BAPTIST MISSION WORK.

Increase in the "Circles," Members and Incomes.

The Grande Ligne Seminary—A New Indian Mission Projected—Election of Officers.

BRANTFORD, Oct. 24.—The Women's Home Mission Society of the Baptist Church held its annual meeting in the Pe[illegible] Church yesterday. Mrs. A. R. McMa[illegible] of Toronto, president of the society, i[illegible] chair. Miss F. A. Lobb, of Toronto, rec[illegible]ing secretary of the Board, read a co[illegible] report of the year's work by that body.

Mrs. Lillie, of Toronto, correspon[illegible] secretary, read her annual report. Twe[illegible] four new circles were organized during [illegible] year, an increase of twelve over last year's record. All the associations, with the exception of two, report increases in contributions. Seventy-seven circles show an increase, and only 23 slight losses. Last year only 23 circles reported an increase, and 40 a decrease. The worth of home mission literature was emphasized. All obligations of the year had been met and a slight balance left in hand. They had given $1,000 last year to the work of students from McMaster and Woodstock Colleges and supported five students at Grande Ligne Seminary, Que. The work at Midland, Burk's Falls, Sundridge, Sault Ste. Marie, Calgary and other mission stations was described as progressing.

Mrs. Weld, of London, in moving the adoption of the report, had some kind words for Mrs. Lillie's labors.

Mrs. Alexander, of Toronto, presented the treasurer's statement for the past year. The receipts were:

From circles	$2,803
From bands	243
From special sources	639
Balance from 1889	10
Total receipts	$3,695

Mrs. D. A. McGregor reported the woman's special fund for Grand Linge endowment to have received during the year $884. Last year, $1,391 was raised; making a total of $2,275. The report suggested that the society order that 10 cents a member be set aside annually for Grand Ligne.

Miss Lobb read a telegram of greeting from the Board of Management of the Methodist Woman's Missionary Society now in session in London. Greetings were also presented from the Methodist and Presbyterian Women's Missionary Societies, and the sisters of Quebec and the Maritime Provinces.

Miss West reported the year's work of the mission bands. Twenty-five new bands have been organized. Total, 97. Nine have not reported, and one has become a circle. They have now 3,217 children enrolled and have raised $1,855, as compared with 1,912 children and $1,004 income last year.

On motion of Mrs. Robertson, of London, it was decided to telegraph return greetings to their Methodist sisters now at work in London.

Mrs. Halket (Sister Belle) of Ottawa, gave an interesting talk on the many fascinating phases of mission work. Among other things she said that she thought those who professed to love the Lord should love him more than 25 cents a year.

The Nominating Committee reported the following names of officers who were taken up one by one and accepted by the convention.

Mrs. Wells read a paper written by Miss Tate, of Collingwood, on the mission work in Muskoka.

A discussion was held on the advisability of starting a mission among the Northwest Indians and a forward step decided on. The society will try to raise 10 cents per member for the first year for this week.

CURSES, LOUD AND DEEP.

Dramatic Scene in a Court Room at Mauch Chunk.

MAUCH CHUNK, Pa., Oct. 24.—Webster H. Campbell, who was convicted in court last week of involuntary manslaughter, for the killing of Gertie Hiskey, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Dreher to an imprisonment of six months in the county jail and to pay a fine of $20. Then followed one of the most extraordinary and dramatic scenes ever witnessed in the courts of Carbon county. The aged mother of the dead girl grew fairly wild in her dissatisfaction with the sentence and her attorneys were powerless to pacify her. The unfortunate woman gave vent to her pent-up feelings and lost entire control of herself. She sprang to her feet, and with arms raised on high, in a loud, shrill voice called out: "God Almighty, come down and do justice; I am not satisfied to see my dear daughter slaughtered in cold blood and him," pointing her finger at the prisoner, "have only six months in jail. No, no; God Almighty, come into this court house and do the fair thing. Oh, come down. Oh, do justice to this case."

Every time an attempt was made to pacify her she would break out afresh and exclaim: "Leave go; God has sent me here to tell the truth."

She scored the judge, attorneys for the defense and everyone whom, in her frenzy, she thought responsible for the easy manner in which the slayer of her daughter got off. She finally sank to the floor entirely exhausted and fainted away. A cot was brought and the distracted mother placed on it and carried out of the court room.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. We know of no remedy for dyspepsia more successful than Hood's Sarsaparilla. It acts gently, yet surely and efficiently, tones the stomach and other organs, removes the faint feeling, creates a good appetite, cures headache, and refreshes the burdened mind. Give Hood's Sarsaparilla a fair trial. It will do you good.

There never was a man's prayer that did not have himself in it, nor a woman's that did not refer to either a man or a child.

WHYWILL YOU cough when Shiloh's Cure will give immediate relief. Price, 10 cents 50 cents and $1. W. T. Strong, 184 Dundas street, London.

"Your habits will be the death of me," said Mrs. Hirshley. "Well, your costumes are ruining me," retorted Mr. H.

GETHSEMANE,[1]

BY THE REV. LYMAN ABBOTT.

Reverently, as with unsandled feet [illegible] uncovered head, we approach the [illegible] sacred spot on earth; the most sacred [illegible] in human history. For what epoch in [illegible] individual's history is more sublimely [illegible] solemnly sacred than the hour when a [illegible] made solitary by its sorrow, cut off, b[illegible] bitterness of a grief which no other [illegible] comprehend, from all human fe[illegible], wrestless, alone in the darkness [illegible] invisible foe, and finds its succou[illegible] strength in the sweet and strang[illegible] The [illegible] which comes in the morning's [illegible]; when it learns that the dark[illegible] gel of sorrow and of dread was [illegible] messenger bringing the best but leas[illegible] prehended gift of his love, the g[illegible] love's travail? What more sublime [illegible] solemnly sacred epoch in human histor[illegible] that in whith the Son of God, bearin[illegible] only the burdens of his own sorrowf[illegible] not only the burdens of his disciples a[illegible] heart-broken mother, but the burden[illegible] sin-burdened and sorrow-stricken w[illegible] humanity, wrestles with the name[illegible] placable enemy, and vanquishes h[illegible] recognizing in him God's messenger a[illegible] rendering himself to the coming sor[illegible] cause it is his Father's will. The [illegible] and truest of Christ's friends remai[illegible] from him at this hour. It is not [illegible] that we cannot come near. No one c[illegible] to interpret Christ's Gethsemane; [illegible] can hope by analysis to comprehend [illegible] we can hope to do is, by the light [illegible] this experience of our Lord and [illegible] throws on life, to read more truly [illegible] terpret more perfectly our own [illegible] emane.

No imaginary anguish was this, [illegible] gone as an example for us; no con[illegible] tween two wills—a divine and a [illegible] Such ecclesiastical refinements, a[illegible] from scholasticism of the middle a[illegible] far from the pathetic simplicity [illegible] Gospel narrative. We see this div[illegible] going down in the valley of the sh[illegible] death, as we also in our pilgrimag[illegible] go down into this same valley; [illegible] the same dread, tormented by [illegible] doubts, darkened by the same ter[illegible] tress and questionings. Only thu[illegible] conceive the agony in the gard[illegible] thus can we draw any inspiratio[illegible] from it to sustain us in our own [illegible] lesser agony.
