REV. I. E. BILL'S FUNERAL.

THE MEMORIAL SERVICE AT ST. MARTINS AND THE FUNERAL SERVICE HERE.

Last Tributes of Respect to one of the Fathers of the Baptist Demonination —Rev. G. O. Gates Delivers an Interesting Historical Oration in Germain Street Baptist Church.

The memorial and funeral services for the late Rev. Ingraham E. Bill D. D. who has been called one the fathers of the Baptist denomination in the Maritime provinces were held yesterday and to-day at St. Martins and in St. John.

Yesterday afternoon the memorial service held in St. Martins church was largely attended. The church was draped, and a beautiful floral anchor hung over the archway. The services were impressive, Rev. C. W. Williams A. M. paying a high tribute to the deceased for the St. Martins church and Rev. J. E. Hopper D. D. delivering a memorial address.

This morning the body was put on board the train for St. John. The pallbearers for the funeral at St. Martins were deacons, J. D. Bradshaw, J. S. Titus Charles Carr, Isaac H. Brown and W. H. Rourke. The body arrived here about 1.45 p. m., and was taken to Germain street Baptist church, where the funeral services were commenced at 2.30 o'clock. After prayers and the singing of hymns,

THE MEMORIAL ORATIONS.

Rev. G. O. Gates delivered an interesting historical oration taking as a text for the occasion the 16th verse of the 91st Psalm. "With long life shall I satisfy him and show him my salvation." In opening he said:—

"We come together today to pay our last tribute of respect to one whom it has pleased the Father to remove from this scene of toil and duty to the land without a shadow, to where the weary are at rest. Ingraham E. Bill had by the mercy of God passed the four score years, being at his decease 86 years and 5 months old. How long that life seems to those of us who look on, and yet I presume, with him it quickly passed."

The personal history of the deceased was then dealt with. He was born in Cornwallis, Febr. 19th, 1805, and was converted in his 19th year. In 1827 he began his preparation for the ministry, and in 1829 was ordained at Nietaux. Rev. Mr. Gates here gave an interesting ketch of Rev. Mr. Bill's early work at that place, showing how successful it was. In the years 1828 and 1829 151 members were added to the Nictaux church by baptism. Rev. Mr. Bill preached in different parts of Cornwallis and Annapolis valley. In 1840 he came to Fredericton to preach the dedication sermon at the opening of a new place of worship. He was given a call which he accepted. His labors there were most successful. In 1852 he accepted the call of the Germain street Baptist church and labored here for 11 years. Revival followed revival and some 300 united with the church. He continued to reside in this city for some years after his pastorate of this church ended. In 1874 he accepted a call to St. Martins church. Some of us wondered, for he had then reached the time of life when most men would have retired from the arduous duties of a pastorate. But he was never old, and with the buoyancy of his active nature at 70, he begins in a new field, and he has repeatedly told his friends that his mind was never clearer nor did he ever enjoy the work of preaching more than during those twelve years when he ministered to the St. Martins church.

Some 200 members were added to the church, and on the day he tendered his resignation—when upwards of 80 years of age,—he was graciously permitted to give the hand of fellowship to 64 persons. "But I must call you back to the time when Bro. Bill entered the ministry. I would that we could look in upon those men whom we call the fathers of our denomination in these provinces. A remarkable class of men, most wondrously endowed by God and the Holy Spirit. Let me recall their names: Harris Harding, Thos. H. Chapman, Edward Manning, Thomas Ansley, Joseph Dimock, Thomas L. Harding, Joseph Crandal.

Ah! brother; we, whose lines have fallen in pleasant places, little know what was the work, self-sacrificing and grand, performed by these heroes of the cross.

But why refer to these men? They moulded in those days, when we had no college, the lives of those to whom they ministered as the ministers of our day do not. They influenced the lives, the thought, the doctrinal views of the young men entering the ministry. It was under these men, influenced by these men, with the memory of their hands laid upon his head, aye, with their prayers ringing in his ears, that Brother Bill went out to begin his life work for the master. Brother Bill was not one of the fathers of our denomination, rather one of the sons of the fathers." Rev. Mr. Gates here referred to the movement in 1828 towards the founding of a Baptist educational institution and Rev. Mr. Bill's connection with the movement, Horton College was first founded and later Acadia College. Besides being one of its founders Rev. Mr. Bill was one of the governors of Acadia College for some years and it recognised his worth by making him a D. D. in 1880. He always manifested the greatest interest in educational work. The college at Wolfville lay near his heart and in New Brunswick the seminary at Fredericton and then at St. Martins were objects of the deepest interest to him. He worked as an agent for the institution at Wolfville and went to the United States and to the mother country seeking financial aid for it and was very successful. He was also always to the front in Sunday school work. The foremost among the temperance advocates of those days was the eloquent young pastor of Nintaux church and in 1832 the report of his church states;—"The temperance society now consists of nearly 800 members. No less than 17 retailing shops within the compass of their operations have ceased to vend ardent spirits and whole communities are recovering from the moral desolation of former intemperance."

Those of you who were conversant with the departed during the years of his residence in this city will call to mind that both by the living voice and by his pen he did all he could to aid you in your temperance work.

