ONTARIO EXPORTING FUEL.

With Coal Dear, Welland Supplies Buffalo With Natural Gas.

Editor World: Premier Ross now poses as a protectionist in the hope of stemming the tide that is about to engulf him. If he is in earnest, why has he allowed Americans to take all the gas from the Welland gas fields and export itto Buffalo for years? The people have petitioned against this injustice time and again, and still it has not been stopped. Had these gas fields been held for use in Canada, Lincoln, Welland and adjoining counties would have had sufficient fuel for 100 years or more, both for manufacturing and domestic purposes, instead of depending on American coal. An order-in-council, even at this late date, preventing the gas pipes from crossing the chain reserve would save considerable suffering this winter, with coal at $8 to $10 per ton, and not available at that. When the people of these counties are freezing beside empty stoves, they will know where to place the blame for their misery, and it is not likely that they will feel like blessing the government that has forced them, by neglect, to endure such privations. By giving this space in your widely circulated paper in these counties you will confer a great favor on a long-suffering community. Niagara Falls.

MURDERS IN AUSTRALIA.

Salvation Army Convert Confesses to Three—Son's Evidence.

Melbourne, Sept. 29.—At a Salvation Army meeting, held at West Gunnedah, New South Wales, last Wednesday, an elderly man named Edward Purcell confessed that he had committed three murders in Queensland. Afterwards he repeated his statement before three witnesses and was then arrested.

Purcell declared that 28 years ago while at Adavale in company with a man named Burns, he shot a half-caste named John Nicholls, and subsequently killed Burns because he feared he might betray him. He also shot one Williams at Bullaroi 10 years ago.

At Dandenong, Victoria, another crime is engaging the attention of the police. The body of a man named Sangal, terribly mutilated, was recovered from a well. Constables found the bedroom which had been occupied by the deceased and his wife bespattered with blood, and an ineffectual attempt had been made to remove the stains with water.

David Sangal, the eldest son of the murdered man, has deposed that on a certain Friday night he heard the sound of blows and struggling in his parents' room. His father was calling faintly, "Dave, Dave! come to me!" but his mother stood in the doorway and would not let him in. The blows were repeated, and then silence followed, until he heard a sound as of something being dragged out of the room.

In the morning his mother told him to get a scrubbing brush and wash some blood stains off the wall and floor and the verandah and the edge of the well.

Mrs. Sangal and a Finn named Tisler, an employe of her husband, whom she has accused of the crime, have been arrested on a charge of wilful murder.

At Captains Flat, New South Wales, the body of a squatter named Ranken, who was found dead last June near a wire fence with his rifle hanging to it by the trigger, has been exhumed, as there are strong suspicions of murder. Doctors declare that the two bullet wounds in the head could not have been self-inflicted.

MANY BALLOTS, NO RESULT

Hamilton Council Spends a Night Trying to Elect a New Chief Engineer.

SELECTION PUT OFF TILL OCTOBER 27

Next Year's Council Recommended to Build New Wing for Home for Incurables.

Hamilton, Sept. 29.—The most important business before the City Council to-night was the selection of a chief engineer, to succeed Engineers Wingate and Barrow. The aldermen started on the task between 10.30 and 11 o'clock, and at midnight the fight was still on. The special committee did nothing more than report the names of the applicants and recommended to the Council that a bylaw be introduced naming an engineer.

A bylaw for the construction of certain cement walks was also before the Council, and the two bylaws were considered in Committee of the Whole. The fighters were foxy and from the first each side tried to wear out the other.

Nominations were taken by the chairman, with the following result: W. F. Vanbuskirk, Rossland, 1; E. H. Blockley, Hamilton, 1.

Then Ald. TenEyck moved that the committee rise and report, but it was lost. Another round of voting was then indulged in, with this result: W. M. Davis, Berlin, 4; A. D. McNabb, Chatham, 3; W. M. Scott, Charlottetown, 1. Ald. Findlay and Thompson moved that the committee rise, but the motion was defeated.

After a few minutes delay the real voting began, on the three men most in the swim, with the following result: Tyrrell, 7 for, 11 against; Barrow, 6 for, 14 against; Wingate, 8 for, 12 against. Ald. Morden then moved for a recommendation, but a vote of 9 to 11 defeated it.

Ald. Stewart wanted the opportunity to make a second nomination, and Ald. Waddell moved that the clause respecting the name be reconsidered. Neither was acted on, and to get the aldermen out of a tangle, Mayor Hendrie moved that the committee rise and report the cement walks bylaw, and ask leave to sit again on the engineer bylaw. This was agreed to, and the aldermen waded into the matter again. More nominations were made, but no majority was received, and, finally, Ald. Morden nominated J. W. Tyrrell again. The vote stood 9 for, 10 against.

