MONDAY EVENING, APRIL 5.

Mr. Beecher's Testimony.

Mr. Beecher does not, as many who believed in his innocence expected, confess to any kind of impropriety or indiscreetness at all in his relations with Mrs. Tilton. There was no kissing or cuddling or sentimentalism at all when he visited her. He deemed her one of the purest of women and most affectionate and faithful of wives, and considered that her written confession of having been improperly importuned by him was forced from her when she was too ill to resist her husband's commands. He denies, squarely and unreservedly, every charge of impropriety, every evil construction that has been placed on his letters, every statement concerning his having confessed guilt. He thus comes sharply in conflict with the sworn statements of Theodore Tilton, Frank Moulton and Mrs. Moulton, all three of whom have stated that he confessed adultery to them. There is perjury on one side or the other, as it is not possible that both sides can be honest. Whom will we believe? will be the question for the jury. Shall Beecher's denial, taken in connection with the conflicting circumstances that have been proved by disinterested witnesses, be allowed to outweigh that of his three accusers? Beecher is an interested witness, and so are the three chief witnesses on the other side interested. Tilton sues for money, Moulton seeks to disprove a charge of blackmail and conspiracy, and Mrs. Moulton stands by her husband. Throwing all the evidence of these interested witnesses aside there is no evidence on which a conviction can be based, there being nothing but Kate Carey's statement that Mrs. Tilton kissed Beecher and called him dear father, and Mr. Richard's statement that he once saw Mrs. Tilton move away from Beecher's chair with a flushed face, and the letters of the defendant. Mr. Beecher will make good use of his opportunity in the witness box, being the same master of the situation there that he is in the pulpit, and those who expect the cross-examination to injure him will be disappointed. It is one of the most interesting features of this trial that the cross-examinations have been almost fruitless, the witnesses, with the single exception of good Deacon Ovington, having strengthened rather than weakened their evidence under cross fire. This was particularly the case with little Bessie Turner, whose original statement of Tilton's habits was hailed with so many sneers of incredulity. Beecher will not be overmatched by the best lawyer in court, it is safe to assume, and will not weaken any of his own evidence. Witnesses will be called, of course, for the rebuttal of testimony given for the defence, and it would be idle to speculate on the character of the evidence to be given by them. Many of the statements of Mr. Beecher and his witnesses will be denied, and the case for the defendant will not be so strong at the close as it will be when the defendant steps down and out from the witness-box. Very few opinions on the case have been changed during the progress of the trial, the new developments not being sufficiently important to affect judgments that were previously formed. The prospect is now, as it was when the case opened, that an acquittal or a disagreement is the only possible result of the deliberations of the jury; and a disagreement would be a victory for the prosecution.

Home Rule in Respect to Shipping.

The following notices of motions given in the House of Commons, show that British legislation for Canadian shipping is not to be permitted without protest:

Mr. Palmer Committee of the whole to consider the following resolution:

Whereas, in the opinion of this House, Legislation by the Imperial Parliament affecting the interests of Canadian ship owners, where they are not represented, is unfair to that interest, and that all necessary Legislation on that subject might properly be had in the Province of Canada.

And whereas, by the British North America Act the Canadian Parliament is authorized to make all such Laws as may be deemed necessary in relation to the regulating of Canadian Trade and Commerce and Shipping and Navigation, and the exercise of the same authority by the Imperial Parliament is not only inconsistent with the full exercise of the said authority so granted to the Canadian Parliament, but is also a violation of the principles of self-government conceded to this country and extremely vexatious to the people thereof.

And whereas, several Acts have been recently introduced in the British House of Commons seriously affecting Canadian ships and the rights and liabilities of the owners thereof;

Therefore, Resolved, That this House respectfully protest against such Legislation, and against all Legislation by the Imperial Parliament affecting Canadian shipping, without the consent of the Canadian Parliament.

Mr. Palmer—ENQUIRY OF MINISTRY.—Whether any, or what measures have been taken by the Government, in view of the Imperial Legislation affecting Canadian ships, and the rights and liabilities of Canadian ship-owners, to prevent Imperial Legislation on that subject, without the consent of the Parliament of Canada; and if so, what are the results of such measures?

New York has many aristocratic murderers in the Penitentiary, and the Governors are becoming so deaf to the demands of such persons for pardon that a committee of the State Senate has reported a bill setting them at liberty after fifteen years' obedience to prison rules. Should the bill pass murderers will have to serve shorter terms than the New York city judges generally give burglars. But the New York burglars are not, like the majority of the New York murderers, members of the higher social and political circles.

The Wesleyan ranks the St. John Globe among its Roman Catholic exchanges.

Over sixty converts are seeking admission to the Methodist church in Fredericton.

The Advocate gives us another exemplification of the lines:

Heaven has no rage like love to hatred turned,
Nor Hell a fury like a woman scorned.

William Conway, who lives near Kingston, Kent, courted three girls simultaneously, but at last took his choice of the three and married a Miss Butler. This placed the two jilted ones in a very embarrassing position, and disdaining to brook the law's delay in emulating Mary Connaughton they determined to execute summary justice on the faithless Conway. Money was no object, but revenge was sweet. One night, recently, while Conway was sleeping at the house of his father-in-law the doors were burst open by the brothers and friends of the jilted young ladies, who to the number of six persons, armed with axes and knives, demanded the life of Conway. During the contest the latter's wife was severely scalded by a kettle of boiling water, which she took from her husband's hands, probably with the intention of making it warm for his assailants. The latter were finally driven off, to return again on the following day and also a few days later, being compelled to retreat on each occasion. Warrants have been issued against the brothers of one of the young ladies, and they were to be tried on Thursday for assaulting Conway. Kent is a bad place to trifle with affections. The women are too plucky.

