Coroner's Jury Finds Candledish's Death Accidental.

"We find that Hugh Candledish came to his death on the evening of the 18th of July thru a fracture of the base of the skull, and we are of the opinion that he came to his death in a purely accidental manner."

The above verdict was brought in before Coroner McConnell yesterday in the inquiry into the death of Hugh Candledish, who died on his way to the hospital, after being found unconscious in the police cells, where he had spent the night as a "drunk."

Some evidence went to show that the fracture was sustained thru Candledish being thrown off the steps of 256 King-street East, by William Kemp, who lives there, and the coroner, in summing up the evidence remarked: "Candledish undoubtedly met his death thru a fracture of the base of the skull, and the evidence goes pretty clearly to show that he was dropped off the steps."

The jury, after a few minutes discussion, were of the one mind that death was accidental.

WOBURN.

WOBURN, Aug. 1.—(Special.)—In spite of the threatening weather, the farewell party given to-night to Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Secor, who are about to move to Toronto, was a most enjoyable affair and quite typical of the hospitality characteristic of the people of Scarboro Township.

The beautiful lawn was brightly decorated with bunting and Japanese lanterns, and numerous small marquees scattered here and there gave it a most picturesque appearance. Much of this was the work of Mr. and Mrs. Gourlie, who are succeeding Mr. Secor, and who spared no pains to give all an enjoyable time.

Speeches were made by several men prominent in the township, including Mr. D. Beldam, who acted as chairman; Mr. Wm. Annis, reeve; Councillor Thos. Jackson, D. Purdee, and Messrs. Grant and Adams of Toronto. Mr. Gourlie, on behalf of their neighbors, presented Mr. and Mrs. Secor with a beautiful silver cake-dish, giving with it the good-wishes of all the community.

After a short musical program, refreshments were served to the two hundred guests from a large tent on the lawn, after which dancing took place in the house and lasted until the "wee, sma' hours."

Mr. and Mrs. Secor have owned and run the store and postoffice at Woburn for the last eighteen years, and sixty years ago Mr. Secor's father was born there.

The new owner, Mr. E. H. Gourlie, is also an old Scarboro boy, his father having been born in the township. He has purchased the store, postoffice and mill from Mr. Secor.

Among those present from neighboring villages were Mr. and Mrs. John Baird, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weir, Mr. Charles Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. C. Beldam, Mr. and Mrs. W. Chester, Mr. John Weir, Mr. Wm. Stearlig and many others.

STEAMER TOWED BACK

Slight Mishap to Engine Caused Abandonment of Trip.

Yesterday afternoon the steam connections in the steamer Argyle became disadjusted while the vessel was in the eastern channel. The trouble was only trifling—just enough to stop the engine. The chief engineer and two others worked for a few hours last night, and this morning the Argyle will make her trip at 7.45 to Grimsby Beach as usual.

The Nellie Reed towed the Argyle back to her dock and the passengers, carried down the lake in the morning, returned by rail.

FIRE LADDIES' COMPETITION.

Huntsville's annual firemen's tournament and band competition opens to-morrow. The affair, which is the seventh of the series, promises to be most interesting. It is one of the biggest annual events of the district, and each year calls thousands of people from many parts of Ontario to see it.

Detachments from the fire brigades of many cities will be there, and a number of bands will take part in the competition. In the afternoon a spectacular firemen's hose race will be held, which will be the feature of the tournament. The first prize will be $100 and a banner, the second $50, and the third $25. The band competition, open to all bands in the province, will be as interesting, if not as thrilling, as the feature. The prizes in that competition will be the same as for the other. As well, there will be a number of athletic events, including a baseball match by district teams.

In the evening there will be a great open-air concert, a procession, and some races, one of which will be three miles.

SAW FINANCE MINISTER.

OTTAWA, Aug. 1.—A delegation of depositors in the Farmers' Bank saw Hon. W. S. Fielding to-day. They asked that the government should consider some measure of relief by way of recouping the depositors who lost all in the collapse of the bank, but they stated that in view of the impending election they did not ask any promise.

