The Colonist.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 30TH, 1889.

From THE DAILY COLONIST, August 23.

LOCAL AND PROVINCIAL.

Kootenay Ore.

Information received from Hot Springs Camp, Kootenay Lake, states that the Skyline, No. 1 and Della ledges are taking out large quantities of rich ore, which is being shipped out to Montana smelters.

Mr. Bigelow's Return.

Mr. Bigelow, of the Nevada Bank, San Francisco, intends to return home to-day. He has completed his business here, and now that Ross is committed for trial, will not return till he is able to get possession of the papers abstracted from the bank.

A Naval Picnic.

A very enjoyable day was spent yesterday at Colwood Plains by the warrant officers of the fleet with about fifty of their friends. The party left the city at 8:30 in busses, returning late in the evening to Esquimalt. A return picnic will be given to the warrant officers in the beginning of next month.

Cariboo Quartz.

Letters received from Cariboo state that Mr. Gifford, an English mining engineer who represents many millions of dollars, and who has been spending some weeks in visiting the quartz ledges is very much pleased with the outlook. He will reach Victoria in the course of a couple of weeks.

Prompt Payment.

The executors of the estate of the late Hon. A. E. B. Davie acknowledge the receipt of a check for $2,000 from the Sun Life Insurance Co., being the amount of a policy in that company. This promptness in settling claims—only two weeks after receipt of the papers—speaks well for the management of the Sun Life Insurance Co.

Mineral Specimens.

Mr. John Kurtz has received from Island Mountain, Beaver Lake, Cariboo, two excellent mineral specimens. One is a knob of nearly pure copper, containing only a coating of carbonate, and the other a piece of milk quartz showing a neat outcrop of gold on the top. The specimens were received from Judge Harrison.

For San Francisco.

The Walla Walla sailed for San Francisco at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, with the following passengers from this port: Mrs. Mallette and two children, F. J. McDonald, W. H. Harris, D. M. Waters, James Brown, Miss May Falconer, Miss Dolan, Mrs. Hayes, L. Henry, James Otis, Mrs. Joslyn, Mrs. Taylor and infant, J. E. Wiley, H. Bornstein, C. A. Robinson, C. S. Douglas, John Williams and H. M. Grindlay.

The Walla Walla Libel Suit.

At Seattle, on Wednesday, the libel of William Hamilton vs the steamship Walla Walla was argued before Judge Hanford in chambers, and was decided by the libellant being awarded $3,000 damages. Hamilton is a longshoreman, and lost three fingers from his hand while assisting the discharge of a cargo of oil from the Walla Walla at Port Townsend on February 1. He asked $10,000 damages, and received $3,000.

The Ross Embezzlement Case.

W. L. Ross appeared in the Police Court again yesterday, attended by his solicitor, Mr. Taylor. The depositions of the previous day's evidence were read over, and after a few words from the magistrate Ross was committed for trial. He will now be removed to the Provincial jail. No bail was asked for after the commitment. It is believed that Ross will consent to be tried at the Speedy Trials Court rather than wait till November for the sessions.

Mijon Silver.

Now that the canneries on the Fraser are closed down and the Indian employes paid off, the natives are well supplied with coin, and are making some extensive purchases. The Indians make a point of being paid in silver, and as a consequence their pockets are filled with silver dollars. One Indian states that as a result of the five weeks salmon run he cleaned up about $700, and among his purchases was an organette and an outfit of expensive clothes.

A Pleasing Incident.

Between the first and second acts of the fireman's play at the Victoria Theatre last night, Mr. Thomas Watson, of No. 1 Deluge, was called to the platform and presented with a handsome gold medal, the gift of his numerous friends and admirers in the city. The running champion responded in a few well spoken words, in which he spoke of the kindness he had received at the hands of the members of the Victoria hose team since his election to membership.

Serious Accident Near Port Angeles.

On Tuesday morning at one of the Dry Creek mills, near Port Angeles, a serious accident occurred by which three men, Nich Meagher, a sawyer; Albright, a jointer, and Hamilton, an engineer, were badly injured. Yesterday it was not believed that Meagher would recover. The shingle saw was running at a high rate of speed, and bursting broke into a number of pieces, which were thrown about the mill. The sawyer was struck in the face with pieces of the flying machinery. Hamilton was also struck in the head. Albright was struck in the breast.

The Johnson Street Sewer.

