, we were accompanied by him throughout the whole Establishment, which is certainly as perfect as its present limited accommodations can permit. There are 133 of those unfortunate persons at present under treatment—comprising every shade of the dreadful malady, from the slight affliction which is scarcely perceptible, and which manifests itself only in one particular, to the very lowest grade of mental prostration, where even animal life can scarcely claim an existence. The different sights as they pass in rapid review, are full of the most melancholy associations, but not unaccompanied by a pleasing reflection, that man's humanity to man, has, as far as possible alleviated the evil. Throughout the whole premises there is not a single being under physical restraint, a circumstance which it is said finds no parallel in any Insane Institution either in the United States or the Provinces; and upon the whole we left the place most favourably impressed towards the excellent Doctor and his worthy associates.—Fredericton Reporter.

The "Barker House," so named after its Proprietor, (S. Barker, Esq.,) was opened on Wednesday, and attracted crowds of visitors during the day. This, upon the whole, may fairly be said to be the finest house of the kind in either of the lower Provinces. The whole edifice is of Brick; the main part being 50 feet by 50, and the addition to the rear 58 feet by 30. The front entrance from Queen Street, leads up a flight of stairs, seven feet wide to the first landing, on one side of which are the Gentlemen's Parlour and offices, and on the other a large and elegant dining room, both furnished, as indeed the whole house is, with black walnut and mahogany. The second flat contains the Ladies' Parlour, and a large number of private Parlours and Bedrooms. The third flat is composed of private Parlours and Bedrooms throughout; and the fourth of Bedrooms, solely.

Every article of Plate, Cutlery, Parlour Furniture, and Bedroom upholstery, has been carefully selected of the very best description; and in the whole of the 67 rooms which compose the Hotel, we imagine there is not a single indifferent article of furniture, either for use or ornament. The wing, or addition already alluded to, contains the kitchen, pastry room, pantries, keepers' rooms, and several suits of bedrooms. The whole house is abundantly supplied with Gas and water; the latter being conveyed by pipes into the most minute parts of the premises.

Col. ROBINSON, who has special charge of the Hotel department is said to be a gentleman long and favourably known in his vocation in the United States; while a splendid Livery establishment further up the Alley, is under the management of Mr. ORMSBY, who is already become as popular as his short sojourn in this City could have made him.

We feel highly gratified to have it in our power to mark such a record of the favourable progress of the times in Fredericton; and while we safely promise the tourist or stranger all the comforts of a first class Hotel, we sincerely trust that the costs of the spirited proprietor and keepers may never approach their profits.—Ib.

The "Bonnie Doon" is the name of a fine dashing looking new Stern Wheel Steamer which arrived here yesterday, and travelled upwards to Woodstock this morning. She is said to be 127 feet long, but not wide in proportion, and would therefore indicate more than common speed. She is owned by the Messrs. Glazier.

The Commission appointed to run the Line between this Province and Canada, is to proceed immediately with that duty. Colonel Robinson who represents Great Britain, and the Hon. Amos E. Botsford on behalf of New Brunswick, have proceeded to the general rendezvous at the little Falls, Madawaska, during the week, where they will shortly be joined by Colonel Bouchette on the part of Canada.

The anniversary of the "Landing of the Loyalists" was not honored here as it should have been on Wednesday. Two flags were displayed, the one from the Orange Hall, and the other from Segee's Hotel, which latter was handsomely illuminated in the evening, but these comprised the whole visible demonstrations in the city. It is said that MAJOR BRANNEN is the only survivor of that loyal old band now in Fredericton.

In coming up the river a few days ago, the Steamer Anna Augusta was slightly injured by being run into by a woodboat. The contact was, we understand, accidental.—Ib.

