JOHN MACDONALD & CO.

Wellington and Front Streets East, TORONTO.

AT THE THEATRES THIS WEEK.

Princess—"Ben Hur," religious dramatic spectacle.

Grand—"The Sign of the Cross," a story of the early Christians.

Toronto—"Happy Hooligan," fun and music.

Shea's—Loop-de-Loop and refined vaudeville.

Star—Utopian Burlesquers.

It is rather of a coincidence that the two leading theatres presenting dramas should this week have attractions of a nature that will appeal as much to the regular churchgoer as to the habitual attendant at the playhouses. In "Ben Hur," which commences its engagement at the Princess, Torontonians will be given an opportunity to see the dramatization of General Lew Wallace's famous novel, presented on a massive and complete scale. It is claimed to be the greatest spectacular drama of modern times, and 350 people, 12 horses and three camels are required in its production. The effect of the great chariot race between Ben Hur and his Roman rival is shown to full advantage, making one of the most thrilling incidents ever shown on any stage.

The performance commences at 8 o'clock precisely, when the curtain rises on a prelude to the play proper, in which the Wise Men are revealed following the Star of Bethlehem across the desert on camels. No word is spoken during the prelude, and to avoid disturbing the solemn effect late arrivals will not be shown to their seats until the curtain falls on the tableau. The story of the novel has been transferred to the stage with great fidelity. In Ben Hur's vision, in which he sees the Mount of Olives, with its multitude of worshippers singing adoration to the Master, the divine presence is indicated by a shaft of the purest white light of wondrous brilliance.

At the Grand, "The Sign of the Cross," Wilson Barrett's famous historical play, will be presented all the week, with the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees, for the first time in this city at popular prices. The production will, however, be exactly the same that appeared during the phenomenal London engagement of the piece at the Lyric Theatre, where it ran to crowded houses for over two years. "The Sign of the Cross" deals with the elemental passions and touches chords that recognize no restrictions of time or place. It tells a thrilling story of the oppression of the early Christians by the tyrant Nero, and presents a series of beautiful stage pictures of the magnificence of a pagan nation. The role of Mercia is played by Miss Lily Lorrell, a Toronto girl, a graduate of the Harbord Collegiate Institute, who has been receiving much laudatory notice for her splendid assumption of the part.

It is doubtful if a more daring act has ever been presented in this city than that which Lottie Brandon will attempt in looping the loop on the stage of Shea's Theatre at every performance this week. Miss Brandon is an expert cyclist, the holder of many records, and was the first woman who ever rode in the cycle whirl. In her latest feat she gets up the necessary speed to make the loop on a home trainer, dashing up the inside of a narrow circular track, over the top and down again, making four complete revolutions in five seconds. Others on the bill are: Burke Bros. and their trained donkey, Wise Mike; Charles Guyer and Nellie Daly, novelty dancing act; Elizabeth Murray, new songs and stories; Armour and Bagsley, presenting "The Gypsy Maid"; Billy Link, black-face comedian; the Musical Kleistas; Silvern and Emerie, double-ring experts, and the Kinetograph, with new pictures.

A plot of unusual interest, with ludicrous complications and droll climaxes; characters drawn from real life and treated by the author in a genuinely humorous way; clever specialties and the latest and catchiest songs, are the pleasing promises held out for "Happy Hooligan," who will open a week's engagement at the Toronto this afternoon and evening.

Dinkin's "Utopian Burlesquers" will cater to patrons at the Star this week, with the usual daily matinee. "The Magic Hat," the opening burlesque, will introduce members of the company in splendid specialties, and "Hotel Razzle Dazzle" will be found amusing. A good olio is introduced in the performance.

The King's Birthday concert of the Retail Merchants' Association in Massey Hall tonight will attract a large audience. Some of Toronto's most popular concert artists have been engaged, and the program is of real merit.

Katharine Bloodgood, well known to Torontonians, was married recently at Stockton, Cal., to Lieut. Kipp of the U.S.M.