Yesterday morning at about 10:30 one of the numerous water mains traversing the trench dug for the reception of the sewer near the manhole at the corner of Store and Johnson streets, burst and threw up a very large volume of water which quickly filled the manhole and rushed in a big volume out of the sewer down to the opening into the harbor at the old ferry. Work on excavation was immediately stopped and the water commissioner notified of the accident. At 2 o'clock a gang of men from the water works started to repair the breakage. Work will be resumed on the sewer to-day. No serious damage has been done.

Shocking, if True.

The Vancouver papers publish a most revolting tale of immorality. A young girl named Julia Ann Carver has been rescued from a house of ill-fame, of which she has for some time been an inmate. The girl alleges that she was forced into a life of shame by her parents, who had caused her to be seduced by her father's creditor in order to liquidate a debt. The girl is to be sent to the Refuge Home in Victoria, where she will be cared for, and it is possible the speedy social wreck she promised to become may be averted. If the girl's story be true, public feeling cannot but be outraged and very much incensed at parents who can stoop to the degradation of trafficing in their own child's shame.

Steamship Collision.

At Seattle on Wednesday afternoon, a few hours before the departure of the Walla Walla for Victoria, en route to San Francisco, she collided with the steamship City of Puebla, carrying away several feet of the latter's fender on the port side, breaking the hinges of her after ports and denting her plates. The Puebla was lying at her wharf discharging cargo, and the Walla Walla was moving from the coal bunkers to the north end of the wharf, at which the Puebla lay. The tide was running strong at the time, and carried the Walla Walla out of her course, with the result that she drifted on to the Puebla, striking her at an angle of 45 degrees. The Walla Walla, beyond the bending and denting of the outer plates on her prow, was uninjured. The damage to the Puebla's side will not amount to over $250.

A Salary Saved.

The applicants for the position of Superintendant of Provincial Police are legion; but we understand it is the intention to try and get along without such an officer, thereby effecting a considerable saving in the police expenditure.

The Northern Excursion.

The Princess Louise left here at 7:30 last night on her northern excursion trip. She will call at Departure Bay for the purpose of coaling, and then proceed over her advertised route to northern waters. She is to return to Victoria on or about the 2d of September.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

WRESTLING.

QUINN WINS.

Philharmonic Hall was crowded last night with a large audience, anxious to witness the wrestling match for $500 a side between W. H. Quinn, of Victoria, the champion of the Pacific Coast, and Jack Conners, the champion of England. Although the match was advertised for 8 o'clock, it was 9:15 before a start was made. Both men decided on having McCann, the Seattle bruiser, as referee during the contest. The contest was watched with great interest throughout, and was well worth looking at, being about the prettiest exhibition of scientific wrestling ever witnessed in Victoria.

Bout the first—The men shook hands and clinched round the shoulders for a few seconds, moving about continuously. Quinn made the first break, rushing into Conners for a waist sling. The latter shifted position and got a clinch on Quinn's neck, forcing him to release. Conners then dropped, immediately realizing that it was safer for him to resort to his famous ground working than to stand up and chance matters with a man of the height of his opponent. Quinn fell with him and gaining top position started in getting some good leg work and a fine neck strain in. Conners, however, watched him closely and never allowed himself to go beyond his balance, curving himself on his left shoulder. After a minute's side play, he clinched Quinn's head and drew him up face to face. The struggle of the bout then ensued. Quinn twice attempted to slip his adversary through his arms and over on his back, but found it too hard to manage, and weakened each time. Both then raised to half height, when Conners dropped again, leaving Quinn on top with a good knee and shoulder leverage on his right shoulder. Quinn then made a herculean effort to weigh Connors down putting his utmost strength of head, body and legs on the right side and twisting his enemy's arm underneath him. The audience began to cheer loudly as Conners was seen to yield over on his other shoulder inch by inch, and most people thought that the fall was as good as gained, when Conners with a lightning movement hurled Quinn over his body a distance of about nine feet, landing him with a loud thud square on his two shoulders in 11 min. 45 sec. from the beginning of the bout. The audience applauded the winner very heartily. The throw is an old trick of Conners', and one by which he has downed Tom Cannon and Professor Miller, so that Quinn had no cause to feel ashamed of his overthrow.

After the usual ten minutes breathing time the men again started.

