DISAPPOINTED LOVER MURDERS ANOTHER'S WIFE

Tragic Shooting Reported From St. Johnsbury, Vt., As The Result Of Which Two Are Dead.

St. Johnsbury, Vt., Sept. 24.—The residents of the usually peaceful village of Danville, seven miles west of St. Johnsbury, were stunned by a tragic shooting which ended the lives of two well known persons at that place today. Infatuated with Mrs. Kate Frye, the attractive wife of Fred J. Frye and infuriated because she refused to abandon her husband and children and leave Danville with him, Abel Hartshorn, a well-to-do farmer and stock breeder, shot and killed the woman and after being fired on and injured by Roy Taylor, a fifteen-year-old lad, fled to his own premises nearby and ended his life with a bullet. Hartshorn was 60 years of age and is survived by a wife and four children.

35 Years Old.

The murdered woman was 35 years old and was a sister of Prof. C. P. Bonnette, for many years well known as a balloonist throughout New England. Mrs. Frye leaves a husband and two daughters, the elder aged 13 and the younger 2.

For a year or more, the residents of Danville say Hartshorn has pressed his attentions upon Mrs. Frye and had presented her with various gifts, including a horse and carriage.

Last Sunday Hartshorn called upon Mrs. Frye, who lived in a cottage adjoining his property, and attempted to induce her to leave Danville with him. Mrs. Frye refused and when Hartshorn assumed a threatening attitude she became alarmed and notified her husband. On Monday, Hartshorn fired several shots from a revolver, near the Frye place in an attempt to intimidate the woman.

To Return Gifts.

Frye persuaded his wife early in the week to return Hartshorn's gifts and on Wednesday, filed a suit against the stock breeder for $10,000 damages for alienation of Mrs. Frye's affections. The filing of the suit further enraged Hartshorn, but little attention was paid to his threats to shoot the woman. Nevertheless, Frye took precautions to protect his wife and remained at home all the week until today, when he was obliged to leave the premises. Frye asked Roy Taylor, an apprentice in Frye's blacksmith shop to see that Hartshorn did not molest his wife.

Soon after the blacksmith left home, Hartshorn walked over to the house and drawing a revolver pointed it at Mrs. Frye. The woman fled to an adjoining room and seizing her husband's revolver rushed to repel Hartshorn, who as soon as she reappeared opened fire. The first bullet struck her in the head. As she fell, to the floor she threw her revolver to young Taylor and told him to shoot her assailant. Taylor fired three shots at close range, one shot striking the stock raiser in the face and the second in the left arm. The third missed.

Hartshorn did not attempt to shoot young Taylor, but before he left the house he fired two more shots at Mrs. Frye, who lay dying on the floor

For the Sailor Boys.

Special arrangements are being made by the Seaman's Institute to look after the large number of young sailor apprectice boys who come to the port every winter. These lads are looked after by the Seamen's Mission Society who encourage them in every way to lead honest, upright, sober lives; their few pence are taken care of and in many cases sent home to widowed mothers. The boys are fond of music, singing, good story books and games and the society feeling the need of the rooms that are not yet finished asks all citizens to assist in order that they may be completed.

C. O. F. Parade Tomorrow.

The Canadian Order of Foresters will hold a church parade tomorrow afternoon starting from their hall, Germain street and proceeding along Germain, to King, Mill, Dock and Main streets to the Main Street Baptist church where services will be conducted by Rev. David Hutchison, who is a member of the order. The members will meet at the hall at 3.30. It is expected that about five hundred will take part in the parade. Should the weather be unfavorable the parade will be held on the following Sunday. The column will be under command of Mr. R. W. Wigmore and the marshals will be Mr. George E. Day and Mr. H. Morrell.

Missionary Meeting.

Last evening in Victoria Baptish church, Mrs. David Hutchison, president of the U. B. Women's iMssionary Society of the Maritime Provinces gave an interesting address on the work of the society in India. The meeting was under the auspices of the Women's Society of the church. Mrs. Hutchison first spoke of the district of Telegu, where most of the work is carried on. She also made reference to the wrongs of Indian womanhood; the enforced seclusion; child marriage; hastened widowhood, and the ignorance of the people. The good work which is being done by the society is much appreciated by the natives.

Children's Sunday.