All progressive dealers recommend "Mirack," and it may be obtained either from them, or direct from St. Leon Waters, Limited, Toronto.

PROVINCIAL CONTEST BEFORE THE FEDERAL?

Rumored That the Quebec Local Government Will Go to the People First.

QUEBEC, Aug. 1.—The rumor that the provincial elections will be brought on before the federal apparently will not down, and is still in circulation, notwithstanding official denials.

There was a meeting of the provincial cabinet at the parliament house this morning, which was presided over by Premier Gouin, and at which all the members, with the exception of Hon. Mr. Devlin, were present. It was stated that at this meeting some action would be taken in regard to the matter, and there was quite a buzz of excitement in the corridors of the house.

At the conclusion of the meeting, however, the ministers stated that nothing but routine business had been dealt with, and that nothing had been done in regard to the provincial elections.

The rumor given most credit in certain circles is that the elections will take place eight days before the federal, and that another cabinet council will decide it.

The Political Campaign

The Liberals in Toronto are making active preparations for the coming fight. The organizing staffs profess to be particularly confident of their chances for success at this election, and will leave nothing undone that might better their position when the big day comes around. They expect to have 1000 more voters registered in both Centre and North Toronto.

Just as soon as the registration board hands out the addresses of the polling booths, a large staff will be set at work notifying every man entitled to a vote just where to register.

The organizer, A. E. Hacker, expects that the Liberals will have a contestant for all of the five Toronto seats. It is on Centre that they place their greatest hopes. T. C. Robinette, if he runs, they believe, will put up his best fight to date, and if Mr. Robinette does not enter, Dr. Harrison will quite likely be the man. The doctor is thought to have made himself popular in "The Ward" with his free baths.

Around the Conservative headquarters everything is rush and hurry. The organization is working with every confidence in the success of the party, but still is taking no chances.

The Centre York Conservatives hold their convention on Aug. 9 in Toronto. John T. Thomas and Ed. W. Brown, officers of the riding's association, are closing their arrangements now. Captain T. G. Wallace will get the nomination, it is confidently asserted.

A report was current that the executive of the Toronto Reform Association would hold a conference last night to discuss and decide on convention dates and other campaign matters, but it must have been a false alarm, for no meeting came off. One will be held within a day or so, however.

Affairs in the local Liberal situation remain about the same, with no new changes of moment. Controller J. J. Ward left yesterday afternoon for a week's vacation in Boston. The controller refuses to be seriously considered as a candidate in the federal field.

OTTAWA TO DO THE WORK

May Revise Winnipeg and Brandon Voters' Lists.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 1.—It is rumored here that the Dominion Government will exercise its prerogative and prepare the Winnipeg and Brandon voters' lists, instead of permitting the province to do so.

This is done under a section of the act which provides that, where the lists have not been revised for a year previous to the date of election, the federal government may step in and do the work.

POLITICAL CAUCUSES ORDER OF THE DAY

Liberal Delegation in Montreal From the Maritime Provinces—R. L. Borden Holds Conference.

MONTREAL, Aug. 1.—Both Liberals and Conservatives held caucuses here to-night. Hon. W. S. Fielding and Sir Frederick Borden met a delegation from the Maritime Provinces and discussed the campaign with them for several hours. No announcement was made as to what had passed. The deputation consisted of Premier Murray of Nova Scotia, E. M. MacDonald, Hon. A. K. McLean, Alex. Johnstone, deputy minister of marine and fisheries, and M. J. Butler of the Dominion Steel and Coal Company.

R. L. Borden attended a caucus of leading Montreal Conservatives, at the conclusion of which he stated that altho his plans had not been definitely drawn up his election program would include meetings at Montreal and Quebec, and at various places in the eastern townships, followed by a tour of the Maritime Provinces and Ontario. He returned to Ottawa to-night and will spend the balance of the week there.

BLAME IT ON M.H.O.

Increase in Milk Price Said to Be Due to Strict Regulations.

That warm spell which made a ten days' stop in Ontario last month was guilty of drying up the pasture lands with the result that old bossy is not yielding her usual quantity of milk, and what little she does offer is selling at a cent a quart higher than a month ago.

