A GREAT BELIEVER IN "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Well Known Ontario Merchant Has Faith Because "Fruit-a-tives" Cured Him

MR. JAMES DOBSON.

Bronte, Ont., March 1st, 1912.

"Fruit-a-tives has made a complete cure in my case of Rheumatism, that had at least five years standing before I commenced the treatment. The trouble was principally in my right hip and shoulder, the pain from it was almost unendurable. Not being able to sleep on that side, if I chanced to turn on my right side while asleep, the pain would immediately awaken me. This kept up until I started taking "Fruit-a-tives". I started by taking one or two tablets with a large glass of water, in the morning before breakfast and experienced pronounced relief very shortly. After a continued treatment for about six months, I was cured and am now in first-class health. This, I attribute to my persistent use of "Fruit-a-tives" and I heartily recommend your remedy to any Rheumatic sufferers."

S. E. WILBUR DID NOT DESERT CHILD

Arranged With Stewardess to Look After Babe and Was Surprised When Little Fellow Was Taken off Steamer—His Explanation.

Tuesday, June 10.

The two-year-old child of Stanley E. Wilbur, of Moncton, which had been at the Evangeline Home since Friday, was sent to Boston by steamer yesterday under an arrangement which Mr. Wilbur says he expected to be carried out when he left the child on board a steamer on Friday. Developments in the case revealed that the police, Eastern Steamship Company and immigration officials were not justified in believing the father was trying to desert the child. In fairness to Mr. Wilbur his explanation, which was accepted yesterday by the authorities, is given as follows:

"Ten months ago when I was in Boston," he said, "I had cause to send my son to St. John and as he was too young to travel alone and as the company would not sell him a ticket I sent the boy to St. John under the care of the stewardess, and paid her for the trouble. The little fellow made the trip in good health and safety. A few days ago it became necessary for the boy to go to relatives in Boston and as I was unable to make the trip and knowing the Eastern Steamship Company would not sell him a ticket I arranged with the stewardess to care for the child, which she agreed to do. After leaving him on board I left on the early train for Moncton. After I left the boat the United States immigration officials, finding the child on board and thinking it might be a case of desertion, refused to allow him to proceed and my child was accordingly sent to the Evangeline Home. I am an American citizen," said Mr. Wilbur, "and there is no reason why my boy cannot enter the country.

"When the boy was sent to the Evangeline Home Chief Rideout, of Moncton, communicated with my brother, who told me of the trouble. I at once came to the city and will send the boy to Boston on the next boat under the same arrangements as formerly.

"I would like to thank the matron and nurses of the Evangeline Home for their kind treatment of my child."

FUNERAL OF DR. PEDOLIN

Newcastle, June 11—The funeral of the late Dr. F. L. Pedolin yesterday afternoon was one of the largest ever seen here. The Orangemen, Free Masons of Newcastle and Chatham, and Odd Fellows, all of which orders deceased was a member, marched in procession to the grave, accompanied by the public school children (deceased having been a school trustee for ten years), and a host of citizens, the Orange band playing appropriate music. The mourners were: Rev. Wm. J. Fowler and son Percy Pedolin; Samuel Freeze and son Herbert; Walter Freeze, Walter Fowler, Geo. Stables, Hon. D. Morrison, C. E. Fish, John McAlister, Allan A. Davidson, K. C., B. N. Call, Roy Morrison, Mr. Marshall, O. J. Fraser, A. E. Shaw, W. Lewis, S. A. Russell.

Rev. S. J. Macarthur conducted service at the house at 8 o'clock, after which interment was made in St. James' cemetery. The pall bearers were J. H. Phinney and the five surviving elders of St. James' church: John Brander, Ambrose McMaster, John B. Robertson, Geo. S. Stothart, and John Williamson. The floral tributes were on a lavish scale.

MONCTON POLICE SEIZE LIQUOR AT I. C. R. STATION

Moncton, June 10—City police this afternoon visited the I. C. R. freight shed and seized a hogshead of liquor which was consigned to Fidele O'Brien, but the police are unable to locate such a man and believe this is a fictitious name. The shipment of liquor, it is understood, was made from St. John. The liquor seized was taken to the police station and will be destroyed.

Raids were also made on the American Hotel and a main street restaurant kept by Stanley McDougall, with the result that evidence was obtained for Scott Act cases against both places.

A large white rose has grown upon a crabapple tree in the yard of Joseph Ayotte in Chelmsford Centre. The appearance of this rose is unexplainable, as there are no rose bushes near the tree. The stem of the rose is about six inches long, and the rose seems to be a cross between the wild and the cultivated variety.

PROTECTION OF FORESTS PAYS

J. S. Whipple, New York Expert, Advises Adoption of System in New Brunswick Costing $200,000.

Wednesday, June 11.