Bout the second.—Conners came up to the scratch considerably blown, his want of condition now beginning to tell on him, after the hard struggle of the first round. On starting in, Quinn, who seemed fresh as when he began, caught Conners about the middle and threw him on the floor. The latter, with cat-like agility, turned in mid-air and landed on his stomach. Quinn immediately threw himself on top, and, very warily this time, proceed to clinch Conners about the neck. He got in a fearfully tight grip and put immense power into the attempt to turn him over. Conners lay like a log, with every muscle strained to the utmost tension, to prevent this. His wonderful floor grip saved him, and after exhausting himself in the attempt, Quinn gave it up and freed his man. Conners rose, and almost before he was up Quinn had gone down on top of him again with precisely the same terrible grip. Conners then lifted the Victoria boy clean off his feet twice in succession, but had not the strength left to repeat his performance of the first bout, more especially as Quinn stuck to him like a leech. After this Quinn again rose and Conners who got up immediately fell a third time underneath. Here he remained a fixture for a minute when he foolishly decided to get on the half height and try to put in his work kneeling. To a man in his condition this was almost suicidal, and moreover, had he remained on the floor Quinn could never have bested him. As it was, however, a quick, short struggle ensued which ended in Quinn's throwing his enemy on his back, fair and square, amid loud applause. Time 4 minutes 36 seconds.

Bout the third—After the rest the men came to the scratch, both showing signs of fatigue, the Englishman being considerably puffed. The set-to was very quick, each attempting to rush the other down as quickly as possible. After tumbling about on the floor for some minutes, during which time Quinn was applauded for his clever dodging tactics, the contestants gradually wriggled off the matting until Conner's head was in close proximity to the footlights. The referee ordered the men on the carpet, as he had done two or three times in the first two bouts, and Conners at once dropped all hold for the purpose of complying with the referee's request. Quinn then picked his opponent up in his arms, Connors not making the least resistance, turned him round and threw him on the floor. McCann gave Quinn the fall and the match.

Immediately after the decision which, although Conners was unknown to any body present, was greeted with a deal of disfavour, the men shook hands and Conners stepping forward said that although, in his opinion, the last fall was not a fair one, he was quite willing to abide by the referee's decision in the matter. He would meet Quinn within three weeks for any amount from $500 to $1,000 a side, catch-as-catch can.

Quinn at once accepted the challenge.

Throughout the match neither of the contestants displayed the least viciousness and the contest was one well worth seeing. Conners was entirely out of condition while Quinn was, if anything, overtrained. There is little doubt that within three weeks the men will meet again when a close and interesting contest may be looked for. The Victoria sports will stick fast to Quinn, however, and are prepared to back him to almost any amount.

M'LEOD DOWNS SCHUMAKER.

The wrestling match at Nanaimo last night, between D. S. McLeod and Peter Schumaher, was won by McLeod in two straight falls. Betting was in favor of McLeod, he being considerable of a favorite with the Nanaimo people.

A despatch received from Nanaimo at midnight gives the following account of the match: "In the wrestling match, D. S. McLeod vs. P. Schumacher, catch-as-catch-can, the first bout was won in 12½ minutes by McLeod, who picked up his opponent bodily and with very little effort laid him on his back. The second bout was also won by McLeod in 24½ minutes. This bout was much more exciting than the last, Schumacher's chances being good until within the last three minutes, when McLeod by a great effort rose to his feet and quickly throwing Schumacker, seized him by the leg and body, turning him cleverly, amid great cheering. McLeod was a hot favorite. Very little outside betting was done. F. Hurst acted as referee.

Jas. H. Faulkner, Quinn's trainer, will wrestle catch-as-catch-can with the winner of last night's match at Nanaimo, for $500 or $1,000 a side.

Quinn himself is open to wrestle either of the combatants, for the same amount, Graeco-Roman style.

Jack Conners will leave the city in three weeks to go into training for his match with Jack Ashton at the Olympic Club Rooms, San Francisco, for a $1,500 purse.

A CHALLENGE.

The following challenge has been left at this office by Mr. Ed. Ziegler in behalf of Conners:

"I, Jack Conners, hereby challenge Quinn to wrestle a match with me, catch-as-catch-can style, best two falls out of three, for either $500 or $1,000 a side, match to come off within two weeks."

The girl Julia Ann Carter, who was arrested by the police at Vancouver on Tuesday morning, and who told the magistrate such a revolting story of parental depravity, has been brought to the Rescue Home in this city by Mrs. Young, of the W.C.T.U. The girl was opposed to going when the suggestion was first made to her, but Chief Stewart, of Vancouver, in a few words convinced her that there were but two courses open to her—to go to the Home or go to jail. She accordingly consented to enter the Home.

The Salmon Industry.