The New York Crystal Palace is to be so far completed during this week that it will be seen in its proper proportions, and the managers still feel confident that the principal part of it will be completed by the first of June. The Journal of Commerce says:—

To-day, the American quarter of the building, which is the north-east corner, adjoining the refreshment saloon, will be given over to the hands of the Association, that the cases, tables, &c., for the display of goods may be arranged. The department for machinery, agricultural implements, &c. which is distinct from this, is not yet prepared. The roof is now nearly complete, except the dome, and the floors are in such a forward state that forty-eight hours will suffice to finish them, after the dome is up. There is comparatively little more glazing to be done. The galleries are to be faced with an ornamented railing of iron wire, painted white, with gilt rosettes, and lined with crimson cloth. The outside of the building will be bronzed, with all the prominent points touched with gold. The effect, when lighted up by the sun, will be very superb. The whole structure will be surrounded with a substantial wrought iron fence, 6½ feet in height, to be erected the present week. The space intervening between the fence and the Palace will be terraced and laid out in flower beds and grass plats.

FOR THE CRYSTAL PALACE.—On board the Hamburg ship John Hermann, from Hamburg, just arrived, are 263 packages for the New York Industrial Exhibition. Total amount of packages received up to May 17 from Foreign Ports for New York Exhibition 2,074.

Emperor Soulouque, of Hayti, has sent articles for the World's Fair at New York; among them a single piece of mahogany, weighing nearly three tons.

A Calamitous Month!—This has indeed been a month of calamity, as the Philadelphia Bulletin well remarks. Within three or four weeks there have been recorded on the pages of the public press the destruction of the steamship Independence in the Pacific, the Ocean Wave on Lake Ontario, and the Jenny Lind in California; the awful railroad calamities at Chicago and Norwalk, and now there is added the loss of the ship William and Mary at sea. By these six disasters, not less than 500 souls have been hurried into eternity, and in addition to these there have been minor accidents on railroads and steamboats, falling of buildings, which would materially swell the aggregate.

Dreadful Disaster at Sea.—Two Hundred Lives Lost.—The telegraph brings us the sad intelligence of the loss of the ship William and Mary, of Bath, Me., and bound to New Orleans from Liverpool, with a cargo of railroad iron and 208 passengers. She struck on a sunken rock, on the 3d instant, near the Great Isaacs, Bahamas, and sank, about 200 passengers (immigrants) going down in her—the captain, crew, and one or two passengers saving themselves in boats.—Boston paper.

The Schr. Smith Tuttle, which arrived at N. Y. on Sunday, from Florida, reports having spoken an English bark, bound from N. Orleans for Liverpool, which had on the previous day picked up 25 more of the persons wrecked on the Bahama rocks.

The Boston Advertiser says the William and Mary, wrecked near the Great Isaacs, was a ship of 512 tons burthen, built in Bowdoinham last year, and owned by John Harwood of that place. She was insured in Boston for $25,000.

SANDWICH ISLANDS.—The Sandwich Islands, lying in the track of trade between California, China and Australia, has become an interesting object in our diplomacy. It is designed to appoint a Commissioner of distinction and ability, to these Islands, with instructions not to refuse the offer of cession which was made to President Fillmore, if that offer should be repeated. In short the acquisition of these Islands will be one of the measures of the present Administration. Mr. Angel, of New York, has been appointed Consul to the principal port of the group.—N. Y. Courier.

The steamship Illinois arrived at New York last week, with the California mails to the 17th ult., $2,285,248 on freight, and 419 passengers.

FINE PICKING.—A pigeon-roost is mentioned by the Fort Smith (Ark.) Herald, as existing in that region. It commences about twenty-eight miles from Fort Smith, and extends for upwards of twenty miles on either side of the Poteum. The number of birds is beyond computation.

In Boston, three immense Catholic churches are in contemplation, besides a grand cathedral, to be erected by Bishop Fitzpatrick, after the model of the famous structure in Montreal, at a cost of some quarter of a million. The emigration of the American population to the beautiful suburban towns has given room for such an increase of foreign population, that they have now almost a numerical majority.

The Presbytery of Chilicothe, Ohio, has passed the following resolution of condemnation of spiritual rappings, and one of the Churches in that Presbytery has suspended two of its members for participating in the folly. Resolved, That the practice of Spirit Rappings, (so called, as it prevails in many parts, is, in view of this Presbytery, a revival of the old abomination of necromancy, so decidedly condemned in the word of God.

Mr. Tucker, the unfortunate engineer of the late accident train, who had an examination before a Justice a few days since, and was put under $5000 bonds to appear, was yesterday conveyed from Norwalk to this city, where his family resides. He still continues very feeble.—New Haven Journal.

