On Saturday night last, Mr. C. Ward, of Ward Bros., funeral directors at Canning, had a very narrow escape from serious injury.

The night was exceptionally dark and Mr. Ward was returning from Canard where he had been unexpectedly detained with his professional duties when his horse, a young, spirited animal missed the road, just as he approached the iron bridge at the Canning aboiteau, and plunged down a steep embankment into the soft mud and water until he was all out of sight, except his head. The reins catching on a stub held the animal's head up, or no doubt he would have been drowned. When Mr. Ward felt the carriage going from under him he sprang from it into the darkness and fortunately struck on good ground.

Arousing some neighbors, he got a light and assistance and with considerable difficulty succeeded in saving his horse, leaving the waggon in the hole till Monday.

Propylaeum Open to Athenaeum.

FINE PROGRAM PRESENTED BY COLLEGE LADIES SATURDAY NIGHT.

On Saturday evening the members of the Athenaeum were entertained by the Propylaeum in College Hall.

The program was an exceptionally good one, well presented and highly entertaining, reflecting great credit upon the Propylaeum. There were four numbers: (1) Farce; (2) Synopsis; (3) Refreshments; (4) College Songs.

The farce began with a meeting of the Old Maids' Association, a society organized for the single purpose of getting married. The chairwomen of the various committees reported considerable progress in the business of snaring bachelors and elegible widowers.

Their plans laid, they were about to adjourn when a knock is heard, and a little French professor enters to tell them that he has a machine which will change the members of the association into whatever forms they desire.

The old maids are overjoyed as they go into the machine to reappear as dashing young fellows so handsome that they need not exert themselves to get husbands. One old maid wished to be transformed into a man. The professor demurred. Finally he said: 'I weel t-r-y, I weel t-r-y;' and try he did, but the unfortunate spinster was torn to pieces in the process.

Those having part in the farce were:—Misses Jennie Welton, Helen Haley, Jennie McLeod, Gertrude Jones, Helen Bancroft, Myrtle Barteaux, Helen Christie, H. Crandall, Lou Crandall, Marion Sharpe, Hazel Woodman, Florence Benjamin and Flora Chambers. The last named represented the French professor, and played her part to perfection.

The synopsis, by Mrs. L. N. Seaman, was an excellent one and was equalled in quality only by that of the ice cream served as refreshment.

The meeting broke up with the singing of the college songs.

Elocution Recital—Acadia Seminary.

Attention is called again to the Elocution Recital which will be given in College Hall, Friday evening, April 10. The programme as prepared is most interesting. The Flower Play will be unique, beautiful. Miss Lucas, teacher of physical education in the Seminary, has the drill in hand, and the evolutions of the flowers will be most graceful.

General admission: Twenty-five cents. Advance sale at Rands.

Canning Items.

Considerable interest is being taken here in the art of debating. At a recent meeting of Court Habitant, I. O. O. F., the question 'Resolved that the contented man is the progressive man' was discussed and decided in favor of the negative. On Thursday evening in Canning Division the question 'Resolved that reading is a greater source of knowledge than observation' after being enthusiastically debated, was decided in favor of the negative. There are rumors of another debate between members of the Division and the Kentville Y. M. C. A. to be held in Canning in the near future.

'Tis Seventy Years Ago.

Sir.: The following extract from the 'Colonial Churchman,' published many years ago in Lunenburg, may prove of interest to your numerous Anglican readers. The bishop referred to is Dr. John Inglis, son of Bishop Charles Inglis, the first colonial bishop in the empire. Rev. G. Gilpin, mentioned in the 'P. S.' is father of late Dean Gilpin, of Halifax, and rector at that time of Windsor.

Yours truly,
R. F. DIXON,
Rector of Horton.

P. S. The two old parishes of Cornwallis and Horton, formed by royal proclamation some time about 1760, were finally divided on the appointment of my predecessor, Rev. K. G. Hind in 1893, Kentville having been set off in the sixties with Rev. J. O. Ruggles as first rector.

ORDINATION AT HORTON.

To the Editors of the Colonial Churchman.

GENTLEMEN: In compliance with a suggestion made in a recent number of your very promising paper, I most readily communicate my share towards that intelligence concerning the movements of the Lord Bishop through his Diocese, which cannot but prove interesting to the members of the Church at large.

His Lordship arrived at Horton on Saturday evening, the 17th inst., accompanied by his son, Charles Inglis, Esq., the Rev. John Stevenson, A. M., and the Rev. A. V. Wiggins, A. M., and on the following morning in the Parish of St. John, of which the Rev. J. S. Clarke, A.M., is rector, admitted to the order of Deacons, Messrs. John Mayne Stirling, A. B., and Oswald Howell.

An admirable sermon adapted to the occasion was preached by his Lordship from St. Matthew, 28th chapter, 20th verse,—'Lo! I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world'—in which after enforcing the necessity of order and union in the church, and the serious importance of its proper government, he enlarged, in his usual energetic manner, on the qualifications requisite in the highly responsible and sacred office to which these gentlemen presented to him were to be solemnly set apart, and then powerfully urged upon their consciences the due and faithful discharge of its momentous duties.