As a settlement was apparently hopeless, it was decided to adjourn until Oct. 27, altho it is possible a special meeting of the Council may be held before then.

Referred to Special Committee.

Mayor Hendrie laid before the Council the report of the special committee. It was sealed, and he advised that it be not made public, but the whole subject be referred to a special committee, consisting of Ald. Kerr, Domville, Burkholder, Nicholson, Dunn, Morden and Beggar, and the Mayor, they to enter into an agreement with a telephone company for a franchise, subject to the Council's concurrence.

New Wing for House of Refuge.

There was considerable discussion on the committee reports. The House of Refuge Committee recommended that next years Council set aside an appropriation to erect a wing to the Refuge for Incurables. This was agreed to. The Fire and Water Committee's recommendation respecting water for the Deering and Otis factories, was referred for the whole matter of water supply to manufacturing concerns to be fully looked into. The special committee on the carters' stand recommended that the stand be on Jackson-street between Hughson and Catharine-streets. There was a lot of kicking and the report was lost.

Good Roads Bylaw.

At 7.45 the aldermen met Warden Binkley and county representatives, who asked the City Father's to aid them in passing the Good Roads Bylaw, to be voted on in the county next month. This could be done, they said, by the city taking off the outside fees on Central Market, leaving those for the butter building and weigh scales, and making the John-street market fee 10 cents. The county men were assured the request would be given full consideration by the Finance Committee.

Asylum Annual Sports.

The annual sports of the officials and patients of the Hamilton Asylum took place this afternoon under the directions of Drs. Russell, Beemer, Webster, Wilson, and Messrs. James Slater, James Thomson and J. Harbiston. A long program of sports was run off. A feature of the day was a half-mile run for attendants, won by Jacob Rielry. He did the distance in 2 minutes 12 seconds.

Big New Freight Sheds.

It is announced to-day that the G. T. R. has taken over the options of the property between Cannon and Barton-streets, which were secured some weeks ago by the Magee-Walton Coal Company. The property is to be added to the Cannon-street yard of the railway company, and on it will be built immense freight sheds. The sheds will be 300 feet long. The old sheds now in the Cannon-street yard will be torn down to make room for new tracks and switches, and the old freight sheds at the Stuart-street Depot will be abandoned. Plans for the new sheds are being prepared by the company's architect.

When the new sheds are built all the local freight business will be done from the Cannon-street yard, saving a long haul for most of the freight.

It is understood that the company intends laying a third track thru the city on its main line, so the traffic can be handled quicker.

Minor Mention.

There will be a meeting of the Haldimand Old Boys' to-morrow night, at 8 o'clock, in the Board of Trade rooms. It is expected that every Haldimand old boy will be there.

Try Noble's new restaurant. ed

It is expected the arbitrators' award in connection with the Electrical Workers' trouble will be signed to-day and will be taken up in the morning.

Thomas Crerar, son of the Crown Attorney, is seriously ill. Typhoid fever is feared.

The Dundas Fair was opened to-day. To-morrow is the big day.

The company which owns the Britannia Ball Park intends taking in about 300 feet more ground, enlarging the park northward and westward.

"Try Noble's Top Barrel." ed

The Swift Packing Company formally took over the Fowler Company to-day.

The body of William Griffith, who was drowned near Newcastle, arrived here to-day. The funeral took place this afternoon at 5 o'clock, Rev. W. H. Wade officiating.

A. C. Secord of Fonthill, who is wanted here on a charge of forgery, preferred by Allan Bros., Parland and others, was brought here by Detective Coulter to-day.

John Cheeseman was arrested to-night on a warrant charging him with interfering with P. C. Beetles last Saturday night.

At 11 o'clock to-night the police raided a house kept by Rose Palmer, on Ellen-street, and took Rose to the cells.

MYSTERY SHROUDS MURDER

No New Light So Far on the Crime Committed Last Week at Chippewa.

OFFICERS MAY KNOW SOMETHING

They Held a Secret Meeting Monday Night—The Inquest is Adjourned.

Niagara Falls, Sept. 29.—The mystery surrounding the murder of Mrs. Franks at Chippewa deepens, altho there is a supposition that the authorities have a clue, for the officers who are engaged upon the case held a secret conference to-night, and there was afterwards a suggestion that something was in the wind.

