FOUGHT TO A FINISH.

Paris, Aug. 15.—The Count of Turin and Prince Henri of Orleans fought a duel with swords at 5 o'clock this morning in the Bois de Marechaux Vancresson. M. Leontieff acted as umpire. The fighting was most determined and lasted 26 minutes.

There were five engagement of which two were at close quarters. Prince Henri received two serious wounds in the right shoulder and the right side of the abdomen. The Count of Turin was wounded in the right hand. Prince Henri was taken to the residence of Duc de Chartres and received medical attention.

It will be remembered that the prince was challenged on account of his strictures upon the conduct of the Italian soldiers in Abyssinia.

It says that in the first assault, Prince Henri was touched in the right breast, though the weapon did not penetrate beyond the subcutaneous cellular tissue. On the strength of the report of the doctors, the seconds decided that the combat must go on.

The second assault was stopped because the combatants came into close quarters.

In the third assault the Count of Turin was hit in the back of the right hand, but the weapon did not penetrate beyond the subcutaneous cellular tissue.

In the fourth assault, the umpire, Major Leontieff, declared that the sword of Prince Henri was bent, and stopped the engagement long enough to furnish his royal highness with a new weapon.

In the fifth assault the combatants again got into close quarters, and were immediately stopped. Prince Henri, in a counter blow, was hit in the right lower region of the abdomen. The doctors on both sides examined the wound and declared that Prince Henri was rendered by it clearly inferior to his antagonist.

Major Leontieff and M. Mourichon proposed that the combat be stopped, and this was done by common accord.

While his wound was being dressed, Prince Henri, raising himself upon the ground, extended his hand to the Count of Turin, saying: "Allow me, monseigneuer, to shake hands with you." The count extended his hand.

The physicians present were Dr. Toupet and Dr. Hartman on behalf of Prince Henri, and Dr. Carle on behalf of the Count of Turin. This account of the fighting was signed by the seconds.

The details of the duel show that the encounter was very sharp and determined. Immediately on the crossing of swords Prince Henri vigorously pressed his adversary. The Count of Turin retreated to the limit of the ground, and then, resuming the offensive, touched his opponent. The third and fourth assaults ended in long engagements within guard.

The Temps says that the wound in the abdomen of Prince Henri is serious but not alarming. Had the Count of Turin's steel gone half a centimeter deeper the intestines would have been perforated.

After his wound had received a preliminary dressing, Prince Henri walked to his carriage unaided. The Count of Turin, accompanied by his seconds, left Paris for Italy this afternoon. He was not experiencing any special distress from his wound.

KOREA'S PREMIER DYING.

He Is Consumptive and Bicycle Riding Has Done Him Up.

Mr. Soh is considered the most influential man of his country. Chim Pom Ye, the present Korean minister, and Prince Eni Wha, the son of the King of Korea, are constantly at his bedside. The king has been notified. Mr. Soh's appointment to the principal post in the country next to the throne was made last autumn, but his poor health has prevented his leaving to assume the office.

Train Hands Jumped.

Passenger Train on the C. P. R. Collides With a G. T. R. Freight.

Officials Say That No Person Was Hurt—The Line Blocked for Two Hours.

Toronto, Aug. 15.—Some anxiety was aroused Saturday morning among the C. P. R. officials at the Union Station by the receipt of a telegram from Port Credit, that the passenger train which left the city for the west had been in collision with the G. T. R. way freight No. 82 at that place. It appears that the freight train was upon a siding running from the main line and began to move while the C. P. R. train was passing in front of it. Both engines were badly damaged and two baggage cars of the passenger train were thrown off the track, one of them being seriously smashed. Fortunately the coaches were not touched. Engineer George Johnson and Conductor Maharg were in charge of the C. P. R. train. The former with his fireman jumped as soon as the engines approached each other, as also did the engineer and fireman of the freight train. Johnson, however, according to a report around the depot, received a cut in the face, though there is no official confirmation. Conductor Connors was in charge of the G. T. R. train. The officials of both lines state that nobody was injured, to their knowledge.

A BRANTFORD BURGLARY.

The T., H. and B. Station Safe Robbed of $500.

Brantford, Aug. 15.—On Friday night the T., H. and B. station at Brantford was entered by burglars, the safe blown open and $500 in cash belonging to the Michigan Central Railroad stolen.

