PEARSON'S TRIAL THURSDAY

The Self-Confessed Murderer of Miss Annie Griffin Sleeps and Eats Well in Jail.

CHARGED WITH HORSE STEALING.

QUEEN'S OWN RIFLES.

Big Parade Last Night—A Splendid Program for the Annual Rifle Matches.

A big crowd turned out last night to witness the parade of the Q.O.R. Six hundred and sixteen men, including 40 recruits, were in the ranks, and were put thru company drill by Col. Delamere, followed by a route march under Major Pellatt. T. B. Craig has been sworn in, and Sergt. W. J. Kempthorne and A. T. Williamson have engaged for a further term of service. The annual nine match at the regiment will be held at Long Branch on Oct. 6. The Executive officer for duty at the ranges next Saturday, when the Highlanders hold their matches, is Major Murray.

The officers of the Q.O.R. Rifle Committee have arranged an excellent program for the annual matches on Oct. 6. They are Capt. R. Rennie (president), Lieut. A. D. Crooks, Lieut. J. M. Davison (treasurer), Lieut. W. A. H. Findlay (secretary).

The matches commence at 9 a.m., with the field firing competition for company teams. The first prize is the Victoria Rifles' challenge cup and a good watch charm to each member of the winning team.

Ninety prizes are offered in the general match, ranging in value from $30 down. By an excellent arrangement special prizes will be awarded to the tyros making the 35 highest scores in this match. These prizes are all of the most useful kind for riflemen, including vemers, Andrews' score books and back-sight protectors. Also the last 20 prizes in this match are reserved for tyros, so that the tyros cannot fail to scoop in a lot of good things, no matter how they shoot, and the Rifle Committee deserve unqualified commendation for their liberal encouragement of the green hands.

Extra series matches at 600 and 800 yards are also provided for all-comers, with unlimited entries.

A revolver match is also on the program. Competitors must provide their own weapons and ammunition. The former may be of any pattern, not less than .32 nor more than .45 calibre. The maximum length of barrel may be 7½ inches and the minimum trigger pull 2 pounds.

A "medals" match, seven rounds at 800 yards, is another feature. The medals offered in this match will be added to the total in the general match to determine the winners. The prizes are medals presented by Messrs. A. H. Dewdney & Bros., John Waniess & Sons, the D.R.A. and O.R.A.

In the company team matches, the prizes are challenge cups, presented by the Dufferin Rifles, the Toronto Street Ry. Co. and Industrial Exhibition Association.

The usual ex-members' match is on the program. Competitors are reminded that trains leave the station at 7 and 11 a.m. and 1 and 2.10 p.m., and leave the ranges at 4.27, 5.45 and 6.20 p.m.

POPE IN GOOD HEALTH.

His Holiness Gave Benedictions to 20,000 Pilgrims—30,000 Present.

Rome, Sept. 26.—The Pope at St. Peter's to-day gave benedictions to 20,000 pilgrims. With the invited guests the total number of persons present was 30,000. The Pontiff was in excellent health.

Wants It Wound Up.

Mr. Justice Meredith was yesterday afternoon asked to issue an order for the winding up of the business of the French Artificial Flower and Feather Company of Johnson-lane. It was alleged by one of the interested parties, Mrs. Allena M. Lauretti, that she advanced money to purchase tools and machinery and that later a mortgage was placed on the assets of the company without her knowledge. Mrs. Laurettl is seeking to recover the money advanced from the other members of the company and the motion was enlarged until after the suit is tried next week.

The Judgment Endorsed.

The Brockville waterworks figured in a dispute before Mr. Justice Meredith yesterday over the priority of an architect's lien and a claim of an estate which advanced money for the completion of the works. The master at Brockville held in favor of the architect, Mr. Liston. The Leduc estate appealed yesterday and judgment was given endorsing the finding of the local master.

The Health of the Soldiers.

"It makes me feel gind to see the soldiers coming home," said Smith to his neighbor last night.

They were conversing over the fence.

"Well," said the neighbor, "I wish the boys were all back."

"So do I," echoed Smith, and then he said: "Come around and I'll let you in. We will drink to the health of all of them."

Smith opened a bottle of Shamrock Ale. He gets it from Taylor, 205 Parliament-street, and knows it is the best in the city.

They drank to the soldiers' health, and the neighbor asked Smith to come into his place.

He had Shamrock Ale, too. Taylor certainly delivers it to a lot of places.