NEW MODE OF TREATING LOCKJAW.—Mr. King, of the Clearspring district, was bitten on the wrist by a hog, a week or two ago.—Several days after he was taken violently ill with lockjaw. Dr. McGill, of this place, was called in, who administered chloroform, and laid the wound freely open, and applying an emollient poultice, and continuing the chloroform with opium. In five hours under this treatment the spasms were arested, Mr. King is now entirely recovered.—Hagarstown (Md,) Herald.

TO BE HUNG.—Thomas Neary and Patrick Fitzgerald, convicted of having murdered their wives, in New York, have been sentenced to be hung on the 17th June.

The tunnel on the line of the Dayton and Cincinnati Railway will be 10,000 feet in length, the largest work of the kind in the United States.

The Iron Railroad Bridge over the Monongahela, above Fairmont, Va., is nearly completed. This structure, it is said, is the first in size in the United States, and second only to the celebrated iron bridge over the Menai straits in Great Britain.

Out of the 529,090 emigrants who left Liverpool in 1852, 187,963 went to the United States.

SUDDEN DEATH.—A Mrs. Pack, from New-Brunswick, who came here recently to attend the funeral of a son (which took place on Sunday), fell dead almost instantly while at a religious meeting in the Baptist Vestry, in this town, on Monday evening.

A case under somewhat similar circumstances occurred recently in Bath, where a lady dropped dead while in the act of speaking at a similar meeting. Truly, "Death is everywhere," and we cannot know that at any moment we may not be the objects of its mysterious summons.—Eastport Sentinel.

The Government of Peru have voted a million of dollars to Simon Bolivar, for his services in gaining her independence.

Arrival of the Africa at New York.

The steamship Africa, from Liverpool, arrived at New York on the 19th inst., with 67 passengers.

ENGLAND.—Lively discussions are being had in Parliament respecting the Kossuth and Hale rocket affair. Lord Palmerston was taken to task by Bright, Cobden, Walmsley, Lord Dudley Stuart, and others, and made to confess that no evidence exists to identify Kossuth therewith. The spy surveillance on Kossuth was admitted by Lord P. but he denied that his letters had been opened.

Mr. Duffy, an Irish M. P., in a blundering speech charged the government with corrupting Irish members. His words were taken down, and he was cited to appear to answer for them before the House.

A deputation from the Peace Conference had solicited the Earl of Clarendon to insert in treaties now pending with the United States a clause to settle all future difficulties by arbitration. Earl Clarendon promised to consider the proposal.

The Board of Trade returns show a large increase in the month of April exports.

The Submarine six wire cable, 70 miles long, was successfully laid down between Dover and Ostend.

On Friday the House of Commons decided on the amendment that Ireland be excluded from the income tax. Majority against the amendment 225.

In an action brought by the owners of the packet ship Daniel Webster, against the barque Alert, to recover damages for a collision in the Irish Channel, the verdict was given in favor of the Daniel Webster.

The West India steamship Magdalene, arrived at Southampton with the South American and West India mails, and nearly 100 tons of specie, valued at three millions and a quarter of dollars.

The Captain of the steamer Hermann has refused to take on board four negroes who had intended returning to the United States from Vienna viz Bremen. They had paid their passage money but the Captain refused to carry them accross the Atlantic on the ground that the American laws forbade any negro to be conveyed by steamer from Europe to the United States.

Three vessels arrived in London on the 2d inst. from Australia, bringing gold to the value of £250,600.

Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe had arrived in London. She was the guest of the Duchess of Sunderland. Her entree to the British capital does not seem to have created much enthusiasm.

FRANCE.—The Legacies of Napoleon I., of two hundred millions of francs, will not be presently acted upon, owing to the great tax it would be on the Exchequer. Nothing of further general interest has been received.

The Empress Eugenie has recovered from her recent indisposition.

Oscar Lafayette, the grandson and representative of General Layfayette, has refused to take the oath of allegiance to the Emperor required as Captain of Artillery, and has in consequence been deprived of his Commission.

A sum of 80,000 francs has been voted for the immediate erection, in the centre of the Crystal Palace, in the Champs Elysees, of an immense bronze statue of Napoleon. The artist who will make it is not yet named.

