MONDAY EVENING, MARCH 29,

THE POLICY OF DELAY

A despatch from Ottawa tells us that the Government is professedly anxious to get down without delay to the serious business of the session, but in this, as in other matters, it is not showing much of a disposition to act in accordance with its professions. During the debate on the address both Sir Charles Tupper and Mr. Foster invited early action in regard to the tariff. They are desirous, with the rest of the Opposition, that the business uncertainty contingent upon an important tariff revision should be terminated at the earliest possible moment. It is notable that the opening of Parliament has not brought the surge of deputations that might be expected at such a time as this. The Government is therefore free to put its policy into the shape of legislation, and submit it to Parliament and the country as soon as the address is passed. Speaking at Aylmer a few days ago Mr. Davies referred to "the new tariff as if it had been already framed. Addressing the House on Friday, Mr. Foster intimated that he had received a communication from a banking house pointing out the danger of more delay. He gave the Government the benefit of the warning.

The present Administration took office in July last. It has had time to attend to many matters that were not quite so urgent as the tariff. It has, through one of its Ministers, promised that the tariff will come down within a week of the opening. Yet with this pledgre, which the business public is most anxious to see implemented, the Administration commissioned Sir Richard Cartwright on Friday night to challenge a vote of censure on its school policy. A greater blunder even Sir Richard never committed. Sir Charles Tupper had told the Government that he was willing to accept any compromise that would prove to be acceptable to those who have been asking for redress. For this he was sneered at by Mr. Laurier as one who washed his hands of a cause because it could no longer bring him votes. This ungenerous misrepresentation was accompanied by an appeal to everybody to forget the past, and then Sir Richard, in his most pompous tones, smarting under the keen sarcasm of Mr. Foster, called upon somebody to throw the fat in the fire by means of a vote of censure, which, with such followers as Mr. Fitzpatrick behind Mr. Laurier, can only delay business and protract the session. But Sir Richard and his colleagues are anxious for delay.

Another evidence of this is the fact that the Government proposes to bend its energies towards passing the Franchise bill before bringing down the tariff. There is no such immediate need for the Franchise bill as there is for a clear understanding of the fiscal policy. We are not within such close range of a general election that the passage of a Franchise Act is necessary this session. At all events, the country is not so deeply interested in the franchise proposition that it must have it before the tariff. It seems that this is another expedient for delay, and, as Mr. Foster points out, the suspense which is to be maintained is for the purpose of helping the Liberals through the local election in Nova Scotia. Laurier has promised free coal to offset this Mr. Fielding has promised higher duties on coal. He has even declared that anthracite coal is to be taxed. The result is that the Liberals are going to Nova Scotia with the cry of Murray and the coal duties. The election will take place on April 20th. If the Government delays the tariff to press the Franchies bill, it will tell the country that it is merely playing a party game, and that the great commercial interests of Canada are being subordinated to local political purposes in Nova Scotia. It has been urged not to lend itself to this scheme. Not only is it detrimental to our commercial interests, but it is contrary to the well recognized theory of the relations that should exist between the Federal and the Provincial Governments. If it is proper to suspend action to help a Liberal Provincial Government in its appeal to the electorate, it will be proper to take action to embarrass a Conservative Government under like circumstances. The tendency of this will be towards political alliances or political warfare between Administrations which ought to deal fairly by each other, irrespective of party politics.

Guelph will now feel like declaring that Brantford is a mean old thing, not deserving of a spring bonnet.—Galt Reporter.

No; this city isn't built on the same plan as Galt and like villages. Guelph wishes Brantford every success, and will proceed to arrange a show of its own that will knock the spots off that Provincial Exhibition.

ANOTHER ONE CAUGHT.