Tomorrow will be observed as "Children's Sunday" in the Sabbath schools of the Presbyterian Church throughout Canada. The day will be observed in the city by holding a united service of all the Presbyterian Sabbath schools in St. John Presbyterian Church at 3 p. m. The children will assemble at their respective schools at 2.30 o'clock and march to the church in a body. The service has been prepared by the general assembly Sabbath School committee. Mr. Andrew Malcolm will deliver a short address on "What Has the Bible Done For Us?" and Rev. L. A. McLean will speak on "What Use We Are Making of the Bible." Mr. S. J. McGowan will sing a solo. The choirs of the different churches will unite in singing.

GREAT HUDSON-FULTON CELEBRATION ON TODAY

sponse to the international salute of twenty-one guns, the Hudson-Fulton fleet to the national and international flags of peace, the chimes of old Trinity church will take up the refrain of "Glory to God in the Highest, Peace on Earth and Good Will to Men." The twin rainbow flags of peace will be unfurled from the roof of a downtown skyscraper by two little girls in anticipation of the prophecy "A Little Child Shall Lead Them."

Aerial Bombs.

At the same moment twenty-one aerlar bombs will be shot high above the North River where their emphatic acknowledgment will float up the river, the mechanical chimes of the new Metropolital tower will be heard, chanting in musical repitition, twenty one times over, their greetings to the armored guardians of peace.

The arrival of the squadrons of Germany and Great Britain today filled up the last gap in the eight mile line of warships, which stretches up the Hudson to a point well beyond Spuyten Duyvil. There was a great tumult for the new-comers upon their arrival—cannonading, wig-wagging, cheering by sailors and in the evening, the long-distance greetings of searchlights.

Despite the rain which drizzled persistently throughout the day, thousands of New Yorkers and their visitors came out to view the fleets today.

Jack Ashore.

Jack came ashore today on the first real liberty he has had in three months. Shore liberty will end at 8.30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Along the Jersey shore two hundred fireworks experts worked all day in the rain getting ready the dozen huge floats from which will be set off tomorrow night, the greatest display of pyrotechnics which New York or any other city has ever seen. The police, land and marine, completed their work of preparations as did the thousands or so of life-savers who will patrol the shores of the Hudson throughout the time occupied by the day and night parades.

The American tars got no chance to swap yarns with their British brothers as they had expected. The British sailors didn't get shore liberty after their squadron came to anchor just below Grant's Tomb. Instead they had to turn to and clean ship for the celebration tomorrow. No boarders were allowed and no shore leave granted.

The landing-places for the fleets at anchor also ranged along the west side of Manhattan Island in such wise that when the sailors come ashore they storm the city in twenty spots at once. The whole town is seeing them and congratulating them on their good behavior.

LOCAL SPORTSMEN HAD THE BEST OF THIS MOOSE HUNT

Americans On Miramichi No Match For Messrs. Staples And Murray When It Came To Shooting.

A little hunting story comes from the wilds of the Miramichi in the vicinity of Myshrall Lake, Northumberland county.

A party of Americans had secured licenses and territory for a moose hunt near the lake, while another party composed of Mr. A. G. Staples and Mr. Randolph Murray, of this city, were hunting in the same neighborhood. A day after the season opened a fine moose appeared on the territory of the Americans, who were so anxious to secure the quarry that they frightened the animal into the adjoining section where the monarch of the forest was promptly shot by Mr. Staples.

Later in the week on a foggy morning Mr. Murray planted lead in another fine animal before the American sportsmen had arisen from their "spruce" repose. Both the animals were large but there was nothing unusual about the size of the antlers.

Up to the time Messrs. Staples and Murray left the woods the Americans had not housed any game.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor of The Standard:

Sir,—If Mr. Durant proposed to build a sugar refinery in St. John without asking any concessions from our city, its success or failure would be entirely his business, but before our city grants him important concessions and to that extent becomes a partner in the business we should carefully ascertain from reliable sources the present conditions of the sugar refining industry in Canada and the possibilities of a new refinery becoming a success. This would simply be exercising ordinary prudence.

Facts And Figures.

To throw some light on the matter I submit the following facts and figures which can be verified by reference to the report of the Department of Customs.

Estimating Canada's present population at seven millions, and the present consumption of sugar at seventy-five pounds per capita both of which are liberal estimates, Canada's total resent annual consumption of sugar is 262,500 tons, equivalent to say 1,837,500 barrels. This consumption is partially supplied by imports of foreign refined sugars, considerable quantities of which are imported.

