AT THE HAWK BAY MINES.

The World's Commissioner Up Seine River.

LOCATION OF THE PROPERTY

A Beautiful Canoe Trip Made to Reach the Well-known Spot.

An Immense Water Power at Lynx Falls Which Will be Used to Develop Adjacent Properties—What the Hawk Bay Mines Look Like—A Second Shaft—The Force at Work in Camp at Present—Another Sketch from F. D. L. S.

Port Arthur, Ont., June 24.—(Special.)—After, as already chronicled, visiting the working mines on the east side of Saw Bill Lake I made an excursion up the Seine River as far as Island Falls, taking in the leading properties en route. Although practically unknown except to Indians, traders and miners, the Seine is one of the finest streams in the province. It rises in Lac de Mille Lacs, and after a devious course through the wild lands, running at different stages north, south and west, empties into Rainy Lake. As the area it drains is a large one the river carries off an immense volume of water. It varies in width from a few hundred yards to a couple of miles, and throughout its length is marked by a series of little lakes, alternating with swift running rapids and fine waterfalls.

A Canoe Trip.

Leaving Saw Bill camp in a birch bark canoe with a couple of Indians I skirted the north shore of the lake for about five miles, passing a number of surveyed mining locations, and examining the outcrop of the Hammond reef where it dips under the water. Then, noticing to the left an old camping ground frequented by Chief Kabaskong, I turned into the Seine River, of which Saw Bill Lake is a big arm, and started up stream. At this point Mr. H. B. Proudfoot, P.L.S., has built himself a solitary log cabin in the woods, while across the water can be made out the camp of James Conmee, M.P.A., of which more in a succeeding letter. A paddle of a mile or so hence landed the canoe at mining location R 620, which is owned by the Messrs. Wiley, and is at present under option to the Eastern Mining Syndicate of Toronto. The property contains 115 acres of land, upon which a nice quartz vein is traceable for five or six hundred feet. This lode has been tested by a shaft sunk at the summit of a bluff 50 feet above and two chains back from the river bank, and so far the prospect looks well. The shaft at the time of my visit was 40 feet down, showing up a consistent body of ore three feet across, and well contained between nicely defined and almost perpendicular walls. The lead runs parallel with the Saw Bill vein, and the ore has much the same character, being a seamy white quartz carrying copper, iron, galena and free gold, and being accompanied by two or three feet of a well-mineralized gangue.

An Immense Water Power.

Three or four miles up the river Lynx Falls was reached, where the river runs at a terrific speed through a narrow rocky gorge, and a short portage has to be made. The immense water power latent in this waterfall may some of these days be utilized to develop several of the prospective gold mines in the adjacent territory. In the immediate neighborhood of the fall a number of locations have been taken up and two of these, A. L. 66 and 67, owned by Marcus W. Bates of Duluth, Minn., present some interesting features. Upon them appears a tremendous surface showing of gold-bearing quartz, but the whole thing is so mixed up and irregular that at present one can make nothing of it. The outcrops I examined are found on the river shore and on an adjacent island. On the mainland the operations have been confined to stripping the surface where the ore body is no less than 50 feet in width, and to putting in a few shots. Although the mass is paralleled by outcroppings of slate, the existence of well-defined walls has not yet been proven, and it is still an open question whether Mr. Bates has a big proposition or merely a "splash," or "bedded vein," lying on top of the country rock, and having no continuity as to depth. The well-known Duluthite means, however, to soon ascertain what the merit of this property really is. Over on the island are to be found almost equally large surface masses of quartz, upon which some test pits have been put down, and in which a shaft is now being sunk. This "shaft" might just as well be called a tunnel at present, for it runs nearer to the horizontal than to the perpendicular. The working is in about 20 feet, with a fairly good-looking wall, and if the vein further in takes the dip which its owner looks for and maintains its present width and high mineralization, the Lynx Head Falls prospect may be a mine some day.

Hawk Bay Mine.

Three miles further up the river the canoe rounded Skull Point, so named because of a rock upon it in shape exactly like unto the capital portion of a human skeleton, and soon afterwards Hawk Bay was entered. Upon this pretty sheet of water the Hawk Bay mine is located, the camp being situated on a bluff overhanging a low piece of ground, on the edge of the shore, and the workings behind that again. This property consists of mining location 324x, a claim of 54 acres, with extensive mineral deposits upon it. Its chief surface showings consist of two veins of nice-looking ore, which I thoroughly examined, together with the development done upon each. Vein No. 1 which varies in width from two to four feet, has been traced from north to south across the whole location. On this lode two 7x10 shafts are being sunk. The first, situated on the lead where it crosses a bluff, is down 50 feet, and has at that depth a fine body of clean quartz three and a half feet wide, supplemented by a foot or so of well-mineralized gangue on either wall, carrying equal values with the primary ore body itself. The walls, which are smooth and well defined, are timbered down 40 feet.