ITALY.—Some further relaxations had been made in the treatment of Milan.

The Austrian force in Tuscany is to be reduced 2000 men.

RUSSIA.—The Court Martial at St. Petersburg in the case of the officers recently charged with embezzlement, resulted as follows:—General Uchakow to be dismissed from the service and imprisoned six months. Generals Abascow, Grabee and Sass, to be imprisoned three months; Admiral Kolsakow simply dismissed.

HOLLAND.—The irritation of the public mind in Holland increases against the recent papal usurpation, and the ill-feeling awakened between the protestants and Roman Catholics is so great that it is feared a conflict will occur. The more timid among the Catholics are leaving for Belgium.

TURKEY.—The affair of the Holy Shrine is reported to have been settled as Russia desired. The affair of the Greek Patriarch is now under consideration. The armaments are stopped and the fleets recalled.

PERSIA is preparing another expedition against Herat, and the British Ambassador announces that he will demand his passports if the expedition proceeds.

LATEST.—The Countess Blaska Teleky, who had been sentenced to ten years imprisonment for her share in the Hungarian revolt, has been immured for three years in the fortress of Pesth.

DR. BETTELHEIM, at Loo-Choo, "within the threshold of Japan," has prepared a copy of the four gospels in pure Japanese and Chinese, in parallel columns. He has succeeded in introducing vaccination, and is rewarded by the exclamation of the natives, "Jesus has blessed Loo-Choo."

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—Having been unavoidably compelled for a week or two to postpone a reply to the letters of our fair correspondents "Jessie" and "Caroline," and some others, we now beg to thank them sincerely (tho' they are unknown to us,) for the kind interest they take in the OBSERVER; and will endeavour, as far as circumstances will allow, to profit by their suggestions. At the same time we would remark, that in order to carry out, in a pleasing and acceptable manner, the improvements they so ardently recommend, much must depend upon the regular assistance of Ladies and Gentlemen of adequate literary mind and talent, in supplying the necessary contributions; which, if of sufficient merit for publication, we shall be happy to include in our columns, as extensively as our limits will permit. We trust that in so doing we may in some degree supply a literary want, and encourage a literary taste in our community, without injuriously affecting the general interests of our paper; and as a new volume of the OBSERVER will commence in July next, we would intimate that (as an experimental trial) we shall be prepared to receive contributions of a literary nature, for publication at that time, from such ladies and gentlemen as may wish to furnish articles of a moderate length.

We beg to announce that from and after the 1st of July, the price of the "Observer" will be reduced to 12s. 6d. per annum—To Clubs of ten or more the price will be only 10s. each, payable in advance. Persons subscribing for a year or more previous to the first July, will be sent gratis until that date. New Subscribers respectfully solicited.

All Boarders are particularly requested to be at home by 11 o'clock at night; at which time the doors will be closed for the night.

When retiring to bed, all unnecessary noise to be avoided, so that those who wish to sleep may not be disturbed.

Blasphemy, swearing, quarrelling, gambling, and all loud noise, are strictly forbidden,

The utmost sobriety, cleanliness and harmony is particularly requested, not only for the comfort of the boarders, but for the respectability of the house.

No intoxicating liquors allowed to be brought into the house, unless ordered by a physician for medical purposes.

No smoking allowed in any part of the house, except the Smoking Room.

Punctuality at Meal Time is particularly requested both for the comfort of the Boarders and the convenience of those employed in the Home.

Breakfast, at	- - - 8 o'clock,	A. M.
Dinner, at	- - - 1 "	M.
Tea, at	- - - 6½ "	P. M.

All persons are requested not to cut, mark, or in any other way deface or injure the house in any part of it.

The Keeper will not be responsible for any money or valuables lost in the house, unless deposited in his hands for safe keeping.

Family Worship will be performed in the Dining Hall at 9 p. m. All are affectionately invited to be present.

☞ These Regulations must be strictly observed, and any one who cannot comply with them is requested not to enter his name as a Boarder.

VALUABLE SAW MILL,

For Sale or to be Rented.

