CROSS-BORDER MOVEMENT

OF BUSINESS PERSONS

AND THE NORTH AMERICAN

FREE TRADE AGREEMENT

To promote trade in goods and services, Chapter 16 of the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) facilitates the cross-border movement of business persons who are citizens of member countries to the NAFTA. The provisions within Chapter 16 complement rather than replace a country's existing provisions for temporary entry. In addition, the NAFTA does not alter a member country's general immigration provisions governing public health, safety and national security.
