LOCAL MARKET.

London, Tuesday, March 3.

The attendance at the market this morning was not large, and with the exception of hay there was a light supply of other farm products. There was no noticeable change in prices from those paid on Saturday. Sales were brisk, with the exception of hay.

Grain—There were nearly 20 loads of oats offered, and prices are firm, at 92c to 93c per cental, mostly at the last-named figure.

Hay and Straw—The supply of hay was very large, there being 45 loads on the stand, and at 11:30 o'clock two-thirds of the loads were unsold; prices were lower, at $9 for choice, $8 for medium and $6 50 to $7 for inferior hay. Straw was also in large supply and sales slow, as per quotations.

Butter and Eggs—The supply in this line was small, and not enough offered to warrant a change in price; grocers did not seem anxious to buy eggs, as they expect a drop in prices.

Potatoes—There were four large loads and several smaller loads offered; prices were steady, at $1 20 to $1 30, the latter price for single bags.

Apples were plentiful and sales slow at prices quoted.

Poultry—There was a very light supply, mostly held by hucksters, at the prices quoted.

Dressed Hogs—There were, all told, about 30 carcases on sale; prices were lower, at $7 25 to $7 50 per 100 pounds.

Butchers' Meats—Sales were slow and former prices prevailed.

CHICAGO.

Chicago, March 2.—Wheat—There was something of an improvement in the wheat situation early in the session, when the May price picked up about ½c on larger decrease in the visible supply than was expected—1,147,000 bu, as compared with a falling off last week of 1,800 bu. The visible now stands at 47,808,000 bu, as compared with 54,093,000 bu. There was a price recession of about ⅜c from the low point on a falling off in business, although the closing was quotably steady. The principal markets made a fair showing on wheat receipts, the three points reporting 463 cars, against 502 cars last year. Cars for tomorrow, 35.

Corn was a decidedly firm market early in the session, the May price up from 46⅞c to 47¾c. This was mainly on a good trade on the buying side of May, a visible decrease of 262,000 bu, as compared with a decrease last week of 9,000 bu, and unusually large clearances. Local selling in the way of profit-taking brought about a late reaction of about ⅜c, the late market ruling about this distance above Saturday's closing figures. Cars for tomorrow, 475.

Oats—There were few features in oats, the tone of the market being generally steady at about Saturday's price. Country acceptances on Saturday bids were reported on a slightly larger scale. Cars for tomorrow, 160.