Coroner McGarry resumed the inquest to-day, and the Crown was represented by T. D. Cowper of Welland. Drs. McGarry and Gray submitted a report of the result of the autopsy, which described, in detail, the wounds which caused the unfortunate woman's death. The doctors also testified that there were evidences of a criminal assault.

Stranger Was Seen.

Other witnesses were examined, but the only new light thrown upon the tragedy was in the evidence of Mrs. James Office, who swore she saw a stranger lurking around the house of Mrs. Franks on the evening preceding the murder. She described the man, and said he left two other men some distance down the stone road, which leads to Drummondville. On the night of the murder she heard three distinct bangs from the direction of Mrs. Franks' house.

Constable Lymburner corroborates the statement of Mrs. Office, as far as the stranger is concerned, for he saw the man on the street and told him to leave the town, because he did not like his appearance and demeanor.

Mrs. Office lives about 400 feet east of the house in which Mrs. Franks was murdered.

What Do They Know?

At the afternoon session of the inquest Crown Attorney Cowper asked to have the inquest adjourned until Tuesday, Oct. 7, which was granted. From the evidence so far adduced not a scintilla of a clue of who the murderer was can be traced.

This evening Constable Lymburner and Undertaker McKenzie of Chippewa came to town and hunted up Chief Mains. The three men had a closeted conversation, lasting some 20 minutes. Lymburner and McKenzie then went to Chippewa. Chief Mains was asked if anything was doing, and he said: "No." When asked what Constable Lymburner was doing down town, he replied: "Never mind, will see you later." The inference is that the constable has got some information thru the offices of the undertaker, who prepared Mrs. Franks' remains for burial.

The linemen of the Toronto Railway Company, who went out on strike for a short time on Saturday, have settled with the company.

HAS THE COMBINE DESIGNS?

Big Projected United States Packing Company May Be After the Canadian Market.

ENLARGEMENT OF PLANT IN P.E.I.

Is Looked Upon as Significant—The Government May Aid the Undertaking.

Montreal, Sept. 29.—(Special.)—Rattenbury's packing plant at Charlottetown is, it appears, to be enlarged and carried on under the name of the Dominion Packing Company, of which Messrs. B. F. Pearson and Wiley are the promoters. An expert has been secured from Armours at Chicago, and it is understood that the Prince Edward Island government will aid the undertaking.

The World a few days ago published an item indicating that the Swifts of Chicago were at work in Prince Edward Island, and the above despatch may, or may not, mean that the projected United States meat packing combine has designs on the Canadian trade. An official notice in the last Canada Gazette contained the following item:

"The Dominion Packing Company, Limited, Montreal, Que.: $1,000,000. R. D. McGibbon, T. C. Casgrain, E. F. Surveyer, Douglas Armour and Montague Miller."

This gives the capitalization of and the names of gentlemen connected with the P.E.I. undertaking.

Mascagni Has Sailed.

Stewart Houston received a telegram yesterday from Mittenthal Bros. & Kronberg, New York, to the effect that Mascagni had sailed on Saturday last by the North German Lloyd steamer, and will arrive on Friday. He will give his first operatic production in New York on Oct. 8, and will come to Toronto on Oct. 30.

PASTORAL PLAY AT GRAND

"York State Folks," By Arthur Sidman, is Pure, Wholesome and Good.

GRACE CAMERON OPERA COMPANY

Gives a Charming Presentation of "A Normandy Wedding"—The Local Theatres.

"York State Folks," a pastoral comedy, was given its first presentation in Toronto at the Grand on Monday night. It was greeted and approved by a large audience, but for the remainder of the week it should play to standing room only. From the moment the curtain goes up disclosing "the settin' room in the home of Myron Cooper and his sister at Martinsville, N.Y., one Saturday night, just after supper," until it falls finally on the happy adjustment of the trials which have arisen, there is nothing but what is pure and wholesome and good in its entertaining qualities. "York State Folks" was written by the late Arthur Sidman, well-known to local lovers of vaudeville, with the intention of himself assuming the role of Myron Cooper, the old organist and organ builder. His untimely death rendered it necessary to secure another, and the choice fell on Ray L. Royce, who is also favorably known here in vaudeville. No better selection could have been made, and the plaudits which were showered upon him and his most excellent supporting company were a just tribute to a beautiful presentation of a beautiful play.