Tooth Substitutes

Accident, decay or disease of the gums very often cause the loss of one or several important teeth. Crown and Bridge Work is the best of modern dental methods for replacing with serviceable substitutes without the necessity of wearing a plate in the mouth. Our experience in performing this work has been greater than that of the ordinary dentists, and has developed an expert understanding in advising and performing. Our work and our prices will both be pleasing and profitable.

Angus McIntosh Under Arrest—Toronto Man Arrested—Topics of the Ambitious City.

Hamilton, Sept. 26.—(Special.)—This afternoon Officer Vanmere of Dundas recovered the horse which was stolen at the Ancaster Fair yesterday and arrested Angus McIntosh on the charge of stealing the animal, which belonged to George E. Miller, Alberton.

Toronto Man Arrested.

Detective Bleakley this evening arrested Thomas Wodehouse, Toronto, on a charge of stealing shoes from Charles Bamford's store.

Threatened His Wife.

Albert Neville, Caroline-street, was arrested to-night for threatening to kill his wife.

Mr. Hamilton's Lecture.

Mr. Hamilton made a hit with his war lecture this evening. Association Hall was crowded, and the lecturer and many of his views were heartily applauded. His reference to the bravery of Lieut. Marshall and Pte. McGiverin, in bringing Pte. Ussher from the field was warmly received.

Cheap Auer Lights.

The gaslight company has just about completed arrangements by which Auer lights, which not so long ago sold for $3 and $4, will be sold to gas users for $1 and probably less. The Toronto Auer light Company controls the Ontario territory, and Manager Cathels has nearly come to terms with it so that the gas campany can make all the light except the mantle.

By thus offering the Auer light at a small price, the gas company expects to keep considerable business from the electric light company. It is likely the new arrangement will come into effect in a few days.

Exit Aaron Sayman.

One of the celebrities of Hamilton for years has been Aaron Sayman, an elderly liebrew, who kept a veritable old curiosity shop for a long time on North James-street and more recently on North Macnab-street. In the shop Sayman had many rare and costly curiosities gathered from all parts of the world. Now it is being scattered in all directions.

The ruthless auctioneer put the collection under the hammer to-day, and Aaron will journey to the States to live with some of his sons, taking with him his wife and his son Eleazar, who for a long time had been separated from the old curiosity shop man.

To Come Up on Friday.

George Arthur Pearson, the self-confessed murderer of Annie Griffin, will come up for the preliminary trial on Friday morning, the Crown having secured an adjournment from to-morrow, the day originally set. Pearson sleeps and eats well at the jail.

Makes a Protest.

The Cataract Power & Electric Light Co. has writen to the Mayor, formally protesting against the lighting contract going to the gaslight company. The company's secretary declares that the cost with electric light would be less than that of the gas campany, and offers to do the lighting for a flat rate of $500 a year.

Even that is higher than the gas company's figures, which are $378.50.

Minor Matters.

The Baptist missionaries, who left Toronto this morning, were received at the T.H.

SENSATION IN SIFTON CASE

Walter Herbert, Charged With the Murder of Joseph Sifton, Says "Guilty"

AND GERALD PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Question Was Put to Herbert Three Times, Replied "Guilty" Each Time—Remanded for Sentence.

London, Ont., Sept. 26.—At the Assize Court here this morning, in the Sifton murder case, Walter Herbert pleaded "Guilty" to having murdered Joseph Sifton. The prisoner's pleading came as a great surprise to the court.

Gerald Sifton, who is charged, with Herbert, with having done the killing, had just stood up in the box and pleaded "Not Guilty," and his trial had been traversed to the Spring Assizes.

Gerald Sifton.

Herbert then gave his startling answer to the usual question of the clerk. The question was repeated to him three times, and he gave the same answer to each in a low, trembling voice. The prisoner was then remanded for sentence.

Herbert was Gerald Sifton's hired man, and the Crown alleges that Gerald secured the aid of Herbert to kill his father, Joseph Sifton, on the day the latter was to have been married to a young woman named Mary MacFarlane. When Herbert was arrested he confessed to High Constable MacLeod, implicating Gerald Sifton, and saying he (Herbert) had first struck the old man with an ax, when his heart failed him, and Gerald finished the job. The defence claimed that the deceased accidentally fell out of the barn.

Herbert to Go on the Stand.