THE Powerful and Valuable SAW MILL, situated at the foot of the Long Reach, on the River Saint John, immediately above Lyons' Point, about fourteen miles from St. John, and generally known as the M'Gregor Mill, and which was erected by Mr. James M'Gregor, the celebrated engineer, for his own use. It is built of the very best materials, and in the most substantial manner, with all the latest improvements which have been adopted in the best mills in this Province, and contains one malleable iron gate for a Gang of Saws, complete; also one single gate; two Circular Saws, two trimming Saws, &c., with all the necessary machinery for carrying on a large and profitable business.

The machinery is driven by a powerful overshot water wheel of 40 feet diameter by 5 feet wide.

There is also connected with the Premises, a Blacksmiths' Shop, with all the necessary tools; and between two and three hundred acres of good Land, and also a large Dwelling House, &c. The Mill is placed in a most convenient position for purchasing Logs, as all the rafts coming down the main river and its tributaries must pass this Point on the way to the City; is of easy access, and has ample water accommodation for Booms and Ponds. The Mill is now in full operation, and can be inspected at any time by parties desirous of purchasing or renting.

Immediate possession will be given. A clear and unencumbered title will also be given of the property.—Apply to Science.

Application of he Electric Light.

Public curiosity, which has been much stimulated by repeated and partially successful experiments with the electric light, is likely to be soon fully satisfied by seeing that singularly beautiful and powerful application of voltaic electricity brought into permanent and profitable operation. It will be recollected that up to the present time two serious obstacles have always opposed themselves to the use of this light as a means of illumination; one being the difficulty of obtaining a steady and permanent light, the other the great cost of the materials employed in its generation. These two difficulties have been at length grappled with by a young, but already distinguished man of science (Dr. Watson), who by a series of patient and highly philosophic experiments, has attained certain results, which, he has sanguine hopes, will ultimately lead to the successful commercial application of the light to various purposes. The uncertainty and flickering of the light being caused by the gradual wearing away of the points of the electrodes, and the consequent widening of the space through which the fluid must pass, Dr. Watson has attempted to obviate the difficulty, first by the employment of a new and patented material in the electrodes, which makes them less liable to wear in their incandescent state; and secondly, by the action of a magnet placed in the base of the lamp, which, by its attractive powers, restores any deviation which may have taken place in the relative positions of the electricity under the influence of the light.

By this invention the lamp is rendered self regulating or automatic, and the first great difficulty, the inconstancy of the light, is to a considerable extent remedied. The light having thus been got into working order, the next point to be considered was the great commercial question of cost, as until the invention could practically be made to pay, there was little hope of its being brought into general application. Without entering into any detailed technical explanation, it will be sufficient to state that this end is attained by the substitution of cheaper metallic plates in the construction of the batteries, and the employment of such chemicals in the generation of the electric fluid, as shall, having first performed their illuminating duties, undergo such changes in their own forms as to become articles of considerable commercial value and ready sale. For the plates the inventor has substituted cast iron and platinized lead for the more expensive metals—silver, copper, and platina; and an idea of the saving here effected may be formed from the fact, that whereas a single plate of platina cost £3, one of platinized lead or cast iron can be made for 1s. For exciting agents or electrolytes, as they are called, the patentee employs in one battery prussiate of potash, which, by the galvanic process, is converted in those valuable articles of commerce, Prussian blue and ultramarine. In another battery, which is excited by nitro-sulphuric acid, he gets, with the addition of bichromate of potash, the well-known colour for carriage builders, chrome yellow, and by another chemical combination he gets red, the third primary colour, having thus it is almost needless to add, obtained the bases of almost all the pigments used in the useful or decorative arts.

The advantage which is expected from these discoveries is, that the commercial value of these products of voltaic action will completely cover the cost of manufacture, and leave the light itself a clear and unembarrassed source of profit. The value of all these improvements was tested by an exhibition of their results at the patentee's laboratory, at Wandsworth, to a circle of both scientific and commercial gentlemen. A large apartment was steadily and beautifully illuminated by the light for several hours, and much interest was excited by the mode in which, at regular intervals, the regulating operation of the magnets was brought to bear upon the electrodes. The illuminating process was pronounced to be completely satisfactory; producing, as it did, a perfect and brilliant daylight. In another apartment the chromatic products were exhibited, and were much commended for their brilliancy and truth of tints, so that both results—namely the production of a steady and continuous light, and a costless exciting agent, may be said to be attained; provided that the debtor and creditor account which the patentees exhibit will ultimately bear the test of a vigorous commercial application.—London Daily News.

