Two fishermen belonging to Caraquet N. B., were drowned off Alberton in a squall Thursday.

One of the inmates of the Halifax Deaf and Dumb School attempted to burn down that institution one day last week.

Capt. Russel, master of the steamer Rastler, who was sent up for trial in Chatham, N. B., on the charge of manslaughter, has been acquitted by the Grand Jury.

Rafson, the man who was convicted here some years ago for setting fire to buildings at North River and sentenced to twenty-seven years imprisonment in Kingston penitentiary died in that institution last week.

The following sign is posted on a certain tract of land not far from Richibucto:—"If any man or woman's cow or oxen get in these oats, his or her tail will be cut off as case may be. I am a christian and pay my taxes but * * * * a man that lets his critters run loose."—Richibucto Review.

Women's and Children's clothing is now sold in enormous quantities. Nor is this a matter of surprise as in many cases the ready made article costs no more than the ordinary price of the materials. One is specially struck by this fact when examining Beer Bros large stock of mantles. The prices are wonderfully low and the styles very pretty.

On Sunday next, the 29 inst, His Lordship Bishop McDonald will preside at the solemn reopening of the Freetown Church. Rev Ronald B McDonald, pastor of Rustico, will preach on the occasion. This church has undergone extensive repairs of late and now presents a very handsome appearance within. A silver collection will be taken up at the 10 o'clock mass.

On Sunday His Lordship Bishop McDonald blessed the beautiful new bell imported from France for the Bloomfield Church. The assistants were Fathers Burke, Gillis (St. Peter's), J. C. McMillan and the pastor. An appropriate sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. McMillan, and His Lordship the Bishop made an address in English. The music was superb. The collection amounted to $150.

A little boy, three years old, named Herbert Bevis, died at Halifax, N. S., on Saturday as a result of a companion's foolishness. The little fellow was left playing in a room with his comrade. The latter in play placed a lighted match under the clothing of young Bevis who was soon enveloped in flame. The little one was burned so badly about the body, arms and face that death followed after a few days of terrible suffering.

A sad fatality by which the infant son of William Buchanan of the I C R shops, lost his life, occurred at Moncton on Saturday. Mrs. Buchanan was preparing dinner and had taken a pot of boiling soap off the stove to cool and went into an adjoining room. In her absence the child crawled up to the pot and pulled it over, scalding itself so badly about the face, neck and body as to cause death in two hours. The little one's mouth, nose, ears, and eyes were filled with hot soap and it died in terrible agony.

As Harry McIntyre, cornet player in the Artillery band, was crossing the trestle work on his way to his home in the north end about 11 o'clock Tuesday night, he was stopped by three footpads, one of whom drew a revolver. Harry instantly knocked the gun out of the fellow's hand, kicked the fight out of his largest assailant and, presenting the smooth piece of his cornet at the head of the remaining one of the two, soon frightened him into jumping to the pond below. Mr. McIntyre then went home. He has a fine 22 calibre revolver to show as a trophy to any one who doubts the story. The police are said to be on the trail of these highway robbers.—St. John Sun.

A few days ago, as the cruiser King fisher was coming into Charlottetown harbour, Capt. Kent espied several men in a boat putting out lobster traps off the bluff, east of Keppoch. After the Kingfisher dropped anchor inside the harbor, the captain despatched a boat's crew to look into the matter. As the cruiser's boat rounded Hospital Point it came upon three men in a boat having live lobsters on board, and making for the shore. Officer Graham, who was in command of the cruiser's boat, at once took charge of the men and brought them and their boat to the Kingfisher. The captured boat belonged to Neil Stewart, who lives near the locality, and Stewart was one of the men in the boat. Captain Kent promptly fined Stewart for fishing illegally, and the fine was paid. After turning over Stewart and the other men to the captain of the Kingfisher, Officer Graham and his boat's crew returned to Keppoch shore where they succeeded in finding and destroying 125 traps. MARKET NOTES.