"Your New Brunswick forests are the most wonderful in the world," said James S. Whipple, of Salmance (N. Y.), yesterday to the members of the board of trade and Canadian Club at lunch in Bond's cafe. "Your forests are constantly being replanted by nature, and i: the policy of cutting nothing smaller than ten inches were adopted, there would never be any need of trees being planted by man. Cone bearing trees in all other parts of America have to be replanted by man. The preservation of your forests should be the most important consideration in this province for they mean continued prosperity in agricultural branches. They retain the moisture and cause the country to be properly watered. Your vast rivers and waterways are dependent on the trees, and the people of New Brunswick should compell the government to adopt at once some means of protecting the forest lands from fire. Fires have been responsible for vast amounts of damage to lumber. The government should immediately take up this matter and provide look-out stations in the timber regions and employ rangers whose duties it would be to patrol the forest tracts and prevent fires attaining great proportions.

Big Tract In Danger.

"I traveled from Plaster Rock to Moncton on the new railroad and saw the greatest forest tract in Canada. This part of the country has been practically untouched and care should be taken that fires do not destroy much valuable property there. Anywhere that railroads pass through woods there is danger from fire, and the government should at once appoint men whose duty it would be to watch these lands.

"Aside from their lumber value, trees are a great help to a country, and even the smallest leaf that turns aside a drop of water for a second is a part of God's great reservoir. This water is retained in the ground, on the trees and in your level country there should be no limit to the agricultural activities in New Brunswick.

"The people here may think that the forest of New Brunswick will last forever, but I would advise that every precaution should be taken so that the trees will not be destroyed. A proper system of supervision of forests could be established in this province for about $200,000, and then the upkeep would be about $100,000 per year. This is a very small amount when it is understood that the whole wealth of the country is dependent on the forests. You cannot consider this matter too seriously.

Rev. J. J. McCaskill moved a vote of thanks to the speaker, seconded by George A. Henderson. The thanks of the business men was tendered to the speaker by J. M. Robinson, president of the board of trade, who occupied the chair.

The time to be happy is now. The place to be happy is here. The way to be happy is to make other people happy.

FORMER N. B. MAN FORGETS A FEW OF HIS MILLIONS

Senator Stephenson Dazzles Investigators With Story of His Wealth

OVERLOOKS RAILROAD

"Uncle Ike" Mentions Incidentally Copper Mine and 500,000 Acres of Lumber—Was Born in Sunbury County, N. B.

Washington, June 4—Another day of quizzing by the Senatorial lobby investigators carried them more than half way through the list of senators and yielded the strongest evidence yet obtained of the existence of a "numerous, industrious and insidious lobby" against the tariff bill.

Senator Pittman of Nevada, a Democrat, readily agreed with President Wilson's charge that a lobby of this character had been operating in Washington. He named the National Wool Growers Association as conducting a campaign such as President Wilson had condemned and he did not hesitate to say that the association had attempted to intimidate senators.

Senator Thompson of Kansas, another Democrat, testified that the activities of the sugar refinery people were of a pernicious character, but Senator Thompson's testimony hit the men who are working for, not against the passage of the Underwood bill.

The most interesting testimony brought out at today's hearing had to do with the personal property of senators Stephenson of Wisconsin, who has the reputation of being the wealthiest man in the upper house of congress, reviewed a long list of his personal holdings, forgetting an iron and a copper mine or a railroad now and then, but eventually bringing everything in, down even to "Pauline Wayne," the cow that used to supply the milk for President Taft and his family and which is now on Senator Stephenson's farm in Wisconsin.

Among the senators who testified today were the two from New York state, O'Gorman and Root. It took Mr. O'Gorman just two minutes to tell everything he knew, which was a record thus far. Senator Root could throw no light on the existence of a lobby, but gave a list of his personal holdings, which included stock in the National Lead Company, the Smelters Security Company and in a coal mining industry. The senator surprised his friends by turning out to be a farmer. He owns a 800 acre farm in New York state.

The most interesting witness today was Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin, Republican. The octogenarian is supposed to be the wealthiest man in the senate and it was only a few months age that he showed some of his colleagues a check for $1,500,000 received in the sale of lumber property.

Senator Stephenson told the committee at first that he was interested in lumbering, farming and paper mills, that was all. As the examination proceeded the senator recollected from time to time additional bits of property that he owned, such, for instance, as an iron mine, the Stephenson mine in the northern peninsula of Michigan, from which he receives royalties of $112,000 a year.

73 Years in Lumber Business.

He told the committee that "come next August he would have been in the lumber business seventy-three years."

"I started in the lumber business when I was eleven years and forty-two days old," said Uncle Ike, stroking his whiskers.

"In what capacity?" asked Chairman Overman.

"I was a cookie—a cooker's help, and a mighty poor one," said Uncle Ike. "But I'm a good one now. I can make as good bread as ever you tasted."

"That's more than some women can do," remarked Senator Nelson.

Senator Stephenson explained to the committee that he was president of his lumber company, which owns 500,000 acres of land in Michigan and Wisconsin. Annual cutting from these properties amounts to 150,000,000 feet.

