HON. J. ISRAEL TARTE'S PLANS FOR SECURING WESTERN TRADE

Making a Study of Various Lake Ports and Harbors.

CANADIAN ROUTE IS THE BEST

Millions Will Be Expended in the Enterprise—Double Object of Minister's Trip.

[Detroit Free Press, July 20.]

The government steamer Lord Stanley, having on board Hon. J. Israel Tarte, Dominion Minister of Public Works, and a party of women and men, arrived in Windsor yesterday morning and remained for several hours before continuing the trip towards Sarnia. The call at Windsor is one of many which the minister intends making at Canadian and American cities between Montreal and Fort William. He left on July 9 and expects that it will be about the middle of August before he gets back to Ottawa.

Hon. Mr. Tarte is one of the hardest working members of the Laurier Government and the close application to affairs of state is showing its marks, as his hair and beard have grown quite white since his last visit to Windsor. He was ordered by his physicians to take a rest from the cares of office a few weeks ago and promised to do so. The present trip is the outcome of the doctor's advice. Mr. Tarte was told that a lake voyage would be very beneficial and he at once conceived the plan to combine business and pleasure and he is now engaged in gathering information which he hopes to turn to good use in the future.

TAKE PHOTOGRAPHS.

The ambition of Mr. Tarte's life is to secure for Canadians a proper amount of the shipping which passes through the chain of great lakes between the west and the east, and the present trip is for the purpose of furthering this scheme. He is making a close study of the shipping facilities in American ports, the warehouses and, in fact, of everything connected with this vast business. Warehouses, railway yards and elevators have been visited and photographed in the cities of Buffalo and Cleveland, and this plan will be followed at Chicago, Milwaukee and Duluth. The question of freight rates, facilities for handling cargoes, and the distance to be traversed all enter into the inquiry which Mr. Tarte now has on foot.

"It is a matter of great importance to all Canadians, this question of providing facilities for our shipping interests," said Mr. Tarte to a representative of the Free Press, who found the minister enjoying the cool breezes of the Detroit River aboard his vessel yesterday morning, "and one that will have to be solved in the immediate future. Canadians have the best route between the east and west, and I do not see any reason why a portion of the traffic cannot be carried in Canadians bottoms. It is for this purpose that I am on my present trip, and I am making a thorough study of the plans and facilities adopted by our American friends. The information I shall gain I will use in the future in making improvements and providing better shipping facilities for Canadians.

INABILITY TO HANDLE FREIGHT.

"So far on the trip I have visited Cleveland and Buffalo, and it might be said that those two cities are the connecting links between the east and west. Their immense elevators and railway lines have solved in a great measure the question of handling the grain and iron ore which comes down from the upper lakes in vessels. The freight is easily handled and the fast railway lines make the seaboard easy of access to the shipper who intends his goods for the European market. I am of the opinion, from what I have already learned, that it is our inability to handle the freight that has sent it through American channels. This I hope to change so that in a few years Canadian shippers can patronize the vessels and railways of their own country, to the advantage of all concerned.

"Of course, my scheme is not for what might be called home trade alone. I am looking further, as I think that in a short time we will be able to compete in the European markets with our American friends in the way of shipping goods. According to my calculations this trade will naturally come to us when we can handle it, and I have been devoting a great amount of time to the subject for the past four years. There is a vast trade bound to be carried on between the American continent and Europe, and if we can secure a portion of the carrying of this trade, it will be for the benefit of every person in the country.

THE SHORTEST ROUTE.

"The question that is now agitating the minds of shippers is in reaching a given point in the least possible time, and it is by solving this problem that the Canadian Government hopes to capture a great amount of this vast business between the east and west. We have the shortest route from Lake Superior to the seaport by at least 600 miles, and this counts for a great deal with the shippers, who consign their goods from the far west to England and other European countries. The route I am talking of is through the Georgian Bay to Midland and thence by rail to Montreal via Peterboro. The Grand Trunk Railway already has a line connecting these two points and I have the assurance that the Canadian Pacific Railway will either have a spur between these places or will secure running facilities over the line now in operation. This route means a saving in time and does away with the dangerous trip through the River St. Clair Cut and across the Lime Kiln crossing at Amherstburg, as well as the locks of the Welland Canal.

