At The Theaters

KATHARINE MACDONALD AT LOEW'S FOR REST OF THE WEEK.

Katharine McDonald, known as the most beautiful woman on the screen, will be seen in her latest screen success, "The Thunderbolt," today, Friday and Saturday. It is a heart interest story of the strangest marriage on record. On their wedding night he said "you shall never be a mother—never know the touch of a baby's hand. I married you, not because I love you, but, because I hate you and all your family." Imagine the husband of a beautiful woman starting his married life that way—but no man is a match for a clever woman who loves. See "The Thunderbolt."

An all-star bill of excellent vaudeville and a comedy with the ever-popular Loew's weekly will complete a program of exceptional merit for the last half.

"THE OLD HOMESTEAD" AT THE GRAND TONIGHT.

With its delightful, pure and appealing sentiment, the greatest of all comedy-dramas, Denman Thompson's "The Old Homestead," will be presented at the Grand tonight only at 8:15.

"The Old Homestead" tells the story of the Whitcomb family, who owned a little farm near Swanzey, New Hampshire. They were kind-hearted folks, who made the world a great deal better for their having lived in it. Uncle Joshua was a quaint character full of wise sayings and the Poor Richard of that part of the country. This lovable character is now portrayed by William Lawrence and made famous by the late Denman Thompson. Before his death Mr. Thompson told Mr. Lawrence that he hoped that he would continue as "Uncle Josh," as the play would outlive him and run on indefinitely.

His prediction has been true, as the play is now on its thirty-third annual tour. Augustus Pitou Inc. are presenting the only authorized version with all the famous features of years ago. The double quartet—Grace Church choir—the Swanzey Band and the Salvation Army.

This will be counted as one of the season's cleanest and most worthy offerings.

"LISTEN LESTER" AT THE GRAND TOMORROW AND SATURDAY.

Coming from a year's run at the Knickerbocker Theatre, New York, "Listen Lester," John Cort's musical comedy success by Harry L. Cort, Geo. E. Stoddard and Harold Orlob, will be presented at the Grand tomorrow and Saturday evenings at 8:15, and Saturday matinee at 2:30, with the entire New York cast, chorus, production and a special company orchestra. Though, to be exact, one should call it a dance instead of a run, for from the moment the curtain rises in the first scene, everything dances to a happy and dancy ending, whgrein an important packet of letters, which is in itself the danciest and most elusive thing in the play is returned to its rightful owner, meanwhile the feet, and what is more important, the hearts of the spectators are dancing merrily along in time to the music, and all personal troubles are forgotten. The story is jolly and entertaining, and the lyrics are rythmic and full of swing, and the music tinkly and tuneful. The scenery is artistic, the costuming is effective, and the chorus is the daintiest, danciest that ever took an audience by storm. The excellent cast with Mayme Gehrue, Miriam Folger, Jean Thomas, Cecil Williams, Virginia Watson, Florence De Barr, Frances, Anderson, Florida Bellaire, Irving Brooks, Joseph Mack, Jean Leoni, Gus Shy, John L. Lyons, Murray Hart, Mark Thompson, Andrew Leigh, is of superior excellence. Seats now on sale.

"TOM SAWYER," STARRING JACK PICKFORD AND TOM MOORE IN "TOBY'S BOW," ON DOUBLE FEATURE PROGRAM AT THE ALLEN THEATRE TODAY.

An excellent double feature program is presented by the Allen Theatre today, tomorrow and Saturday, headed by a special adaptation of one of Mark Twain's famous boy stories, "Tom Sawyer," played by Jack Pickford and Huckleberry Finn by Robert Gordon

This picture of the two famous boys, whose adventures nearly everyone has pored over in books in their young days, is a picture for the entire family, a photoplay that both father and son will enjoy seeing together, a screen story which will help the entire family understand each other better. You will thoroughly enjoy this tale of boyhood mischievousness and the high adventures which they encountered in their wanderings around the old Mississippi.

Tom Moore's new picture, "Toby's Bow," is a classic of romance and sparkling comedy of the South; the tale of a young New Yorker, who seeks his bride amongst the beautiful women of South Carolina's old families. An exceptional cast supports your favorite star, and the new leading lady is a perfect dream of loveliness.

Be sure you secure an opportunity of seeing the most sensational and startingly daring picture which has ever yet passed the censors, "The Eyes of Youth," which plays the Allen Theatre Monday. This is one of the most lavish and costly productions yet presented to the public, and is the talk of New York at the present time.

AT THE MAJESTIC TONIGHT.

Presented at the Majestic tonight at 8:15 will be the concert by the eight His Master's Voice artists. Seats reserved on sale at box office.

This afternoon and tomorrow afternoon only, Pauline Frederick will be shown in her tragic photoplay of mystery and romance, "Out of the Shadows," and many extra film attractions.

Friday and Saturday evenings and Saturday matinee the Forest City Dramatic Club present their huge laughing success, "It Pays To Advertise," presented by the local dramatic artists of the city.