The present productive capacity of Canadian sugar refineries is not less than 9,000 barrels daily, or 2,700,000 barrels annually, showing the present productive capacity to be about 50 per cent in excess of the consumption.

Mr. Durant's Proposals.

Mr. Durant proposes building a refinery to manufacture 400 tons of sugar daily, equivalent to say 900,000 barrels annually, or about 50 per cent of Canada's present total consumption, adding these 900,000 barrels to the present productive capacity of Canadian sugar refineries (2,700,000 barrels) would give us a total productive capacity of 3,600,000 barrels annually, against a total consumption of 1,837,500 barrels annually, or as near as may be 100 per cent. more productive than consumption.

These figures prove conclusively that at present there is not obtainable business in Canada for the successful operation of another refinery, and the best course for our city to pursue is to decline to make any concessions for the establishment of such an industry, and allow Mr. Durant to take all the risks and responsibilities if he thinks proper.

Canadian Refineries Up-to-Date.

Mr. Durant is reported to have stated that his refinery would be better equipped for conducting the business than our present Canadian refineries. It is very easy making such assertions, but it is simply a matter of fact that in all the essential features of sugar refining our present Canadian refineries are fully as up-to-date in their equipment as the American refineries, and if for the sake of argument this were not the case they would simply be compelled and would put in the necessary equipment.

Not very long ago a representative of a Philadelphia refinery came to Montreal, and claiming that they had a much cheaper process of refining sugar than any other refinery, informed our Canadian refiners that unless they purchased the privilege of using this process in Canada he would establish a refinery in Montreal, and took out a charter for a new company.

After investigation our Canadian refiners refused his proposal, whereupon he departed for the land of the free and has not been heard from since.

A Question of Location.

With regard to location, however much we may regret it, the Maritime Provinces are not the best for a sugar refinery and anyone conversant with the history of our Maritime Provinces sugar refineries knows they have not only been unprofitable but disastrous financial ventures.

It is not surprising under existing conditions that Mr. Durant has made demands for such enormous concessions from our city, but it is sincerely to be hoped that our Common Council will reject his proposals and not place additional burdens on our taxpayers to support an industry for which at present there is not room in Canada.

YOUNG WIFE HEART BROKEN WHEN TOLD OF HUSBAND'S DEATH

Mrs. Stronald Elberfield In Hospital Learned Sad News Yesterday — Brother Came Too Late For Funeral.

After hurrying more than three hundred miles to be present at his brother's funeral Mr. Frank Elberfield of Campbellton arrived in the city yesterday to find that he was too late, the funeral cermony being over and the body laid in the last resting place at Cedar Hill cemetery. A telegram to Mr. Elberfield on Wednesday evening conveyed the sad news of the death of his brother, Stronald H. Elberfield in the hospital from typhold fever as already stated in The Standard. He wired back that he would leave on the Maritime Express on Thursday and fully intended doing so. On inquiring when this train would leave Campbellton, he was told at 3 o'clock in the morning. Some mistake was made however, as the express leaves at 2.05 a. m. and the train was just pulling out as he arrived at the station.

Mr. Elberfield felt very badly over the delay but took the next train and arrived here at 5.20 o'clock last evening, too late to attend the funeral. He will return home this morning.

Mrs. Elberfield, the wife of the deceased is still in the hospital and the doctors yesterday performed the sad duty of breaking the news of her husband's death. As was anticipated, she was almost overcome with the shock, and friends who have shown much kindness to the afflicted family were hastily summoned to be with the young widow in the sad hour of the revelation of her bereavement.

Golden Jubilee Anniversary.

Exmouth Street Methodist Sunday school will hold their golden jubilee anniversary on Sunday, Sept. 26th. Rev. H. D. Marr will preach an appropriate sermon at 11 a. m. At 2.30 p. m. the Sunday school will hold an open session, when the Rev. G. M. Campbell, D. D., and others will address the school. On Sunday evening at 7 o'clock a mass meeting of the church and school will be held at which addresses will be delivered by several of the old superintendents of the school and pastor of the church. Special music will be rendered by the choir of the church and children of the school at all the services. On Monday evening at 8 o'clock a reminiscent service will be held, when a very pleasant evening may be anticipated. Special music interspersed with short pithy addresses will be the order of the meeting. The anniversary will close on Tuesday evening with a grand social. A hearty welcome is extended to all the services.