The World learned last night that it was the intention of the Crown, when the Sifton case is tried, probably at the Fall Assizes, to put the prisoner, Walter Herbert, on the stand. Herbert, it appears, has already made a statement to the Crown authorities regarding his connection with the murder, and he will be used as a witness to prove the authenticity of the statement. The prisoner Herbert is said to be a simple-minded young fellow. It is not likely that he will ever receive the extreme penalty.

BIG HOTEL FOR WINNIPEG

Will Be Erected By the C. P. R. in Connection With New Station—On Conditions.

Winnipeg, Sept. 26.—(Special.)—President Shaughnessy proposes to erect a million dollar hotel and station here on certain conditions. What he proposed was that the city should bear half the cost of proposed subway, and compensation for its construction, the whole to be $80,000. The Council may take any one of three courses: First, to give the company the amount demanded, taking it out of the current year's taxes without submitting a lyline; second, to put bylaw before the people; third, to get the decision of the Privy Council as to the liability of the city to bear part of the cost of the subway. Some of the aldermen are in favor of making an offer of $50,000 to the company towards the cost of the subway.

TO HAUL NEW BRUNSWICK COAL.

The C. P. R. Will Try an Experiment Over Its Short Line Owing to the High Price.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 26.—(Special.)—The Canadian Pacific Railway Company is about to make the experiment of hauling Nova Scotia coal from St. John, N.B., to Montreal and the West, over its short line between this city and the New Brunswick port. The present high price of coal affords a tempting prospect for the profitable sale of the Nova Scotia product, and the C.P.R. will see what there is to be made out of it.

Contract for 80,000 Tons.

A contract has just been made by the Railway Co. with the Springhill, N.S., Co., for the immediate delivery of 80,000 tons of coal at St. John. The coal will be carried from Springhill mines to St. John in barges and will then be brought to Montreal over the C.P.R. line. The cost of the latter transportation will be very small, in view of the fact that the freight cars, which are used to carry winter freight from Montreal to St. John, will be utilized on the return journey to carry the coal westward. Heretofore these freight cars have come back from St. John empty, there being practically no return freight from that port to Montreal. By their present project with the C.P.R. they will have solved the important problem of return freight from the east and may accomplish a considerable development of the Nova Scotia coal fields.

WORTHY OF THE VICTORIA CROSS

Three Wounded Members of the Canadian Mounted Infantry Keep Sixty Boers at Bay, and Two of Them Die at Their Posts.

South African Correspondence of The Montreal Star.

The brilliant incident to which I have already referred was performed by troops One and Four of D Squadron, under command of Lieutenant Davidson. They arrived at Honingspruit on June 18, where with two companies of the Shropshire Regiment, and a detachment of the Imperial Yeomanry, they made up the garrison at that place. About that time Honingspruit was a most important point on that line of communication, inasmuch as within a distance of about ten miles the railway crossed no less than three bridges, which, if destroyed, effectually interrupted the line of communication. This fact naturally made it a favorite spot for the marauding exploits of the Free State General Dewet and his burghers. The story of the attack by the Free State Boers on the little garrison at Honingspruit was told me a few days ago by Lieutenant Davidson, who was in command of the two troops of D Squadron of the Canadian Rifles, which formed part of the garrison at the time the attack was made. He has just arrived here from the south, where he was confined for a short time in hospital at Vereeniging. The story I will tell in his own words:

"Our little camp," said Lieutenant Davidson, "was situated about three miles north of Honingspruit Station and between two important bridges, which had to be guarded. The force consisted of a regiment of Imperial Yeomanry, two companies of the Shropshire Regiment, and troops One and Four of D Squadron of Canadian Mounted Rifles. Our camp was on the west side of the railway, while three miles away to the east across the railway were two large kopjes on the top of which we had two outposts. We had also an outpost north of the camp about two miles, and another south of the camp about the same distance away. At the time the attack was made the Canadians were doing the outpost duty. The order of the camp commandant was that all these outposts should be manned during the daytime only. On the morning of June 22, I was returning from camp after having placed the north and south outposts. It was about 5 o'clock and just breaking dawn. Each of these outposts consisted of four men. Lieutenant Ingles left camp at the same time as I did to place the two eastern outposts on the top of the two high kopjes three miles east of the camp.