The story revolves around the quarrel that arises between Myron Cooper and his best friend, Simon Peter Martin, richest man in the town, thru a difference of opinion as to whether a railroad shall run thru the place or not. Simon Peter is unalterably opposed to it, and in his blind rage, when it is decided to have the road, he quarrels with Myron and orders his son Frank engaged to Myron's niece, to break the engagement. Frank gets into trouble, and Myron lends him money collected by him as village taxes, and thru a mistake of time is unable to make up the deficiency when demanded by the town officials. There is a stormy scene and Simon Peter threatens to have Myron arrested, when he is stricken with heart failure, and the commotion caused is explained to those who rush in as having been caused by "Simon Peter" having solved the "pigs in clover" puzzle, which is then the rage. Frank ultimately is forced to choose between his home and his sweetheart. He goes away. Four months later Simon Peter, totally changed in his bearing, for the railroad has after all brought him increased wealth, seeks a reconciliation at his son's wedding.

Ray L. Royce as Myron Cooper, and James Lackaye as Simon Peter Martin fairly divide the honors in their splendid enactment of these parts. In every particular are they supported by a company of exceptional talent. There is a large cast of characters, most of them "types" of the different people to be met with around the village. Among those who shared liberally in the applause were Randolph Currie, as Frank Martin; Osborne Searle, a favorite of the Valentine Stock Co., as Hal Murdock, Ernest Lamson, as the jealous Lem Dunbart; Marie Falls, as pretty Jenule Miller; Mrs. Sidman, as charming Lameline, and Sadie and Jack, the two children without whom no pastoral play is complete.

The staging is on a grand scale. The view in "Maple Lane" by night is particularly pretty, and there is a love-scene that is a genuine treat. The interior of Simon Peter's wagon works is also a fine scenic effect.

The final tableau, showing the interior of a church and a full choir of surpliced boys singing, took the house by storm.

Grace Cameron Opera Co.

The Grace Cameron Opera Company, presenting the comic opera, "A Normandy Wedding," opened a three-night engagement at the Princess Monday night. The production is comic opera in the strictest sense, with catchy lyrics and bright music. The scenery is good and the chorus fair.

Grace Cameron, who was last seen here with the Foxy Quiller Company, is a very clever little actress, upon whom the whole plot devolves. Thruout she maintains the character of an ignorant goose-girl of Normandy perfectly. She possesses a good voice, and was called to repeat many numbers which were readily taken up by the audience. Harry Brown, the leading comedian, was also well received.

Arthur Dunn at Shea's.

That clever comedian, Arthur Dunn, who delighted theatregoers as the principal mirth maker in "The Messenger Boy," is doing the vaudeville houses with his sister in a bright sketch of the same name. There is not much of Dunn, his proportions not being ample, but he is genuinely funny, hence the patrons of Shea's who saw him Monday were pleased beyond expression. Mr. Dunn finds himself in good company, the bill including the Rixfords, acrobats; Kelly and Kent, song and dance; Dooley, black face comedian; Mr. and Mrs. Perkins Fisher, in a rural sketch, "The Half Way House," seen here before; Elizabeth Knight, who sings "Annie Laurie" sweetly; Fields and Wolley, German comedians; Hacker and Lister, trick cyclists. The sketch presented by the Fishers is amazingly good, and the cyclists are among the best in their line. The kinetograph pictures conclude the performance.

"The Man Who Dared."

At both performances at the Toronto Opera House on Monday, the S.R.O. sign was conspicuous. Howard Hall and Miss Vina Morris are the stars, and are ably supported. In one act Mr. Hall enters a cage where two lions are confined to secure the glove of his wife, and from which act the play derives its name. The play is well staged, especially the scenes at Monte Carlo and the gardens of the Chateau de Montford.

Good Program at the Star.

There is plenty to amuse those who visit the Star Theatre this week, the bill being fully up to the average. Chief among the entertainers are O'Brien and Lawrence, the tramp and the soubret. They are really splendid. The entertainment consists of burlettas on opening, and closing, and an olio of six numbers.

E. H. Sothern Coming.

The announcement is made that E. H. Sothern will appear at the Princess Theatre next week in "If I Were King." This will be the first presentation of Mr. McCarthy's successful drama in Toronto.

Massey Hall Opening.

Toronto is the first city visited by Duss, the great bandmaster, after his wonderfully successful season in New York, where he has played 126 consecutive nights to large and delighted audiences. After resting three days he will bring his entire band to Toronto to open the Massey Hall season on Friday and Saturday evening and Saturday afternoon. The band is composed of 60 pieces, and is identically the same as delighted New York, and there will be no less than six soloists. There is a great deal of interest over the coming of this band maestro. The sale of seats begins at Massey Hall to-morrow.