A Filthy Cellar.

To the Editor of the Tribune.

DEAR SIR: Allow me through your popular columns to call the attention of our Board of Health officers to the cellar in Ritchie's Building. Any one that has been unfortunate enough to enter the place has been stifled by the smell that arises. I think it is high time something was done to clean it and keep it only for those in the building, as I think the majority of St. John business men and clerks have free access to it, and we have to pay 50 cents a key for the same privilege. Please insert the above and oblige.

Vessels Seeking.—The barks Chignecto, Shaw master, J. E. Williams, Vaughan, and the Norwegian bark Schilde, all from Liverpool, also the Norwegian bark Freya, from Bergen, all arrived at Fortress Mouroe on the 1st inst., seeking cargoes.

INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION.—In bronchial and chest affections, in arresting incipient consumption, and in lessening the distressing symptoms of this disease in its hopeless stages, as well as in cases of nervous debility, in giving tone to the system, it is undoubtedly a valuable remedy. JOHN MCMURRAY, Methodist Minister, Newport, N. S.

A Fine Business Site.

Messrs. W. H. Thorne & Co. are busily engaged in fitting up their new premises in the fine building of Hon. T. R. Jones, corner of Canterbury and Church streets, and will have matters fully in order about the first of May. This building will be devoted to the wholesale business only, and is admirably fitted for the purpose, being roomy, well lighted, and fitted with every necessary convenience. The building is four stories in height, and the dimensions of the floors are 48½ by 56 feet. The ground flat, to be used as a show room, has a 12-foot ceiling, while the first flat, used for the same purpose, has a ceiling twelve feet high. The third and fourth stories used for storage are ten and eleven feet, respectively, from floor to ceiling. The roomy business and private offices are on the ground flat. On the first flat is a sample room 20 by 48½ which will be handsomely fitted up for the display of ornamental goods. It is provided with upright show cases around the walls, while in the centre of the room is a stand of fifty six drawers, surmounted by shallow glazed show cases placed at an angle, for goods of the lighter class. The show cases, &c., are of ash and black walnut, and will make a handsome show when filled. The building is provided with a good cellar which will contain a hot air furnace for heating the building. An elevator, conveniently located, runs from the cellar to the fourth story. The facilities for business are excellent throughout and the enterprise of the firm will doubtless be well rewarded by the extensive patronage they will enjoy from all sections of the country.

MAGNETISM is the vital element of the human system. When that departs death and decomposition quickly ensue. A want of magnetic equilibrium, an uneven distribution of sensorial power, consequent weakness and debilitation, inactivity and functional derangement of the internal viscera, are a few of the bitter fruits gathered by inattention to simple laws of nature. When these symptoms are present lose no time in abstaining from an indulgence in those things that debilitate the system, be systematic in matters of diet, rest, and exercise. Observe these suggestions and add thereto for the first few days a bottle of the Magnetic "Nerve Cure," and I will guarantee you a speedy release from your troublesome ills. Dr. Sweet will remain in St. John all summer. Consult him.

City Nominations.

The following additional nominations were received after THE TRIBUNE went to press Saturday:

Syrup Lacto Phosphate of Lime.
An excellent remedy in recovery from fevers and other inflammatory diseases, acting as a tonic on the system and helping to support the waste of phosphate of lime. It is a pharmaceutical preparation, destined at no remote day to take a high rank amongst the new remedies of our national pharmacopia. Sold by J. Chaloner, Corner King and Germain streets. 1w

A Problematical Pilot Boat.

The old tug boat Hercules, purchased by Capt. Cline, has been divested of her machinery and altered over to be used as a pilot boat. She was brought from Carleton a day or two ago, for the purpose of having her masts put in place, and attracted considerable notice from those interested in nautical matters. It is conceded that she will make a strong serviceable boat, but great doubts are expressed as to her being able to make good time under sail. It is thought her build aft will cause her to drag, but if this difficulty is not felt she will doubtless do good service. The build of a tug is so different from that of a pilot boat that the result of the experiment will be looked forward to with interest.

ENORMOUS.—No medicine that has ever been introduced into these Provinces enjoys the enormous sale that Reder's German Snuff does. The reason is obvious, because of the grand fact notorious throughout the United States and the Dominion of Canada that it cures that fatal disease catarrh, when all other remedies fail.

HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY.

FREDERICTON, April 3.

The Attorney General recommitted the assessment bill.

On suggestion of Mr. Humphrey an addition was made to the 30th section, providing that the amount on which the real estate of any Corporation is taxed shall be deducted from its stock for assessment purposes.

In reply to Mr. Davidson the Provincial Secretary said that in consequence of representations made by members the Government was considering the feasibility of reviving bear bounties.

Mr. Humphrey recommitted the Moncton incorporation bill; Mr. Burns in the chair.

Hon. Mr. Stevenson suggested that the provisions of the bill relating to assessment be struck out, as it was probable the town would desire to accept the provisions of the general assessment law.

Mr. Humphrey opposed the suggestion which was not pressed, and the bill was agreed to.

The Provincial Secretary committed a bill to provide for a garnishee or trustee process, Mr. Kenn in the chair. The bill provides that when any action is commenced in respect to any cause of action for which a writ of attachment may issue, and any debt or sum of money is due or owing to the debtor from any other party, it shall be lawful for the party to whom such first clause of action subsists to attach or recover any debt or sum of money due or owing to his debtor from any other party, or sufficient thereof to satisfy the claim of the primary creditor, subject always to the rights of other parties to the debts owing from the original debtor or garnishee.

The Provincial Secretary explained the details of the bill, which were discussed by Messrs. Davidson, Tweedie, Pickard, Murchie, and others.

A few slight amendments, suggested by the mover, Davidson and Tweedie, were made, and progress was reported.
