Moncton Suit to Determine Ownership of $120,000 Property.

Evidence in the case of the executors of Horsman vs Woodworth, a suit to determine the ownership of property in Moncton belonging to the Woodworth estate, was taken before Mr. Justice Grimmer in the Chancery Court this morning. The defendant was housekeeper for Mr. Horsman, who left on his death an estate valued at some $120,000. Mrs. Woodworth claims that Mr. Horsman left a note signed by himself in which he declared that the property was to go to her. The plaintiffs allege that the signature on the note is not that of Mr. Horsman. Dr. Jones of Moncton was on the stand until the court adjourned at 1 o'clock. M. G. Teed, of St. John and E. A. Reilly, K. C., of Moncton are appearing for the executors, while Dr. W. R. Taylor, K. C., of St. John and A. E. Allan, of Moncton, represent Mrs. Woodworth. The case will be resumed this afternoon.

SEIZED LIQUOR IS BROUGHT HERE

Barrels of Alcohol and Many Cases in North Shore Capture.

A big lot of alcohol and cased liquor arrived in the city this morning from the North Shore, where it was seized recently by Excise Officer Stewart, and is now under the care of the local customs and excise officers. The car contains barrels of alcohol and 330 cases of liquor.

While customs officials here were not inclined to discuss the circumstances surrounding the seizure of the shipmen, it is understood that the liquor was landed at some point on the North Shore of the province and was loaded into a box-car, the doors being then filled with surrounding the seizure of the shipment, ment is said to have been destined to some place in the northern part of New Brunswick.

Threats to Shoot Also Charged

The plaintiff said that he was supposed to get all the money for this shipment. A meeting had been held in the Windsor Hotel in Montreal at which the plaintiff, Friedman, Smith, Maurice Rotman, David Leond and the defendant were present. Messrs. Ratman and Leond, who represented the Providence concern said that they would not advance $15,000, as a part payment for a shipment of liquor.

The witness explained that they did not want him to hand over the money to Rabinovitch, who desired that amount to settle the storage account in this city, and who later dictated an agreement authorizing the witness to sign in on his behalf. This was also produced and read. The witness then told of returning to this city and learning that the Cold Storage management refused to allow them to prepare the goods for shipment until they had received $10,000.

This sum was paid and the liquor was removed in C. P. R. cars and transferred to the schooner Mary Duff. The witness said the goods were valued at approximately $82,000. The witness said he did not get any of the money paid for this shipment. The boat sailed on that day.

Thrills Revealed.

It was at this stage that the thrilling part of the story was revealed. The witness said that on November 1 after the boat had sailed Friedman summoned him and Maurice Ratman into the office of the Great West Wine Company, McLeod's wharf, in order to straighten out the financial figures. Smith was there also. While they were so occupied Rabinovitch, a man named Lerner and Provincial Constable Robert Crawford broke in the door with great force and Rabinovitch cried out "where is the boat."

Friedman and Smith answered that the boat had gone. Rabinovitch then asked "where is the money," and then ordered the officer to arrest them. Friedman jumped up and rushed into the warehouse and Smith went after him. Rabinovitch followed

The witness said he heard Friedman cry out "I'll shoot." By this time he had arrived on the scene and saw Smith take hold of Friedman and heard him tell him not to make any trouble. All then returned to the office, but Friedman rushed out and started to run away, Rabinovitch and Lerner following him. He said that Smith himself and Rotman remained there with Crawford.

Get In Car

All got in Smith's car and started for their hotel. Enroute there Crawford got out and walked away, witness said. They saw Rabinovitch and Lerner coming back to the hotel and shortly afterwards Friedman arrived. He had a handkerchief tied around his face and there were smears of blood on it. They accompanied Friedman to his room, and after he washed they failed to see any marks or scratches on his face. Friedman said that Rabinovitch and Lerner had taken the money away from him by force. In conversation with Rabinovitch the following day, the witness said, he told him that if the parties who were supposed to get $263,000 as agreed upon, were going to look for trouble they would not get a cent. In answer to a question by Mr. Ryan the witness said he had not received any money in connection with the shipment.