BEACH TO LEAVE FREDERICTON HOME

Fredericton, N. B., Sept. 24.—Geo. S. Beach, who up to the past couple of weeks has acted as ticket seller at the C. P. R. station, has moved out of his residence on Regent street. He is storing his furniture and will for the present reside with his mother-in-law, Mrs. Murray Grass, at Waasis.

INTERESTING PAPERS READ AT MILLTOWN

Twenty-fifth Session Of Charlotte County Teachers' Institute Closed After Successful Meeting.

Special to The Standard.

St. Stephen, N. B., Sept. 24.—The twenty-seventh annual session of the Charlotte county teachers' institute was closed at Milltown this afternoon when the following officers were elected and installed: Miss Annie Richardson, of St. Andrews, president; James Vroom, vice-president; P. O. Sullivan, secretary-treasurer; W. H. Morrow, Goldwin Lord and Miss Eleanor Dewolfe, additional members of the executive.

The time and place of he next meeting was left to the executive.

Morning Session.

The morning session opened with a paper on "Nature Study and Agriculture in the Schools," by Mr. James Vroom, secretary of the St. Stephen school board. The writer referred to the authorized course in the subject as admirably adapted to interest pupils in the country schools in the business of agriculture, and valuable also to those who would take up other business in life. He dwelt upon the need of protecting the wild birds and asked that more attention be given to plant study as a means of training appreciation in the beauties of nature. He suggested practical means of carrying out this plan.

Paper Praised.

Chief Superintendent Carter gave much praise to the paper and asked that it be placed in his hands for publication. In his remarks he told the country teachers that the authorized course was not an optional study with them but would be required in all but town and city schools where the means of observation would not justify the board in making it compulsory.

An excellent paper on "Composition" was read by Miss Oliva Maxwell and discussed by Principal McFarlane and others, and was followed by an equally valuable paper on "Books for Children's Reading" by Miss Mary Graham of Milltown. The latter led to a suggestion from Chancellor Jones that a committee be appointed to draw up a revised list of books suitable for school libraries.

Condemned Popular Works.

The chief superintendent took occasion to condemn much of the reading offered by public libraries and by Sunday school libraries, as trashy and more injurious to pupils than anything else except cigarettes and moving pictures. He recommended that each teacher read a daily paper, a good magazine and at least one educational paper.

At the afternoon session Dr. E. V. Sullivan, of St. Stephen, read a paper on "Tuberculosis."

At Riverside.

Moncton, Sept. 24.—At this morning's session of the Westmorland and Albert Teacher's Institute at Riverside it was decided to meet next year at Elgin.

The Albert County teachers elected the following officers: President, T. E. Colpitts; Vice-president, E. F. McNaughton, Secretary-treasury, Miss Avard; Executive Committee, Miss Clara Jones, Ana T. M. Brundage.

At the opening of the session of the united institute, Inspector Oblenes delivered a lecture on mental arithmetic, giving some important rules for teaching.

At the afternoon session the following resolution was passed. "Resolved that we the members of the Institutes of Westmorland and Albert while heartily in accord with the intention of the government to grant pensions to teachers express the earnest request that the age limit be sixty years and the amount of the pension not less than four hundred dollars per annum.

That a second class teacher who has taught successfully for five years be exempt from entrance examination for first class except in such subjects as are final and also that they be permitted to attend the Normal school during the second term and take the final examinations in June for first class certificates, whereupon the usual votes of thanks were passed and the institute adjourned.

A Carload of Fruit.

Messrs. J. F. Estabrooks & Son have due to arrive the first of next week a carload of mixed fruit from the Niagara fruit belt district, consisting of a full assortment of grapes, peaches, plums and tomatoes. It will be well for the trade to get prices on these goods before landing.—J. F. Estabrooks & Son.

Temple Fair to be Repeated.

The members of Alexandra Temple of T. of H. and T. have decided to make "Temple Fair, '09" an annual event and a committee has been appointed to make the necessary arrangements. The dates decided upon are Nov. 8 to 13 and the boys intend having many new and up-to-date attractions in addition to the entertaining features of last year.

Feast of Yom Kippur.

