TO WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

This Woman's Letter Tells You How To Pass The Crisis Safely.

Lascelles, P.Q.—"During the Change of Life I felt so weak and run down I could hardly do my work. The perspiration would pour over my face so that I couldn't see what I was doing. We live on a farm, so there is lots to do, but many who felt as I did would have been in bed. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it did me a world of good. I tried other remedies but I put Vegetable Compound ahead of them all, and I tell every one I know how much good it has done me."—Mrs. DUNCAN BROWN, Lascelles, Prov. Quebec.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ear, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and dizziness should be heeded by middle-aged women, and let Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound carry them safely through this crisis as it did Mrs. Brown.

You are invited to write for free advice

No other medicine has been so successful in relieving woman's suffering as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Women may receive free and helpful advice by writing the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

THE LOCAL PAPER

(Annapolis Spectator)

Supposing that "The Spectator" or any one of a score of other papers in the smaller towns of the Maritime Provinces were to stop publication and go out of business on the ground that it didn't pay, would there be any people in this or the other towns who would regret the fact and feel that it might be in any respect their fault? How many people feel that the local newspaper is an adjunct of the town in the success of which they are proud to co-operate, similar to a good school or a good church? Suppose there were no paper in this or some other town, how much patronage for one would you guarantee so that the publisher could depend upon a decent living? These are questions which some people in a town certainly do not try to answer. It probably is no more difficult in any town than in this to find people doing business who do not care whether the town has a paper or not. Perhaps they buy it, the same as they would a city daily or a magazine, regardless of any feeling of interest in its existence or prosperity, but when it comes to the matter of seeing their names in the columns as enterprising business people or having faith in the printer to charge them only fair prices for jobs, they don't think any more about it on account of it being a local industry than if it were a travelling show. They feel that they can get along without advertising and save their money, while as for jobs, any printer from elsewhere can come in and get their work by underbidding the local man. Yet it is a fact that in the majority of small towns, even the centres of the most substantial rural communities, the local newspaper could not exist except for the advertising that it gets through the publisher's enterprise from beyond its own community.

It is a fact that every local newspaper distributes in wages every week a very respectable item to the welfare of the town in which it exists. And it is another big fact that the skill and brains and hard work necessary to conduct even the humblest weekly newspaper and printing office could earn five or six times as much money in any one of a dozen other lines of effort. It may be quite true that many a merchant doesn't know how to advertise, because he has never studied the subject, but there is no great secret about it.

(The merchants and business men of Bridgetown are good newspaper advertisers, but we think they could use more job-printing to good advantage. Surely no one who has their own interests and the interest of their town at heart, would send out of town for a job of printing which they could obtain here.—Editor.)

WHAT ABOUT BRIDGETOWN?

The Hants Journal says: Must make Windsor a little restless to read of the building programs which are being pushed in various places. Wolfville has considerable in sight, also Annapolis, and Kentville has an ambitious program of new streets and extensive building operations. The starting of the New King's College buildings of course, will offset those some.

COST OF CANNED GOODS WILL INCREASE

Montreal, Aug. 15—Canned goods are going to be dearer again, according to the head of a local wholesale grocery firm. The wholesalers are going to begin raising the price and it will not be long before the consumers will receive the sad news from the grocers.

Mr. Hebert claims that the retailers are to blame for wanting too high a profit, and thus stopping sales, while the retailers are blaming the large jobbers for refusing to sell at the lower prices already ruling.

LISTLESS, PEEVISH GIRLS

When a girl in her teens becomes peevish, listless and dull, when nothing seems to interest her and dainties do not tempt her appetite, you may be certain that she needs more good blood than her system is provided with. Before long her pallid cheeks, frequent headaches, and breathlessness and heart palpitation will confirm that she is anaemic. Many mothers as the result of their own girlhood experience can promptly detect the early signs of anaemia, and the wise mother does not wait for the trouble to develop further, but at once gives her daughter a course with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which renew the blood supply and banish anaemia before it has obtained a hold upon the system.

Out of their experience thousands of mothers know that anaemia is the sure road to worse ills. They know the difference that good red blood makes in the development of womanly health. Every headache, every gasp for breath that follows the slightest exertion by the anaemic girl, every pain she suffers in her back and limbs are reproaches if you have not taken the best steps to give your weak girl new blood, and the only sure way to do so is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

New, rich red blood is infused into the system by every dose of these pills. From this new rich blood springs good health, an increased appetite, new energy, high spirits and perfect womanly development. Give your daughter Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and take them yourself and note how promptly their influence is felt in better health.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail postpaid, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Miss Edna Everett and Mr. Ralph Hamilton were married on Wednesday, July 27th, at the home of the Baptist pastor, Rev. Mr. Heisler, of Lower Granville. On their return a big reception was given them at the bride's home and in the evening a lively serenade followed. Games and dancing passed away the evening, until a late hour, when the company broke up, all wishing Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton many years of long and happy wedded life.