The large dealers raised their price to 9 cents a quart on the first of July, and the smaller dealers followed suit yesterday.

Some of the dairymen say that the increase is partly due to the new regulation Dr. Hastings is trying to enforce, and which bylaw will have its second reading in a few days. This can hardly be the case, tho, for the new restrictions have not yet gone into effect and will not for some time.

Dr. Hastings' idea is to force the dealers to have better sanitary arrangements for handling the milk and the milkman says that this will cost him dollars and to make ends meet he must tax the consumer a little more for his milk, a greater profit being imperative if the dealer is to exist. When the new law is enforced it may give rise to another increase.

Last evening the manager of a large dairy said that the dealers are now paying winter prices, and that it is likely that no change will be made during the coming winter, and that no change whatever can be brought about before November, the month in which the contracts for the cold season are made.

TOLL OF IMPURE MILK

Seventy-four Children in Toronto Were Victims in One Month.

Death in the form of impure milk has, judging from the death records for the month of July at the city hall, been doing much havoc among the infants of Toronto. During the past month 74 children under five years of age died from causes which were probably due to germ-laden milk. In all 144 children under 5 years of age died during the month. More than 50 per cent. died from intestinal troubles, which are traceable to impure milk.

Toronto's death rate is going up. In the vital statistics for the past month, printed in The World yesterday morning, it was shown that in this past July there were 560 death, whereas in the preceding July there were only 480.

The infantile death rate has also gone up very much in one phase While there are the usual number of deaths from the usual causes, the cases of death from intestinal trouble have greatly increased.

It seems that the increase is a subject of investigation on the part of the medical authorities.

ROOM AT HAMILTON ASYLUM

No Patients Sent to Either Queen-street or Mimico.

Sufficient accommodation has been provided locally for the patients of Hamilton Asylum, after the fire, and consequently none of them had to be sent to Queen street or Mimico institutions, as a despatch from Hamilton indicated. The officials at both these places wondered where they could provide extra accommodation for the visitors, as both institutions are already filled. There are between 800 and 900 inmates at the Toronto Asylum and 600 at Mimico.

In speaking of the possibility of a similar outbreak of fire in one of the Toronto asylums, Dr. J. M. E. Forster, superintendent of the Queen street institution, says it is the best building of its kind in the province. The walls are nearly three feet thick and built of brick and stone. There is a fire drill for attendants and chemical extinguishers placed all over the building. Mimico Asylum is made up of a number of cottages, some of them accommodating sixty patients and some twenty. It has its own fire brigade, and the buildings are equipped with fire extinguishers, hose, etc., and the attendants are drilled.

CADETS AT QUEBEC.

QUEBEC, Aug. 1.—The steamer Royal Edward, which arrived to-night from Bristol, had on board the 12 Canadian cadets who have been shooting in England.

The six Quebec boys on the steamer will be landed to-morrow morning, while the western boys will proceed to Montreal on the steamer. On the steamer were also a detachment of boy scouts, returning from the coronation.

SIR FRED TO CONTEST SEAT.

MONTREAL, Aug. 1.—LaPresse to-night publishes the following under an Ottawa date:

"Your correspondent is authorized to announce that Sir Frederick Borden will remain in the arena for the elections. He will probably retire next fall to accept the position of high commissioner in the place of Lord Strathcona, resigned."

Rev. D. M. Walker Here.

Rev. D. Merrick Walker of Edinburgh, Scotland, the field secretary of the Baptist Union of Scotland, was in the city yesterday on his return from the Baptist World's Alliance, held recently in Philadelphia.

To-morrow he leaves for Winnipeg and Vancouver, returning east about August 22, when he will return to Scotland.

EIGHT BURNED TO DEATH IN FIRE AT ASYLUM

ature lakes, shoe-top deep, and thru these it was necessary to wade to get thru the building. Streams of water rushed down the stairways of each successive lower floor until they finally reached the ground, while in hall B patients were engaged with brooms in cleaning that floor of the inundation from above.

