AMATEUR BASEBALL

The baseball team of the R. S. Williams & Sons Co. met the Union Trust Company for the second time this season at the Island Stadium. After seven exciting innings the game was called, with the score 7 all. The Williams' boys tied the score in the sixth innings. The same teams will meet again next week to close their season. Bert McCreath umpired.

A—Ball is struck at by the batter, which he hits on the first strike, and it then hits him. Is it one strike, or is he out?

Ans.—There are a lot of sand lot umpires who give this an out. The correct decision is a strike. Of course, if the batsman were on the road to first and out of the batsman's box another rule would apply to make it an out.

SHULTZ STOLE HOME IN NINTH LEAFS NOSED OUT THE GRAYS

Kelley's Hopefuls Annexed First of Series After a Grand Battle Between Max-Well and Zamloch for the Pitching Honors.

The "Stay-at-Homes" doped it wrong again. It was Toronto day at the island yesterday, and one of the smallest crowds of the season sat back in the stand and viewed a great struggle between the Leafs and the Grays for the sixth place in Ed. Barrow's circuit. The Kelleyites captured the coveted place by nosing out the Donovan men, 3 to 2, thanks to Capt. Willie Bradley and Germany Joe Shultz.

Hits were as scarce as winning favorites at the half-mile tracks, and the total of safe knocks collected by the two clubs only amounted to seven. Of these Providence got the big half, three of their four coming in the first round before Maxwell got straightened away. Zamloch's speedy benders were just as hard for the Leafs to hit and three raps the Kelleyites' share, including a four base clout by W. Bradley.

It was the tidiest heaving battle of the year with not much to choose between the ex-Detroit speed marvel and Bert Maxwell. The Toronto pitcher had a bad first innings, and Zamloch was weak in two sessions.

Shultz's Great Feat.

Joe Shultz won the game with a daring piece of base running after two were out in the very last round. The Leafs' centrefielder took advantage of Zamloch's long wind-up and stole home with the needed run when every corner was occupied and two out. He had the pitch beaten half a step and stole clean.

The Providence outfit looked fifty per cent. better than when they showed here last and fielded like top-notchers. Fabrique was the only new man with the Grays, and played a nice game at the short field position. Matty McIntyre supplied the fielding feature when he grabbed McConnell's drive off his shoe tops in the third. It looked labeled for three corners at least.

Maxwell couldn't get them breaking in the first inning, and the Grays landed on his offerings like winners. Platte and E. Onslow rapped out clean singles, and then Fabrique followed by beating out his bunt. Deal was thrown out by W. Bradley, but Platte scored on the play. Powell rolled at McConnell, the ball taking a bad hop and Mac was lucky to get his hands on it in time to toss out Powell, E. Onslow scoring.

Maxwell got into some trouble in the second thru poor control. Shean was walked as a starter, and J. Onslow sacrificed. Maxwell couldn't get them over for the Providence pitcher and Zamloch got on free. Platte hit to W. Bradley and a double play retired the Grays. Maxwell only allowed one hit after this, and Deal was the lucky man after two were out in the third. Maxwell mowed down the Providence sluggers as fast as they came at him in the next six sessions, with the exception of two charities.

Into the Bleachers.

Kroy opened the second with the Leafs' first hit, but H. Bradley lifted to Platte. Bill Bradley drove one into the bleachers in right field for the complete circuit and the score was tied. Zamloch disposed of Holly and Graham. The Providence pitcher had things all his own way until the sixth, and in this session he was lucky to pull out of the woods without a run being chalked up against him. Maxwell fluked a single into left, but McConnell popped out to Deal in an attempt to sacrifice. Callahan waited for four wide ones, and Shultz's effort was a high one over Powell. Kroy also waited for a charity, but the best that Hugh Bradley could do was to force Kroy at second and Zamloch was saved.

Zamloch lost the location of the plate in the ninth, and this proved to be his downfall. He was generous to Shultz at the start, and Kroy laid down the necessary bunt. H. Bradley rolled out. W. Bradley walked and stole. Holly got a free ticket and then Shultz did a daring act, but a wise one, when he stole home with the winning run. It was the smartest piece of work of the season.

Bill O'Hara was sporting an injured finger at starting time, and Callahan, the diminutive outfielder secured from Brooklyn, chased the high ones in left field. Eddie Holly was back at short, and Pick was given a rest. The veteran short fielder handled everything that came his way. Callahan failed to get a hit, but shaped up like a real good stick artist. Powell had to cover a mile of ground to draw down his line drive in the eighth. He is fast on his feet and a sure catch.

WASHINGTON SHUTS OUT THE ST. LOUIS BROWNS

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 21.—Groom was too much for the St. Louis men this afternoon, shutting them out, while Washington scored a run off Leverenz and another off Baumgardner. St. Louis had several chances to tally, but with men in a scoring position Groom was invincible, and his support was steady. Washington scored its first run when Gandil walked and stole second. He advanced on an out, and scored when Shotte singled. Baumgardner took Leverenz's place in the ninth and yielded a run. Milan tripled and scored on Gandil's single. Score:

OTTAWA SENATORS HIT LONDON STAR PITCHER

OTTAWA, Aug. 21.—The Senators decisively defeated London here today, landing on the offerings of Bobby Heck, the star London twirler, for eleven clean hits, and beating the Cockneys 6 to 3.

Rogers was on the mound for the Senators, and he allowed but one scratch hit up to the sixth innings, when he loosened up somewhat. The Senators bunched their hits in the fourth and seventh scoring two runs each time, while two hits and an error accounted for two London runs in the eighth. Thruout the game Heck protested that Manager Shaughnessy was using licorice on the ball to spoil his spitter. It was announced by the club that Pitcher Renfer, who won 17 straight games this season, had been recalled to Detroit by President Navin, and would finish out the season in the majors. The score:
