him in every form, and now that he has gone, Fame will continue to re-echo his noble exploits to remotest ages.

This distinguished veteran, now conquered by the one unconquerable foe, who faced danger after danger, and engaged in battle after battle, after having been an eye witness to the most heart rending and thrilling scenes of the monster War, has since his last great victory on the field of Waterloo, addressed the House on subjects of the highest moral tendency. His passing of the Catholic Emancipation Bill with an acuteness and determination worthy of a younger man, amidst such contending animosity is highly creditable. Having the welfare of his country at heart, he fought like his contemporary Napoleon, regardless of personal danger, and shared with those under his command, the fatigues, dangers, and distress connected with the pursuance of his immortal campaigns.

Wellington, though he engaged in War detested it from his heart, and looked upon it with as much abhorrence, as such an utter disregard of the Divine Laws should create, in the minds of civilized men; he reframed from needlessly spilling human blood, and openly concurred with Cobden and Elihu Burritt the great peace advocates, in the necessity of endeavouring, if possible, to bring about a method for the adjustment of national differences, without recurring to the barbarous resource still in vogue. "The Hero of a hundred fights" notwithstanding the unmingled and almost idolizing courtesy with which he was greeted, attended regularly to his devotions, and thus completely fulfilled the duties of a great and good man, a wise and distinguished Statesman, and a discreet and valorous general.

ASSIZES.

The Assizes for the United Counties of Huron, Perth and Bruce, were opened in Goderich, on Monday the 27th ult., by the Honorable Archibald McLean; Colonel Prince officiating as Queen's Counsel.

Judge McLean, in conformity with views expressed by himself when last in Goderich, refused to hold the Court in the room usually cleared for such purposes, in the upper story of the Gaol, and adopted in its stead, the large room recently added to the British Exchange Hotel, which was temporally fitted up for the occasion. The Counties are much in want of a Court House, year after year, and assize after assize, the deficiency has been felt and discussed. We hope that this, as well as many other equally, if not more important and necessary improvements, will, before long, be effected, through the active exertion of our County Council, who, we trust will be encouraged and supported in the fulfilment of their difficult engagements by the men of the people.

Communications.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HURON SIGNAL.

Sir, I perceive in the Perth County News of the 2nd inst., and also in the Toronto Daily Patriot of the same date, an anonymous communication signed "Veritas." It would have been far more manly had "Veritas" come out over his own signature;—but as his remarks are directed in a great measure against myself, I waive that objection, and beg in answer to his communication, to refer the public as well as "Veritas," to my letter addressed to the Editor of Colonist, dated 27th September, and published in the Daily Colonist of the 2nd October, which contains a true account of the proceedings at the Railroad meeting held at Stratford on the 25th ultimo, and of the part I took in the same.

I am,
Sir,
Your ob't serv't,
ALEX. WOOD STRACHAN.

LUNATIC ASYLUM

The Report of the Asylum for last year adopted on February last by a bare majority (or rather by the Minority added to by the double vote of the Chairman, has been presented, as required by law, to the Governor General. We learn from it that of the £15,000 granted by Parliament for the completion of the main Building £7105 18s 3d have been expended, and that sum of £1920 18s was then due for the construction of the Wall, Iron Railings, and Porter's Lodges, and for the levelling and planting of the grounds. The ordinary expenditure of the year was £6319 5s 1½ equal to 27 0s 6¾d per patient, or 1s 7½d each per day. The heating of the building by hot water costs 17 per cent of the gross expenditure, but the [illegible] guarantee against accident by fire. The number of Patients admitted during the year was 123; under treatment, 226; of these 96 were discharged, as recovered seven were admitted, and 20 died. Of the whole number 46 only were paying Patients though the rates vary only from 5s to 15s per week.

The number of the insane within the Asylum is only about one-third the number in the Province, as represented by the Statistical Returns. Idiots are not received into the Institution. The Directors urge the providing of extended accommodation for the various classes of the Insane or the limitation of the present building to a special class, if private institutions be countenanced or other buildings be erected.

The concluding paragraph of the Report is drawn up with a remarkable degree of paternal solicitude for the welfare of the Medical Superintendant, but stands in peculiar antagonism to the Special Committee appointed to examine into the complaint against him by one Copping, a Kepper, which we published in February last. The "giving way to a natural infirmity of temper," as charged in that Report the employing of "language unbecoming the dignity of his position" and "calculated to weaken respect:" comports unhappily with the "candid"—the "gentlemanly" and the "courteous," forming a conclusion to the present Report. However, the two cases differ essentially: the former was his bearing and language towards subordinates—the latter towards his employers, the Board. The pitchforking of the present incumbent over the head of Dr. Park by the chiseling of a Reverend Director—the father-in law of the Medical Superintendent,—is matter of public notoriety; and no one can be surprised that some paternal solicitude should be employed to keep him there. A man possessing natural infirmities of temper—a hasty passionate man—is in our opinion, utterly unfit to preside over such an Institution, however bland and courteous he may be to the Board of Directors. We earnestly hope that a thorough reformation will be made in the management of the Asylum before another year.—Examiner.

CONFESSION OF A MURDERER.

The murderer, Nathan Crist, executed at Mobile, for the murder of Theodore Nye made the following confession previous to his execution:

Having no longer any hope of escaping the just sentence of the law, and trusting through God's mercy to secure the salvation of my soul during the short time I have yet to live, I hereby make a full confession of my guilt in the awful murder of Theodore Nye.

The idea of committing the murder first entered my mind on the morning of the day we left New Orleans for Mobile. Nye told he had a large sum of money, and was on his way to California; and this tempted me to commit the deed. Having told him my he had some friends in Mobile, I told him I was coming here, and that if he would come along I would pay his passage. It was then my intention to kill him on the way here; but my heart failed me and I abandoned the idea entirely.