ADOPT HOUSING ACT.

ST. MARYS, March 3.—At the regular meeting of the town council on Monday night a resolution was adopted instructing the clerk to prepare a bylaw under the housing act for submission to the Government.

A resolution was passed rescinding the bylaw to license teamsters. It was pointed out that the people desiring teaming done were held up when local teamsters could not handle the work and the effect of the licensing was to prevent outside men doing the work when needed.

A slight fire at McCreadie's Flax Mill was extinguished before the firemen arrived.

Ontario Threshermen Will Make Application To Join U. S. National Brotherhood

Important Decision Is Made At Convention Here—Jos. Cushman of London Elected President of Provincial Brotherhood.

Joseph Cushman of this city was elected president of the Ontario Brotherhood of Threshermen, at last night's session of the sixth annual convention of the association, which is being held in this city. W. Jarrott of Zurich was elected vice-president, and Byrell Harris of Chatham was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

An executive committee consisting of S. Burke, E. S. Down and W. Chapman and a legislative committee of J. Hueston, R. D. Bodkin and S. Oakes were appointed. The installation of officers took place last night instead of this morning as was originally planned, owing to the fact that some of the officers had to leave town. Short talks were given by the new president and secretary-treasurer.

The Ontario Brotherhood will make application to become a member of the National Brotherhood of Thresher-men's Association, the headquarters of which is in Chicago. A resolution to this effect was passed last night. According to the executive of the brotherhood this was probably the most important step taken during the whole convention, for it would change the National Brotherhood into an international association. Up to the present time it had been a purely American institution, although its constitution was such that it could be extended to cover the whole continent.

History of Brotherhood.

An address on the National Brotherhood Association was given by J. D. Landis of Brookville, Ohio. He covered every phase of its work fully. He said that the association was formed in 1918, in Chicago, after the movement had been indorsed by every state organization. Little was done until 1919, when the constitution and bylaws were drafted. The purpose of the association was to improve and strengthen all state or provincial brotherhoods.

Funds for carrying on the work of the National Brotherhood were raised by assessing each state or province organization according to its membership. The money was used to render assistance to state or provincial brotherhoods during their organization period. Financial aid would be given to assist in putting through legislation to benefit the threshermen in any state or province.

W. Colby of Chatham spoke on the difference between the farmer who owned a threshing machine for his personal use and the custom thresher. He could not say that a privately-owned machine saved any money, for the movement to secure machines was in its infancy among the farmers. Time alone would prove that. It had the advantage of assuring the farmer that his threshing would be done when he wanted it.

Many Leaving Business.

O. N. Umbach of Waterloo, speaking on the same subject, said that the two kinds of men were twin brothers. The custom thresher need have no fear that work would be lacking for generations to come, because only the larger farmers were securing individual machines. The necessity for such machines was brought about by the scarcity of custom threshers. So many had gone out of business during the past few years that there were barely enough to do all the work during the season.

Joseph Cushman took up the question of whether gasoline power was cheaper than steam for custom threshing. He stated that salesmen had been in the habit of exaggerating the amount of power which could be developed by a gasoline tractor. The big separators were much too heavy for such small engines. Gasoline power, he said, was not as dependable as steam.

A. M. Brodie of Toronto said that the gasoline tractor was much better than the steam engine for individual use, as the separator as a rule was much smaller than those used by the custom threshers. The tractors could be used for many other purposes as well. They were too small, though, for custom threshing outfits.

Afternoon Session.

During the afternoon session D. M. Medcalf, chief inspector of steam boilers for the department of public works, discussed the boiler inspection act. As he was notified only on Tuesday night that he was to speak in the place of W. A. Riddell, who was billed for the occasion, he had no time to prepare an address, and so confined himself to answering the questions of the delegates and interpreting the act to them.

He said that a great deal of confusion was prevalent among the threshermen concerning the act. It was the general belief of the engine owners that it was the intention of the Government to send out field inspectors to examine the boilers of all the steam engines in the province once a year. This could not be done, he explained, without involving a great deal of expense, both for the Government and for the threshers, and it would probably result in a great deal of injustice to the engine owners. For this reason it was the intention of the Government to forget about the annual field inspection ,and confine the activities of its inspectors to the making of examinations at the time of repairing or trading in of engines.

An inspection of an engine was necessary when the whole set of flues were replaced, but not when only one flue was put in. Patches on the boiler or any other repair serious enough to indicate the possibility of danger from steam pressure would have to be examined by a Government inspector. These examinations were made at the expense of the engine owner, who had to pay all the expenses of the inspector, besides a fee of $5.

War-Time Slackness.

Mr. Medcalf asserted that many factories were turning out engines at the present time which did not come up to Government specifications. During the war the authorities shut their eyes to these discrepancies, because of the great lack of trained workers. A more rigid inspection, however, would be made in all plants hereafter, and the manufacturers would be made to come up to the requirements.