Bro. Bill was all through his life much interested in the cause of missions. But why repeat these things? Have you not listened to him as with tender pathos he has plead for the millions of the perishing in heathen lands?

Let us thank God for these memories of one who was more than an ordinary man, of one who sought good and did good. Let us seek to emulate him in the zeal and enthusiasm with which he took hold of questions pertaining to the moral good of the world.

Let us seek that grand abiding faith in the final conquests and triumphs of the all conquering Christ, that can lead us to look down with contempt on the wailing despair of men of less faith in God. And, too, let us not with our greater advantages be eclipsed by the men who have proceeded us, but, thanking God for what they were and for what they did, let us seek to hand down to those coming after us memories that shall continue fragrant long after our dust has returned to the earth. Let us be hopeful and confident bearing in mind that bye and bye satisfaction shall be ours."

The church was filled with people and the services were very impressive. At their conclusion the funeral procession formed and the body was taken to the rural cemetery for interment beside that of the first wife of the deceased. The funeral was largely attended, testifying to the general esteem in which the late Mr. Bill was held in this city. The pall bearers were three from St. Martins Messrs. Isaac H. Brown, Charles Carr and W. H. Rourke, and three of this city, Revs. Messrs. Spencer and Hickson and Mr. J. H. Harding.

The Wheel.

Jim Barnes is laying low this year but he is doing a power of training some say for the 5 mile club championship this fall.

It is expected that the safety race between Bert Foster and Will Henderson, will be one of the best races of the season as both men are very evenly matched.

Bert Holyoke of Woodstock and Bun Lemont of Fredericton may be down to the races this fall and if they do the oral riders will have to scratch gravel as they are both good men.

It is hoped that there will be a novice safety race this fall as there are some new members in the club who will make fast riders and this is the best way to bring them out.

Perhaps Mr. Morgan, of Fredericton, will come to St. John this fall to enter some of the open races. He should after the splurge he has made through the press. He will be treated well and find that the S. J. B. C. boys are gentlemen although he choose to call them otherwise.

The St. John boys would like to see Mr. Hillis of Halifax, here this fall. He will probably have his hands full to beat the local riders.

There is a rumor among the wheelmen about a grand parade this fall during exhibition week, not a Chinese lantern parade but a fancy dress parade.

NEW BRUNSWICK RAILWAY CO. OFFICERS.—The annual meeting of the New Brunswick railway company was held yesterday. The general business of the company was discussed and the following officers elected: President, Robert Meighen, Montreal; vice-president, J. Kennedy-Tod, New York; directors, Sir Donald Smith, Robt. Meighen and John Turnbull, of Montreal; J. Kennedy-Tod, J. Kennedy, Wallace James, H. Thorne and H. O. Northcot, of New York; C. W. Weldon and J. McMillan of St. John.

A POSITION OF RESPONSIBILITY.—Miss Stewart, a sister of Mrs. Harry White, has been spending a few weeks in town, the guest of Mr. Jas. White. She holds a position of responsibility with the firm of Baird, Thompson & Co., sanitary and ventilating engineers, Glasgow, Scotland, She has about seventy clerks under her control, and is an important factor in the firm's business. She does a great amount of travelling for the firm and is now on a business trip in the new world. This morning she left for New York whence she will take steamer for Scotland.—Fredericton Gleaner.

A DARING AND BRAVE ACT.—On the arrival of the steamer David Weston at Indiantown, yesterday afternoon, a young son of Mr. George Waring fell overboard between the steamer and the wharf. Alex. Dingee, one of the deckhands of the steamer, immediately jumped over after the boy, and succeeded in catching him just as he came to the surface. Dingee and the boy were helped out of the water by those on the wharf. Dingee's act was a very brave one, and had he not been so prompt the boy would have had very little chance of being saved from drowning.

FRATERNAL VISIT.—St. Patrick's T. A. society of Carleton paid a fraternal visit to the Father Mathew association last night. There were present also representatives from St. Malachi's T. A. society, St. Rose society of Fairville, and St. John the Baptist T. A. society of Lower Cove. Speeches were given by the Very Rev. Mgr. Connolly, Wm. McDevitt, Robt. Coleman, P. J. O'Keefe, Thos. Kickham, Thos. O'Reilly, P. Gleeson, and Patrick Walsh; solos by Wm. Carleton, James Tracey, Miss Stella Pyne and Thos. M. Burns; a trio by Miss Carroll and the Misses Carter, and recitations by James H. McHugh and George McLaughlin.

THE PARLOR MUSEE at St. Andrew's rink is attracting just the crowd that manager Somerby delights to see, the best people in the city. The entertainment which is given during each afternoon and evening is first class, and really in advance of many of the regular shows that come here. In addition, little Dudley Foster, the greatest of small men, is on exhibition and he is a curiosity that is met with but once in a lifetime. His engagement with Manager Somerby terminates in a few days when Prince Tinymite retires to private life.

The Musee is open each afternoon and evening until further notice.

CLIMO'S PHOTOS stand alone as pictures of superior artistic merit, and the prices are as low as the machine-made article. 85 Germain St.