The sockeyes came to the fore again in the Fraser on Thursday night in large numbers, the boats averaging 200 fish each, though some netted as high as 300. According to the new fisheries regulations the season for netting sockeyes expires on Saturday, 24th inst., (to-day,) and the cohoe season opens on September 1st. In the interval spring salmon nets will be used. If the cohoe run is up to the mark the present pack will be increased by 40,000 or 50,000 cases. The canneries are getting everything in readiness for the final pack of the season.—Columbian.

A Cutting Affray.

At 8:30 yesterday morning when the crew of the bark George, now stationed at the Rice Mills wharf, had finished their breakfast, a row occurred aboard, which resulted in John Bestoquetz, a colored man, receiving a knife stab in the right shoulder blade. The man went to the police station and charged the mate with assaulting him, asking for a summons to be issued. The reason why he did not choose to obtain a warrant has not transpired. The case will be heard in the police court to-day. Dr. Helmcken attended to the wounded man's shoulder, which is not much hurt.

Hydraulic Mining at Yale.

Referring to an application for the purchase of 40 acres of what is known as the "Yale Flats," the Vancouver News-Advertiser says it is stated that Messrs. Douglas & Teague have purchased the whole of the land in question from the Dominion Government (it being within the Railway Belt). Through the instrumentality of Messrs. Drake, Jackson & Co., of this city, an English syndicate has arranged to send out hydraulic machinery of the value of $30,000 to work the property. This machinery is now on its way, and as soon as it arrives and can be set up, operations will be commenced. An abundant supply of water for the work is available, and the result of the operations will be looked forward to with much interest.

LACROSSE.

The Victoria Juniors will meet the Vancouver Juniors in a game of Lacrosse at Beacon Hill this afternoon. The Vancouver lads arrived by last evening's steamer.

The Vancouver team of Juniors is composed of the following: T. Dinsmore, E. Morency, E. Miller, W. Quann, C. Scuppy, Kim Campbell, W. Miller, J. Reynolds, F. Miller, J. Miller, Ken Campbell, S. Meyers, M. Martin.

The Vancouver News-Advertiser says: "Mr. A. E. Suckling has completed arrangements for a lacrosse match between the Vancouver and Victoria clubs on September 10th at Kamloops, on the occasion of the C.P.R. picnic to be held there. It is expected that the Victoria club will not offer any objections to playing on this occasion, as if they do they will lay themselves open to the charge of being afraid of losing their laurels. The Vancouver team are confident of their ability to win. This confidence, however, will be accounted braggadocio if they are badly beaten, as they certainly will be, unless they begin at once by practising for the match. During the whole season the Vancouver club have shown a most reprehensible disinclination to coming out in the field and putting themselves in condition for genuine work. The C.P.R. Company have arranged to give twelve medals to the winning team in the match on the 10th of September. The contest should therefore be one in which each team should put out its utmost energy to win.

TO THE EDITOR,—Mr. A. E. Suckling seems to have exceeded his authority in arranging a match at Kamloops with the Victoria lacrosse club. The Victorias have expressed themselves on this matter before, and have long ago decided not to go to Kamloops. It is not because "they are afraid of losing their laurels," as has been prompted to the News-Advertiser. The time occupied in going and returning on the proposed trip will not admit of the majority of the team accepting any more picnics such as the one to Kamloops last September.

CITY POLICE COURT.

(Before Hon. A. N. Richards, P. M.)

DRUNKS.

Jimmy and Andrew, two Indians, were each fined $5 for drunkenness.

An Indian named Sam was fined $25 for having an intoxicant in his possession.

Thomas Jelfs, charged on remand with stealing a quantity of pickets, was further remanded till Tuesday next.

William Bell was charged, on information of Officer Redgrave, with using insulting language to Ald. Harrison on Thursday afternoon. His Honor imposed a fine of $5 and costs, cautioning Bell that if ever he was brought before him again he would imprison him.

INFRACTION OF BY-LAWS.

W. G. Bowman and A. MacTavish were charged with infraction of the health by-laws. The cases were remanded till to-day.

ASSAULTING THE POLICE.

Thomas Pamphlett was brought up on remand charged on two counts with assaulting constables, at The Victoria Theatre on the night of the 17th inst.

Mr. Wilson appeared for the defendant, and pleaded guilty to the charge, on his behalf. He said that there was every excuse for his client. In the excitement naturally consequent on a political meeting, he had struck the officers without meaning any harm whatever. He asked that the offence be dealt with leniently.

