JAMES GILMOUR, M. P., WAS NOT IN RACE FOR THE NOMINATION

East Middlesex Conservatives Choose Councilor Peter Elson as Their Candidate.

Lack of information that a treaty had been signed ending the war, caused the British and Americans to indulge in a useless and bloody battle at New Orleans in 1813. Napoleon's lack of information as to the exact whereabouts of Grouchy and Blucher had an ominous bearing on the result of the battle of Waterloo. And lack of information has caused a shift in East Middlesex Conservative politics, for which there was no need.

Saturday afternoon the Conservatives of that riding met in the Duffield block, to name a candidate for the Dominion House. Many names were proposed—some fifteen in all. Then all dropped out but three—and these three were new names, the present member, Mr. James Gilmour, having pulled up stakes. It is not known for certain what caused Mr. Gilmour to retire, but it is said he believed what the Opposition said — namely, that there would be an election this winter and, of course, Mr. Gilmour, like all old-timers in election fights, feared a winter campaign. And sooner than race around the concessions in all sorts of weather to "stump" the constituency, he dropped out.

But of all the sad words of tongue or of pen, the saddest of all is it might have been! At the time that Mr. Gilmour was making up his mind, to drop out, through fear of an election coming on at once, the machines in The Advertiser office were putting into type the announcement that there would be another session before the election, and that the House had been called to meet on March 3. If Mr. Gilmour had but known this!

There were fifteen candidates nominated as follows; W. F. Guest, S. F. Glass, George Neely, James Priddis, Richard Piper, James Gilmour, Peter Elson, Donald McMillan, A. Montague, Capt. Thomas Robson, Major Beattie, P. H. Bartlett, John Gerry, Joseph H. Marshall and Dr. Roome.

Twelve of these dropped out, leaving Messrs. Joseph H. Marshall, ex-M. P., John Gerry and Peter Elson in the field. Mr. Elson, who is a member of the county council, won out, and the convention made the choice unanimous.

Despite Mr. Gilmour's fears, it looks as though Mr. Elson will be accommodated with an election fight in fairly good weather, if not indeed in the good old summertime.

THEY ARE CAREFULLY PREPARED.—Pills which dissipate themselves in the stomach cannot be expected to have much effect upon the intestines, and to overcome costiveness the medicine administered must influence the action of these canals. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are so made, under the supervision of experts, that the substance in them intended to operate on the intestines are retarded in action until they pass through the stomach to the bowels.

MURDERER OWNS UP

Knowing He Can't Be Tried Again He Clears Another of Charge.

Cumberland, Md., Jan. 18. — Joseph Lupis and Dominic Avarro were acquited at Keyser of the murder of Joseph Cavallo in Piedmont last October. Lupis was tried first and the evidence was excluded by the court as insufficient. The jury, upon instructions, rendered a verdict of not guilty.

Avarro was then placed on trial, and Lupis, knowing that he had been acquitted and could not be tried again, went on the stand and testified that he had shot Cavalla. Avarro was accordingly acquitted.

The murder was cold-blooded, the victim apparently having done nothing to provoke it. Cavallo was a property owning miner.

THE TREASURE HUNTERS

Leaders of Canadian Expedition Arrive at 'Frisco.

San Francisco, Jan. 18. — M. McManus and C. Thompson, of Halifax, N. S., have returned here from an unsuccessful search for treasure in Terra del Fuego. They sailed from Nova Scotia on March 17 last with eight companions on the schooner Hattie J. H., to look for treasure in large quantities which the captain of the vessel said was to be found there. When the schooner reached the coast of Terra del Fuego she went aground in trying to land, and McManus and Thompson, having had a misunderstanding with others of the party, took all their belongings from the vessel and started for the interior with a band of Patagonian Indians. Here they met with nothing but hardship, and finally made thec oast again, where they made a voyage of 125 miles in a canoe and reached a point whence they sailed for this port.

THE BETCHEL TRIAL

Lover of Murdered Girl On Stand at Allentown.

Allentown, Pa., Jan. 18. — The Commonwealth depends largely upon the testimony of Alois Eckstein to prove its case against Mrs. Catherine Bechtel, also on trial as accessory after the fact to the murder of her daughter Mabel. Eckstein on Saturday testified that he visited the Bechtel home on Monday night, Oct. 27. Mabel's body was found the next morning. On that night, he stated the demeanor of the entire Bechtel family toward him had changed. When he asked for Mabel, they were at first at a loss how to answer him, and finally replied in a nervous tone that she had gone out driving. Mrs. Bechtel, usually kind and gentle, was cross and disagreeable. This change had taken place in less than 24 hours.