Denman Thompson, playing in "The Old Homestead," was taken ill at Boston, and the theatre was closed.

Maurice Grau has arrived in New York from Europe. He opens the Metropolitan Opera House Nov. 24. His season will last 17 weeks.

Miss Lorraine Armour, who is appearing in an operatic sketch at Shea's Theatre this week, is a native of Toronto, and was formerly a sacred soloist.

There can be a difference of opinion on most subjects, but there is only one opinion as to the reliability of Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator. It is safe, sure and effectual.

Innes, Band Man, Has Appendicitis

Richmond, Va., Nov. 9.—Innes, the famous bandmaster, was attacked by appendicitis at Wilmington, N.C., to-day and left at once for Philadelphia, where he will be operated on to-morrow. He has cancelled all his southern engagements.

SERMONS TOUCHING KING EDWARD

Woodgreen Methodists Give $800 Towards Church Debt—Berkeley's 65th Anniversary.

One hundred members of the Northwest Field Force met yesterday morning at the Armories and marched to All Saints' Church, where Rev. Arthur Baldwin delivered an inspiring sermon. Among the members of the association present were: Col. J. M. Delamere (president), Major Leslie (vice-president), T. M. World (secretary), Sergt.-Major Johnston (treasurer), Col. Buchan, Major Harston, Captain Thorne, Col. Ryerson, Major Wallace and Quartermaster-Sergt. Butcher of Halifax.

The form of service was that sanctioned for general use on the King's Birthday, and included the beautiful coronation music. Rev. Mr. Baldwin took for his text I. Kings, 2, xii. After paying a beautiful tribute to the memory of Queen Victoria, the speaker went on and extolled the greatness of the British empire. It may seem strange, he said, when people are told that loyalty to the King is greater in the colonies than in the Mother Country. He accounted for this by people coming to Canada and bequeathing their love of England to their children. No man is more loved to-day than the King of England. The life of a sovereign is a wonderful life of labor, bringing with it many responsibilities. Rev. Mr. Baldwin then referred to the agitation that had been started in favor of celebrating May 24 as the King's Birthday. This, he said, was all very well, but he advocated that Nov. 9 be in future declared a general day of thanksgiving, instead of the annual holiday proclaimed by the government. In conclusion, the speaker recalled the rebellion of 1885, and pointed out that the people of Canada owed a debt of gratitude to those who went out to fight the rebels.

During the offertory a beautiful anthem was rendered by the choir, Master Jack Challis taking the solo part. The service closed with the National Anthem.

Veterans at St. George's.

The Army and Navy Veterans honored the King's birthday by attending divine service at St. George's Church. About 80 of the members of the association turned out and, headed by the Queen's Own Bugle Band, marched from their hall to the church. The president, Major Collins, was in command. The sidesmen were Sergt. Thomas Tyler, Sergt. Chas. Wilson, Sergt. Major Fisher, Sergt. Ellinsworth. They are all either veterans of the Crimean war or Indian mutiny and were their medals. The collection was in aid of the association's sick benefit fund.

The sermon was preached by Rev. Canon Cayley, the rector, and the service was a general one of thanksgiving on the King's recovery and coronation and also on the return of the Canadian contingents from South Africa.

Canon Cayley preached an appropriate sermon from the text, "I have fought the good fight." Thruout the length and breadth of the British Empire, he said, every loyal, patriotic citizen honored a soldier. Those whom he saw before him were mostly grey-headed and in the afternoon of their lives. They had served their sovereign in India, in Russia and many other countries and he hoped that they would also faithfully serve their Lord. He would ask them particularly to remember one thing and that was to avoid profanity. In the army soldiers were prone to be profane and he therefore exhorted them to guard against it.

The service concluded with the hearty singing of "God Save the King."

Service at St. James.