A touch of levity was given to the otherwise terrible tragedy by a negro patient on a lower floor, who slept peacefully thru the noise and tumult of the holocaust and was awakened only in time to escape the drenching from the waters overhead after the fire had been subdued.

Blood Curdling Shrieks.

Three hundred male patients were housed in the west wing of the main building, where the fire occurred, and altho many of these expressed the fright which possessed them in blood-curdling screams and howls, which could be heard in the city below, Dr. English and his staff were always in complete control of the situation, and the men were removed to another part of the building without any serious trouble.

Dr. English played an heroic part. He was in the forefront of many a dangerous situation and fought like a Trojan to save the inmates entrusted to his care.

When the search for the bodies of the missing men was begun he led the van over the uncertain floors, and he it was who dug the bodies of the victims from out of the ruins which had buried them. Many citizens also took a hand in the fire fighting and chief among these were Hon. John S. Hendrie, Controller Bailey and Ald. Birrell.

To-night practically all outward evidences of the terrible holocaust at the asylum for the insane have disappeared. Little visible damage was done to the exterior of the building visited by the flames and the debris on the inside was cleaned up this afternoon by the inmates of the institution. Early this evening the gates to the asylum grounds were closed to curiosity seekers and the surroundings resumed their usual quietness. The relatives of the inmates who lost their lives this morning were notified by telegraph of the fatality, and as soon as word is received from them the bodies will be shipped to the former homes of the unfortunate men for burial.

A coroner's jury was completed this morning under Dr. McNicholl, for the purpose of enquiring into the disaster. The remains of the eight fire victims were viewed by the jury at 1 o'clock this afternoon and the inquest was then adjourned until Monday, Aug. 8, at 8 p.m., when it will be resumed at the asylum.

George Lynch-Staunton, K.C., was engaged today to look after the government's interests at the inquest and this afternoon he had a long interview with Dr. English, medical superintendent of the asylum. Mr. Staunton afterwards stated that the interview had no particular significance, but was held for the purpose of familiarizing himself with the circumstances of today's horrible disaster.

A conference was held late this afternoon among Hon. John S. Hendrie, Dr. English of the asylum and E. R. Rogers, provincial inspector of jails and asylums, at which plans for the reconstruction of the damaged wing of the asylum were formulated. Work on the building will be commenced tomorrow morning and will be rushed to completion. On account of the destruction this morning the inmates will be compelled to occupy cramped quarters until the repairs are effected.

Mr. Rogers completed his investigation this afternoon and returned to Toronto at 3.15 p.m. Both he and Dr. English declined to make any further statements in regard to any theories they may hold as to the cause of the fire.

Will Enforce Street Bylaws.

The chief of police has informed the secretary of the Ontario Motor League that some 15,000 copies of the bylaw passed recently to regulate street traffic in Toronto are being printed for distribution among express drivers and teamsters generally, before proceeding to put the law actively into force. When the public are generally acquainted with the regulations they will be put in force immediately.

Nominations at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Aug. 1.—The Ottawa Liberal Association will hold a convention for the nomination of candidates, on Wednesday, Aug. 9. H. B. McGiverin will receive re-nomination, but there will be a struggle to obtain the French-speaking candidature. The sitting member has withdrawn.

The Conservative Convention is called for Aug. 11.

Another Aviator Killed.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Germala Napier, a young English aviator, met death this evening while flying with a passenger at Brooklands. Napier was driving a biplane, and a sudden gust of wind dashed the machine to the ground, killing him instantly. His companion was thrown clear of the wreckage and escaped uninjured.

SPAIN'S CORK INDUSTRY.

The cultivation of cork trees forms an important industry in Spain. The cork tree is an oak which grows best in the poorest soil. It cannot endure frost, and must have sea air, and also some altitude. It is found all along the coast of Spain, the northern coast of Africa, and the northern shores of the Mediterranean.

There are two barks to the tree, the outer one being stripped for use, explains Harper's Weekly. The cork is valuable according as it is soft and velvety.

