BUYS ONE IN ENGLAND.

A. C. Pennock, who campaigned the European trotter Milly (2.07¼) in the grand circuit last season, has purchased in England the fast pacer Butcher Boy to start next summer in the $5,000 chamber of commerce stake race at Detroit. The horse has won several races in England. He is said to be by a thoroughbred running horse out of a pacing mare of the Brown Hal family.

CHATHAM WON FROM SUSSEX

Have Lead of One in Fast Game Which Was Last of Series for Chatham. St St. John H. S. Win.

Chatham, Feb. 9.—Chatham won out from Sussex tonight by a score of 6 to 5 in the hardest fought match of the league series. The play was mostly individual, and of combination play Chatham did the greater part. Courtney's shooting was the feature for the visitors, and the latter's defence was strong. Play was very even throughout, and with the exception of the first three minutes, when Sussex ran in two goals, neither team had a lead of more than one tally.

The line up was:

Sussex		Chatham
	Goal.
MacLean		Watters
	Point.
Fenwick		Watling
	Cover.
Eveleigh		Gray
	Rover.
Courtney		Synott
	Centre.
Leclair		Winslow
	Left Wing.
White		Fowler
	Right Wing.
Mace		Flood

Courtney rang in the first goal for Sussex in the first minute, and made it 2 to 0 a minute later. Then Synott took the puck from centre face off and rattled the net for Chatham's first. After six minutes of play Chatham, by good combination worked to within striking distance, and Winslow tied the score. Half ended 4 to 3 in Chatham's favor.

In the second half, Sussex led off and had the best of the play resulting in a goal by White, after six minutes, score at 4 to 4.

Two Men Off.

Mace now went off for holding and Watling for checking. Mace was hardly on when Watling and Fenwick each received three minutes for playing each other instead of the puck, and while they were off Leclair put Sussex in the lead. With both teams on again in full strength Chatham played desperately to win, and from the face off in front of Sussex goal the puck was forced. The next five minutes were hottest of the game and Synott brought victory to Chatham by a nice one from the centre ice, beating out MacLean and making a score 6 to 5. The bell rang with both teams playing at a tremendous clip.

Officials—Arthur O'Brien, referee; Jos. Riggs, Fred Heckbert, Chatham; J. A. Hawes, Sussex, timers; P. Smiley and H. McLean goal judges.

St. John		Fredericton
	Goal.
Ritchie		Vanwart
	Point.
Smith		Atkinson
	Cover Point.
Teed		Brewer
	Rover.
McGowan		McAdam
	Centre.
O'Regan		Dolan
	Left Wing.
Lovitt and Finlay		McFadden
	Right Wing
Hipwell		Boyd

Referee, "Tart" Titus; Goal judges, H. Vanwart, Fredericton; Marshall, St. John; Timers, C. Orchard, Fredericton; E. Belding, St. John.

OWEN KILDAAE, AUTHRR, DIES

"Kipling of the Bowery" Passed Away Following Accident and Confinement in Asylum --Vagrant reformed by Girl.

New York, Feb. 8.—Owen Kildare, author and playwright, who had been known as the "Bowery Kipling," died on Saturday in the Manhattan State Hospital for the Insane, at Ward's Island, where he had been an inmate for two years. His death was caused by a general breakdown which had been developing since his committment to the institution. The direct cause of his affliction was an accident which occurred nearly three years ago, when he fell down the steps leading to a subway station. He was forty-eight years old.

Since his commitment to the hospital, Mr. Kildare had been visited regularly by his wife and daughter. Last October, Mrs. Kildare, who before her marriage to the author was Miss Leita Russell Bogardus, an actress, obtained an annulment of the marriage and soon afterward became the wife of Lieutenant Commander Charles A. Adams, U.S.N., retired.

When Mr. Kildare was thirty years old he could neither read nor write even his own name. Yet at thirty-eight he was the author of "My Mamie Rose," a book that told the story of his own life, and not long afterward his first dramatic work "The Regeneration," which was produced at Wallack's Theatre.

Mr. Kildare was born in a typical east side tenement. His mother died a few days later. His father died several months before the child was born and he became the foster son of Patrick McShane, a friend of his father. When seven years old young Kildare began selling newspapers along the Bowery and in Park Row. At fourteen he was a prize fighter. His prowess in the ring won his local fame, and young Kildare went to Pittsburg and defeated the champion fighter at his weight in that city. When he came back to New York city he became a barkeeper.

One day Mr. Kildare was standing outside a Bowery saloon when a band of rowdies insulted a young woman, Miss Marie Rose Deering. He interfered and escorted her to her home. She proved to be a school teacher. Kildare met her frequently after that. She taught him to read and write. He was working as a baggage agent at $8 a week when he met the young woman, but had trebled his earning capacity under her sultion and became engaged to marry her. She died a week before the ceremony was performed.

So well did Kildare succeed in educating himself that soon after the death of his fiance, he wrote the story of his life, and submitted it in a contest. It was accepted and published, and he continued to write for magazines and other publications. Soon after his first story was published Mr. Kildare met and was married to Miss Bogardus. Later he published The Good of the Wicked, The Wisdom of the Simple and My Old Balliwick, the last a series of short political stories of the old 4th ward in which he was born.

DIAMOND DUST.

It took the eastern league owners only three hours at their session at Baltimore to adopt the schedule for the playing season of 1911, there being little dissatisfaction with the dates decided on by the new president, Edward Darrow. The season opens on April 20, Toronto playing in Baltimore and Rochester in Jersey City. On May 8, the openings in the northern end of the circuit occur, Newark, then playing in Montreal, Baltimore in Buffalo, Jersey City in Rochester and Providence in Toronto. The schedule will be released for publication on Feb. 13.