The money was sent here Friday afternoon to pay the employes of the company. Instead of depositing the money in a bank, it was locked in the safe over night and left there without a watchman.

The burglary must have been the work, not of tramps, but of some persons who were aware of the arrival of the money, and where it was.

Detective Heenan was in Detroit when the news of the burglary was received. He at once left for Brantford to investigate.

As she reached him he shot her, and then turned the weapon against himself, the bullet entering the center of his forehead. Swyng was married and had a family in Eastern Canada.

Galt's Great Sensation.

The Body of the Missing Mrs. Orr Discovered.

Palpable Evidence of Foul Play Comes to Light.

The Partially Discomposed Remains Buried in a Six-inch Grave in a Cornfield.

Arrest of a Medical Student and a Hired Youth, on Suspicion of Being Implicated.

Special to The Advertiser.

Galt, Aug. 15.—What promises to be one of the most sensational affairs in the history of Galt was brought to light by the finding of the partially decomposed body of Mrs. Anthony Orr, whose sudden disappearance on Monday last caused much comment in the city, and has, since that time, been the chief topic of street gossip.

Chief of Police Ahern has been busy on the case, but up till this morning nothing transpired to warrant the arrest of anyone, upon whom, in the chief's mind, suspicion rested.

On Sunday last Mrs. Orr attended a funeral at her father-in-law's place, and as they considered Mrs. Orr was not just what she should be, they gave her the cold shoulder. On returning home Mrs. Orr mentioned to James Allison, the hired boy, "that she as be treated the way she was." Mr. Orr was away at the time, and Allison is the only one known to have been about the place. It is believed he knows more than he cares to tell, but he keeps silent, and refuses to talk about the matter. Allison is not over-intelligent, and when Mr. Orr returned, is alleged to have smiled and stated: "Oh, she's gone — run away, I guess." Mr. Orr paid little attention to this at the moment, but as time went on he became anxious concerning his wife's whereabouts and informed the police.

THE VICTIM.

Mrs. Orr was married twelve years ago. After eight years of married life, it is said she ran away with a man named Harvey Mulholland. She returned, however, and since that time had lived at home, at Dumfries, about two miles from Galt, with her husband and family, a girl of 9 years, a boy of 8, and a little girl about 18 months' old. Her long absence aroused suspicion, and the anxious husband and his people did all in their power to gain some clue to her whereabouts.

A MISSING GUN.

About the time she went away, a shotgun disappeared from the house, and this, too, could not be found. When questioned about this gun, Allison pleaded ignorance at first, but later stated to Mr. Orr that Mrs. Orr had brought out the gun to him and asked him to show her how to use it, which he did. He said she told him to put it back in its place again, and cautioned him not to say anything about it to her husband, adding: "If you do, I'll kill you." This gave rise to the rumor that Mrs. Orr had committed suicide, but no evidence could be found to bear out the conclusion. No gun and no marks of any kind could be found by which light might have been thrown upon the dark mystery. A searching party was then organized, in which the anxious husband took an active part.

A NEW-MADE GRAVE.

While prosecuting a search about the marsh in close proximity to his house Mr. Orr found a newly-dug grave in a very secluded spot, and he was anxious to know its significance. It was built in correct proportion for a grown person, and the only variance from an ordinary grave was the depth, which was but three feet.

This greatly puzzled all concerned, and Mr. Orr feared that possibly his wife had been murdered, and that some one had designs upon him. All day yesterday a diligent search failed to reveal the slightest trace, and the searching party was augmented by hundreds. Mr. John Orr, a brother-in-law, went to the house this morning, and left with others to renew the search. They went through the cornfield about 25 yards to the rear of the house. Here Mr. John Orr looked between the rows of corn and found which had been disturbed, but not apparently from the surface. This attracted his attention, and the spot was probed with sticks, which the party carried. The ground was soft and easily penetrated. His worst fears were realized, for his stick touched something which he felt sure was a body of some kind. It was hastily uncovered, and there lay with the head and shoulders badly battered and in a state of decomposition, only about six inches below the surface. From the appearance of the wounds they were thought to have been inflicted with the butt end of a gun or with a club, and a search was made for the missing weapon, which had been placed over a door sill in the barn.

