Report of The Ladies Association.

At this the third Annual meeting of "The Ladies' Association of St. Bonaventure's," it affords us great pleasure to congratulate the Association on the undoubted success attending its efforts in the past year. The various means devised for the raising of funds during the year received the heartiest and most active cooperation of all the members.

At the formation of this society, while the members were filled with enthusiasm for the work, we pledged ourselves to contribute at least one thousand dollars annually to the building fund of the college. To the surprise and delight of even the most enthusiastic of our own workers, when the annual meeting day came, we were in a position to present the President of the college with a cheque for two thousand dollars. And at our next meeting we again contributed two thousand dollars.

We are pleased to inform you that for the third time we have been fortunate enough to raise the necessary funds. And to-day the President will formally present the President of the college with a cheque for two thousand dollars, making a total of six thousand dollars presented by the Ladies' Association since its inception

A celebrated educationalist writing on colleges in a leading magazine of recent date says:

"We have many things calling to us for attention, various charities appealing to us, institutions of one kind and another appeal to us for support. But while these institutions are for the alleviation of poverty, for the care of the sick, for needs which are local, a college is not only for the present but for the future, a workshop of character, a fosterer of priestly vocations and a well-spring of inspiration for the whole diocese. If we are to have men to carry our banners, if influence will be beneficial to both church and state, we must have a college manned and equipped according to present day requirements. To permit a college to struggle on, ever on the rugged edge of starvation, is to lose ground. We must work and we must pray, and pray earnestly—but we must work. We fail if we work and do not pray, and likewise we fail if we do pray and do not work."

The new St. Bonaventure's College is a magnificent and enduring monument to all those who in any way have contributed to its erection, and when the debt is paid off and the college faces with renewed vigour the great problem confronting it, and when its usefulness to our Island home, reaches a stage that the most optimistic cannot now forsee, it will be a proud boast of the members of the Ladies' Association that they were not standing idle while the great work was in progress, but that they contributed in no small degree to the grand result.

Arrangements will be made for the celebration of two masses monthly, one for the living members, and one for the members deceased.

Your committee would again urge the necessity of enlarging the membership of the association, an extra effort should be made in induce ladies in the outports to join in the good work. The college is not for the benefit of the city alone, but for the good of the whole colony.

The thanks of the Association are due to those gentlemen who so ably assisted by their learned and interesting lectures in the Aula Maxima: His Grace The Archbishop, The Rev. Dr. Kitchen, M. W. Furlong, Esq., John Fenelon, Esq., and to the Premier, Sir Edward Morris, President of the Alumni Association who so graciously presided on each occasion.

Thanks are also due to the editors of the daily papers for their uniform kindness in seconding our efforts for higher education in Newfoundland by giving valuable notice free of charge. To the members of the Cadet Band, Messrs. Norris, Arthur Bulley, Darcey and Shortall, who furnished the music at the recent "At Home," and to Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Summers, for valuable assistance, always kindly and generously rendered.

In resigning the trust reposed in us for the past three years, we congratulate the Association on the unanimity good feeling existing in its ranks, and we prophesy even greater success in the coming year.

We sincerely thank each and every member for the unfailing courtesy and active cooperation shown us during our term of office.

Respectfully submitted,
MAY CARROLL, Hon. Secretary.

Gloucester Puts On War Paint.

Special to Evening Telegram.
GLOUCESTER, This morning.

The flags of the fishing crafts in Gloucester Harbor will be flown half-mast, Union down, to signalize the sentiments of the owners regarding the provisions of the proposed Reciprocity Treaty, putting Canadian Fish on the Free List.

Opposition to this clause in the Treaty was inaugurated at a joint meeting of the master marners and the Fish Producers' Association, at which the speakers declared that Gloucester must fight the battle of self preservation.

Press Comment on Reciprocity Agreement

Special Evening Telegram.
LONDON, This morning.

Few papers comment on the Reciprocity Agreement between the United States and Canada. The Morning Post says the American Government will rejoice at having forced open the door a little way, thereby obtaining leverage to force it further open. President Taft, expresses, as clearly as diplomatic caution will permit him, his conception of the Agreement as a prelude to some kind of further political union. The Daily Express says the new bargain strikes a deadly blow at the comfortable pretensions of British Free Traders, and puts forward the hope that a treaty with one o' Britain's trade rivals may do the Empire invaluable service by demonstrating to the Mother Country the necessity of a power to negotiate.

Technical Education.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—Apropos of the recent discussion in your columns concerning the subject of technical education, the following information may be of interest to thoughtful readers:—

Some months ago the Government of the State of Massachusettes appointed a Commission on Industrial and Technical Education, to interview young men between the ages of 18 and 25 all over the State, and ascertain the average difference between the earnings of those with practical training alone, and those with technical training. The result was as follows:—

Age.	Practically Trained. Per Week.	Technically Trained. Per Week.
18	$7.00	$10.00
19	8.50	15.00
20	9.50	15.00
21	9.50	16.00
22	11.50	20.00
23	11.75	21.00
24	12.00	23.00
25	12.75	31.00

It will thus be seen that, in Massachusetts, the average man without technical training is losing $18.25 per week, or over $900 a year in possible earnings. It would be interesting if our Government would take similar steps. The difference might not be so marked here, where industrical conditions are necessarily more restricted, but there can be little doubt that the apathetic attitude which is taken by a lot of our young men towards this subject is causing a tremendous loss to themselves, their families, and the country.