The service held in St. James' Cathedral yesterday morning, authorized by the Bishop of Toronto, in respect of the King's Birthday, was especially bright and befitting the occasion. There was a very large congregation and music of an appropriate character was rendered by the choir, assisted with delightful effect by orchestral accompaniment. An anthem, entitled "Let the People Praise Thee, O Lord," and prepared for the occasion by Dr. Ham, the organist and leader of the choir, was sung in a most pleasing manner. The sermon was preached by Rev. Canon Welch, who made interesting references in the course of his remarks to the South African war and its conclusion, and to His Majesty's illness and recovery.

A Liberal Response.

The congregation of Woodgreen Methodist Church contributed $800 towards the reduction of the church debt at Sunday's services. Next to the response to the appeal on behalf of the twentieth century fund, this is the largest collection ever given by the congregation. Rev. J. E. Starr preached in the morning, and Rev. A. B. Chambers, the pastor, in the evening.

Berkeley's 65th Anniversary.

The sixty-fifth anniversary of Berkeley-street Methodist Church was celebrated on Sunday with appropriate services, about 300 children leading in the singing, which was of the heartiest character. At the evening service solos were given by Miss Carter and a duet by Myrtle Jackman and Lily McBride. James L. Hughes, Public School Inspector, addressed the school in the afternoon on "Lessons From Flowers." The morning sermon was by Rev. George Dewey, and Rev. M. L. Pearson, the pastor, preached in the evening.

Gunpowder Plot Sermon.

In commemoration of the frustration of the Gunpowder Plot, the members of the Northern District Loyal Orange Lodge attended Christ Church on Sunday evening. District Master J. Martin was in charge of the brethren, who met at Spadina-avenue and College-street, and marched to the church.

The sermon for the occasion was delivered Rev. F. Ten Broeck Reynolds from the text, Psalm cxlvii., 20. The theme for the discourse was "God's Care of Britain." Unhappy conditions, he said, had not been allowed to exist in England as in many other countries. Britain has prospered. The idea has now gone abroad that England has a great place and purpose in the world, and her name is a harbinger of liberty and enlightenment. Rev. Mr. Reynolds spoke of the efforts made to modify the coronation oath, and made special reference to the birthday of the King.

Mrs. E. F. Clarke contributed a solo to the musical portion of the service.

Was Moses the Author?

In Old St. Andrew's Church on Sunday evening Rev. G. M. Milligan in his sermon exhorted his congregation to read and study the Bible more. They should not read it as if it were a mere scientific revelation, but for the beautiful thoughts it contained, and the spiritual inspiration it gave. The controversy as to the authorship of the first six books of the Bible was interestingly referred to, and the preacher said that the great mass of the so-called higher critics had reached a substantial agreement with regard to features of their literary make-up. There were some, however, who held that Moses wrote all six of the books, while others, again, maintained that he did not write any of them, but Mr. Milligan would not go so far as to say that.

party. Mr. Chamberlain became for a period an advocate of something warmer and closer than Anglo-German good feeling, and the diplomatic relations between the two governments were greatly improved.

The present family party may also have a more serious purpose than the celebration of the King's birthday or pheasant shooting, especially when so many Ministers are invited to Sandringham. Public conditions do not, however, favor an alliance of any sort between the two countries in any quarter. A coalition either in East Africa, or respecting the Bagdad railway or China would not be popular either in England or Germany. Definite results are consequently less likely than on the previous occasion. Some new scheme for embroiling England and Russia may be proposed, or the German Emperor may be anxious to justify at home his friendly attitude toward England during the Boer war by the production of an advantageous secret convention, and the visit of the King of Portugal may be something more than a fortuitous coincidence. The rumor mongers sometimes make shrewd guesses.

Conditions in Germany.