All the stores kept by Hebrews in the city were closed last evening in observance of the Jewish Feast of Yom Kippur which began at sunset, and will last until the stars can be seen in the heavens tonight. The feast will be impressively observed by all branches of the Jewish faith, and means an uninterrupted period of fasting and prayer.

The Pugsley Banquet.

Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. William Paterson, who will be in St. John as members of the West Indies Commission on Oct. 29, have found that it will be impossible for them to arrive the previous evening and attend the Pugsley banquet which will be held in Keith's Assembly rooms. Mr. W. E. Foster, president of the Board of Trade, has received a telegram to this effect. Invitations have been accepted by Hon. Rudolph Lemieux, Hon. Chas. Murphy, Hon. W. L. McKenzie King and Hon. Charles Marcil. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has not yet been heard from.

CONGRESS HAS CONCLUDED ITS SESSION AT QUEBEC

Resolutions were passed condemning white slavery and gambling on race tracks. The congress also went on record as being opposed to war of every description.

The Afternoon Session.

Wm. Glockling, of Toronto, was elected president at the afternoon meeting and Fort William was selected as the place for the next convention. The elections were all keenly contested and took up the whole afternoon. There were two candidates for the presidency, James Simpson and Wm. Glockling and there was a tight contest between them the vote standing 57 for the latter and 46 for the former.

Invitations were received from Fort William, Guelph and Brantford for the next meeting of the congress. Fort William and Guelph were the contenders for the honor but the former won out with a good majority.

Verville Declines.

When the nominations for fraternal delegates was reached Alph Verville was nominated, but was forced to decline the honor, stating that his parliamentary duties which would open on Nov. 10th next, would preclude his attendance. Dr. Bancroft, of Toronto, was then elected.

The elections resulted as follows:

President—Wm. Glockling, Toronto.

Vice-President—Gustave Francq, Montreal.

Treasurer—P. M. Dreaper, Ottawa.

Vice-Presidents—British Columbia, J. C. Watters, Victoria; Alberta, left over to incoming executive; Saskatchewan, Jas. Sommerville; Manitoba, F. J. Bartlett; Ontario, T. Bancroft; Quebec, Fred Robert, Montreal; New Brunswick, Vice Pres., L. F. Wallace, Moncton.

Executive—J. G. Johnson, AcAdam Jct.; Alex Gibb, St. John; Chas. Smith, Moncton; Nova Scotia, Vice president, John T. Joy, Halifax; Executive, H. Clancy, Halifax, Geo. Murray, Truro, Gregory Sydney, (P. E. I. left over for new executive.)

Fraternal delegates to American Federation of Labor, Fred Bancroft, Toronto.

DISCOVERY OF C. A. C. BRUCE.

To the Editor of The Standard:

How coincidence follows coincidence. Only a few short weeks ago we have had two North Pole discoveries, and now on the heels of those reports comes the astounding news of the "discovery" of the derelict defendant in the Pugsley suit against the shareholders of the very celebrated Central Railway—to wit: Mr. C. A. C. Bruce.

By a Provincial paper one can see his place of abode is for the nonce at the Miramichi Hotel at Newcastle, and that he is classified as a resident of St. Johns, Nfld. Now could it be possible that our genial friend Bruce has been away pole hunting on his own hook? Thinking, perchance, of his great namesake who watched the spider and was thereby stimulated in the development of his perseverance, possibly our more recent Bruce, viewing the octopus of the Central Railway advances, was led to ramble away to the North in search of the North Pole, and so add to the prestige of the Central by having the honor of discovery rest with one of its shareholders.

At all events, it would appear that the great William can now have his summons served and the anxious public may hear where all the money went. It is not known whether Mr. Bruce has returned to attend the banquet or not, but it is rather astonishing that Mr. Pugsley appears to have been the only man in New Brunswick who didn't know that Mr. Bruce has been domiciled in St. Johns, Nfld, for some six years or more. Why didn't he ask our Mr. Queen, of the Canada Life? Yours,

HECTOR.

RAMSEY NOT TO PLAY

A largely signed petition was placed before the Marathon management yesterday in an endeavor to have Ramsey reinstated in the Marathon line-up for the games today. Last evening Manager D. B. Donald, of the Marathons, gave out the following statement:

In acknowledging the petition placed before me today, I wish to say that under existing circumstances, and in justice to the fair minded sporting public of the city, I do not think I would be doing right in playing any other than the lineup which I have already announced.

(Signed) D. B. DONALD.