"The three pulp mills in which I am interested," said the senator, "are capitalized at $300,000.

"Oh, yes," he added a second later, "I also own a railroad, which was built for hauling lumber, but it's a pretty god line; it's only 180 miles long. I carry pasengers and mails, and freight and express. It's a regular railroad."

"I've been a protectionist fifty-seven years," the senator added a minutes later.

It was remarked here that Senator Stephenson had been a protectionist ever since the Republican party started. Notwithstanding this affiliation, though, he told the committee he favored free lumber and free wood pulp.

"Oh, yes," said the senator at this point. "I recollect now that I also own an iron ore mine, but I'm in favor of free iron ore.

Had Forgotten Copper Mine.

"I believe pretty much in free raw materials, anyhow," he added and then he recollected again that he owned a copper mine in the Lake Superior district. But he did not think much of this mine and had not any idea what it was worth.

"Of course in connection with my lumber industry I own a few vessels and steamboats and that sort of thing," said the witness, "and they are necessary for the transportation of the logs and rougher lumber. The general production of lumber, as I said before, from my industry averages about 150,000,000 lineal feet a year.

"You believe in free raw materials, you say," said Senator Walsh, "including free lumber? Did you vote for free lumber when the Payne-Aldrich bill was in the senate?"

"No," said Senator Stephenson, "I don't believe I did. You see it was this way: We had the panic of 1907 and lumber went down to $15 or $16 and then in 1908 there was a glut in the lumber market, the conditions after the panic were bad and lumber went down to about $10. A whole lot of little fellows who owned small lumber tracts thought they could not stand it. Lumber was selling then at $8 under cost of production, and although I did not need the protection I thought some of the other fellows did, so I voted for that paragraph all right."

Senator Stephenson also owns a farm four miles outside of Kenosha (Wis.)

"How big a farm do you own," asked Senator Nelson.

"Senator Nelson wants to find out if your farm is bigger than his," interrupted Chairman Overman.

Pauline Wayne Back on Farm.

"Oh, I've half a dozen little farms that are bigger than Nelson's," said Senator Stephenson, grinning. Then he told the committee about his livestock, including Pauline Wayne, the bovine heroine of the White lot and former milk supply of the Taft family.

"Pauline Wayne's back on the farm now," said Uncle Ike. "When President Taft went to New Haven to live he stopped at a hotel, and the hotel's no place for a cow."

Senator Stephenson is a native of Sunbury county and visited his old home a year ago.

SUMMER SCHOOL OF SCIENCE

To the Editor of The Telegraph.

Sir,—The opening session of the Summer School of Science takes place in Halifax the evening of July 8. Many of the citizens at Halifax and the local secretary, Mr. Bancroft, have taken so much pains to give the visitors an opportunity to do the best work possible and to have the very best kind of a time, that it seems but fair to let the public know what an opportunity the city is giving them to visit Halifax and see it at its best, and it would be well to let the public know through your columns what has been done to support this institution.

There have never been greater efforts at any session of the school for furnishing a good time to the students. The Waegwoltic Club will give the visitors a week's freedom in their beautiful grounds on the Northwest Arm. The Banook Canoe Club, of Dartmouth, offers an excursion by canoe up the Dartmouth Lakes. The steamer Aberdeen will probably be used in harbor excursions. Several yachts will be at the disposal of the summer school visitors. Bathing in the Northwest Arm, where many teachers will probably learn to swim, will be one of the diversions. An opportunity to see the forts, battleships, and ocean steamers, may be made possible. In fact, as far as seeing Halifax at her best goes, this is the best opportunity ever offered. The excursion will not be all pleasure, however, for an opportunity to do the most strenuous kind of work will be given from 8 until 4. To encourage the teachers and others who wish to do the most work possible in the short period of the session, more than fifty scholarships ranging from $50 to $10, are offered. I affix a list of the donors, solicitors and amounts of the scholarships so that if any be omitted from this list the solicitors may notify me and have corrections made:

SYDNEY PASTOR FOR HAMPTON.

Rev. O. N. Chipman Resigns From Baptist Church—Two Fishermen Thought Drowned Turn Up.

Sydney, N. S., June 9—The two sailors from the French fishing schooner Larochiere, which was sunk in collision with the American fishing schooner Stiletto, ten days ago off Scaterie, who were reported lost, have turned up.

Shortly after their boat sank, they were picked up by a small schooner and landed near Ingonish. From there they came to Sydney and were put aboard the French cruiser Des Cartes, which sailed on Saturday. She will land them home at St. Pierre.

Rev. O. N. Chipman, after a pastorate in Pitt street RBaptist church here of five years and a half, has handed in his resignation. Mr. Chipman leaves about the middle of July, with his family for Hampton (N. B.)

Village Gossip—"Was there anything unusual at the weddin'?" Joyey—"Well, the groom looked happy, but you know Bill to be pleasant no matter what happens."
