"August Flower"

Perhaps you do not believe these statements concerning Green's August Flower. Well, we can't make you. We can't force conviction into your head or medicine into your throat. We don't want to. The money is yours, and the misery is yours; and until you are willing to believe, and spend the one for the relief of the other, they will stay so. John H. Foster, 1122 Brown Street, Philadelphia, says: "My wife is a little Scotch woman, thirty years of age and of a naturally delicate disposition. For five or six years past she has been suffering from Dyspepsia. She became so bad at last that she could not sit down to a meal but she had to vomit it as soon as she had eaten it. Two bottles of your August Flower have cured her, after many doctors failed. She can now eat anything, and enjoy it; and as for Dyspepsia, she does not know that she ever had it."

—There was a heavy snowfall at Berlin and Owen Sound, Ont. Wednesday. Other places also report flurries and light falls of snow.

—The report of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children states that 8.324 cases had been investigated, involving many instances of diabolical cruelty. The brutality of drunkards seldom equals the deliberate torture inflicted on children by persons who are sober.

—John M. Tinsley, colored, has died at Toronto at the alleged age of 109 years and three months. He had been a resident of Toronto for nearly 50 years. A sister of the discased died at the age of 113, and another aged 111. The third sister is still living at an advanced age.

—A proclamation has been issued by the governor of Quebec ordering that no licensee shall cut cedar for shingles in that province unless it is to be manufactured within the province. The reason appears to be that cedar was being cut and shipped in the rough to the United States, or to New Brunswick, to be prepared there for export.

—George Bruce Mitchell, an extensive hardware merchant of St. Louis, of Mo., arrived in Perth, Ontario last week to visit his parents. After getting of the train nothing was seen of him until the following night, when his body was found in a ditch some distance from a railway station with a terrible gash on his head and a cut on the forehead. From all appearances he was robbed and murdered.

—The rolling mill which has recently been built at the Krupp works at Essen Germany, probably surpasses in size and effectiveness any similar plant an the world. It is used for rolling armor plates, and is able to turn out finished plates 28 inches in thickness and nearly 12 feet wide.

An Ontario court is now settling an assault case preferred by the parents of a 16 year old girl, against her school teacher. The girl had written in the front of her copy book the following poetic gem to which the teacher objected, when reprimanded she called him "a snip of a dude."

Oh, Lord, look down from above
And have mercy on poor old a teacher for Four hundred and seventy-five dollars.

—A railway engineer has formulated a novel scheme for the entertainment of the World's Fair visitors. He proposes to build a mile track within an amphitheatre and, by procuring disabled engines and cars, have a genuine railway collision of two trains going at full speed. To make it realistic he will have the engineers and firemen jump just in time to save their lives. He says he can give a performance for $500.

—A new and luxurious "royal train" has just been completed at Malines for the use of the King and Queen of Belgians. It includes saloons, study, bedroom and toilet-rooms. Teakwood has been mainly used in the construction of the construction of the carriages, but the mouldings and exquisite old ivory panels used in their decoration have come from Austria. The heating and lighting are carried out on novel principles, and by the application of a hitherto untried invention the oscillation is reduced to a minimum.

Business Maxims.

The elder Baron Rothschild had the walls of his bank placard with the following curious maxims:—

Carefully examine every detail of your business.

Be prompt in everything.

Take time to consider, and then decide quickly.

Dare to go forward.

Bear troubles patiently.

Be brave in the struggle of life.

Maintain your integrity as a sacred thing.

Never tell business lies.

Make no useless acquaintances.

Never try to appear something more than you are.

Pay your debts promptly.

Learn how to risk your money at the right moment.

Shun strong liquor.

Employ your time well.

Do not reckon upon chance.

Be polite to everybody.

Never be discouraged.

Then work hard and you will be certain to succeed.—Scientific American.

A New Era In Trotting.

[New York Herald.]

Although the season is not yet closed, 1892 has already become the most noteworthy year known in the history of American trotting.

The world's record has been reduced by four seconds and a quarter, an achievement without a parallel. At the beginning of the season the best time ever made was Sunol's 2,08¼. Nancy Hanks has lowered that record to 2.04.

Since 1859, when Flora Temple trotted a mile in 2.19¾, there have been but ten sovereigns of the turf During that third of a century no trotter before Nancy Hanks lowered the record by more than three seconds, and only one, Goldsmith Maid, reduced it that much. For eight years Flora Temple was without a rival. Maud S. was queen of the turf for eleven years, with the exception of one day. For six years her record of 2.08¾ was unequalled, and when beaten by Sunol was lowered only half a second. These figures show how sensational to the trotting world must be the reduction of the record in a single 2.04.