JURY COMPLETED IN CIRCUIT COURT; BUSINESS PROCEEDS

Suit Of Peters vs. Barbour Commenced Yesterday.

When the suit of Peters vs. Barbour was resumed yesterday in the circuit court it was found only one member of the additional panel summoned by Sheriff Ritchie, the previous afternoon was present, the obedient one being John Robinson. He was objected to and escaped service. The court waited for fifteen minutes, and none of the others putting in an appearance, His Honor was about to adjourn until the afternoon, when F. S. Bonnell arrived and was immediately sworn.

The case was then commenced. Messrs. Hanington & Hanington and Mr. M. G. Teed, K. C., appeared for the plaintiffs, and Hon. J. D. Hazen, K. C., and Mr. W. A. Ewing, K. C., for the defendant.

F. L. Peters, one of the plaintiffs, was the first to be examined. When the court adjourned at 12.30 he was still on the stand.

Afternoon Session.

When the hearing was resumed Mr. Peters concluded his testimony. F. H. J. Ruel of the Bank of Montreal was then called by the plaintiffs. Witness said that the bank often advanced money to appelants on the strength of hides warehoused by defendant. The bank held the warehouse receipts as securities.

A number of warehouse receipts were put in evidence.

John Wright, a bank clerk, who had charge of the warehouse receipts for the bank, also gave evidence.

Mr. Teed—Did you look at the hides?

A.—Yes; that was my duty.

Q.—How did you count the hides?

Ans.—I estimated the number by the size of the bundle.

Mr. Teed.—I suppose you looked at them and spit on them.

This was objected to.

Mr. Teed laughingly withdrew the question.

Mr. Hazen.—Have you any experience in hides?

Ans.—I am no expert.

Witness identified a number of warehouse receipts.

Paul Longley and the bank clerk gave practically similar evidence.

At 5.30 o'clock the court adjourned until ten o'clock this morning.

During the course of the afternoon proceedings Mr. Kendall Hall, one of the jurors, made some reference on the quality of the ink used by the Bank of Montreal. An entry in one of the bank's books was being put in evidence and Mr. Hall asked to be allowed to see it.

Having inspected it Mr. Hall said "that is not a bank entry because the Bank of Montreal uses Stephen's ink. This is not that kind of ink so" —

Mr. Hazen (interposing) Never mind that Mr. Hall. There is no evidence that a certain kind of ink was used.

The point was not pursued.

Basing account of the reception Commander Peary at New Glasgow told by the correspondent of the York Sun as follows:

Commander Peary on his way home from Sydney to Eagle Island, Me., his fame totally eclipsed today. A crowd of Nova Scotia brides. Wednesday seems to be marrying day among Scotch of mid-Nova Scotia, Pulton first brides who boarded the train day long their blushing swains within a distance of seventy-five miles, filled villages of the villagers along the line of the Intercolonial Railroad to the exclusion of the man who climbed the top of the earth.

Very Embarrassed.

In ordinance the hymeneal conditions pervading New Glasgow brought embarrassment to the commander when the train pulled in there at 3 o'clock there was a crowd of people or so, all in their Sunday clothes at the station. They were cheering and surging around the steps of the single Pullman car the train, and one of the newspaper men made a grievous blunder telling Peary that the crowd was him.

He came from his stateroom to the car but there were no ringing cheers greet him, just two brides, their hair full of rice, who were being rushed through the crowd by their husbands. One of the correspondents thought to relieve the situation by calling for three cheers for Peary. Right just as well have asked for himself. Peary, who had started that he was surprised to see a large crowd present interested himself, abruptly declared that guessed he was not the man the people wanted to see after all. The dodged the rice and went back his stateroom.

Soon Too.

At the very station, Stellarton, there was time kind of crowd and for the reason—two more brides. Here folks seemed to be nearer wake, however. After getting the wedded couples into the train began to buzz about Peary being oard. A young man caught a glimpse the commander's face through half opened window of his stateroom. The discoverer then mounted the shoulders of a companion and without ceremony pushed his shoulders through the window to shake hands with the commander. This stirred something that was as near a demonstration as the Scotch will indulge, and for a moment the wedded couples were forgotten. Peary came on the platform and bowed his acknowledgments. Robert P. Jr. on the other end of the cars holding a boys' levee meanwhile stared down a dozen youngsters the village.