"I had got within half a mile of the camp, after having placed the last of my two, the southern outposts, when a fusilade of musketry came from the top of the kopjes where Lieutenant Ingles had gone, about an hour before. I hurried back to the camp and found everything in confusion. The Boers had opened on us from the crest of both the kopjes in the east with two guns, and were landing shells in among the men who were at breakfast at the time. It did not take me long to realize what had happened. During the night the Boers had occupied the crests of the two kopjes where we were in the habit of placing our outposts during the day time, and had opened fire on Lieutenant Ingles and his eight men as soon as they reached the crest of the hills. Later I found out that Lieutenant Ingles and two men had been wounded and four men captured. From that time on we had a hard time of it. The Boers advanced upon the camp pouring in a hot fire and lancing their shells with great precision. The infantry were extended in firing line and for a time managed to keep the enemy at a distance. About noon the enemy made an effort to outflank us. A party of about 60 or them went round our right flank intending to attack the camp from the high ground in the rear. Had they been able to do this we would have been in an exceedingly awkward predicament, and the chances are all of us would have been captured. In their advance around our flank, however, they encountered the southern outposts.

"When the Boers opened fire on them the four Canadians composing the outpost realized the importance of preventing the enemy from gaining the high ground to the rear of the camp. One of their number was immediately sent back to camp with the horses, and the other three quietly set to work to reply to the enemy's fire. It was long odds, three men against 60, but these Canadians from Pincher Creek were stout-hearted fellows who did not know the meaning of the word fear, and rattling good shots into the bargain. For eight hours they fought, the number of their opponents increasing as the hours went by until there were close to a hundred burghers pouring in a fusilade of rifle shots at the three men who held the crossing over the railway line. Shortly after noon Corporal Morden was seriously wounded with a bullet thru the chest. He never gave up, however, but kept on firing until later on another mauser bullet crashed thru his brain.

"About 2 o'clock another one of the little party, Trooper Kerr, was wounded. At that time the force consisted of two wounded men and Corporal Miles, who was in charge of the outpost. About 2.30 Kerr was shot thru the heart, and a little later Corporal Miles received a bullet wound in the shoulder. He did not give in tho for all that, but continued firing and used up the cartridges of his dead companion after his own had been exhausted.

About 3 o'clock in the afternoon a train arrived at Honingspruit Station from the north, and the Boers withdrew and attacked the train. The garrison, however, managed to keep them at bay until a train with troops arrived from Kroonstadt, when the enemy, as usual, retired. Then it was that I had time to go back and see what had become of the little outpost on the railway line south of the camp, which I knew had been heavily engaged all day. I found Corporal Miles lying behind a little mound of earth suffering from a severe wound in the shoulder, and a short distance from him the dead bodies of Corporal Morden and Trooper Kerr, both of whom had been first wounded and afterwards killed by second shots. The serious, Miles' wound was not by any means a fatal one, and he was at once taken to the hospital at Kroonstadt, from where he was sent to Cape Town later on. It is impossible to over-estimate the importance of the gallant conduct of these three men. But for their splendid work our position would have been completely surrounded, and the chances are the whole garrison would either have been killed or captured."

"It is the exhibition of such stout-hearted bravery as this that has gained for the Canadians the splendid reputation they have earned in this campaign. Had the Boers known the strength of the little picket which held them for eight long hours of course the result would have been very different. It required no small amount of pluck and cool headedness for these three men to keep up the deception for such a length of time. Two of them received wounds early in the day. Under the circumstances they would have been perfectly justified in surrendering, for it was too much to expect resistance from men after they are wounded. But these three Canadians realized that upon their efforts depended the safety of the entire camp, for well they knew that if the Boers once crossed the railway line and gained the high ground in the rear of the camp the rest would have been disastrous. Had the wounded men stopped firing the enemy would at once have been able to tell that the force opposed to them was a very small one indeed. Not so, however, as long as three rifles were kept going. It was a stern sense of duty which induced these two wounded Canadians to keep on firing until first one and then the other was killed.

"Fortunately this incident was taken official cognizance of. The commandant reported the matter to Colonel Evans, with all the details, and spoke in the highest possible terms of the heroic behavior of the men belonging to his battalion. Colonel Evans at once reported the matter to General Hutton, in whose brigade the Mounted Canadians are. The report finally found its way o Lord Roberts, and, I understand on good authority that Corporal Miles, the survivor, is to be or has been recommended for a Victoria Cross. Certainly in this case that great honor has been well earned. It is hard to conceive a more deserving case. In answer to an enquiry which I made in Cape Town, I found that Corporal Miles was quickly recovering from the effects of his wound and expects to be fit for duty in a short time."