We believe we are not anticipated by any contemporary in the world in announcing that Doctor A. Gesner has perfected a discovery, by which Air is changed into a brilliant illuminating agent!!! There is no mistake, nothing ideal or theoretic in this assertion. We have enjoyed occular demonstration of the fact, and are positive there is no jugglery in it. Hearing, as we have done, so much about Paine's light from water, and Spaight's electric light, but seeing that both have ended mere experiments, we were inclined to think Dr. Gesner's idea of setting the air on fire was as far from being likely to succeed as the device of putting green spectacles on a horse to make him feed on shavings as he would on grass. Dr. Gesner has, however, brought his discovery to maturity, and its trial affords a perfectly satisfactory result. He has made no noise about the matter; he has not ushered the discovery to the world with an imposing array of certificates from a host of celebrated professors of chemistry and erudite journalists. Yet the fame of his invention, we are confident, will soon be blazed through the civilized world, and produce universal astonishment, like Erricsson's achievement in substituting air for steam, as a means of propelling ships. Mr. Paine dexterously gulled a large number of the most distinguished savans of the United States, two or three years ago, into the belief that he had found out a method of converting water into an agent for giving light, and they recorded, in the most flattering testimonials, their conviction of the practicability of the experiments; his brother showed them, while the inventor himself happened to be absent from the exhibition. But the affair proved to be a mere sham, and Mr. Paine has ever since been consigned to obscurity.—Even with these facts before us, we do not hesitate in predicting that Dr. Gesner's invention, before long, will supply the world at large with light for all the purposes that Coal Gas is now applied to, at least equally brilliant, manageable and safe, and certainly vastly cheaper than any other illuminating agent can be afforded. We hazard this opinion advisedly, for the process by which this new light is produced is extremely simple, and Dr. Gesner makes no mystery of the means he employs.—Halifax Recorder.

From the New England Farmer.

CALENDAR FOR MAY.

SWEET MAY—

For thee, the fragrant zephyrs blow,
For thee descends the sunny shower,
The rills in soften murmurs flow
And brighter blossoms gem the bower.

So sang DARWIN, and scarcely a poet but praises, or describes, or alludes to the beauties of this month. He sings it as the offspring of the solar beams, and invites it to approach and receive the greetings of the elemental beings.

The year awakes from her winter nap in April; but she only gets half awake, and does not seem to feel certain whether it ought to be winter or spring! So she gives us a touch of both seasons—now fierce and cold winds, and then balmy airs; scowling clouds and soft sunshine; now hail and snow, then soft, pattering rains, washing the face of the fields, and bringing out a bright color here and there in her new dress.

But MAY unfolds unnumbered charms. She spreads the earth with green, and dots it with flowers of varied hue; fills the trees and shrubs with bursting buds and expanding blossoms, and loads the air with fragrance. All is activity and love in lovely MAY! Fair maidens and bounding youth skim the hills, the margin of the winding brooks, and sheltered nooks in the wood, for early flowers. As the expanding flowers, so expand their beating hearts, and knit in holy love, they ripen together here for a still lovlier MAY DAY in the skies!

The elms and maples that for a week or two have held their pendent tassels, and invited whole colonies of bees to taste their sweets, now scatter innumerable seeds, and go on with their work of growth. The robin is here, and the blue-bird, the early swallow, the wren, the warbling sparrow, chattering black-bird, and lark, and occasionally

 "all burst forth in choral minstrelsy,
As if one quick and sudden gale had swept
An hundred airy harps."

But MAY is too busy a month to afford us much time in a description of its beauties.—It is as crowded with active duties for the husbandman, as it is active in vegetable and animal life. Lagging will not answer now. Your plans being laid, and your implements in order, you go to work with good nature, with a stout heart and willing hands, and every stroke will tell.