The domestic conditions in Germany are anomalous, and the Chancellor would be well pleased to have some triumph in foreign affairs to divert public attention from the tariff controversy. The Agrarians are unable to muster the quorum requisite for orderly legislation, and the tariff bill may be dropped any day. Neither they nor the Chancellor's supporters wish to take the responsibility of killing it, and a compromise seems impracticable. The Agrarians know that they will relax their grip upon the agricultural classes if they consent to a final compromise, and the Chancellor is warned that an election ordered during a period of commercial depression would involve the return of a more unmanageable Reichstag, with an enormous increase of the Socialist vote. To the political are added diplomatic embarrassments. A series of important reciprocity treaties fall to be renewed next year in the interest of manufacturers and merchants. The Chancellor seems to have lost control of the political situation at the moment when a firm hand was required. Meanwhile the signs of industrial revival have disappeared. Large masses of the population are unemployed; every industry is overstocked with plant; domestic trade is stagnant, and foreign commerce unprofitable.

Mason is the Man.

Boston, Nov. 9.—After having given out last night the confession made by the young negro, George L. O. Perry, with reference to selling the watches taken from the murdered woman, Miss Clara A. Morton, and Miss Agnes McPhee, the police admitted to-day that Perry declares that Alan G. Mason is the man from whom he received these articles.

YORK COUNTY AND SUBURBS

Junction School Board Will Consider on Tuesday a Rearrangement of the Teaching Staff.

WILLIAM WILSON TO BE SUPERVISOR

Suburban Railway Employe Caught Between Cars—Abscess From Prick of Hazel Twig.

Toronto Junction, Nov. 9.—At the regular meeting of the Public School Board on Tuesday night a proposition from the Management Committee of remodelling the teaching staff will come up for consideration. It is proposed to appoint William Wilson, principal of Annette-street School, supervisor of all the schools. He will no longer teach the senior fourth class, but will continue to be principal of the Model School, and will act as inspector of the other schools, encouraging teachers and helping them to keep up to the high standard which the schools in town have attained. He will also look after truants and see that the children attend school regularly. Promotion examination questions will also be prepared by him. I. L. Beattie is to be made principal of Western-avenue School. S. E. Jewett will be re-engaged as principal of Carlton School. W. H. Colvin will be principal of St. Clair-avenue School, and on Tuesday night a principal for Annette-street School will be appointed. All the other teachers in town have been recommended for reappointment.

After midnight Saturday, as Robert Ward, an employe of the Suburban Railway, was putting away his car in the power house, he accidentally got jammed between two cars and was so much injured that his fellow-workmen ran the car out again and took him to his home on Quebec-avenue, where medical assistance was procured.

Joseph Shields, a boy attending school, was fined $1 and costs by Police Magistrate Ellis for stealing a pigeon.

Allan Rodgers, son of E. R. Rodgers, is progressing favorably from his recent injury. Whilst playing football, he was forced down by another boy upon the sharp point of a hazel twig, which had been cut off by a knife. The twig penetrated two inches, and an abscess developed.

When the Humber Light & Power Company entered into an agreement with the town for the supply of electric current before Nov. 1, they gave up a guarantee cheque of $1000. The company asked for the return of this cheque on Saturday, but, as the company agreed to supply current for 85 lights, and only 50 lamps are in position, the request was not granted. In order that the company may have the cheque returned to them, 35 lights were put up in the power house, and a test was made this evening to prove that the company is furnishing the requisite power.

The congregation of Victoria Presbyterian Church will meet on Monday, Nov. 17, to moderate in a call to a minister.

Memorial Window Unveiled.

