THE EQUITY COURT.

More About the Cotton Mills Case.

This morning His Honor, Mr. Justice Palmer, requested the presence of all parties interested in this case, as he wished to say something to them. The counsel in the case present were Dr. Stockton, C. W. Weldon, Q. C., R. C. Skinner, A. H. Hanington, A. P. Barnhill and W. A. Ewing.

His Honor referred to the impression which had got abroad and which was an erroneous one that the trial of this cause was being delayed. So far as he was concerned, he thought all parties would bear him out in saying he had always endeavored to get the thing along as fast as possible. He was determined there should be no delay, whatever other impression may exist. He desired to say that his health is breaking down and he must go away for a few days. His physician says he must take some rest from his arduous duties, it is absolutely imperative he should do so, and if he does not then he works at the risk of his life. He did therefore purpose going away on next Monday evening but he was determined that public justice should not suffer and if they were ready to proceed with the matter—the case was partly through, there was not much else to be done—he would hear them, or if they would all let him go, and they preferred it, he would invite either Mr. Justice King or Mr. Justice Tuck to take the case up and proceed with it to a close. Unless the parties want to go on at once he would adjourn the court. He would perfer the matter disposed of as quickly as possible and is determined that so far as the court is concerned there will be no complaint on the ground of delay. If the parties would let him know he would even consent to wait over a day or two in order to close it, no matter what the risk might be to himself personally.

Mr. Belyea explained that Dr. Barker had been suddenly called to Ottawa last night and that he would wire him today and ascertain if possible when he would be able to return.

Mr. Weldon, said as His Honor was aware he had taken no part in the trial of the matter, that Dr. Barker was the counsel, that while he knew he was going away he had no idea he was going last night. He would telegraph him today on the subject.

Judge Palmer said—He would appoint any day the parties would agree upon, and in answer to a question by Mr. Trueman, said he would probably not return till the next sitting of the court. He asked them in kindness to him to let him get away, and he wanted them and everyone else to understand he was not shirking his duty in anyway but he wanted to be treated with humanity. It was finally agreed to set the matter down for Saturday next at 10.30 o'clock, with the understanding the matter would be adjourned. It was also understood that Mr. Belyea would give notice of this arrangement to all the parties to the suit who were not present today or their representatives, and at the same time let them know whether the plaintiffs would be ready to proceed on that day.

In re Andrews et al vs Smith et al, on motion of Mr. A. A. Wilson it was ordered today that Sarah Thompson widow of the late John S. Thompson be given one twentieth of the proceeds of the purchase money of the property, for release of her dower.

In re Wright et al, vs Wright et al, which was an application to set aside a trust deed and permit a mortgage to be given to realize an income for infant children. On motion of Mr. A. O. Earle it was ordered that the affidavit on behalf of the infants be read and filed. His Honor appointed Mr. H. W. Frith, as guardian of the infant children, he to furnish two sureties in $1000 each, to be approved of by Mr. Philip Palmer.

MORE THAN A TINGE OF ROMANCE.

A Young St. John Lady Who Will be Married at an Early Date.

There are some people who believe that the days of romance are over although this belief is often receiving contradictions in fact. It is seldom, however, that the romantic strikes a little commonplace city like St John, but when it does, the non-believers and scoffers have occasion to open their eyes in amazement, and their ears too, for the purpose of learning all the details and intricacies of what never fails to prove a most interesting case. The latest sensational affair of this kind here, is not yet quite completed, but it will be within a few days and a genuine case of bone fide romance it is.

In the Sailors' Home, on St. James street, are to be seen all the various types of mariners, including the sometimes handsome, always happy, British Jack. And many ladies find that they can do much good to the sailor by visiting the home, now and then. They instruct the hardy mariner, in a scriptural way; sing to him a loud resounding song of praise, and talk pleasantly of anything that he is willing to talk about. The inmates of the home could not get along without these visits now, for the ladies always leave a pleasant impression behind them, and are welcome when they come again. The visitors include young ladies, too, and it is not long ago that the daughter of a well known gentleman of this city met at the home, a sailor to whom she was not only attracted by sympathy but by a higher and a noble feeling, and the feeling was reciprocated. The inevitable result followed when the engagement was made known—the family objected, but the daughter of the house prevailed in a very decided manner. She was of age, of a spirited disposition, and decided in a matter so important. She was bound to marry her sailor lover, and is now on her way to England where he is to meet her, and where they will be married.

The Main Street Pavement.

The work of block laying on the continuation of the Main street pavement was commenced again this morning for the first this spring. The sleepers for the flooring of the pavement are now laid on the lower side of the street up to McArthur's book store to which point the paving will be finished clear across the street as quickly as possible. The portion of the street from that point to Simonds street will be left till the work of excavating Fort Howe rock to widen the street opposite Orange corner is completed. In the meantime the work of block-laying will be commenced again above the head of Sheriff street and be continued both ways as fast as the excavators can get the roadway ready. A good deal of excavating has already been done.

HIS OCCUPATION GONE.—At a meeting of the laborer's society a few evenings ago it was decided that the salary paid to Secretary Brennan was too extravagant, and that it would be advisable to dispense with his services. The society's offer of a smaller salary was refused by Mr. Brennan. He is therefore no longer connected with that body. "Othello's occupation is gone."

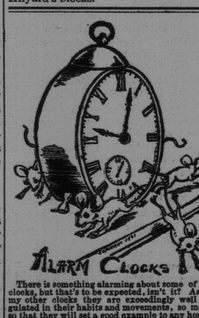
Cut to the Water's Edge.

The schooner Hunter, in tow of two tugs, the Hercules ahead and the Lily alongside, started to go through the falls this morning. Just below the falls they collided with the woodboat Llewellyn, which was sailing down. The Lily struck the woodboat in the bows cutting her to the water's edge. The Llewellyn, which was laden with wood filled and sank. The Lily drifted back under the Hunter's stern, and had her rails and stanchions broken. Owing to the delay, caused by the collision, and the length of the Hunter's masts, she could not be taked through, and was brought back to Hilyard's blocks.



There is something alarming about some of my clocks, but that's to be expected, isn't it? As to my other clocks they are exceedingly well regulated in their habits and movements, so much so that they will set a good example to any household. But there's no necessity for a lecture on clocks—they speak for themselves. They range in price anywhere from $1.75 to $250.00. It will certainly pay you to spend a few of your spare minutes in examining my fine stock of watches, clocks, silver ware and fine gold and silver plated Jewelry. Respectfully yours

W. TREMAINE GARD,
Goldsmith and Jeweller,
