All grades of sugar declined ten cents this morning on the local market. This is the third drop in price within the last two weeks. The market is reported very unsteady and indications are that the price may be still lower.

Fishermen in Luck.

The fishermen of Lorneville and Dipper Harbor have been making large catches of salmon in the Bay. They sent up 310 beauties to the wholesale dealers yesterday. John J. Gilbreath was the high liner with 47 salmon, Walter Wilson 45, and Alex. Gilbreath 43. The salmon are worth about $2 each. This is said to be the largest catch for the time of the season in recent years.

Disease Germs Everywhere

The death rate is higher in spring than at any other time of the year. For this there are two reasons: the air is laden with disease germs, the human system is in a run-down condition and not able to fight off disease.

Pure, rich blood is the greatest of germicides. This fact is now generally conceded by medical experts. Get the blood rich and you afford to the body the most certain means known of fighting off disease.

Many people have reason to thank Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for making their blood pure and rich and enabling them to ward off the ills and weaknesses of spring.

It is truly wonderful the benefit obtained by a few weeks' treatment with this great food cure. The nerves are strengthened, the vital organs are better able to perform their natural functions and the system is benefited in every way.

MISSING BOOTS OF BURGLAR DISCOVERED

Found in W. H. Thorne & Co's Store Behind Pile of Rope -- Valuable Watches and Other Goods Stolen.

Up till yesterday afternoon the police and others were puzzled as to the location of the boots belonging to the man who while in his sock feet on Sunday afternoon last, held up George Smith, and James Doherty, at the point of a revolver in C. and E. Everett's store, on King street, and after obtaining a pair of boots from Mr. Smith, made his escape.

This mystery was solved yesterday afternoon when an employe in W. H. Thorne and Co.'s store on King street discovered the burglar's boots hidden under a pile of rope which was near the window through which the crook had made an entrance to Everett's store. On the finding of the boots, police headquarters were notified and they were handed to Detective Killen.

The boots are number seven and from the heavy leather used in the manufacture, were suitable for laborers or men working in rolling mills. The boots are laced up with raw hide lacing and the soles are filled with large steel nails. The boots are covered with mud and present the appearance of having been worn by a tramp.

Last evening the police stated that there was nothing new to give out regarding the case. They have the boots but have not yet captured the man.

It is known, however, that the daring burglar did not leave the stores empty handed as has been stated. It has been discovered that he stole some valuable watches from the Thorne company's store. The loss of several timepieces was only discovered when the clerks went over the stock.

Smart and Roy Dalzell, both of this city, were admitted as candidates for the ministry.

The Rev. H. D. Marr was given permission to accept the position of secretary of the Bible Society in Alberta. Rev. Mr. Marr will leave at once for his new sphere of labor.

At the evening meeting matters relating to the clergy of the district were dealt with. A resolution was adopted expressing hearty congratulations and good wishes to Rev. Mr. Marr in his new field of work in Alberta. The conference will be continued today when financial questions will be discussed.

BRITISH VISITORS TO PROLONG STAY

Expected Mannfacturers will Spend Two Days in St. John -- River Trip to Fredericton.

Mayor Frink has received a communication from Leonard Palmer, organizer of the British manufacturers tour of Canada, stating that the party would leave St. John on Friday morning, June 14, instead of on Thursday as planned in the original itinerary. As the letter did not state that there would be any change in the date of the arrival of the party it is presumed they will remain in St. John two days.

On Friday morning the party will become the guests of the provincial government and will leave St. John on the May Queen for a trip up the river to Fredericton. On the boat luncheon will be served at which His Honor the Lieut. Governor will probably preside.

A committee from the Board of Trade will confer with the city commissioners this morning at 11 o'clock in regard to the arrangements for entertaining the party while in St. John.

JURY URGES MORE CARE IN SALE OF ACID

Inquest on Joseph H. Redmond Held Last Evening - Died by His Own Hand—Evidence of Witnesses.

In the county council chamber last night Coroner D. E. Berryman held an inquiry into the death of Joseph H. Redmond, who committed suicide in his home Brussels street, on Thursday morning last. The jury brought in a verdict that the deceased came to his death by taking an overdose of carbolic acid wilfully administered by his own hand. They recommended to the Pharmaceutical Society that the law be so amended that carbolic acid be sold in 10 per cent. solution and only secured on a doctor's perscription.

John Appleby, a drug clerk in the employ of Clinton Brown, on the corner of Waterloo and Union streets, was the first witness. He gave evidence that on the morning of May 30th, Redmond called at the store and purchased two ounces of carbolic acid. Witness told him it was poison. He signed Redmond's name on the register book.

The coroner said that according to law, the purchaser, if able to write, should sign the book himself.

Witness continuing, said Redmond claimed he wanted the acid for a horse wash.

The coroner took the opportunity to impress on the mind of the witness that the greatest precaution should be taken in the sale of poison, notwithstanding that the witness had made the sale according to law.

Doctor's Evidence.

Dr. Geo. O. Baxter testified that at 10.05 o'clock on the morning of May 30th, he was called to the home of Joseph Redmond, on the corner of Brussels and Richmond streets, and found Redmond dead. The man's mouth was burned with carbolic acid. Witness had known of a case where a teaspoonful of carbolic acid has proved fatal. He believed that Redmond's death was caused by carbolic acid poisoning.

Charles Conway, driver of No. 1 fire engine, gave evidence that Redmond, who was driver of No. 1 hose cart, was a man of fairly steady habits. On the night of May 29th Redmond was off duty about three and a half hours, returning to the station at 11.40 o'clock that night. He was sober and apparently in a rational condition. Witness did not notice anything unusual about him.

He was always a quiet and peaceful man, and well liked.