If the Government would take steps to enquire into local industrial conditions, with a view to more widely encouraging technical education for the masses, I believe that the majority of our local manufacturing establishments would not be working on short time, as they are to-day, because the increased efficiency of the workmen would make possible the production of goods which would stand comparison, in the open market, with anything that can be imported.

Such a condition of affairs would assuredly mean much to the future of Newfoundland

Yours faithfully,
RICHARD C. POWER.

Delaney Talks to Tucker on the Funny Side of This Town.

There's an old saying, says Delaney, "live horse and you'll get grass," and this is a great country, a great country entirely for trying to keep up people's spirits. 'Tis fine, too, to have such people in our midst, for 'tis a fine thing to get out of your bed on a cold morning, Tucker, and to be able to read in the papers that we are going to have glue factories when it gets nice and warm. You, know, Tucker 'tis no good to talk about things that might be done right away, no good at all. You can never keep up people's spirits like that. Talk about things that will make the people glad and proseperous when it gets fine and warm, and when it gets fine and warm talk about things that are going to come when it gets cold. That is the way, Tucker, to drag along the people like you'd coax a sulky horse along by holding out an armful o' hay a long way off; never let the horse catch up with the hay, nor never let the people come close up to the promised land.

Our papers now, too, Tucker, are talking all kinds of talk about cleaning up the town, and it ten below zero, they'll stop talking, though, as soon as we have a good free thaw. That's no good, you know, to talk cleaning when you can do some cleaning and preach cleaning when everything is frozen up good and hard. As soon as the sun comes out start in talking anything but cleaning up the town, that's the wrong time to talk for the people might say why don't ye start in and do it; but now that it is good and cold no one expects you to be able to do it, so the papers are pretty sure they can talk away and we'll get nothing done.

Talk about bringing a theatrical troupe to this country, Tucker, why 'tis overdoing the thing, you don't want any imported amusements in this man's town, there's barrels of fun on all sides of ye, if ye can only see it.

The Ruth Missing.

The Norwegian schr. Ruth loaded 160 tuns of cod oil at Job Bros. and left for Liverpool with the cargo on December 6th last, since which time no word has been heard of her. She is now 52 days on the run and the general impression is that the vessel foundered in a storm and went to bottom with her hapless crew, who with the captain numbered 6 hands all told. Job Bros. had a wire from Liverpool on Monday saying that the vessel had not turned up. Terrific weather has been the experience of vessels crossing the Atlantic, and no doubt the Ruth met her fate in one of the violent storms which assailed other vessels. She went to Labrador early last fall but could not secure a cargo of cod, and on returning here was chartered to load oil by Job Bros.

Astray in the Woods.

J. Andrews, of 85 McFarlane Street, who went in the woods in the vicinity of George's Pond last Wednesday to tend his rabbit snares, lost his way when the snow storm came on and wandered about till his clothing was torn in rags and he himself was exhausted. Not returning at a late hour his grandfather and brother went in to look for him. They met him coming out hardly able to walk. He had left his slide in the woods. After he reached home and stimulants were given him he recovered and is now all right.

Indigestion & Dyspepsia

In all its Forms can be Cured.

It is quite a daily occurrence to hear persons say: Oh, what a feeling of distress I have after meals, fullness of the stomach, heaviness and headache, I feel too tired to do anything. I have no heart to exert myself and at times I care for nothing. I often have a pain in the pit of my stomach, no appetite, my heart beats rapidly on the slightest exertion. I feel just as tired when rising in the morning as when retiring to bed. My sleep is often disturbed, and I often awake with a sense of suffocation and a difficulty of again going to sleep. I have to be careful of what I eat, and my life seems a veritable burden.

Now, it seems a shame and a pity for persons to be suffering like that when it is in their power to get cured by taking a Bottle of Dr. Stafford's Prescription A. A sure cure for persons afflicted with stomach troubles. It can be obtained at Nfld. Mutual Insurance Meeting.

Heavy Ice North.

Just before the Prospero left Greenspond the light keeper at Cape Bauld, Mr. Fontain, sent a letter to people of that place saying that the shore there was packed with heavy ice, but that the N. W. winds of the past few days had canted it off the coast. The weather is colder than for any time during the past five years. Old seals are very scarce there, at Quirpon and neighbourhood and along the Straits. The snowfall to-date has been very light.

Arrived Yesterday.

The Bruce express arrived here at 3 p.m. yesterday after a run of 2 hours from Port aux Basques. Several passengers come and they report very cold weather across country. The track, however, is clear of snow, and up to date this winter there has been little if any use for the rotary plows.

Their schooners are laying up here for the winter and in the early spring they will return for them. It was too late in the season to bring them north as there would be danger of their being caught in the ice and lost.