A Montreal despatch of the 18th says: The oyster boats are very late this year, is the remark at present of every lover of the succulent bivalve, and the question when are they going to arrive is heard everywhere. New York oysters are not in it when the Malpeques come along, and while the latter are now being sold everywhere, still the arrival of the oyster boats from the lower parts might have the result of reducing the price. The schooners, however; are expected up here towards the end of this week or the beginning of next. Continual storms around Prince Edward Island have delayed the shipments thence, and from Miramichi bay. In the meantime, however, Maipeques are selling at $3.50 to $5.50 per bbl, the latter for best hand-picked.

The steamship Bellington has been chartered to take a full cargo of hay from Montreal to the old country. This is a rather unusual charter to make there, although most of the steamships at present leaving the port take more or less hay. The Bedlington will load at Three Rivers. One or two charters of a like nature have been made there this season, while one sailing vessel was chartered for France with a full cargo of hay. Out of New York also several steamers had full cargoes of hay. By the end of the season more hay will have been exported from Canada to the United Kingdom than ever before.

The Halifax Critic says: The local fish market continues dull and inactive. Receipts and shipments are small relatively, and there is absolutely no life or activity about the business. Inclement weather and scarcity of bait at most points render it difficult, in fact nearly impossible for fishermen along our shores to prosecute their avocations with any success. The Montreal fish market is quiet—picked, smoked and dried fish meeting with a fair demand.

The Ontario potato crop is reported to be a light one this year—one authority says very light.

A despatch to the Empire of the 18th says: The British cattle markets are going from bad to worse. Trade in London and Liverpool to-day was the worst on record and the few shippers who are left are thoroughly disgusted. As we have said all along only good cattle are wanted in the British markets, and there are no such cattle in the country and the sooner the shippers stop sending forward half fatted stock the better it will be for their bank accounts. A private cable from London quoted best Canadian cattle at 5d, and best American at 5½d, and cable from Liverpool says trade worst ever known, best cattle 4½d. Impossible to make clearance. Many more cables were received of the same purport, and none of them gave the least hope of any immediate improvement. The cattle now en route will lose piles of money, and the indications are that the steamship people who have put up the rate of freight will find it hard to get cattle.

The schr. P. L. G., Captain McLean, sailed for Gaspe, Friday, with a cargo of 638 bushels of oats and 19 tons of hay, shipped by Messrs. Carvell Bros.

The Gripsack summing up the condition of trade in the Maritime Provinces for the last month says: So far as the provinces are concerned, the general outlook has not changed materially during the last month. There has been a steady volume of business. Merchants report at least an average fall trade in general lines, with collections fairly good, and there appears no good reason to anticipate less satisfactory returns in the future. The universal expression is that business is sound. No doubt many would like to see greater activity and quicker returns, but on the whole there is no cause for complaint. At the time of writing there is still much doubt and uneasiness in the United States, owing to the uncertainity as to the outcome of the silver rebate. Money is more plentiful there, owing to a resumption of confidence in the bankers, but enterprise is still in a waiting attitude and capital is very cautious. No immediate restoration of prosperity in that country need be looked for. The silver question must be settled and the tariff charges thoroughly fixed and understood before confidence will be fully restored. And when confidence has returned, it will take some time to repair the disaster caused by the great panic.

Pork and its products, are very high. The decline in the Canadian cattle trade is offset by a very profitable season for dairying industry. Good crops have blessed the farmers of these provinces and of Canada at large. West India trade is opening up fairly well. The fishermen of the provinces have had an average catch in the majority of instances, and they have the advantage of active markets for their product. The steamer which sailed last week for the West Indies with general cargo from St. John and Halifax, was compelled to leave a large amount of freight behind at both places. Trade with the islands is unquestionably growing

A Montreal despatch of the 21st says the first boat of Malpeques arrived yesterday and were sold at $2.50, although the hand picked brought $3. As these figures a brisk trade was done yesterday.