This result is due in no small measure to the remarkable improvement in sulkies made by the pneumatic tire and ball bearings. That this is a great aid to speed is shown not only by the performance of Nancy Hanks, but also by the general trotting and pacing of the season. Records have been broken all along the line—lowered in all classes. It is a striking fact that when the season opened the number of trotters with records of 2.15 or better were fifty-one. That list has since been doubled. The number now being a hundred and two.

The pneumatic sulky has wrought a revolution in trotting. It has opened a new era in records. Just how much it contributes to a record is a matter of speculation. Competent judges say about five seconds in the case of a 2.30 trotter and about three in the case of a 2.10 or better flyer. If that be so Nancy Hank's record of 2.04 with a bycicle sulky would be equivalent to a record of 2.07 with an old style sulky on the regulation track.

Whatever allowance is to be made for the sulky Nancy Hanks has proved herself to be the greatest trotter ever put to speed. No one believes that she has yet done her best. Already she has brought the two minute trotter within the range of probability, and it will not be surprising if that figure shall not yet be ascribed on her own banner.

It is also to be remembered that the pneumatic sulky is still in the first stages of development. Experts declare that marked improvment is not only possible but probable. It is thought, for example, that higher wheels may contribute to greater speed. At any rate, Secretary Tracy's prophecy made a year or two ago of a two-minute trotter now bids fair to be realized.

While speed is promoted by improvement in track and sulky, records are not thereby discounted. A record made with a bicycle sulky on a kite-shaped track as legitimate as a record made with an old style sulky on a regulation track. The condition is for a horse to trot a full mile to sulky.

After all, mechanical appliances do not make speed, but simply lessen the handicaps to speed. It is the horse that does the trotting and creates the speed. To trot a mile in two minutes and four seconds under any circumstances is a remarkable achievement for a horse and one well calculated to arouse enthusiasm among all interested in trotting.

WORSE AND WEAKER.—Gentlaman.—I suffered for three days very severely from summer complaint and could not get relief but kept getting worse and worse till the pain was almost unbearable and I became very weak. Some friends advised Dr Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and after I had taken the first dose I found much relief and it did not fail to cure me I do not intend to be without this valuable medicine if I can help it.

Sir William Dawson's Views on Prohibition.

Sir William Dawson was then examined. His testimony was throughout a strong argument in favor of total prohibition. He was not prepared to say that public opinion was yet sufficiently advanced to secure a thorough enforcement of such legislation. He believed, however, in the prohibition principle, and that a prohibitory law would be an effective educator of public sentiment. The proposal to compensate liquor manufacturers was one that he could not justify and would not favor. Local option he considered a valuable weapon against the liquor traffic. Even if the Scott Act in some cases was not enforced, and was repealed after a trial of three years it would still be worth the effort expended upon it in the great amount of prohibiton, education and development of temperance sentiment that would be derived from the attentant champaigns. In brief, he favored total prohibition as the right and desirable solution of the liquor problem and every form of local or partial prohibition as a means towards the end.

MR. STEAD TO VISIT AMERICA.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Advices just received from England at the headquarters of the World's W. C. T. U. here, state that Mr. William T. Stead, editor of the Review of Reviews, will be in in attendance at National W. C. T. U. Convention to be held at Denver, Col., from Oct. 28 to Nov. 3. It is possible also that Lady Henry Somerset will be present. The convention will be composed of four hundred regularly elected delegates, representing 44 states, five territories and the district of Columbia.

The English advices referred to call attention to the fact that the new British Parliament is the first one elected since the adoption of a temperance plank by one of the leading political parties as part of their programme. As further showing the growth of public opinion, it is noticed that the number of members of the new Parliament have been returned pledges to support a law giving direct popular control of the liquor traffic to the extent of abolishing licenses entirely in localities where the majority of electors so decide.

Mrs. J. K. Barney, who is well known in Montreal; where she was instrumental in the establishment of the W. C. T. U. Sheltering Home is to be one of the chief speakers at the State W. C. T. U. at Westerly, Rhode Island, on Oct. 4.

The evidence of Madam Loyson, wife of Pere Hyacinthe, now in the United States, is quite the opposite of that os those who say that the introduction of light wines would be in the interest of temperance. Madam Loyson puts as the first step towards the evangelization of France the prohibition of the manufacture of intoxicating drinks, and says that "in France the wine cup is the god of the masses."