A resolution was passed by the meeting that the Government be asked to make all boiler inspections free of charge, and that the inspectors be employed on a straight salary basis. Mr. Medcalf announced that the Government was considering the making of a flat charge, based on the averages of the past four years.

Professor C. A. Zavitz of the department of agriculture addressed the convention on the relation of the farmer to the thresher. He read statistics to prove that agriculture formed 79 per cent of the total resources of Canada, and that field crops formed 70 per cent of agriculture. Because of the importance of field crops to the country, and the important part that grain played every effort should be made to introduce improved methods to increase production.

He explained that a great deal of seed was destroyed by becoming cracked and broken while being passed through the separators. He urged that the knives in the cutting-box be properly adjusted so that this loss would be overcome. In answering a query he said that chess, a weed often found in wheat, was a distinct weed, and that the theory which had gained much credence that wheat would turn to chess under certain conditions was proven untrue by a series of experiments.

HENRY BURR, that golden-voiced tenor, appearing tonight at the Majestic Theatre.

FAMOUS TALKING MACHINE ARTISTS AT MAJESTIC TONIGHT

Affording a Real Musical Treat For Londoners.

The opportunity to hear personally singers and artists whom one has heard for years only through the medium of "His Master's Voice" records, is an experience of a rare kind. Unlike the artists of the opera or concert stage, their appearance before the public is a rarity, for, although they all have experience as concert artists, or on the stage, they have become even more famous through their records. There are eight members who compose this concert party, and they will appear in person at the Majestic Theatre tonight. They are:

Henry Burr tenor, whose real name is Harry McClaskey, and was born in Eastern Canada, is possibly one of the best-known American tenors. While Burr's name is a household word in every home where there is a talking machine, few people, aside from his personal friends, know him when they see him. Henry Burr has devoted practically all his time to making talking machine records.

MONROE SILVER, king of comedians, the original Cohen story teller, at the Majestic Theatre tonight.

The humorous work on the evening's program will be carried by Billy Murray and Monroe Silver, both of whom have been before the public for years, and both of whom have won repeated successes. Murray will sing some of the songs which have made him famous, such as "You'd Be Surprised," and "Wait Till You Get Them Up in the Air, Boys." And Silver, who is probably best known for his "Cohen on the Telephone" stories, will tell several of his Jewish dialect stories and sing some original parodies.

John H. Meyers and Frank Croxton, the baritones of the party, have made music a life study, and each sings solos in addition to taking part in the trio and quartet numbers. Croxton is rated by many American critics as one of the best American concert and oratorio baritones. He has sung with much success with the leading choral clubs and oratorio societies of the country, and has also appeared as special soloist with the Chicago, New York, Boston and Philadelphia Symphony Orchestras and the New York Philharmonic Orchestra.

A feature of the evening will be the banjo selections by Fred Van Eps, his mastery of difficult banjo technique being a revelation to all who hear him. Frank Banta, the youngest member of the party, has a hobby for "jazzing" at the piano, and he has received many flattering press notices, both as an accompanist and a soloist.

Tonight is the night. Don't miss this entertainment. Undoubtedly this is the greatest event ever offered the London public.

Do Your Gums Bleed When You Brush Your Teeth?

CUT THIS OUT

Says Pyorrhoea, Riggs Disease, Sore, Inflamed, Bleeding, Receding, Or Pus-Discharging Gums and Loos e Teeth May Be Quickly and Easily Corrected by New Simple Home Treatment.

Thousands of people suffer from Pyorrhoea or Riggs Disease or diseased gums who, having tried various dental creams, lotions and treatments, without success, believe they must have all their teeth pulled and go through life with false teeth. Yet their case is not hopeless. A prominent New York dentist has recently perfected a home treatment that works wonders in the treatment of just such cases and usually brings relief from the worst symptoms very quickly.

If your teeth are loosening or if your gums are receding and are sore or tender, inflamed or bleeding, spongy or flabby or if they discharge pus you may be sure that Pyorrhoea is present and that unless you can quickly find relief you will have to lose your teeth.

Go to Standard Drug Company, Limited, and Taylor Drug Company, or any good drug store in London and get a small package of Epithol. This is not a dentifrice, and is not applied with a brush, but is to be gently rubbed into the diseased gums with the finger tips or a soft cloth. It seems to work like magic. Teeth tighten, the gums grow sound, and healthy and the bleeding pus discharge soon stops.

Glen Stiner of Mitchell avenue, Binghamton, says: "My gums were sore and badly inflamed. I used Epithol a short time and all soreness has disappeared and my gums are healthy and well."

The druggists named above are all authorized to refund the purchase price in any case where Epithol does not give complete satisfaction.—Advt.

PILES Do not suffer another day with Itching, Bleeding, or Protruding Piles. No surgical operation required. Dr. Chase's Ointment will relieve you at once and as certainly cure you. 60c a box; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.