They have caught red-handed another offensive partizan. This one lives in London, and The News, the independent journal of that city, describes his case:

"For a great many years past an old man, bent and bowed, spent and worn, has carried the mails between London [illegible] London. Strangers in the city paused to look at the old man in wonderment, but the people of London had grown accustomed to him, and passed on unconcerned. The old man sat in a ramshackled rig with his chin on his knees, and a particularly small pony between the shafts of his poor buggy. His hair was gray, his eyes were watery, his hands trembled. The whips and scorns of time had chiselled lines across his brow and on his cheeks. He was old and feeble; the sands of life were running low in his glass; the Government paid him 40 cents a day for carrying the mails. It was all he had to live on.

"Quite recently the contract for carrying the mails has been taken away from the old man by the Laurier Government and transferred to the London Street Railway Company. The street railway company is a rich and powerful corporation, how rich and how powerful the people of London have yet to learn. It is enough, in the meantime, that this company, which is far removed from want, has seen fit to step in and deprive this old man of his means of livelihood, and The News has no hesitation in describing it as an infamous proceeding, which both the street railway company and the Government should be thoroughly ashamed of."

CLAIMS SHE WAS HYPNOTIZED

First Time That Mesmerism Has Been Advanced at a Trial in Canada.

MISS LUCY DUDLEY WANTS $3,000

Toronto, March 28.—In August last Robert Noble, of Roncesvalles avenue, had some jewellery stolen from his residence. In October he had a search warrant issued to search the effects of Miss Lucy Dudley, of Swansea, who was a servant in the house when the jewellery disappeared. Nothing was found, and Miss Dudley, through her solicitor, H. J. Martin, has brought an action against Mr. Noble, claiming damages, for having issued the search warrant. Mr. Noble says he acted under the guidance of the detective department, to whom he reported his loss.

To-day at Osgoode Hall a motion was made to postpone the trial on the ground that Detective Verney, who had the case in hand, was a necessary and material witness and who was too ill to attend. Referee Cartwright made an order putting the case at the head of the present list and if Detective Verney is not well enough to testify then the case will go over to the Assizes.

Miss Dudley is claiming $3,000 damages. She alleges that she was hypnotized while in the employ of the defendant and has suffered injury thereby. She is therefore claiming damages for assault as well as for malicious prosecution.

THE "GLORIES" OF "WAR"

Did You Ever See a Battery Take Position in Action?

We had been fighting in the edge of the woods. Every cartridge box had been emptied once or more, and one fourth of the brigade had melted away in dead, wounded and missing. We knew that we were being driven foot by foot, and that when we broke once more the line would go to pieces and the enemy pour through the gap. Here comes help. Down the crowded highway gallops a battery. The field fence is scattered, the ammunition chests open, and along our lines runs the order, "Give them one more volley and fall back to support the guns."

We have scarcely obeyed, when boom! boom! opens the battery and jets of fire jump down and scorch the green trees under which we fought. The shattered old brigade has a chance to breathe for the first time in three hours as we form a line and lie down. What grim, cool fellows these canoneers are! Every man is a perfect machine. Bullets splash dust in their faces, but they do not wince. Bullets sing over and around, they do not dodge.

There goes one to the earth shot through the head as he sponged his gun.

That machinery loses just one beat, misses just one cog in the wheel, and then works again as before. Every gun is using fuse shells. The ground shakes and trembles, the roar shuts out all sounds from a line three miles long, and shells go shrieking into the swamp to cut trees short off, to mow great gaps in the bushes, to hunt out and shatter and mangle men until their corpses cannot be recognized as human.

You would think a tornado was howling through the forest, followed by billows of fire, and yet men live through it—aye, press forward to capture the battery. We can hear their shouts as they form for the rush. Now the shells are changed for grape and canister, the guns are fired so fast that all reports blend into one mighty roar. The shriek of a shell is the wickedest sound in war, but nothing makes the flesh crawl like the demoniacal singing, purring, whistling grape shot, and the serpent-like hiss of canister. Men's heads and legs are torn from their bodies. A round shot or shell takes two men out of the ranks as it crushes through.

Grape and canister mow a swath and pile the dead on top of each other. Through the smoke we see a swarm of men. It is not a battle line, but a mob of men desperate enough to bathe their bayonets in flame of the guns.