GRAFTING.—There are thousands of old orchards still remaining in New England, which would pay well for being newly worked over by plowing, manuring, pruning, scraping and grafting. If there is a healthy shell of four inches thickness, we consider the tree worth this labour. Many trees where the heart-wood is entirely gone, bear plentifully through many successive years. Fruit may be obtained from old trees in a much less time than it can be from young ones; beside, they are often old friends, have long served us well, and form a pleasant part of the landscape. Do not, then, cut down the old trees. At least, grafted and well tended, they will produce food for young cattle and swine more cheaply than you can produce potatoes, corn or hay.

In grafting, do not cut off all the limbs the first year, in so doing you check its natural forces and induce an unhealthy state. Beside, the suitable season for grafting is not the best time for pruning. Therefore cut off only the limbs to be grafted, and leave the others to shelter the young scions through the summer, and prune gradually afterwards.

THE GARDEN.—Examine, carefully, all the trees, shrubs, and plants in the garden, to see that nothing exists to obstruct their growth. Insects may have been sheltered on them through the winter which can now easily be destroyed; or moss may have gathered which must be rubbed off, and the trees washed with soft soap and water.

Sow an abundance of seed for kitchen vegetables; beets, parsnips, carrots, early turnips, lettuce, radish, cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, also mellons of various kinds, and if not done in April, set raspberries, currants, gooseberries and strawberries. All these fruits are cheaper and more wholesome in hot weather than any principal meat diet. Flesh is stimulating, while fruits are sufficiently nutritious, and are cooling under our hot summer suns.

Screen the garden from the northeast and northwest winds by rows or clumps of pines and cedars, or other evergreens, interspersed with the maple, birch, beech, or oak. This will require no cash outlay to the farmer, and a little done every year will wonderfully improve and beautify the homestead.

PASTURES.—Unless these are extensive and varied, that is hilly, and containing low, moist places, affording very early feed, it is a good plan to keep the cattle from them until the first of June; the grass then becomes more vigorous—the roots gain a firmer hold, and consequently continue stronger through the season. Pastures fed close early in the season are worth but little during the dry, hot months.

SOILING CATTLE.—Sow southern corn this month, to be cut green for early fodder. An half acre devoted to this purpose will help out your pastures wonderfully—and the increased product of your cows more than pay cost of labor. Then continue sowing, weekly, until July, and you will be able to keep up a large flow of milk.

THE CORN CROP.—Remember the old adage—

"When oaks look gray, Plant night and day."

Plow deep, pulverize and manure well, and then let it be wet or dry, you will rarely fail of obtaining a good crop of corn,—one of the most substantial and profitable crops of New England. We have retained, in our practice, many of the English modes of cultivation, and others that of hilling corn, and perhaps all the hoed crops. In a climate where moisture is redundant, this practice may prove beneficial; but under our burning suns of July and August, and with the usual drouth attending those months, the practice is evidently a bad one. Let the cultivation be deep, mellow, and level, and we presume the crop will do better on a level cultivation.

Corn is valuable for household purposes, and for every sort of stock: is suited to our climate and most of our soils, and if accurate accounts are kept, will be found a profitable crop. We hope more attention will be given it.

ASPARAGUS.—Obtain one or two hundred roots, and set them in a trench a foot wide and deep, and a foot apart in the trench.—Spread the roots out in their natual position, at the distance of one foot apart on each side of the trench, making two rows in one trench, or 100 plants in 50 feet. This is the plan recommended by Mr. Cutter, of Pelham, in volume 4 of the Monthly Farmer, which may be referred to for a more particular description.

The plant is wholesome, easily cultivated, and a profitable market vegetable.

MAY is an important month to the farmer, as much of his success for the year depends on his operations now. Most of the crops he cultivates must be put in, and their value will depend considerably upon the time and manner of doing it. He that would get the best return for the least labor, must work seasonably and systematically, and with such thoroughness as to leave nothing undone necessary to secure a good crop.

GARDENS.