YORK COUNTY AND SUBURBS

Nine Hundred Appellants at Toronto Junction to Get Their Names on the Voters' List.

JUST 570 ARE CONSERVATIVES.

Pretty House Wedding—Boring for Water on the Chew Estate—Scarboro Fair.

Toronto Junction, Sept. 26.—The council chamber was crowded to-night with appellants anxious to be placed on the voters' list. There were over 900 appeals altogether, of which the Conservatives had 570. Much greater progress was made than in former years, as the legal gentlemen on both sides refrained, to a large extent, from quibbling. About 120 names were disposed of.

The Sons of Temperance, at their meeting last night, elected Miss L. Thomas, W.A.; Charles Welchman, R.S.; Miss J. McFarlane, A.R.S.; Charles Tassell, Financial Secretary; Mr. Watson, Treasurer; Miss Mowat, Chaplain; Frank Drinding, O.S.; Miss M. Montgomery, I.S., and W. Bautenhelmer, conductor.

A pretty house wedding took place this evening at No. 53 Medland-street, when Miss Ida Wilber, only daughter of Mr. Charles Wilber, was married to Mr. Joseph Carson by Rev. J. W. Rae of Victoria Presbyterian Church. The bride was assisted by Miss Sayles of Port Huron and the groom was supported by Mr. S. Carson. The bride was the recipient of many handsome presents, and after the wedding feast the bride and groom left, amidst the best wishes of a host of friends, for Quebec and Montreal.

Weston.

Weston, Sept. 26.—The York Township and Weston Agricultural Society's Fall Fair will be held here on Friday.

The appearance of four teams of horses, an engine and several men, who began boring this morning on the Chew estate, once more brings E. A. Macdonald's aqueduct scheme to the fore. Yesterday the machine was boring near Lambton Mills, and to-morrow it goes to Woodbridge. Their purpose is to find out whether the strata is porous or not.

The village rate, which last year was 16 mills on the dollar, will be 18 mills this year. The increase is largely due to the village establishing an electric light system. The electric light debentures call for a rate of 1.7 mills, electric light maintenance 3.2 mills and extras 2.3 mills. When the electric light system was inaugurated it was thought that the amount of coal to be used could be bought for $800, but experience now teaches that about $800 is needed. There are also other expenditures in the way of maintenance that were not looked for.

Scarboro Fair To-Day.

Fine weather is all that is needed to make Scarboro Fair, which will be held at the Halfway House on the Kingston-road, to-day, the great success which characterized the event last year, when tally hos, buses, democrats and buggies lined the Kingston-road from the Woodbine to the fair grounds. Mr. Alex. McCowan, the secretary, has made every conceivable arrangement for the convenience of visitors going by the Scarboro electric cars, and the G.T.R. is selling return tickets at single fare. Buses meet the Scarboro electric cars at Scarboro Heights.

Weston Fair To-Morrow.

The annual Fall Exhibition of the Weston and York Township Agricultural Society will be held at Weston on Friday, Sept. 28. There will be seen a great display of the best of York County's produce, agricultural, horticultural, apiarian, dairy, etc. More money will be devoted to trials of speed than on former occasions and all the events will be run off on Thursday afternoon. A purse of $40 will be given for the 2.30 trot or pace, and a similar purse will be given for the 2.50 trot or pace. A purse of $60 is offered in the free-for-all trot or pace, and there are also prizes to be given for running and pony races, lady driving and riding contests, gentleman's turnout, etc. In every respect the fair promises to eclipse that of former years. Suburban cars pass the fair grounds every 10 minutes.

Aurora.

Mr. Albert Hambleton, a former resident of Kettleby, died a few days ago at Brandon, Man. The body will be brought here for interment at Kettleby to-day.

The Council met on Tuesday evening and struck the rate for the current year at 18 7-10 mills. This is 1 3-10 mills less than that of last year.

The decision of the Royal Electric Company to close up the electric light works here in November next is causing considerable annoyance to those householders who have depended upon a continuance of the system. To meet the trouble, an acetylene plant is talked of, and the promoters of this scheme promise effective light at a smaller cost than by electricity.

The revision of the some voters' lists has been set for the 19th, and for King Township on the 20th Oct.

The Liberals of West Ontario will meet in convention at Stouffville on Wednesday, Oct. 3. Hon. E. J. Davis, Hon. John Dryden and I. J. Gould, M.P., will speak to the gathering.