"Following out this plan the government has dredges at work at Midland and Owen Sound deepening the harbors, and is building docks and everything necessary to the handling of this large freight business from the west. Elevators and freight sheds will be constructed and the vessels engaged in this business can carry much larger cargoes than they could if they were to pass through the different cuts between the Soo and Buffalo.

RAILROADS OVERTAXED.

"It is not alone the trade of the American people that we are after, as our own shipments of grain and cattle from the west are reaching large proportions. Each year finds more of the western lands settled, which means an added quantity of grain and farm produce to ship east. Last fall the railways were taxed to their full capacity, and, in fact, the grain could not be handled satisfactorily. With grain elevators in close touch with the lake vessels, and where short trips can be made both by rail and water this inability to deliver freight from the west will be done away with. In a few years I hope that the government will be in a position to take care of all the business which goes by land and water through Canada.

"In anticipation of this great carrying trade which we intend to develop, there will be large improvements made at Montreal. The cost of the harbor improvements alone will run into the millions, in addition to the cost of the elevators and sheds which are to be constructed to hold the grain and freight until it is put aboard the ocean carriers or shipped to its destination in the west. When all the improvements are completed in the Montreal harbor, all of the ocean vessels can call at that port, which will be another factor in our favor in competing for the freight carrying between America and Europe and other old world countries."

In speaking of the proposed dam to be erected at the lower end of Lake Erie, Mr. Tarte said that the more he considered the matter, the more feasible the project appeared to be. He refused to commit himself, however, until after the commission appointed by the United States Government had examined into the scheme and made a report.

THE GAYNOR-GREENE CASE.

One of the first questions asked by Mr. Tarte was in connection with the extradition case of Gaynor and Greene at Quebec. He was shown the dispatch in the Free Press, and after perusing it remarked that everything will come out all right.

"It is simply absurd," said the minister, with sudden asperity, "to make the charge that our judges or lawyers can be reached in this case. There is no precedent in Canadian history for our American friends to make such a charge, and you will see at the conclusion that the law will take its course the same as in any other extradition case. The counsel employed are the best in the Province of Quebec and they are all above suspicion of such a charge as was made by the representative of the American Government. No matter whether the case is tried at Quebec or Montreal, the defendants will be given a fair hearing, and if they have to go back it will be because the evidence shows that a case for extradition has been made out."

Mr. Tarte, accompanied by the ladies of the party, spent a couple of hours in Detroit while the boat was lying at Windsor, and they were very favorably impressed by what they saw of the principal streets.

"It is a magnificent city," said Mr. Tarte on his return, "and one of the cleanest large cities I have ever visited. It must be very healthy here. The inhabitants appear to be very busy and," with a look across at the elevators and vessels tied up along the wharves, "I should imagine that the city does a vast amount of trade with other places."

While on his visit to Windsor Hon. J. Israel Tarte, accompanied by Col. Guillot, inspected the Windsor armories. The minister of public works expressed himself as well pleased with the building and congratulated Col. Guillot on the very soldierly way in which everything about the armories is kept. He also inspected the repairs to the postoffice building.

Well Made.

Pure flour and pure yeast do not necessarily mean good bread. It may be spoiled in the making. Just so: material is not everything. Prof. W. Hodgson Ellis, Official Analyst to the Dominion Government, after a number of analyses, reports that "Sunlight Soap is a pure and well-made soap." "Well made" means more than you think. Try Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar—next wash day, and you will enjoy the benefits of a "well-made" soap, and will see that Prof. Ellis is right. No one should know better than he. 214

IT WAS A WILD DAY IN OATS

July Shorts Were Panicky on the Chicago Board.

Prices Rose Two Cents at a Jump—Made a Gain of 7 3-4c.

Chicago, July 19.—This was another day for squeezing shorts in the oats pit. New July standard oats were excitedly bid up 7¾c to 65c, the highest price since 1874. Aside from the large short line that is held by one of the leading professionals the principal cause of the erratic gyrations displayed by oat prices today was that of ruined harvests by reason of the recent heavy rains. Others grains were bullishly affected by the rains, but liquidation caused reaction. At the close July oats showed a gain of 7½c, September oats ½c, and July 1¾c. September corn lost ¼c to ⅜c; July wheat ½c and September wheat ¼c. Provisions closed 7½c to 15c lower.