Samuel Seeds, engineer at No. 1 station, was called and said he saw Redmond on the morning of May 30th before he went to his breakfast and he appeared to be alright.

Witness never had any occasion to believe the deceased was of unsound mind.

Rev. Dr. W. O. Raymond gave evidence that he had been acquainted with the deceased for about fifteen years and always considered him to be of sound mind. He did not know of any reason why he had taken his life by acid.

Widow's Evidence.

Mrs. Edith Redmond, widow of the deceased, was next called and testified that on the night of May 29th she was out, and when she arrived home her husband was there. She had been out with her mother, Mrs. Smith. They had been alone. It was eleven o'clock when she returned. She left home at eight o'clock that night and her husband was not there then. When she arrived home at eleven o'clock that night she had trouble with her husband, he did not accuse her in any way, but he complained of her being out with her mother because he did not like his mother-in-law.

He threatened witness when he returned that he would beat her, but she did not know for what reason Witness was so frightened of being beaten that she would not go in the house. He did not intimate that he would destroy himself. It was 11.15 o'clock when she went in the house and her husband left the house a quarter of an hour later. The next morning he returned home to breakfast. He was angry and would not eat. Except for being with her mother, witness gave her husband no reason for being angry with her.

After breakfast time he wanted his clothes and said he was going away He went upstairs and tore everything to pieces. He got some of his clothes and rolled them up in a paper. He went to the flour barrel, which was about quarter full of flour, and poured two pails of water in it. He went out and was gone about five minutes

When he came back he took the butcher knife and said he was going to kill her. Witness said she didn't dare move. Her mother came in and saw him with the knife. Mrs. Smith asked him not to kill witness and he put the knife away. After sitting down for a while, he said he was going to have a sleep before he went away and that he was going on a train. He started to go upstairs and came back to kiss witness. He then went upstairs to a room and hooked the door.

"You're Too Late!"

Witness tried the door and listened a moment and thought she heard him praying. She started to go out into the hall to go to another entrance when he came down to the kitchen where she was. There was froth on his chin. Her husband stood at the door a moment and said: "You're too late." She called out loudly and he returned to his room again.

Witness then went upstairs to him He was lying on the bed. Mr. Tracey then came with some brandy, but deceased would'nt take it. They carried him downstairs and gave him some salt and water. She knows of no reason why he should have committed suicide.

Witness found the carbolic acid bottle on a shelf in his room, also a glass.

Mrs. Jane Smith, deceased's mother-in-law, gave evidence that she had heard her daughter and husband have an occasional quarrel, but as a rule they were on good terms. From the way Redmond would talk sometimes, witness thought he was not right in his mind. When he had the knife in his hand and threatened to kill his wife it struck witness that he was crazy.

The only reason witness could give for her son-in-law not liking her was because she did not like him.

Coroner Berryman in addressing the jury pointed out that for the past three years there has been a great number of deaths by carbolic acid. He thought the time had arrived when the jury should call the attention of the government to the facts. A verdict as already mentioned was returned.

OPPOSITION IN GREAT STRAITS AT GAGETOWN

Convention a Frost -- Victims Scarce -- Col. McLean Had His Work Cut Out to Secure Candidates.

The champion romancer on the Telegraph is again working overtime. Among the political fiction circulated yesterday was an account of the opposition convention at Gagetown. Taking the report seriously it might be supposed that the opposition delegates assembled at a love feast, and, working hand in hand, made the convention one of the best in years. It might further be supposed from the Telegraph's story that the convention was largely attended, and that the usual "rousing reception" was tendered the candidates.

There is another side to this picture. J. A. Vanwart of the North End, who was in Gagetown at the time told The Standard yesterday that the convention was a frost. It was very slimly attended, he said, and the greatest difficulty was experienced by Col. H. H. McLean, M. P., in persuading anyone to run. The difficulty finally came so great that the delegates were asked to leave the hall while the Colonel and a small committee made the people's choice.

Mr. Vanwart further reported that when he passed the Temperance Hall at four o'clock, where the Colonel and his committee was engaged in secret conclave he found the delegates in a high state of indignation because they had been chased out. He was informed that E. H. McLean, the Colonel's brother, had offered to run, but that the committee thought he would be too easy a mark. Finally after much argument George H. King and I. W. Carpenter consented to be the victims. It was a truly great convention.

GREAT SEASON FOR CORPORATION DRIVES

Logs in Douglas Booms Piled Ten Feet Deep-- Water Has Reached Highest Point this Year.

Fredericton, June 4.—Already ninety million feet of logs have reached the booms at Douglas and Lincoln. In the Douglas boom logs are piled in ten or fifteen feet deep and it has been a great season thus far for the corporation driving contractors. "We are not doing anything just now, except watching logs run," said one of the contractors last evening. "Everything's afloat."

Rafting operations at both Lincoln and Douglas are still suspended, but the water is now falling again and it is expected that rafting work will be resumed immediately. The water, which had reached a point eighteen inches higher than at any time this spring, commenced to fall yesterday morning and up to this morning had dropped off fifteen inches.

INTEREST AROUSED IN OLD HOME WEEK

Advertising Campaign is Bringing Many Replies — New Brunswickers from Great Distances Eager to Return.

The advertising campaign being carried on by the 1917 Club on behalf of the back-to-New-Brunswick-for-a-week movement continues to bring in replies from all over the continent.

More interest is manifested in New England than elsewhere. A good many former New Brunswickers now living in the middle western States are writing that they intend to take advantage of the invitation extended them.

Some exiles in California also write that they will return to see the old town. An extensive publicity campaign is being carried on in the Canadian West, and quite a number of requests for further information have been received from that quarter.