Mrs. Mary T Lathrop, whose lectures in Canada were so effective and who addressed an annual public meeting of the Dominion Alliance in the St. James Methodist Church, Montreal, is, this fall, speaking in Minnesota.

John G. Woolley said in his great speech before the Christain Endeavor Socieiy: "Too long we have heard and preached and lived a dwarfish and a little gospel under stained glass, is artifical heat, making nosegays of personal experience. Too long we have kept the face of Jesus Christ, like an old ambrotype in limp morocco covers, to ornament withal our spiritual center tables; too long employed the church as an ambulance, and ourselves for 'stretcher' service, digging graves and bearing of the dead, while at the cradle of our citizenship, License, the courtesan, sits and rocks and sings her nameless lullaby. Ask the motherhood of New York where it wants protection. It will answer: 'We want it where our sons are.' Where are the sons of New York? In the saloons. The same Congress that refuse even to consider the ravages of the liquor traffic appropriates one hundred thousand dollars a year to investigate hog cholera. One hundred thousand dollars outlay to save swine from infection; one hundred million income to spread contagion in the way of boys. Gospel temperance is apoplectic with idle sentiment. I have seen the saloon jackals come yelping all along the ways to shred the fallen bodies, to shred the souls and bodies of man, and even while I watched their frantic flight and observed them on their way, I have seen the majestic lion of the law, leap from his marble lair in the capitol and fell them with a blow of lethal velvet. It has happened many a time in this city of New York that a man has lain aside the linen apron of the bar for the ermine of the bench. The men who simply 'quit' begin again; restrictive permission perpetuates the salon piracy; and after one hundred years of negative reform the saloon is going to enter the twentieth century in triumpt, dragging the church chained to its chariot wheels." The New York papers characterize Mr. Woolley's speech as a magnificent address. He and Mrs. Woolley are going to England in October, by invitaton of Lady Henry Somerset. We assure our friends across the water that America's loss will be Englands gain, and they must not keep our brilliant campaigner too long.

Miss Stirling's Homes for children now established in Nova Scotia had their beginning in Edinburgh, where she opened a day nursery, a home for motherless children and one for the wretched inmates of baby farms. These charities laid the foundation for a Scottish National society for the prevention of cruelty to children.

AGRCULTURAL NOTES.

—At a meeting of farmers of Bass River and vicinity held in Victoria hall on Monday, October 3rd, it was resolved to establish a cheese and butter factory and a committee was appointed to secure subscriptions for the necessary capital, $1.500.

—The peach crop is not likely to become a failure in any year, even though the worst fears of the Delaware growers are realized, for the California fruit is improving and the facilities for shipment are increasing each year. The fruit is, however, never so nice when received as the best Deleware or native fruit. Delaware is still the greatest peach-producer region in the world. There are on the peninsula about nine million peach trees, good, bad and indifferent, grown on about 90,000 acres. The peach, however, can be grown successfully in almost any part of the United States, especially if protected by water, which reduces the likelihood of damage by frost. California, Michigan, Ohio, Northern New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, Western Maryland, West Virginia and Northern Georgia are now sending peaches to the New York market, from which they are distributed. California can ship about two million baskets per year.

—Manitoba is now to be congratulated upon harvesting one of the finest crops the province has enjoyed for years. Reports gathered by the Canadian Pacific Railway Telegraph company on Tuesday show fully ninty-five per cent of grain to have been cut and over twenty per cent. stacked. Not the slightest damage has been done by frost, and the sample is a magnificent one. Nothing more could be asked. A Winnipeg paper speaking of the reports says: "What more could be asked? The facts which the reports momentous import to the province. They mean that prosperity has come. They mean a great rush of immigrants; they mean plenty of money and good times all round. A great harvest has been safely garnered, and Manitobans can afford to rejoice and be thankful. The reports speak for themselves.

—At the Worlds Fair the following scale of points will form the basis for awarding the prizes in the dairy department.

At cheese will be divided into two, year 1893, and that made during the year 1893, will be judged on the following points the figures set opposite each indicating the maximum per cent., the total of all such maximums being 100:

Flavor	45
Texture	20
Color	15
Salting	10
Make up	01
Total	100

Mr. Chas. N. Hauer

Of Frederick, Md., suffered terribly for over ten years with abscesses and running sores on his left leg. He wasted away, grew weak and thin, and was obliged to use a cane and crutch. Everything which could be thought of was done without good result, until he began taking which effected a perfect cure. Mr. Hauer is now in the best of health. Full particulars of his case will be sent all who address C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