The Second Shaft.

The second shaft, 500 feet away on the same vein, had at the time of my visit attained a depth of 35 feet. The ore body here is at the bottom the full width of the shaft and is chiefly composed of the seamy-white quartz characteristic of the country, more or less interspersed with a partly decomposed chlorite, all carrying free gold. I may here mention that the gold found at Hawk Bay is of a darker, finer and richer character than that obtained in the Saw Bill region proper, though it does not show as freely to the naked eye in the quartz. The reason for its darker coloring is that it is adulterated with less silver than the Saw Bill metal.

No. 2 vein on the same property boasts a surface showing of from 18 inches to three feet, and has been traced for 600 feet. The ore in No. 2 is similar in character to that described in No. 1, carrying, as usual, besides free gold, more or less galena iron and copper. It is proposed by the management to develop this second lode by cross-cutting it from one of the shafts on the other vein, as the two run parallel across the property.

Has a Fine Plant.

The Hawk Bay is equipped with a fine plant, the machinery consisting of two 35 horse-power boilers, a three drill air compressor, three Rand drills, a 17x10 double cylinder hoisting engine and a single cylinder hoisting engine. The drills are being employed in sinking the shafts, by which means development work is made to progress rapidly.

The camp buildings upon the location are stout erections, and, considering the difficulties under which they were run up, they are all well constructed. The structures, which taken together form quite a little village in the wilderness of rock and forest and water, are the manager's residence and office, sleeping and dining quarters, stables, powder and store houses, blacksmith shops and engine sheds. The frames of two large shaft houses have been erected over the mouths of the shafts and will be covered in shortly.

The location has an abundant supply of wood, as well as springs to furnish water to the milling plant when it is put in. This will tend to cheapen the cost of reducing the ores. The policy of the company is understood to include the erection of a stamp mill as soon as the development work has proceeded far enough.

The property is owned by the Hawk Bay Gold Mining Company, in which the Wileys and some Hamilton and Toronto parties are most heavily interested. Mr. W. A. Harvey is in charge as manager with a staff of 30 men under him. Mr. H. A. Wiley, of Point Arthur, being the managing director. The Hawk Bay is an excellent prospect, and, judging from the present outlook, should turn out every bit as good a mine as the Saw Bill.

Hawk Bay Ore.

Messrs. Wyatt & Co. have just received the following average assay of Hawk Bay ore, which was selected with a view to obtaining as accurate an average as possible. The result, as indicated below, is very satisfactory, and shows extremely rich ore, a good deal higher than was expected. The assays were made in duplicate by Thomas Heys of this city, and every precaution was taken in getting as true an average as possible:

	Oz.	Dwt.	Grs.	Value per ton.
First Assay.
Gold	7	18	16	$163 91
Silver	2	6	16	1 50
				165 41
Duplicate Check.
Gold	6	10	16	$134 98
Silver	1	17	8	1 21
				136 19

Average value, $150.80.

GOLD ON A CANADIAN ISLAND

And United States Prospectors Claim the Island is in U. S. Territory.

Duluth, Minn., June 24.—Gold has been discovered on Oak Point Island, in Rainy Lake, which will undoubtedly lead to an international boundary dispute between Great Britain and the United States. According to the maps of the Geological Survey the island is in Canadian territory, but according to the wording of the treaty of 1842 the island is a part of the State of Minnesota. Canada has issued patents to several valuable mining locations on the island, and vigorous protests are being sent to Washington by American prospectors. The miners throughout the Rainy Lake district are considerably wrought up over the matter, and there is a probability of trouble unless something is done. The way things now stand the United States lose entire control even of her waters in Rainy Lake, as, according to the Geological Survey the United States cannot get a boat into Rainy Lake without first going into Canadian waters. The three hundred islands boundary dispute is of minor importance compared to this.

CANADIAN CLERGYMEN HONORED.

Archbishops Machray and Lewis Receive D. D. Degrees.

Oxford, Eng., June 24.—Oxford University to-day conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity on His Grace the Most Rev. Robert Machray, Archbishop of Rupert's Land and Primate of all Canada, and upon the Most Rev. John Travers Lewis, Archbishop of Ontario and Metropolitan of Canada, and upon others. They were all warmly applauded.