A JURY EMPANNELED.

The coroner and police were notified; the news spread like wildfire, and before noon thousands of people gathered, curios to know the ins and outs of it all. The body was taken to the barn and a jury empanneled, who viewed the remains, and then adjourned until Wednesday night, when some startling developments are expected.

TWO ARRESTS.

James Allison, the hired boy, was immediately placed under arrest, as also was a medical student named Trevelyan, who claims to have been registered at McGill College, Montreal. They were locked up to await developments. The student's name has been coupled with that of Mrs. Orr, but he claims to be able to fully establish his innocence of any improper relations with the woman.

THE THEORY OF MURDER.

The theory advanced by some is that young Allison, who is alleged to have been intimate with Mrs. Orr, must have followed the woman outside and had an altercation with her, and becoming enraged, killed her with a club, and then placed the gun over the sill in the barn to divert suspicion from the guilty party. The party who committed the deed is supposed to have hastily buried the body for fear of discovery, and then dug another grave near the swamp, which was the one found by Mr. Orr. The finding of a shovel also bears out the theory of foul play.

PECULIAR LETTERS.

Among Mrs. Orr's effects in her room were letters signed "Henry Blair," with whom Mrs. Orr was well acquainted. Some of them referred to sums of money which had been advanced by him at various times to the unfortunate woman in a business way. Blair is said to have given Mrs. Orr a gold watch, and it is stated that after Mrs. Orr's disappearance he went to the house to get the timepiece from the little girl, but handed it back to Mr. Orr when the latter asked for it. Mr. Blair's visit to the house did not take place until after Mrs. Orr had gone.

Much sympathy is expressed for Mr. Orr and the children. The woman's body would probably never have been found if it not been discovered today. It had become greatly bloated, and this caused a slight rising in the shallow covering.

From noon until dark the scene of the tragedy has been constantly visited by thousands of people from the surrounding country, who come and go in constant streams.

Mrs. Orr was only 27 years old.

Diamonds Seized.

Customs Officers Take $6,000 Worth From a Traveler.

Suit Brought in Montreal to Recover $40,000 Worth of the Sparklers.

New York, N. Y. Aug. 14.—Richard Newbauer, a passenger on the Hamburg American Liner Furst Bismarck, was arrested before he set foot on shore for concealing $6,000 worth of diamonds in his clothing. Mr. Newbauer said he was a merchant of Hamburg, Germany, and had merely brought the jewels with him for safe keeping. The diamonds were confiscated, and Newbauer was held in $500 bail for trial.

Montreal, Aug. 14.—Alfred Eaves, jeweler, has taken proceedings against C. H. A. Grant, of the Montreal Watch Case Company, and the latter company to recover diamonds to the value of $11,000. The plaintiff alleges that in 1895 he handed the defendant $40,000 worth to be sold by contract. Returns, he claims, have not been made lately, hence the action. Mr. Grant says he will sue Eaves for damages.

BLINDED BY A HORSE'S TAIL.

Montclair, N. J., Aug. 15.—Edward M. Jackson, of Caldwell, was hitching up his horse yesterday morning, when the animal switched its tail around and struck Mr. Jackson in the face. Some of the hair entered Mr. Jackson's right eye, and the blow was so severe that the sight of that eye was destroyed.

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

Tariff Crusade Against Canadian and American Sportsmen.

Washington, Aug. 15.—Not content with levying additional taxes on merchandise imported from Canada the treasury department has undertaken a crusade against American and Canadian sportsmen who attempt to cross the line with their sporting paraphernalia. Hertofore it has been held that a Canadian sportsman might come into the United States with his shotgun or rifle, and that an American sportsman returning from Canada might bring with him, as personal effects, free of duty, a small canoe devoted to his personal use. The department has changed all this, and instructions have been sent to the Canadian ports that rifles and shotguns must pay duty if they are of foreign make, no matter who brings them in, and that foreign-built boats, no matter how small or to what purpose devoted, must pay duty every time they cross the line. It will be seen that the Dingley bill is being executed in a manner to discourage American citizens from leaving their own doorsteps, even for a little more fresh air.