The chief of police asked that Pamphlett be dealt leniently with. He was a quiet and respectable man when sober.

His Honor said that that might be, but the offence was a very serious one, and one only to be met by a heavy penalty.

A fine of $75 was imposed.

ANOTHER SEALER ARRIVES.

The Sapphire Reaches Victoria With a Splendid Catch.

The Maggie Mac Boarded but Not Seized—The Sapphire Runs Away from the "Bear"—The Crew Attacked by Malignant Fever—News From Other Sealers.

Yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock a schooner was sighted in Royal Roads, and as she quickly hove into sight the report went round the city that another of the seized schooners had returned safe. When she got closer, however, it was ascertained that the little craft was Messrs. E. B. Marvin & Co's schooner Sapphire, that, with all flags flying triumphantly and sails well filled, was coming round into the harbor at a rattling pace. A large number of people were along the rocks by the custom house when she anchored and swung round into the stream. A COLONIST reporter boarded her immediately on her anchoring, and gleaned the following interesting budget of news from Captain W. Cox, her genial skipper:

FEVER ABOARD.

On the 20th of May the Sapphire proceeded to Kyuquot, where she lay for a day or two. Here several of the Indians showed symptoms of sickening from some epidemic, and it was not long before the captain discovered that the disease was a malignant fever. He at once put to sea, and on the voyage north the whole of the crew, himself included, were attacked by the fever. Fortunately, owing, perhaps, to the cold and the sea air, in addition to the remedies luckily carried aboard, no deaths resulted. One of the Indian hunters, however, rose from his sick bed a blind man, while two others had their eyesight very seriously affected.

IN BEHRING'S SEA.

On the 4th of July the Sapphire entered the "closed ocean," and five days afterwards took her first catch of seals. After that catches were good and frequent, and everything went well. On the 24th the Pathfinder came up to the Sapphire, spoke her, and reported all well and a catch of 640 seals. Four days after this, the Annie C. Moore was spoken with 600 skins aboard and all well. On the 29th with a fair wind the Sapphire came in sight of the Maggie Mac. Capt. Dodd told him that on the 26th he had been boarded by Lieutenant Tuttle of the cutter Rush, who informed him of the capture of the Black Diamond and the Minnie. Captain Dodd stated that the Minnie had been towed by the Rush into Ounalaska on the 24th of July and laid up there.

TUTTLE HOODWINKED AGAIN.

He also said that when asked by Tuttle where he had come from he stated that he had caught his seals at Copper Island on the other side. When he heard this Tuttle seemed to be satisfied and remarking that he had other fish to catch was leaving the gangway. Captain Dodd asked him what he meant and he pointed to two specks over near the land that he said were the schooners Minnie and Mary Ellen that he was going to nip in the act. As soon as he had left the Maggie Mac got as far away as she could with her 650 skins, having seen the Rush standing down on the seemingly unsuspecting schooners.

IS THE PENELOPE TAKEN?

In addition to the above, Capt. Cox was told, while aboard the Maggie Mac, that a schooner, the name of which he does not remember, had reported to them that the Penelope had been sighted in tow of the Rush, heading for Ounalaska.

THE CHASE.

At 10 o'clock on the morning after the Maggie Mac had been visited, the sky was overcast and the sun was just succeeding in struggling out of the mist, when a sail was sighted only about three miles off on the vessel's quarter. Speculation as to what the stranger could be was rife until the mist rose a little and revealed thick volumes of smoke pouring out of her funnels, and a big ugly hull that was at once recognized as being the peculiarity of the U. S. S. Bear. Captain Cox put up every stitch of canvas that his little vessel could carry, and, aided by a splendid southerly wind, fled before the steamer. The latter gained for half an hour, and then the fleet Sapphire began to show her abilities, and slowly but surely left the chaser behind. The Union Jack was run up to the mainmast, and with hearty cheers of her crew the sealer walked away, and in another hour was lost to sight in the friendly mist. Nothing more was seen of the Bear.

The schooner Viva was spoken on the 28th, all well with 500 skins aboard. The Sapphire was 14 days coming down from the sea with variable winds.

A SPLENDID CATCH.

The Sapphire has aboard a most excellent catch, consisting of 2,520 skins. Of these 1,625 were taken in Behring's Sea; the balance, 895, representing the coast catch. Capt. Cox has the honor of having made the biggest one day's catch ever effected in the sealing history of the province. On the 18th day of July he put aboard 287 seals.