One of the best illuminated residences in the West end on Jubilee evening was that of Mr. Winton, on Lindsay-avenue. Every window in the house was brilliantly illuminated with wax candles, a reminder of the good old-time celebrations.

SAW BILL LAKE IN WINTER.

The above is from a photograph, by Mr. J. T. Cooke of Port Arthur, of Saw Bill Lake, taken in March last, from the shore of Saw Bill City. The winter road can be seen winding away in the distance. This lake is becoming famous by reason of the many discoveries of gold deposits that have been found in its vicinity, and the wonderful showing of the mines already developed, notably the Saw Bill, Hammond Gold Reef and Hawk Bay. The lake is an arm of the Seine River, and the district, according to the opinions of experts, gives promise of being the richest gold camp in the Dominion.

A very successful benefit concert to Mr. J. R. Cook was given in Kilburn Hall to-night. The Mayor, Dr. Clendenan, occupied the chair, and the hall was filled to its utmost capacity. Prof. Bohner opened the program with a piano solo, which was followed by a trombone solo entitled, "Down Deep in the Cellar," by Mr. A. Wakefield. Miss Nash then gave a solo, after which the Toronto Harmony Quintet sang "The Bridge," which was vociferously encored. The other features of the program were the comic songs of A. Parker, delsarte exhibition by Miss Upperton, hoop drill by Miss Charlton's class, and spiritualism by Prof. Riston and daughter.

The 29th is the date fixed for the Liberal-Conservative Convention to be held in the Y. M. C. A. Hall of East Toronto. The secretary of the association is sending notices to the chairman of each division to call a meeting of the electors for the purpose of appointing delegates to attend the convention. The convention will doubtless be one of the largest ever held in the riding of East York. The purpose of calling it, as The World has already stated, is to select a man to contest the constituency in the Conservative interests in the Local House. Who will be chosen to carry the banner to victory? is the question that almost every man in the party is endeavoring to answer. Among other names that are mentioned are E. B. Ryckman, Dr. Walters, A. Mason and N. Baird. On every hand expressions are heard which indicate sanguine expectations of success. The electors, regardless of party, state that the interests of East York have been neglected and that a change of government is necessary. Judging from this, the one who carries the convention may entertain high hopes of being elected.

Simpson-avenue Methodist Sunday School have decided to hold their annual excursion on July 14, going to Oakville per steamer Greyhound. Tickets can be had from any of the teachers of the Sunday school.

During the present season several wheelmen have been fined for riding on the sidewalks. There is only one way to avoid such occurrences, namely, for bicyclists to build their own roads. Yesterday several persons interviewed The World man and requested that the paper advocate the idea of having a cinder path on Main-street. The World will publish the names of those who send contributions for the proposed Main-street path. At the outset it should be remembered that the undertaking is purely a local one, and its success will depend upon the liberality of the people of East Toronto and Little York. The Council may reasonably be expected to aid in this matter, as it is a provision for a large number of people who are taxpayers and who have been debarred by bylaw from using the sidewalk. Subscriptions will be received at Patterson's grocery store, Little York, and Carnahan's drug store, East Toronto.

Richmond Hill.

A garden party held at the grounds of ex-Reeve J. Brown, last evening, was largely attended and a most enjoyable time spent. The proceeds were on behalf of St. Mary's Church. The Village Band supplied the music.

The proceeds from the children's entertainment on Jubilee Day were $45. The success was almost entirely due to the efforts of ex-Councillor J. H. Sanderson.

The School Board at its meeting on Wednesday afternoon finally considered the plans and ordered the advertising for tenders for the High School. At the end of the meeting the members looked over the site and selected the position for the building.

The estimates required for school purposes this year are set at: Public School $1100, High School $300.

The members of Richmond Lodge, A.F. & A.M., were installed last evening by P.M. Isaac Crosby.

Balmy Beach Notes.

The bright flags, the many Chinese lanterns and the deep green foliage made a picture on Tuesday that will not be readily forgotten. The residents proved themselves truly loyal. There was a good attendance at the pavilion tent on Sunday, when a special Jubilee service was held, the Rev. T. R. O'Meara of Toronto officiating. At this evening, Rev. M. N. Bethune preached a patriotic sermon in the Presbyterian Church; the attendance was good.

Arthur Van Camp, a Chicken Thief, Was Fatally Shot by Voorman.

Syracuse, June 24.—Adolph Voormann, a German farmer, living near East Syracuse, hearing thieves in his chicken coop about midnight last night went out with his shotgun to scare away the intruders. Voorman shouted, "If you run, I'll shoot," and then he fired. Vancamp made no outcry, but ran across lots to the road, and dropped dead a quarter of a mile away.

They Threaten to Strike.