LIGHTNING KILLS THOUSANDS OF SPARROWS.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 15.—Three trees on New Jersey avenue have been struck by lightning during a heavy thunder storm. The trees were the homes of uncountable sparrows, and thousands of the birds were killed. The street was covered with the dead sparrows.

AN ACTRESS BADLY BURNED.

New York, Aug. 15.—Bessie Jackson, a pretty soubrette, was so badly burned in her apartments on the third floor of the apartment house at 136 West Thirty-third street early yesterday morning that she will die. She entertained a party of friends Friday night, and the gathering did not break up until early morning. It is supposed that she fell asleep in bed with a lighted cigarette and set fire to the bed clothing. She told the police that Mrs. Patterson flung a lighted lamp at her, but this the housekeeper denies.

TUBERCULOSIS INVESTIGATION.

Toronto, Aug. 15.—Col. David McCrea, of Guelph, and Mr. F. C. Harrison, bacteriologist, of the Guelph Agricultural College, were at the parliament buildings on Friday, conferring with the deputy minister of agriculture with regard to the tuberculosis investigation and instruction in testing for the same, arrangements for which have been fully completed. This investigation and instruction are to be conducted by the provincial government free of charge to the farmers and milk producers. Mr. Harrison is making the tuberculin at the agricultural college, and Col. McCrea is to visit various parts of the province, giving practical instruction in the methods of testing. The aim of the department is to give every cow-keeper in the province who will use it the necessary knowledge for detecting the disease.

THE MINERS' TROUBLE.

Women Lead a Procession of Strikers—Status of the Contest.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 14.—About 40 women appeared on the road leading to Plum Creek. The party was headed by the strikers' queen, Emma Haas, wearing a wreath of daisies, and carrying a flag. A number of banners were displayed, bearing striking inscriptions, among which were: "We are out for women's rights. Sixty-nine cents or bust. "United we stand, divided we fall. It's bread and butter we want." The deputies received many taunts and jeers, but the marching women were undaunted.

Supt. DeArmitt, of the Oak Hill Mine, No. 4, will make another determined effort to operate his mine with a largely increased number of diggers. Instead of importing men, the miners now idle through sympathy with the strike, are to be rounded up, with a view of getting them to work. Deputies will be placed on guard at the homes of the miners willing to work, but unwilling to run the gauntlet of the strikers.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 14.—Despite the orders of the miners' officials, the campers at Sandy Creek and Turtle Creek attempted to march on the mines this morning, but the deputies were on the alert and both bodies were forced to break ranks and return to their camps. Distressing word comes from the Moon Run district, where 300 families are said to be in want. It has been seven weeks since the mines went out, and at that time they had little or nothing ahead of them. Much distress and sickness is said to prevail. A fund for the distressed has been started.

THE RUSH FOR GOLD.

A Thousand Men Start Out on Two Steamers for Klondike.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 15.—There were in Victoria this morning close upon 1,000 men of every class and from every part of the world who were wildly anxious to get started on the long trip to the New Eldorado. These men had tickets which carry them to Skagway Bay on the big collier Bristol or on the steamer Islander, both which sailed today. The Bristol has been filled with bunks and stalls for horses from the bottom of her hold to the top of her cabin deck, and every bunk and stall is occupied, close upon 500 men going on the Bristol and just as many horses and mules. Even the big collier is filled up, the feed for these animals and the outfits for the men taking up an immense amount of space.

The Islander has just as big a crowd, but much of the space on her is taken up by a contingent of mounted police, their horses, dogs and outfits. They realize that they have a winter's trip before them before they reach Dawson City and are taking dogs and sleighs.

FAGGED OUT.—None but those who have become fagged out know what a depressed, miserable feeling it is. All strength is gone, and despondency has taken hold of the sufferers. They feel as though there was nothing to live for. There, however, is a cure—one box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will do wonders in restoring health and strength. Mandrake and Dandelion are two of the articles entering into the composition of Parmelee's Pills.

Alexander Matthews MacCrae, allas Henry J. Gorley, secretary-treasurer of the Security Loan and Trust Company of St. Catharines, Ont., who is charged with forging two checks amounting in all to about $5,000, purporting to have been drawn in favor of John Reilly, and is also said to be guilty of embezzling $30,000 of the funds of the company, will not oppose extradition.
