LARGE VISIBLE WHEAT SUPPLY

Price Naturally Declined at Chicago on Budget of News Highly Favorable to Bears.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Wheat declined 3-4c to 7-8c net today; corn and oats were steady and provisons scored a further advance.

The decline in wheat began at the opening. It was checked momentarily by purely local influences, but was weak thereafter. Lower cables, an increase in the visible supply as compared with a big decrease a year ago and an increase of 2,500,000 bushels in the quantity afloat, and heavy world's shipments were too much for the price. Export busines was flat as was that in the spot market. The close was only 1-4c over the bottom.

While the corn market had the appearance of heavines it was firm as compared with wheat, receding only 1-8c to 1-4c. Trade was dull. Receipts were heavy and the cash market stagnant. A bearish statement by a well-known expert, altho pretty well discounted, still had some influence when it appeared in cold type.

Oats were quiet and steady. Prices advanced early, but the gain was lost when wheat declined and the close was unchanged from yesterday. Packers still were buyers of provisons owing to light receipts at primary points. Hog cholera, according to an expert authority, and other causes, have cut the supply 14 per cent. under that of a year ago.

Closing prices were from 7 1-2c to 17 1-2c over Saturday.
