Recommendations of St. Thomas Inspector Call For Improved Kindergartens

COST WILL BE $10,000

Indorses Introduction of Religious Teachings and Advises Musical Classes.

[Special to London Advertiser.]

ST. THOMAS, Jan. 17.—Among many recommendations for improvements and changes in the public schools of the city embodied in the annual report of Inspector J. A. Taylor, which has been presented to the board of education, is an urgent plea for more modern accommodation in the Wellington and Balaclava Schools, and increased accommodation in the Balaclava and Myrtle Kindergartens.

Some means must be devised, he claimed, to deaden the sound in the floors of the Wellington and Balaclava Schools.

"The claims of the children for adequate accommodation are paramount," he stated. "These improvements are urgently required; they have been postponed for a number of years. The obligation is as binding on the boards to provide this accommodation, as it is on the parents to send their children to school. While the board is procrastinating hundreds of children are passing beyond the boundary line of opportunity.

Only $10,000 Required.

"Ten thousand dollars would modernize the accommodation. Debentures could be issued for ten years for this amount. The annual payment at 6 per cent would be only $1,358.

One hesitates to suggest, much less recommend, the erection of new buildings, but the conditions in Balaclava and Myrtle Kindergartens, which obtained in 1916, still remain, and there is no justification for the continuation of these conditions. In Balaclava Kindergarten there are 110 pupils, and in Myrtle 85. These numbers will be increased greatly at Easter. No further accommodation is available at Balaclava, while the sanitary conditions at Myrtle are insufficient for even the present attendance.

"A comprehensive scheme of increased accommodation should provide relief for these two kindergartens. Myrtle Kindergarten is nothing but an eyesore. It is unsightly, insanitary, unventilated and poorly lighted, and should be replaced by a two or four-roomed building, the rooms so arranged as to form an auditorium when necessary. A similar building should be erected at Balaclava.

"A system such as mentioned would take care of any increased attendance for years. Manitoba and Elmdale Schools are crowded, and they are the only schools which can give relief to Balaclava and Myrtle. The including of increased accommodation in these two latter schools in the propaganda for a technical school would strengthen the agitation."

Urges Larger Playgrounds.

The inspector also recommended enlarging the playgrounds at Manitoba School, replacing old and obsolete desks with new ones, the installation of electric lights in the schools, and equipping the rooms where necessary with slate or hyloplate blackboards.

Mr. Taylor expressed himself as highly in favor of musical instruction as an addition to the curriculum of the schools. He stated that no subject gets as little attention generally as does vocal training, despite the fact it was just as necessary in public schools as in Sunday schools. He believed that such teachings would prove a source of pleasure to the children, a counter-irritant to truancy, and of great value, physically, mentally, spiritually and intellectually. As a teacher of patriotism it was of as much importance as history or literature.

He recommended that a competent instructor, holding necessary departmental certificates, should be secured to teach singing in all the city schools.

The inspector recommended the introduction of religious teachings, and defended the cadet work in the schools.
