Trinity Church was beautifully decorated with palms and ferns on Tuesday afternoon at three-thirty o'clock for the marriage of Miss Rosamond Bertha McAvity, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George McAvity, Orange street, and Mr. Alexander Conkey Orr of Galt, Ontario. Pink roses, snapdragon and white satin ribbons marked the pews of the centre aisle, reserved for the relatives and friends of the principals in the happy event. Miss McAvity was given in marriage by her father and wore a beautiful gown of Brussels net and white satin, the bodice trimmed with rose point lace and embroidered with chrystal beads. The skirt of Brussels net and pipings of white satin, was artistically trimmed at the sides with garlands of white satin roses and orange blossoms. Her veil of point lace was fastened with a coronet of orange blossoms, and fell in graceful folds to the end of the court train of lustrous satin and she carried a sheaf of pale pink roses tied with a rope and pendants of pearls. The Rev. Canon R. A. Armstrong performed the ceremony and His Lordship Bishop Richardson pronounced the benediction and addressed the bride and groom. Mrs. Henry O'Brien, (Toronto), was the matron of honor and wore a handsome gown of orchid velvet trimmed with silver lace with court train, a hat of silver lace with a wreath of sweetheart roses, and carried a bouquet of orchids and pink roses. Miss Cornelia Adams of Columbus, Ohio and Miss Orr of Galt, Ontario, sister of the groom were bridesmaids. They were gowned alike in orchid taffeta trimmed at the sides with garlands of taffeta roses, and wore taffeta and tulle hats trimmed with pink roses, and carried sheafs of pink roses. Miss Jean McAvity, niece of the bride was flower girl and wore a dainty frock and poke bonnet of pale pink taffeta, rose trimmed, and carried a silver basket of sweetheart roses. The full vested choir under the capable direction of Mr. J. S. Ford, who presided at the organ, rendered appropriate music. Mr. Allen Thomas was groomsman, and the ushers were Mr. Ralph Hayes, Mr. Hugh McLean, Mr. Fortier, (Galt), and Mr. Thomas McAvity. After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents, Orange street. The wedding party received in the drawing-rooms which had been attractively decorated with white pedestals, with garlands of smilax, on which rested silver basket of pink roses and maidenhair fern. The mantel also was banked with the same exquisite flowers. The bride's table in the dining-room, was centred by the conventional wedding cake and at each place were favors of tiny satin slippers, those for the ladies containing sweets, and for the gentlemen cigarettes. A rice pudding served Jack Horner style was also an attractive decoration and was surmounted by a white satin rose and orange blossoms under which were favors of tiny satin bags of rose petals and confetti, tied with silver cords and tiny silver horseshoes. Mrs. Franklin Stetson presided at the tea table, which had for decoration pink roses. The health of the bride was proposed by Lieut. Governor Pugsley and was responded to by the bridegroom in a happy speech. Mr. Allan Thomas responded to the toast to the bridesmaids, proposed by the groom. Mrs. McAvity, mother of the bride, wore a fashionable gown of fuchsia toned velvet with sleeves and front panel of orchid georgette, embroidered with silver and purple beads, tulle scarf of the same shade and hat of fuchsia toned velvet and tulle, trimmed with metal roses. Corsage bouquet of moss roses. Mr. and Mrs. Orr left amid showers of rose petals and confetti for their wedding trip to Boston and New York followed by the good wishes of their many friends. The bride wore a smart tailored suit of navy blue with French turban of navy velvet, with a blue chantilly lace draping and squirrel furs. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Orr will reside on Leinster street.

An event which has been anticipated with interest by a large circle of friends took place in Trinity Church on Wednesday afternoon at four-thirty o'clock, when Miss Alice Marion Moore, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Moore, Germain street, became the bride of Mr. Graeme Melville Paterson of this city. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with palms and ferns, and white ribbon bows and roses marked the pews for the invited guests. Rev. Canon R. A. Armstrong performed the ceremony, and the full surpliced choir rendered appropriate music. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely gown of white satin, with court train, embroidered in a beautiful design with pearl beads. The veil of carrick-macross lace was arranged in cap effect and was held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of ophelia roses with tuft of white heather and on the narrow ribbon streamers were sweetheart roses. Miss Gertrude Fleming, cousin of the bride was maid of honor and wore a dainty gown of pale blue taffeta with hat of silver lace and silver slippers and carried pink roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Louise Holly, cousin of the bride and Miss Margaret Paterson, sister of the groom, the former wore mauve taffeta with silver lace hat and silver slippers and the latter pale pink taffeta with hat and slippers of silver, and carried beautiful bouquets of pink roses. Dr. Otto Nase was groomsman and Mr. John Moore, Mr. Balfour Paterson, Mr. Leslie Peters and Mr. George Miller acted as ushers. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 211 Germain street where delightful solos were sung by Miss Jean Anderson. The bridal party received in the drawing-room before a screen of smilax with a background of ferns and on either side large bowls of hydrangea on mahogany pedestels. The mantels were decorated with pink roses and a profusion of cut flowers. In the dining-room the table was beautifully decorated. From the electrolier with pink shaded lights, fell streamers of pale pink satin ribbon and pink tulle caught on opposite corners of the table with sweetheart roses and maidenhair fern. In the centre on an elaborate maderia cloth under a pink floral bell was a large chrystal bowl of pink roses, the whole veiled in tulle of the palest pink. Small silver and chrystal vases containing pink roses were also effectively used in the decoration and heart favors surrounded by tiny cupids were dotted among the dainty confections. Tall chrystal vases of roses artistically arranged decorated the mantel. Mr. and Mrs. Paterson left on the evening train for Boston and New York, followed by the best wishes of their many friends. The bride wore a tailored suit of taupe cloth with black stitching and seal trimming, and hat of taupe, faced with blue. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Paterson will reside on Germain street. Mrs. Moore, mother of the bride, wore a beautiful gown of black velvet with silver trimmings and black velvet toque. Mrs. Paterson, mother of the groom, a gown of purple velvet with purple velvet hat.