At this stage Mr. Ryan asked that the witness be stood aside as he might have some other questions to ask him. Dr. Baxter objected and asked that the case be proceeded with all possible speed. He explained that he wanted him admitted to bail. Magistrate Henderson said that the evidence should be produced as expeditiously as possible, but thought that Mr. Ryan had got as far as possible on the first day.

After considerable argument the next hearing was set for tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock and the prisoner was remanded to jail.

ALL GOES WELL IN DRIVE FOR FUNDS

Further Good Reports From Solicitors in Orphanage Campaign Received.

From present indications the province of New Brunswick is going over the top big in the drive for the Protestant Orphans Home. This morning there were received at headquarters most encouraging reports from several points. Sussex, which had set as its objective $2,500, reported $2,600 in and still going strong. Gloucester did not get started until yesterday but reported $550 from Bathurst. Albert County reported $1,025 as a starter and going strong.

In St. John city the reports have filled the executive with confidence that the grand total will be at least $150,000, the amount pledged by the local committee, conditional upon the balance of the province raising an equal amount. Without taking into consideration the pledges secured by the Special Committee, the total raised by the ward workers was $19,450 representing 989 contributors, or an average of about $20. Not a single ward fell below the average of $10, the minimum amount they were instructed to secure from each prospect. As there are 14,000 more people to see on the list of prospects including many of the people who are expected to give the larger amounts the outlook for success is very promising.

The following are the amounts raised by wards on Monday:

Brooks	$1,753.50
Dukes	4,175.75
Dufferin	573.00
Guys	1,434.50
Kings	2,611.00
Lorne	3,327.00
Lansdowne	1,601.00
Prince	1,598.75
Queens	7,847.00
Sydney	30.00
Stanley	257.00
Victoria	450.00
Wellington	2,928.50

With the special gifts so far reported from the fraternal bodies, this makes a grand total for the first day's work of $53,337.00.

A few of the wards were a little late in starting the work, but it is believed they will make up for lost time and soon be up among the leaders.

With $53,337.50 from St. John, $1,863.50 from St. John county outside of the city and $3,050 from Kings county reported to date, the grand total is $58,251, nearly one-quarter of the amount asked for, has been subscribed. Four little girls each seven years of age came into headquarters yesterday afternoon and stated that they had held a bazaar for the orphans from which they secured $1.41. The following composed the delegation of little workers: Clara Hawkins, Bessie Green, Eleanor Green and Margaret McDiarmid.

CASE IS SETTLED.

A case in which a resident of West St. John was accused of smuggling a quantity of goods into the province from across the U. S. border, has been settled, according to an announcement made this morning by C. B. Lockhart, collector of customs. Mr. Lockhart collected from the man in question the duty paid value of the goods of which the Customs had evidence of being brought into the country and a report of the matter has been sent to Ottawa. The amount collected is said to in the vicinity of $8,500.

GOV. CARLETON LAID UP.

WOODSTOCK GIRL WEDDED TODAY

Woodstock, Dec. 12—A wedding took place at high noon today at the residence of Dr. T. F. Sprague and Mrs. Sprague, when their youngest daughter, Bertha, was united in marriage to Herbert Allison Clark of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

The bride, attired in a gown of blue canton crepe, with silver trimmings and black hat, carrying a bride's bouquet of Ophelia roses ,entered the parlor on the arm of her father, Dr. Sprague, to the strains of the wedding march, played by her sister, Mrs. Harold Demming. The bridal couple were unattended.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. T. Cavers, pastor of the Methodist Church, in the presence of a number of guests. The rooms were prettily decorated with pink and white carnations with ferns and trailing moss, the bridal party standing under a floral bell.