The guns leap from the ground almost, as they are depressed on the foe, and shrieks and screams and shouts are blended into one awful and steady cry.

Twenty men out of the battery are down, and the firing is interrupted. The foe accept it as a sign of wavering and come rushing on.

They are not ten feet away when the guns give them a last shot. That discharge picks living men off their feet and throws them into the swamp, a blackened, bloody mass.

Up, now, as the enemy are among the guns.

There is silence for ten seconds and then the flash and roar of 3,000 muskets, and we rush forward with bayonets.

For what? Neither on the right nor left, nor in front of us a living foe! There are corpses around us which have been struck by three, four and even six bullets, and nowhere on this acre of ground is a wounded man. The wheels of the guns cannot move until the blockade of dead is removed. Men cannot pass from caisson to gun without climbing over winrows of dead. Every gun and wheel is smeared with blood; every foot of grass has its horrible stain.

Beware of Imposition!

We desire to inform the public that Dr. Pitcher's Castoria is manufactured in the Laboratory of the Centaur Company, New York, and put up in fac-simile bottles only. It cannot be purchased in bulk. On the outside wrapper the formula is printed. The wrapper also bears the fac-simile signature of "Chas. H. Fletcher," New York. No other preparation offered as Castoria or containing any name similar to Castoria is genuine. To counterfeit or imitate either the wrapper, the name "Castoria" or the signature of "Chas. H. Fletcher" is a criminal offense. Dr. Pitcher's Castoria has become a valuable standard family medicine for Infants and Children. It has the indorsement of some of the best Physicians in America. Don't allow any one to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good," and "will answer every purpose," etc., etc. Castoria is sold by all respectable druggists and dealers in medicine.

Do not be deceived when you ask for Castoria, but look well at the wrapper and see that it is CASTORIA, and that it bears the signature of "Chas. H. Fletcher," New York. No other can be genuine. Castoria without this Signature is a Base Fraud.

HIS POWERS ARE ABSOLUTE

May Depose Bishops Who Refuse to Accept His Decision.

WERE PREMIER LAURIER STANDS

London, March 27.—The visit of Mgr. Merry Del Val, the Papal delegate to Canada, to this city, is still causing considerable talk in Catholic circles. A representative of the Associated Press learns on high authority that Mgr. De Val has the fullest ecclesiastical powers, even to the extent of deposing Bishops who refuse to accept his decision. A powerful London churchman said: "I cannot see how the passage of the Act of the Manitoba Legislature settles the case. Certainly Mr. Laurier's future, together with that of his party, depends practically upon Mgr. Del Val's decision. All the Liberal members from Quebec, except three, of whom Mr. Laurier is one, signed the pledge to settle the Manitoba question in favor of the rights of the minority. These men cannot act otherwise, or they must resign or be defeated at the polls next time. Then the forty-five Catholic members of the Senate and Commons, including Mr. Laurier and all the Catholic members of his Government, of whom there are about thirty in the Commons, just Mr. Laurier's majority, signed a petition to the Pope, asking him that a delegate be sent to settle the question. These men, in signing such a petition, practically bound themselves to accept their own arbitrator's decision. Should they refuse they must from the church standpoint be held to have violated their word to the Pope. It was this petition, brought by Mr. Charles Fitzpatrick, the Solicitor-General of Canada, to Rome, and only an assurance that they meant to abide by the delegate's decision, that the Pope consented to intervene.

Mgr. Del Val is therefore given plenary power to settle the controversy, discipline the recalcitrant bishops and place Mr. Laurier and his followers, in case of their refusal to abide by his decision, in such a plight as to practically ruin their political prospects or force them to turn renegade to their obligations to His Holiness. As a matter of fact, Mgr. Del Val is going to see Mr. Greenway at the earliest possible moment and ascertain exactly how much concession to the Catholics Mr. Greenway is willing to make, while on his side Mgr. Del Val will state to Mr. Greenway the exact, irreducible minimum of the church's demands. Mgr. Del Val hopes these views will be so nearly alike as to enable a prompt settlement. Should this be so Mgr. Del Val will not hesitate to beat down all opposition of the bishops' party in Quebec with measures as severe as necessary. He does not intend to combat the bishops; but he will not permit their opposition to extend beyond the irreducible minimum which the Pope has fixed."