"It is beyond mortal endurance to be told, as we are continually told, by certain sapient economists, that they do not care for a garden, and do not possess one, because they find it cheaper to buy their fruits and vegetables. Who doubts it? The pleasures of gardening depend not upon economic considerations. The fascination is in the very growing of your own fruit and flowers. Is there no pleasure in tending flowers, and watching their opening blossoms—in nursing the sickly and rejoicing over the strong—in culling a well-chosen boquet? Is there no pleasure in being able to send well-ripened grapes or peaches to a sick neighbor who has them not—in bestowing a capful of rosy-cheeked apples on a rosy-cheeked boy—inviting the children of the village to partake of your gooseberries—in sending, at the close of a severe winter, a hundred cauliflower plants to the minister of the parish? Is there no pleasure in exchanging rare flowers—in petting and giving floral gifts? Does your heart not heap up when the first snow-drop—bold chider of lingering winter, and venturous invader of his icy reign—shows its welcome face on the green?

Is there no transport when the seedling holyhock bursts on your astonished vision in unexpected beauty? Thousands there are who are doomed by dire necessity never to have a garden of their own; but those who can and ought, and yet have not, for the sake of cheapness and from motives of a mean economy, ought to be banished to some desert wilderness, where the green earth and nature's flowers may not waste their sweetness on them."

GLENFIELD PATENT DOUBLE REFINED

POWDER STARCH.

THE subscribers have been appointed Wholesale Agents in New-Brunswick, for the above celebrated STARCH, to which the Prize Medal was awarded at the late Great Exhibition in London, and noticed for its "general superiority," by the Royal Commissioners and Jury, from amongst thirty or forty Samples Exhibited.

The manufacturers have also received testimonials from Her Majesty's Laundress, the Countess of Eglinton, and many others of the Nobility of the United Kingdom and, from its superior and peculiar qualities, it has met with an almost universal acknowledgment.

In the manufacture of "Glenfield Patent Double Refined Powder Starch," it goes through a process so simple and efficient, that it acquires no properties hurtful to either texture or appearance of the goods, but on the contrary, produces a fine, clear, flexible finish; it requires no boiling, is perfectly free from all impurities, and is warranted not to adhere to the iron.

A consignment has just been received of the above celebrated STARCH, to which the attention of the public is solicited.

Holloway's PILLS.

CURE OF A DISORDERED LIVER AND BAD DIGESTION.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. R. W. Kirkus, Chemist, 7 Prescot Street, Liverpool, dated 6th June, 1851.

To Professor HOLLOWAY,

SIR,—Your Pills and Ointment have stood the highest on our sale list of Proprietary Medicines for some years. A customer, to whom I can refer for any enquiries, desires me to let you know the particulars of her case. She had been troubled for years with a disordered liver, and bad digestion. On the last occasion, however, the violence of the attack was so alarming, and the inflamation set in so severely, that doubts were entertained of her not being able to bear up under it; fortunately she was induced to try your Pills, and she informs me that after the first, and each succeeding dose, she had great relief. She continued to take them, and although she used only three Boxes, she is now in the enjoyment of perfect health. I could have sent you many more cases, but the above, from the severity of the attack, and the speedy cure, I think, speaks much in favor of your astonishing Pills. (Signed) R. W. KIRKUS.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF RHEUMATIC FEVER, IN VAN DIEMEN'S LAND.

Copy of a Letter inserted in the Hobart-Town Courier, of the 1st March, 1851, by Major J. Walch.

Margaret M'Connigen, nineteen years of age, residing a New Town, had been suffering from a violent rheumatic fever for upwards of two months, which had entirely deprived her of the use of her limbs; during this period she was under the care of the most eminent medical men in Hobart Town, and by them her case was considered hopeless. A friend prevailed upon her to try Holloway's celebrated Pills, which she consented to do, and in an incredible short space of time they effected perfect cure.

CURE OF A PAIN AND TIGHTNESS IN THE CHEST AND STOMACH OF A PERSON 84 YEARS OF AGE.

From Messrs. Thew & Son, Proprietors of the Lyn Advertiser, who can vouch for the following statement.—August 2nd, 1851.

To Professor HOLLOWAY,

SIR,—I desire to bear testimony to the good effects of Holloway's Pills. For some years I suffered severely from a pain and tightness in the stomach which was also accompanied by a shortness of breath, that prevented me from walking about. I am 84 years of age, and notwithstanding my advanced state of life, these Pills have so relieved me, that I am desirous that others should be made acquainted with their virtues. I am now rendered, by their means, comparatively active, and can take exercise without inconvenience or pain, which I could not do before.

(Signed) HENRY COE.