Harry Davis, who was captain and first baseman on the world's champion team of the Philadelphia American league club, has signed a contract to play with the same club for the coming season. St. Louis, Cleveland and two other American league teams were endeavoring to obtain his services, but he decided to remain with Philadelphia.

The owners of the Sioux City, Western league club have refused an offer from an eastern league club for the services of Chick Hartman, of the Bronx.

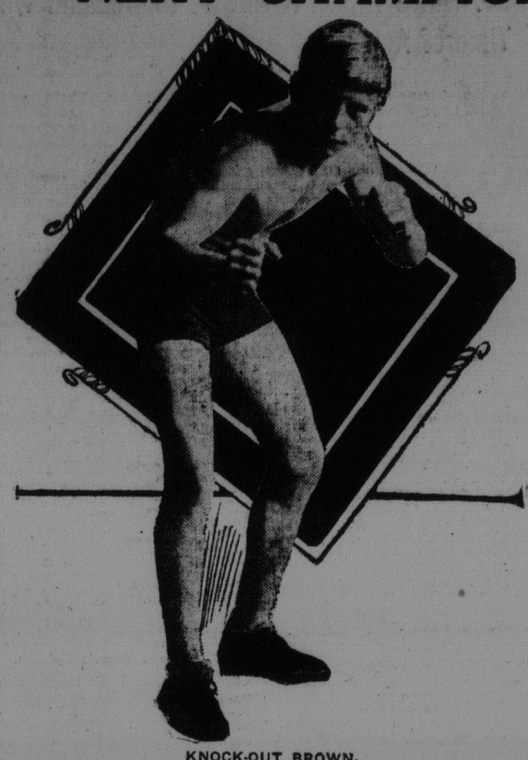
M'INTYRE AND FOLEY TO MEET IN HALIFAX

Sydney, Feb. 9.—Mickey McIntyre, lightweight champion of eastern Canada will leave shortly for Halifax, where he is to meet Tom Foley, in a 10 round bout for the middleweight championship of the Maritime Provinces.

McIntyre will be accompanied by his manager, R. Welton, Allan Lewis and the old veteran, Danny Smith. It may be said that Smith is considered to be the best trainer and handler of fighters in the business, having handled two world's champions in Mysterious Billy Smith and Eddie Connolly, both of St. John. Also Dan Littlejohn, Beth McLeod, Joe Francis and Mickey McIntyre, and a host of others.

He is also considered to know the fine points of the boxing game, besides being very tricky. The sports of Halifax will have a chance to see the best boxing bout ever held in the Maritime Provinces when Foley and McIntyre meet in the ring in the near future.

BROWN HAILED AS NEXT CHAMPION



KNOCK-OUT BROWN.

Press Agents Have Taken Up Youthful New Yorkers as Fighter to Cop Title From Wolgast.

Philadelphia, Feb. 9.—There is a new lightweight champion upon the pugilistic horizon today and his name is Knockout Brown of New York.

Following the cyclonic six round bout between Brown and Champion Ad Wolgast before Jack O'Brien's American A. C. here last night when Brown won easily on points, pugilistic circles today commenced to look forward to a finish fight between the boys to decide the championship fairly and squarely. Negotiations for a finish fight will soon be under way and it will necessarily take place in the west. Tex Rickard and Jack Gleason are here and will attempt to land the fight.

Battling Nelson has offered to train Brown if the championship fight is arranged.

All For Mama.

New York, Feb. 9.—Knockout Brown who defeated Lightweight Champion Ad Wolgast at Philadelphia last night returned to New York today and immediately turned over to his mother the $2,300 which he had received as his end of the purse. He dumped the big pile of crisp bills into his mother's lap, and she peeled off $5 for him to keep as spending money until he boxes again. Ice cream and sodas are his sole dissipation.

SKIS TRIMED BY SNOWSHOES

Canadian in Wood Chopping Camp Upholds Honor of National Sport by Defeating Norwegian in Race.

Caldwell, N. J., Feb. 9.—A race to determine the merits of Canadian snowshoes as compared with Norwegian skis was run on Caldwell Mountain yesterday and the snowshoes won. The contestants were Phillip Rondeau and Ole Koffang, both of whom work in a wood choppers' camp in the lowland bordering the upper Passaic River, a few miles west of Caldwell.

The distance covered was fourteen miles, four miles of which was practically all down hill, six miles over level ground and four miles up hill. Rondeau, with the snowshoes, covered the distance in one hour, twenty-four minutes, and Koffang, on skis, in one hour and twenty-seven minutes.

The course led part of the way through timber, partly over open fields and partly over ploughed land. It was considered the severest kind of a test to which the respective merits of travel over snow could be put.

For $30 Purse.

Thirty men are employed in the wood choppers' camp, most of whom are French Canadians, the remainder being Norwegians and Swedes. Ever since the first snowfall of the winter, last December, the men have argued as to the respective merits of the snowshoe and ski, and today's contest was held in order to end the dispute. The purse of $30 was contributed by the men in the camp.

The start was made from the residence of Warren Stages, in North Caldwell, at the top of Caldwell Mountain. Mr. Stages, Henry Campbell and Leonard Wall were chosen to act as judges. Mr. Stages remained at his home to witness the start and finish. Campbell went to Singac, four miles to the northwest and Wall to West Caldwell, four miles to the southwest. The distance between Singac and West Caldwell is about six miles. The racers had to go to the point where each judge was stationed. Each could choose his own route either in a direct air line across the country or by following a longer route by the public roads. Both chose the direct course.