ARBITRATION TREATY.

He Does not Think England Will Accept the Treaty

London, March 27.—An interview is published here with Mr. Wm. R. Cremer, formerly member of Parliament for the Haggerston division of Shoreditch, Radical, who has for years past been secretary of the International Arbitration League, and who is editor of the society's organ, The Arbitrator.

Mr. Cremer is quoted as saying that he considers it inadvisable to ratify the amended arbitration treaty. He adds that the British Government will almost certainly refuse to accept the treaty in its emasculated form, and asserts there is good reason to hope that in a few months it will be carried as originally proposed. Continuing, Mr. Cremer says he will be greatly surprised if the Americans do not make their voices heard in such a way as to induce the Senate to alter its position before next session. He adds: "There is no doubt Senator Morgan is the chief obstacle. When in Washington I had a long talk with President Cleveland relative to arbitration, and Mr. Cleveland suggested sounding the Senator as to what Senator Morgan who expressed warm approval of the principle.

"'Tell the President,' he said, 'that if he sends a treaty to us I will get it through the committee in forty-eight hours.'

"I repeated this to Mr. Cleveland, and judge of my surprise when I landed in Liverpool to read Senator Morgan's violent attack upon England."

Death of a Dowager Duchess.

London, March 27.—Jane, one of the three Dowager Duchesses of Marlborough, died at her residence, No. 28 Grosvenor street, this city, yesterday.

She was a daughter of Hon. Edward Richard Stewart, and was the third wife of the sixth Duke of Marlborough, who died in 1857. He was succeeded by his son, John Winston, the seventh Duke, who died in 1883, and was succeeded in turn by George Charles, the eighth Duke, who married Lily Warren, widow of Louis Hammersley, of New York, and who is now Lady William Beresford.

General Oscar in Command.

Buenes Ayres, March 27.—General Oscar has assumed command of the Government forces against the fanatics. Brazilians are greatly encouraged by the fact that General Oscar is now in charge, and they expect entire security.

The fanatics are preparing to meet the new commander's forces with great determination. They will offer a strong resistance.

Six thousand federal troops are concentrated near Canudos, in Bahia, and will attack the fanatics at once. Colonel Pro occupies strong positions.

Twenty-five cents a bottle. Its value is incalculable. Be sure you ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup and take no other kind. mwf

Surprised His Doctor

"A little over a year ago I was laid up with bronchitis," says Stanley C. Bright, clerk, of Kingston. "My doctor's bill came to $42, and altogether my illness cost me $125. This fall I had another attack. I came across an advertisement in a newspaper for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for throat troubles. I thought I would risk a quarter and try it. It cured me. After this, I intend to treat my own ills.

It surprised many victims to the Chicago World's Fair to find that of all the blood-purifiers, Ayer's Sarsaparilla was the only one on exhibition. The reason is that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a standard remedy, and not a patent medicine, or secret nostrum.

Many people, with the notion that nature ought to take care of herself, allow a cough to plague them for weeks and months. Whereas, if nature were assisted with a dose or two of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, the cure might be effected in a very few days.

Life Assurance .....Company

The Hon. Hugh Macdonald, vice-president of the Company, in seconding the motion for the adoption of the report, said, at the recent annual meeting: "We can all appreciate the paramount importance of the safe investment of the funds of the company, and I can assure you that this consideration is never absent from the minds of the Committee in deciding upon the investment of these funds. That due care has been exercised is evident from the fact that we are able to announce that there is not one cent of interest in arrears, nor has the Company been forced to take over one dollar's worth of real estate.

In connection with this very favorable showing must be kept in mind the fact that the average rate of interest on funds invested during the year was 7 1-10 per cent. We are located in a good field for safe and good paying investments, and the personnel of our Board enables us to reap every advantage from our position."