A JUDGE'S DEATH.

THE HON. CHARLES WATTERS PASSES AWAY EARLY THIS MORNING.

A Short Sketch of his Career—As Politician and Justice He was Universally Respected.

Hon. Charles Watters, judge of the County and Vice-Admiralty courts, died suddenly at his residence corner of Princess and Carmarthen streets early this morning. For a few days past he has been unwell and has complained of pains across his chest. He failed to appear at the breakfast table this morning and about 9 o'clock his daughter Florrie tapped at his door to arouse him. Receiving no answer she opened it and discovered her father lying across the bed, dead. He had apparently just begun to dress when he was stricken down. Drs. McAvenny Inches and Daniel were hastily summoned, but their efforts were in vain, Hon. Judge Watters had passed to his rest.

The news of the sudden death became speedily known throughout the city, and deep regret was expressed by everyone at the demise of so worthy a man. During the morning many citizens called at the residence to mark their sympathy, among them being men prominent both at the bench and bar. A sad circumstance connected with the death is the fact that Mrs. Watters is at present in Scotland, while nearly all the other members of the family are away from home. The parting words of Mrs. Watters when she left for Europe, spoken to Mr. R. W. Thorne, who but recently died in this city, were "Take care of the Judge" She spoke in a semi-jocular way, never dreaming that she had said her last farewell to both on earth.

Word was immediately cabled her, while a messenger was despatched to inform Miss Watters, who has been staying at the Willows on the Kennebecasis for the past few days, of the sad occurrence.

At the residence, the darkened rooms, and subdued tones of friends who have called betoken the sorrowful event that has carried off one of St. John's warmest-hearted citizens. Judge Watters, always genial and hearty, was well fitted for the work which he was called upon to perform, and a man well calculated to attract the universal respect in which he was held.

He was a native of this city where he was born in November 1818. He was educated at the St. John Grammar school and at the close of his course there captured the corporation gold medal. He worked for a short time afterwards with his father who was then a butcher, and later entered the establishment of the Messrs. McDonald, one of whom married his sister, now living in New York. Finding that his inclinations were with the law he entered the law office of Judge Ritchie, and on completing the allotted term was admitted to the bar. He became a member of the legislature of this province about 1855 as a representative of Victoria county, and a member of the Executive council the same year. He shared, however, in the disaster that overtook his party in the general election on the Prohibitory Liquor question, but as colleague of Hon. S. L. Tilley he took his seat in the house again in 1858, in which he sat for several subsequent sessions of the legislature. He was a member of the government, and as such became Solicitor General of the province.

During that time he practised law in St. John and was at the time of Confederation, 1867, appointed judge of the County court. In 1876, on the death of the Hon. Robert L. Hazen, he was appointed Judge of the Vice-admiralty court, both of which positions he held at the time of his death.

Judge Watters has also been the revising officer of the Dominion electoral lists for the city and county of St. John, during the past five years.

He was chairman of the board of health, and in that capacity has rendered valuable service, giving a considerable portion of his time in the interests of the public health, and sparing no pains to improve on the ordinary system of health regulations.

Only last week Judge Watters attended a sitting of the county court, and disposed of the cases in his usual painstaking manner. He was then apparently in the best of health, although he was aware that his heart affected him to a greater or lesser degree. His death this morning resulted from this heart trouble, and sudden though it was, it was not entirely unexpected by those who were intimate with him.

To all appearances Judge Watters was a handsome, well preserved man of 60 or 65 while he had nearly out-run the allotted three score years and ten. He was kindly in disposition, a man of marked ability, whose memory will be cherished with veneration, and whose name will be added to the names of those who have fought their way upwards.

He was twice married his first wife being the daughter of John Doherty of this city by whom he had a family of six, four sons and two daughters—the latter being Mrs. McAvenny and Mrs. W. E. Collier. His second wife was a daughter of Major Priestly of Fredericton to whom he was wedded about 1862. By her he leaves five sons and three daughters. The family are all living, although only two of the sons are in St. John, the others being scattered about Canada and the United States. Mrs. Watters was to have left for home on the 13th of this month.

J. Mowatt has returned to the city and may be found at his old stand 38 Sydney street, opposite King square.

Knights of Pythias Decoration Day.

The Knights of Pythias of this city, held their third decoration day celebration this afternoon. At 2,30 o'clock they formed in procession at Pythian Hall, Germain street, and headed by the 62nd Fusiliers band marched to the burial grounds going through the following streets: Germain, Duke, Prince William, King, Charlotte Union and Waterloo. The procession was one of the finest turnouts ever made by the knights, and the floral offerings which were carried in two barouches were the most beautiful and profuse of any yet used on decoration day here. In one barouche they were arranged in the form of an immense floral crown, some four or five feet high and surrounded by boquets, while the other barouche was filled with a variety, boquets and loose water lilies. In the procession were Victoria and Signet divisions of the Uniform Rank in full uniform, besides a large number of the knights of other lodges without uniform. At the cemetery hymns were sung and the Past Grand Chancellor, Mr. James Moulson, delivered an appropriate address. After the work of decorating the graves was completed and the memorial service concluded, the procession reformed and returned to the city.