A prominent event in the history of St. John's Church, Port Mills, was the dedication on Sunday morning of a beautiful stained-glass window, presented by the family of the late Canon Osler. The window occupies a large portion of the east end of the building, and is immediately over the chancel. The representation is that of the Good Shepherd asa large central figure, and on either side are cherubims daintily depicted. At the foot are the words, "In Memory of Henry Bath Osler; Born 1815; Died 1902. Incumbent of Lloydtown, 1843 to 1874, and Rector of York Mills, 1874 to 1900." The superscription reads, "My sheep hear my voice and follow me." The event was participated in by a large gathering. The gift was received by Rev. R. Ashcroft, the present rector, on behalf of the church wardens, and after a prayer of dedication Rev. T. W. Powell of St. Clement's, Eglinton, delivered a touching sermon. The text was taken from St. John's Gospel 10th chapter and 11th verse—a reference to the work of the Good Shepherd. The speaker said that the event of the day was in keeping with the traditions of the church, which had ever acted as guardian of music and art, seeking to dedicate the best to God's service. God taught thru the eye as well as the ear, and he hoped that many a soul would find sweet solace and comfort in contemplation of the beautiful subject. The peroration was a tribute to the late Canon Osler, who, the speaker said, had acted for 26 years in that parish as a loving shepherd of the flock over which he had been given charge. The service concluded with the National Anthem, and the collection was for the church renovation fund.

North Toronto.

A football match between married and single teams was played at the Eglinton School grounds on Saturday afternoon, the married men winning an easy victory.

Sherwood Lodge, S.O.E., played its first game in this season's Carpetball League on Thursday night, defeating Albion Lodge.

A shed on the property of John McCann, near Glen Grove, was destroyed by fire early Sunday morning. W. R. Harper, who was teaming milk down Yonge-street, noticed the blaze and assisted in preventing its spread to the dwelling.

Special King's Birthday services were held Sunday at Christ Church, Deer Park, and St. Clement's, Eglinton.

Henry Wilkinson has purchased the dwelling formerly owned by M. Grand on Alberta-crescent, and has taken up residence in the town.

ALFRED McDOUGALL RELEASED.

Bondsmen Furnished $25,000 Bail for His Appearance.

Alfred McDougall, the defaulting solicitor to the treasury of Ontario, was released on bail Saturday night. He was driven from the jail to No. 1 police station, where the bonds were accepted by two Justices of the Peace, H. R. Frankland and David Carlyle.

The bail given amounts to $25,000. These are the bondsmen and the amounts they become responsible for in case the defendant fails to appear for trial and judgment: Dr. Uzziel Ogden, 18 Carlton-street, $15,000; Charles Miller, barrister, $3500; Dr. James McCullough, 172 Spadina-avenue, $1500; S. H. Blake, K.C., $2500; H. S. Mara, broker, $2500.

The bond had been fixed at $30,000 by the Crown prosecutor, Hon. S. C. Biggs, but owing to the age of the defaulting official and the fact that the amount required was greater than any bond ever given in the province, strong representations were made for a reduction, these being successful.

Some of McDougall's friends believe that he has become mentally irresponsible for his actions, and an effort will be made to have him declared insane, so that he can be committed to a sanitarium for treatment. Unless this action is taken McDougall will go before the grand jury.

"Water Cure" Killed Priest.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—Investigation by the War Department into the allegation by the Anti-Imperialistic Committee that Father Augustine, a Catholic priest, was killed by the water cure in the Philippines, has apparently confirmed the fact that the man died as the result of the administration of the "cure."

The persons who administered the "cure," in order to secure insurgent funds of which he was the custodian, were volunteers from Vermont, and are now beyond the reach of military justice, having been mustered out of the service.

Ten Thousand Attended.

New York, Nov. 9.—"Deutscher Tag," a German festival, which has been celebrated in other parts of the country for over twenty years, was observed for the first time in this city this afternoon and evening. Ten thousand Germans gathered in Madison Square Garden, and with vocal and instrumental music, calisthenics and gymnastics, speeches and banqueting made festival in memory of the first landing of Germans in America.

Packers Plan Line of Steamers.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 9.—According to a leading banker of Texas, and one of the most extensive dealers in live stock in that state, the packers who are to be in the big beef merger are figuring on the establishment of a line of steamers from the Gulf to Europe for the transatlantic dressed meat trade of the Southwest. In the event of such a line being put into commission, the railroads of the country will lose a vast deal of their present packing business, and Galveston or New Orleans will become a beef export city second in importance only to New York.