Today Attorney Schaadt, counsel for Mrs. Bechtel, subjected Eckstein to a rigid cross-examination.

KILLED BY PIGS

Farmer Near Uxbridge Fainted and Fell Into the Pen.

Uxbridge, Ont., Jan. 18. — Thomas Millan, a young farmer of Reach Township, met a horrible death Friday night. Just about dark he went out to feed his pigs, and as he did not return for supper his nephew went out to find him. After going through the barn and stables he returned to the house, saying that he could not find his uncle. Then he and his aunt went out, and as they were passing the pig pen, the pigs were making so much noise, they looked there, and to their horror saw the pigs devouring Millan's body. The animals were immediately driven off and the body lifted out, minus the greater part of the face, the right hand gone, with some other parts of the body, and taken to the house. It is supposed that Millan, who was subject to fainting spells, fell into the pen and was attacked by the pigs before he could recover.

PATTI HAD TO LEAVE

A Portland Hotel Wouldn't Give Her Sufficient Room.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 18. — Twelve rooms had been engaged at the Portland Hotel for the Patti party, but on their arrival it was found that most of the rooms had been rented to delegates to the National Live Stock Association, now in session here. The baroness and baron and the baroness' two companions were accommodated, but when it was learned by Mme. Patti that her two friends were compelled to occupy the same room and be greatly inconvenienced in many ways she vigorously protested to Marcus Mayer, and he went to Manager Bowers with the complaint.

"If you don't like what I give you in the way of accommodations Patti and her whole party can get out," said Bowers.

Baron Cederstrom and Mr. Mayer were both for going to the private car at once, but it is too crowded for her to dress in conveniently and was in a remote district of the city, so they were compelled to remain at the Portland until after dinner.

Is That Cough Still Hanging On?

Ordinary remedies don't seem to do any good. Take our PHOSPHATIC EMULSION of Cod Liver Oil and cure it for good and all. Our Emulsion cures those deep-seated coughs that "syrups" and "lozenges" can't reach. And more: It heals the throat—strengthens the lungs—makes the blood pure and rich—puts the whole system in the best possible condition to resist "spring fever."

J. G. BLAIR DIES UNDER A CLOUD

Accused of Forgery and Fraud He Passes Away in South.

CENTER OF A BIG SENSATION

Wife, Who Was Conspicuous in World's Fair Affairs, at His Side to the End.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 18.—James L. Blair, former counsel for the world's fair and the central figure in a big embezzlement scandal here, died at Eustis, Fla., Saturday. He had been taken with a congestive chill on Jan. 11, and never recovered. Mrs. Blair and their son, Perry, were with him at the time of his death.

Mr. Blair, who had been one of the foremost lawyers and reformers here, was charged a short time ago by a former employe with the embezzlement of large sums of money that had been intrusted to him. Mr. Blair undertook to fight the charges, and then broke down. It is alleged that he twice attempted suicide, but the fact has not been fully verified. His country house in the suburbs was dismantled and everything of value, including his horses and carriages, sold. Mrs. Blair, who was president of the board of lady managers of the world's fair, resigned and devoted herself to nursing her husband.

In the meantime insurance companies in which he carried nearly $1,000,000 worth of insurance, began to contest the policies on the ground that he had taken them out for the purpose of defrauding the companies by killing himself.

The cases are still pending in the federal courts.

After his resignation as general counsel for the world's fair was accepted, the grand jury began an investigation which resulted in indictments being returned against him on two charges of forgery, and he was placed under $20,000 bond. Mr. Blair, bedridden by illness, was taken to the Mullanphy Hospital, being accompanied by his wife, who never left his side.

On several occasions he was reported to be dying and as often he was said to be in perfect health, but simply shamming illness.

As soon as bond had been arranged on the indictments Mr. and Mrs. Blair left the hospital in December and went to Eustis, Fla., in the hope that his health might be benefited by the change of climate and environment.

James Lawrence Blair was born in St. Louis on April 2, 1854. He was the third son of the late Gen. Francis Preston Blair of distinguished memory, and the grandson of Francis Preston Blair, of Washington, D. C., a friend of Lincoln and Jackson.

Mr. Blair was educated in the public schools of St. Louis and was graduated from Princeton University. He was admitted to the bar in St. Louis in 1876.