When the sapling is about ten years old it is stripped of its outer bark for about two feet from the ground; the tree will then be about five inches in diameter and about six feet up to the branches. This stripping is worthless. The inner bark appears blood-red, and if it is split or injured the tree dies.

After eight or ten years more the outer bark has again grown, and then the tree is stripped four feet from the roots. This stripping is very coarse, and is used to make floats for fishing nets. Every ten years thereafter, the bark is stripped, each year two feet higher up, until the tree is forty or fifty years old, when it is in its prime, and may then be stripped every ten years from the ground to the branches.

TOO COOL IN WEST

Crops Look Well, But Need Some Sunny Touches.

Yesterday the Massey-Harris Implement Co. received telegrams from all their agents in the west regarding the crop conditions, and in every case the salesmen said all was very satisfactory so far as the bearing amount was concerned, but that the weather was very cold and that a week or ten days' hot sun was required to ripen the wheat.

Harvest will commence in about ten days in southern Alberta and southern Manitoba. Saskatchewan, however, is late and the reapers will not be started to work until about Aug. 20.

The Canadian Northern Railway received reports to the same effect.

WOOD ALCOHOL.

The suggestion which has been made that the word alcohol be abandoned as descriptive of methyl, or wood alcohol, and the term wood naphtha substituted, is an excellent one and should by all means be adapted. The objection to the use of the term alcohol is that the word has been so generally identified with ethyl, or grain alcohol, in the public mind that to the average layman it has no other significance. Chemically the term is generic, applying to a considerable class of organic compounds, and includes such widely diverse substances as glycerine on the one hand, and cetyl alcohol, the chief constituent of spermaceti, on the other. To the public, however, as already stated, the word alcohol simply means ethyl hydrate, or grain alcohol, the principal property of which is to induce intoxication; consequently, indigent topers will drink anything bearing the label alcohol, in ignorance of the fact pointed out by Dr. J. B. Holloway in his communication on methyl alcohol amblyopia, that methyl alcohol acts as a specific poison on the optic nerve. If this dangerous substance was known and labeley as wood naphtha instead of wood alcohol, the temptation to use it as an intoxicant would be much diminished, tho it is quite possible that some benotted individuals would find out its intoxicating qualities and use it, regardless of consequences. A change in the name would also diminish its use in the manufacture of cordials, etc., by ignorant or unscrupulous makers of cheap concoctions who now use it as a substitute for the more expensive grain alcohol, in many cases without realizing the danger involved. In the Court of Special Sessions in New York an Italian in the crowded East Side was recently fined $250 for selling anisette cordial containing a large proportion of wood alcohol, and it is highly probable that large quantities of these cordials are sold without detection. The Commissioner of Health of the City of New York issued a special notice directing attention to the danger arising from the use of wood alcohol as a beverage, a warning which, in view of the case mentioned, is particularly timely.—Medical Journal.

CALIFORNIA WINES IN ENGLAND

California wines, in English market, come into competition chiefly with the French wines, which are the most popular here. Italian and Spanish wines have a limited sale, largely confined to the foreign-born population in London; so, also, the German wines meet with a specialized demand. In shipping to England American manufacturers should be careful to send wines closely resembling the French brands, and only the best of the product should be exported.

American wines are not sold in bulk, but are bottled in London by the representatives of the California manufacturers. This fact has made the work of establishing a large trade all the more difficult, as the profit to the hotel and restaurants is not so large as in the case of the wines they buy in bulk and bottle themselves. Efforts by the manufacturers' representatives to standardize the prices of their various qualities have met with serious opposition on the part of restaurant and hotelkeepers. Several of the latter, when interviewed, declared that they would not carry the California wines at all were it not that there was a constant demand for them on the part of their English customers. They complained that their profit on American wines was much less than on the continental beverages. At the same time they were quite frank in admitting that the regulating of the price by the original sellers resulted in the American wines being better value for the diners than the continental wines. On the other hand, the manufacturers' representatives say that there is at least 100 per cent. profit in their wines for the hotel and restaurant keepers, and in most cases considerably more than that.