It was a wild day in oats. The cause largely seems to be that there is a natural corner in July new options. Mayor James Patten, of Evanston, who cornered May oats, is credited with a line of nearly 2,000,000 bushels of new July and inasmuch as receipts are very small and contract grading much smaller, shorts are fearing still worse conditions. Up to a few days ago promises for a good oats harvest came to hand repeatedly. The cash demand, however, kept up so well that in spite of predicted bumper crops prices continued to advance on the sample tables. With heavy rains in the adjacent fields and reports of fallen and twisted yellow grain, shorts became panicky. The outside bought freely. The further options advanced sympathetically and were hardly appreciably affected by the break in wheat and corn. The near months have become very scarce. At all times they are hard to buy and the demand is always in excess of the offerings. Trade in July was not excessively heavy, the price being put up by moderate purchases. Prices, however, fluctuated one or two cents at a jump. July opened 2¾c up at 60c, dipped to 59½c, and then jumped to 65c. The close was very strong, 7¾c up to 64½c. September opened ¼c to ⅝c higher at 33¾c to 34⅛c, and sold at 34⅜, closing firm, ½c higher at 34c. Receipts were very small at 81 cars, 28 of contract grade.

STEER'S GHASTLY LOAD

Bore Indian Lad Impaled Upon Its Horns All Night.

Tulsa, I. T., July 21.—A Creek Indian boy, Charles Mingo, was found dead securely fixed on the horns of a wild Texas steer. He had evidently been there all night. When found the steer was trying to dislodge the boy by rubbing against the banks of a small ravine in which the animal was standing, completely tired out from an all night's run. The other cattle were standing about him, greatly excited.

The steer was immediately shot and the body taken from its horns. The boy was terribly mangled and bruised by the horns, one of which ran clear through the body.

The boy was seen playing on Coal Creek in the Forsythe pasture, and it is supposed he was lost and wandered among the cattle during the night.

COULDN'T "LOOP THE LOOP"

Boy Thought He Could Run Head Downward and Couldn't.

Akron, O., July 21.—Jay Wall, the young son of W. H. Wall, conceived the idea that he could run fast enough to speed around the loop-the-loop rigging built by James Rankin as a means of practicing for regular performances, and the other night he tried it. He sped down the incline like a cyclone and started up the sharp circle winding over his head. Then he fell and cut and bruised himself frightfully. He landed forty feet from the loop.

SOMETHING THAT SHOULD BE RUBBED IN.—Whenever pain is felt in the limbs or back, take Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil; pour a little in the hand and applying it to the surface beneath which the pain lies, rub briskly. If the first application does not afford relief, which is not usually the case, keep rubbing. The Oil will gradually penetrate to the affected part and relief will come.

GROOM OF A DAY MISSING

Married Tuesday, Disappeared Wednesday, Leaving Wife Alone.

Cleveland, July 21.—"Where is my husband?" wailed a beautiful young woman as she stepped into the probate clerk's office here yesterday morning. The eyes of the young bride, who was scarcely out of her teens, were wet and swollen with weeping and her every appearance betokened the distress which she had suffered. "Have you seen my husband?" she continued. "I have lost him. He has gone, and I don't know where."

The young woman was Mrs. John Dippell, a bride of but little more than a day. It was on Tuesday afternoon that the young man, John Dippel, brought to the probate court with him his prospective bride, Miss Mary Rybak, and secured a marraige license. The maiden was happy, and fondly and poudly the groom gazed upon his bride as he escorted her to Justice Brown's court, where the ceremony uniting the happy couple as man and wife was performed.

The couple left the court room together and neither was seen again until the bride appeared at the probate court next day with the statement that her husband had strangely and suddenly disappeared. She had not the slightest notion where nor why he had gone, affirming that they had no quarrel whatever. She said that her husband left the house in the afternoon, promising to be back soon. She waited patiently for an hour, but the husband did not return.