As this was the first performance of this engaging service at Horton, a very large number assembled at an early hour to witness it, and soon increased to such a degree, that many were unable to obtain accommodation. The utmost decorum and quietness, however, were observed throughout; and there was an imposing stillness at that awful moment especially, when the candidates declared before the listening multitude, their firm belief in the blessed truths of revelation, and bound themselves at the Altar of the Most High God, diligently to study them, and teach them to their flocks;—nor is it, perhaps, too much to say, that few retired from the sanctuary unimpressed with what they had heard and seen.

At 3 o'clock, p. m., his Lordship repaired to the church of St. John, Cornwallis, (the pastoral care of which also is committed to Mr. Clarke) and there delivered to an equally large congregation, another excellent discourse:—the subject was, the nature and utility of family worship,—and the text, the noble choice and resolution of the pious Joshua, ch. 24, ver. 15—'As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord.'

Yesterday his Lordship proceeded to his seat at Clermont, with the intention of going to Digby, for the purpose of receiving, on the approaching Sunday, two Deacons into the holy office of Priesthood; and I feel sure you will unite with me in ardent prayer to the Aimighty, that through the strengthening and purifying influence of his Spirit, both they, and these just ordained, may be the happy instruments of promoting peace, piety, love, and good will amongst all christians,—advance the charitable objects of our apostolic Church, and be wholesome examples and patterns in its divinely constituted ministry. Thus, indeed, will the vows they have vowed, be fulfilled; and the obligations they have entered into, be redeemed.

With every good wish, I am, Gentlemen, very affectionately, yours, &c.

Sept. 20th, 1836.

CLERICAL MEETING AT HORTON.

P. S. In case of your not having been already apprized of it, I beg to add that on Wednesday, the 7th inst., the Clerical Society of the district of Annapolis and Kings' counties met at Horton. The clergy attending were the Rev. Messrs. Robertson, A. N. Coster (lately appointed missionary at Parrsboro) Campbell, Owen and Clarke. The Rev. E. Gilpin was prevented by indisposition, from being present.

As, since the last meeting there, the Parishes of Cornwallis and Horton had been united and consigned to the charge of one clergyman, it was previously agreed, that the services at church should this time be held in the former place;—accordingly, a very respectable and (considering the busy engagements of harvest season) numerous audience gathered at the appointed hour, and received an appropriate address from Mr. Owen, grounded on St. Mark, 16th chap., 15th and 16th verses,—'Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature. He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved, but he that believeth not shall be damned.' In the course of which he accurately delineated the organization of the church of Christ, strongly pressed upon its ministers the execution of their various functions, and feelingly reminded its members generally of the dread account they are one day to give.

Exclusive of the clergy, about thirty persons partook of the holy communion, prior to which a collection on behalf of the Sunday School at Cornwallis was made, to the amount of £3 10s. The engagements of the day were altogether very gratifying to the society; and I think I may venture to say, that their meeting was not a little enhanced by the pleasing reflection, that their brethern in your part of the Province were probably, at the very same moment, employed in a similar way. The next meeting will be (D. V.) at Annapolis, on the 2nd, November.

Drugging Children
A Source of Danger.

When you give your child a so-called 'soothing' medicine you are not curing its sickness. You are merely drugging it into temporary insensibility. Soothing medicines contain opiates and an overdose may kill the child. When you give your little one Baby's Own Tablets you have the guarantee of a government analyst that this medicine is safe. And you have the word of thousands of grateful mothers that this medicine will promptly and safely cure all the minor ailments of childhood. Mrs L. W. Smith, St. Giles, Que., says:—'I have used Baby's Own Tablets for my little girl for constipation and other troubles and have found them the best medicine I have ever used.' Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN.

DEAR SIR,—I have just seen in today's Western Chronicle the sensational article upon the Union Agricultural Society. I can assure the public that the secretary-treasurer of the above society, and I feel assured the whole Board of Directors as well, will court the fullest enquiry into the doings of their society, and a statement explaining the same will be made in next week's issue. Personally I very strongly approve of the greatest publicity being given all matters affecting the public, and I only ask that the same publicity be given to our answer to the charges made against us so that the whole truth can be ascertained.

Yours faithfully,
JOHN DONALDSON.

Unable to Digest
THE FOOD

The digestive system is a wonderful piece of machinery, but power is necessary to make it effective.

The power, in this case, is the nerve force and with the nerves exhausted the digestive system becomes hopelessly crippled. There is indigestion, headaches, neuralgic pains and spells of weakness, dizziness and discouragement.

Strength cannot be regained from the food you eat, but can be restored by

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food

This great prescription of the famous Receipt Book author, A.W. Chase, M.D., instils into the feeble, worn-out nerves energy and strength, enriches the blood, invigorates the nerves which control digestive fluids, sharpens the appetite and builds up the system in Nature's way. 50 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Mr. John McLean, 316 Hunter Street, Hamilton, Ont., states:

'As a result of weak nerves my appetite was poor and I had severe attacks of indigestion. Since using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for some time my digestion is excellent, appetite good, nerves strong, and I feel an altogether different person.'