North Toronto.

A quiet home wedding took place last evening at the residence of the groom's father, Mr. S. Page, Bailloi-street. The united parties were Mr. Stephen Page and Miss Gertie Gates, Rev. T. W. Paterson performing the ceremony.

A prominent ratepayer of the town suggests that the Fields and Orchards Committee of the newly-organized Ratepayers' Association should be called to the large quantity of windfalls thru the various orchards of the town, and opines that some method of collecting the apples for charitable distribution might be the outcome.

Mr. W. G. Ellis is advocating a public meeting for the discussion of opening roads thru the town east and west of Yonge-street.

Science in Piano Building.

The building of a piano may be a matter of indifference with some makers, but with the old firm of Heintzman & Co., who have a reputation of fifty years to sustain, both science and conscience enter into the manufacture of their instruments. Science is needed to build a good piano like that of Heintzman & Co., a something entirely lacking in the ordinary piano.

The most important improvements ever made in curry combs are in the Hunter. It does the work more thoroughly and is also self-cleaning. All dealers. 246

"DAINTY FOOD"

Turns Pale Cheeks to Pink.

Our best physicians of the present day seek to cure patients by the use of food rather than heavy drugs, and this is the true method, for all physicians agree that only from food can the body be rebuilt.

Many people fail to give their physicians credit, for after living on poorly selected or badly cooked food for a long time, perhaps, and when their ailments become chronic, they expect the doctor, with some magic potency, to instantly rebuild them. This is not possible. The only true method is to turn as quickly as can be from poor food to good. A young lady, Miss Alice Hendricks, employed at the corner of Fourth and Race-streets, Cincinnati, O., says: "I was variously treated for my nerves, muscles, lungs, etc., but none of the treatment gave me relief from the pains.

"About a year ago my appetite failed completely, and I began to have sinking spells similar to fainting, then I took all manner of tonics and stimulants, but they were of no effect. I had been brought to quit drinking coffee and taking Postum Food Coffee in its place, and gradually began to get a little better.

"Someone suggested that if I found Postum Food Coffee so beneficial I had better use Grape-Nuts food, as they were both the children of one brain. I commenced on Grape-Nuts food for breakfast, having Postum Food Coffee with it. I found the food so dainty, delicious and appetizing that I always looked forward to breakfast with pleasure.

Shortly after commencing this diet, my wretched pain in the side was greatly improved, and now, a year later, it has gone entirely, also the sinking spells; in fact, my pale cheeks have changed to pink, I have gained back more than the twenty pounds I lost, and am thoroughly well in every way."

HERE'S A CHANCE, GENTLEMEN.

Philip Jamieson Has Made an Enormous Purchase From F. P. Kelly.

Mr. Philip Jamieson has purchased the entire stock of English collars, neckwear and hosiery from the late firm of Brais, who failed in Montreal. There are some 600 dozen collars and cuffs and between two and three hundred dozen ties in knots, bows, Derbys, Lombards and all the newest patterns that were imported for this fall's trade. These goods are all English manufacture, but, having bought the stock at an enormous reduction, Mr. Jamieson is prepared to sell them in the same way. Ties that were 50 cents for 25 cents, the equal of which has not been seen in this city. Four-ply linen collars that retailers sell at 20 cents, a very heavy English collar in all shapes, stand up, turn down and stand up patent turnover, in all heights and sizes, at 3 for 25 cents, and cuffs 3 pair for 50 cents. These are not an ordinary class of goods that are put on the market at slaughter prices. The purchase amounts to something in the neighborhood of $5000. We propose to realize on these goods as soon as possible, so as not to interfere with our large regular purchase of fall goods. On Thursday morning these goods will be on sale at the above prices, namely 50 cent ties for 25 cents, in all shapes, flowing ends, knots, Derbys, bows, Lombards, etc. We have also purchased from the same firm some 20 dozen umbrellas, and this being the season when most gentlemen require a nice umbrella we are prepared to sell these goods the regular price of which was $1.25 and $1.50, at 75 cents. The Size of a Diamond rarely determines its value—shape, cutting, color and freedom from flaws should be carefully looked after if you would have a gem of first quality.

It must be round at the girdle and table, with each facet sharply cut and in proper proportion. It must also be free from flaws and of a pure white color.

Diamonds Are Our Strongest Point

The quality of every stone sold is guaranteed as represented and payment returned when the purchase is not exactly to your liking.