During the ceremony Mrs. Ernest Ross of Cabano, sister of the bride, sang a solo. After the ceremony luncheon was served. Mr. and Mrs. Clarke left on the afternoon express for Newcastle, the former home of the groom, before going to their home in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

The out-of-town guests were Thomas Clarke of Newcastle (father of the groom), Mrs. Amelia Boyer of St. John, Mrs. Eastburn Myers of Norton, Mrs. Ernest Ross of Cabano, and Mrs. Harold Demming of Hampton, sisters of the bride.

MONTCALM MEN ENTERTAIN WELL

The steamship Montcalm entertainers gave a treat to a packed house which gathered to hear them at the Seamen's Institute last night. Every number was a gem and the programme rivalled any yet given. Messrs. Ramage and Pierce were assured of a welcome before they reached the platform, but they certainly excelled themselves last night. Robert Shaw is always a favorite from the days of the old Lake class of boats. Bert Meers and Jimmy Flack have not been here since the Empress of France used to put on such excellent programmes, but the audience soon recognized them, and both were recalled. Mr. Owens, a new number, acquitted himself creditably, as also did T. Dempsey of the Marloch as a dancer. The playing of the fine orchestra from the ship was one of the features of the evening, and the audience showed their appreciation of the excellent numbers rendered in such an efficient manner. Mr. Deering, as usual, made a most efficient chairman.

TWO DEAD, ONE HURT IN SHOOTING

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 12. — John George, 26, insurance agent, shot and probably fatally wounded his wife, shot and killed Eugene Coats, 17, Mrs. George's dancing partner, and committed suicide at a dance at the home of his mother-in-law here a few minutes after midnight. That George was crazed with jealousy because his wife had refused a dance with him and was dancing with Coats was the theory advanced by investigators.

"I had been expecting this. He had threatened it before," Mrs. George was quoted as saying after she and Coats had been taken to a hospital. Coats died soon after his removal to the hospital.

Mrs. George's mother, at whose home the dance was held, said George apparently was in a happy mood early in the evening. Later, however, he became angered when he saw Mrs. George and Coats dancing together.

OLD BUFFALO BILL RANCH IN LAW SUIT

Only a Few Cattle Now to be Seen Where Lords of Prairie Once Roamed.

North Platte, Neb., Dec. 12.—Scouts' Rest Ranch, for many years a show place of the West while owned by William F. ("Buffalo Bill") Cody, now is a run down and ordinary piece of property where a few cattle still graze but buffalo are no more and where social gatherings are of another day.

The ranch, located about two miles west of North Platte, now is known as "Cody's Ranch." It passed from the ownership of the famous scout and buffalo hunter several years before his death in 1917.

Its 20,000 or more acres of land have dwindled to 1,200.

The land that remains as a part of the famous ranch and rendezvous for visiting nobility, celebrated statesmen and army officers, is owned by a company and leased to a tenant. Trouble has arisen over the lease and the property now is the subject of litigation.

Cody came to this part of the country after the civil war. His job was to furnish meat to laborers engaged in constructing the Union Pacific lines west. The meat was that from the buffalo, which were more numerous then than jackrabbits are now. In an eighteen months period, in 1867 and 1868, Cody personally killed about 4,800 buffalo for the Union Pacific laborers. It was at this time that he got the name Buffalo Bill.

Local acquaintances recall Buffalo Bill's first Wild West Show. It was the occasion of a local celebration at which Cody was asked to provide an entertainment feature. He hit upon the Wild West Show idea, and spent much time in rehearsing his act. The show was such a success that he was induced to elaborate upon it and take it upon the road.

ALARM BELL RANG.

At an early hour this morning the alarm bell on the Bank of Nova Scotia, Prince William street, sounded loudly for about ten minutes. Police Sergeant Scott and Constable Chisholm responded to the call, but could find no person about the bank. As the alarm stopped sounding it is believed the ringing was caused by a cross wire.