I then determined to go to Montgomery on the same day of arrival here, but when I went to the New Orleans boat for my baggage, the servant who had charge of it was away, and I could not get it. When I returned to the hotel that time, the Devil again put it into my head to kill him. I went and bought a hammer, resolving to execute my purpose during the night, but my heart failed me; and in the morning of the 20th arose again determined to give it up altogether. I left my room early Nye being asleep, having been out the night before. Two or three times before breakfast I went to the room to kill him, but I could not do it. I ate breakfast and went again up to our room and told him "get up and come and get breakfast," and left the room.

After a while I started up stairs again, without any idea of murder, but when I entered the room, Nye being still in bed the first object met my eyes was the accursed hammer which I had purchased. In a moment—in what seems now a whirl of derangement—I seized the hammer and strove to bury it in his temple. He said nothing afterwards and made no noise, but seemed to struggle to move himself. I took a towel and tied it tightly about his throat, and then searched for his money under the pillow in his pockets. Being disappointed I went down stairs, paid our bills and asked for the package Nye had delivered. Failing to get that, I went directly to the New Orleans boat, got my baggage and went on board the Lowndes.

After detailing the manner of his escape and referring to discrepancies in the testimony of several witnesses examined on his trial, he concludes his confession as follows.

One dagger, which is still in my bosom is that I can make no reparations to the relative of my near unfortunate victim—Oh! that I could! Oh! that I could hear them say that they forgive me. All that I can do is to beg their forgiveness, and may that God may help them grant my dying request.

I have nothing more to say but to warn all others to fly from temptations. The mere thought of crime, if not resisted, may lead to the destruction of body and soul. I can scarcely realize now that I ever could do anything so awful as to stain my hands in my brother's blood! Satan tempted me, when I first yielded to the thought of the bought me with chains, and blunted my feelings and blinded my eyes, so that although I felt again to get loose I was dragged to the commission of my soul's ruin. Oh! may God have mercy on me, and I hope he has, and save my soul from Hell!

We extract with pleasure from the Buffalo Commercial, the following encomium of our Governor General, Lord Elgin. We are happy to inform our contemporary, that Lord Elgin has not yet been recalled, and that his recall is only wished for by a very small minority of the people of Canada.

"The citizens of the United States will very generally regret to learn the recall of Lord Elgin from Canada; by the Derby Ministry, and the appointment of Lord Harris in his place. During the term of office as Governor General of Canada, Lord Elgin, has done much to render himself popular on this side, and much, we should imagine, to recommend him to the people of Canada. He has certainly succeeded in pacifying party feelings, in a great degree, and in fostering the interests of the Colonies. His urbanity, courtesy, and referring hospitality have tended to create a better feeling between American and Canadian citizens than have ever before existed, and has generally rendered him a general favorite on this side of the line. We regret much that he is about to leave us, when the benefits of his administrations are beginning to be sensibly felt; and he will certainly take home with him the good wishes and admiration of Brother Jonathan.—Brant Herald.

MEMORY.—The following anecdote is related of a man whose memory was so bad and so circumscribed, that he scarse knew what he read. A friend, knowing this, lent him the same book to read seven times over; and upon asking him how he liked the performance, received for answer; "I think it is an admirable production; but the author sometimes repeats the same things."

AN AWKWARD DANCE.—Forward two and hit your partner in the bread basket; dos-a-dos; turn to your right and hit your partner on the shins; shassez all; promenade to the left; accidentally knock down two attendants carrying refreshment, and end by overturning a form containing sixteen of the elite of the company.

A little gentleman of the law, having a dispute with a remarkably bulky attorney, the big man threatened to pit him in his pocket.

"If you do, says Dapper, "you will have more law in your pocket than ever you had in your head."

"Who brought you up, my pretty boy asked a lady of a curly headed urchin.

"Please, ma'am, nobody brought me up I comed up."

The Lexington Sentinel says that there is now living in Holmes County, Miss., a woman who married her first husband in September, 1852. She subsequently parted with him; and from time to time married three others, with all of whom she seperated. On the day twenty-five years from her first marriage she parted with her fourth husband, attended the funeral of her second, was married to her first, and the marriage ceremony was performed by her third husband. She is now living with her fifth, or rather her FIRST husband, and doing well; and is some woman yet!

An englishman, boasting of the superiority of horses in his country, mentioned that Alice celebrated Eclipse had run a mile in a minute. "Stranger," exclaimed an American present, "that is rather less than the average rate of our roadsters. I live at my country seat near Philadelphia and when I ride in a hurry to town, of a morning, my own shadow can't keep up with me, but generally comes into the store to find me from a minute to a minute and a half after my arrival. One morning the beast was restive, and I rode as fast as I could, several times round a large factory, just to take old Harry out of him. Well, sir, he went so quick that the whole time I saw my back directly before me, and twice was in danger of running over myself!"

NEW INVENTION.—The New England Farmer says that a machine has recently been invented for picking stones, one of the most laborious duties of a farmer. It is described as a common axle and cart wheels, containing four rows of teeth or litters. Gearing on the hubs of the wheels and on the ends of the cylinder gives the latter a rotary motion, when the teeth pick up the stones and deposit them in a box. When the box is full the cylinder is raised, and the load carried off and upset, as from a common cart. What shall we have next

WHO WOULD NOT BE AN EDITOR.—A newspaper may be destroyed at night—it may light a cigar, or it may curl a lady's hair. Ah! only think of that, girls. An editors thoughts completely, exquisitely wreathed in with your rich tresses, and—yes.—and nestling down with you in your midnight slumbers, to gently guard and peacefully keep watch over your happy dreams. Jerusalem! who would not be an editor!
