WHIST HONORS TO LONDONERS

Tourney Concluded With Local Players Carrying Off Several Championships.

Dr. A. J. Wyckoff and T. S. Currie won the Tecumseh trophy last night in the annual Thanksgiving tourney. The win came as somewhat of a surprise, as both men are novices at the game, beginning only last February. However, they have played sterling whist during the tourney, winning the maiden pairs Monday, and coming back yesterday with the trophy.

The play was very clever, all the well-known whisters in this part of Ontario taking part.

Twelve pairs were in the trophy finals, and it was not until a few minutes before midnight that the winners were known. The plus scores are as follows:

Wyckoff and Currie, plus 3 1-5.
Connor and Wilcox, plus 2 9-10.
Sanders and Doggerell, plush 2 3-10.
Goodwin and McEwen, plus 1 7-10.

The four pairs were very evenly bunched.

The fours championship came to London also. Messrs. Wilcox and Connor won quite handily.

The plus scores in that contest were as follows:

Wilcox and Connor, Ashplant and McGuire, plus 11.
Munro and Sanders, Graydon and Doyle, plus 6.
Cannom and Connolly, Frost and McBurney, plus 2.
Hodgins and Ryder, Wyckoff and Currie, average.

The Hay trophy, at present in possession of the Tecumseh Whist Club, was challenged for by Messrs. Beaton and Ball, of Toronto, last year, winners of the Tecumseh trophy.

Messrs. Hodgins and Ryder were chosen to defend. After a very fine game, the locals, Hodgins and Ryder, won by ten tricks in sixteen boards, making it a clean sweep for the local whisters.

The grand aggregate score prizes went to Mr. George S. Ball, of Toronto, who won from R. Ryder, of London, by one-fifth of a trick.

This concluded one of the best tourneys ever held by the Tecumseh Club.

SPORTING GOSSIP

According to President Harry Pulliam of the National League, the Cubs beat all-comers in their fielding average, with .964 points to their credit. Pittsburg is a close second, with only five points less.

When we consider the score of the Michigan-Kentucky game, 62—0, it makes one look with considerable satisfaction at the comparatively modest tallies that stand against the London teams.

The Detroit News is again taking up the old, old story of the brutality of rugby. It has an appalling list of casualties, which is bound to stampede the elderly maiden ladies and gentlemen of a similar temperament, but when all is said and done, is there so much more brutality in rugby than in any other game? Most of the injuries would be done away with by a systematic medical examination of players, which would eliminate the unfit. And for the rest, such little risk as there may be is warranted by the advantage derived from the game.

Though Tom Longboat seems to have had some difficulty in making up his mind on several matters of importance in his career, he was able to get it working sufficiently to clean up a nice little pile when he backed Holmer, of Halifax, in the Herald road race.

Harry C. Hersey, superintendent of the Savage stock farm, near Minneapolis, Minn., where Dan Patch, Directum, and other stallions are owned, went to Chicago last Friday to try and buy the pacer Minor Heir, 1:59½.

Hersey went to the Dean farm at Palatine, where Minor Heir is being wintered, inspected the horse, found him sound as a dollar, and in the best of health, and then offered $40,000 for the son of Heir at Law just as he stood.

Although it was a record price for a pacing stallion of his age and limited turf experience, it was declined with thanks, as the owner of the pacer, P. C. Isaacs, of Stoyestown, Pa., had been approached during the season by others desirous of buying the pacer and had told Dean not to sell.

While Hersey did not say for what purpose the horse was wanted, the supposition is that he was after an exhibition pacer to take the place of Dan Patch, now 12 years old, and for use as a sire on the Dan Patch fillies owned by the Savage farm.

It is understood that Toronto is negotiating for John Ganzel to manage the Toronto team next season. Ganzel certainly made good while managing the Reds, and beyond question, is the man for the job. It seems, though, that Rochester also has its eye upon him, both for the manager position, and to fill a long-felt want on the first bag. Ganzel himself is said to favor Toronto. Here's hoping.

The Tigers certainly are up against it. With Lyons out for the season with a broken shoulderblade, and Marriott suffering from a broken nose, there seems no end to the bad luck that has followed them through every move this season. If the luck doesn't soon turn there won't be a whole man on the team for the great deciding game.

During the recent Burns-Squires mill down in Sydney, Australia, the American heavyweight champion had a telephone installed, and at the end of each round he would telephone the progress of the fight to his wife. When poor Squires was sent down for the final count, Burns coolly walked to his 'phone and when the "hello" came back he told his wife that since Squires was sleeping quietly, she could expect him very soon.

JUNIOR HOCKEY LEAGUE ELECTS

The junior hockey team, under its new management, should be able to make itself felt in the O. H. A. this year.

On Monday the meeting for organization was held, the year's officers and team manager being elected.

There was much enthusiasm evinced, everyone believing that the prospect for the coming season was very bright. Last year's city league brought out a number of promising players, who will be available this year, which, with several new men in the city, who have already made good in junior ranks in other places, and who are now registered with the Western Medicals, London ought to be able to put a team in the field that will be the equal of the best.

The Princess Rink will be headquarters during the season, and Manager Yohn is intending to get the boys in training immediately, so that everything will be ready for definite play as soon as the weather makes it a possibility. This is the sort of system that counts, and is a very promising sign for the success of the locals.

The officers of the association are as follows:

Patrons—Hon. C. S. Hyman, Hon. Adam Beck, Mr. Zwicker, Mayor Stevely and Mr. Ed Johnson.
President—W. Drinkwater.
Secretary-Treasurer—A. McPherson.
Manager—A. Wheatcroft.
Trainer—R. Yohn.

There is no place in the world where the clove tree thrives as well as in the islands of Zanzibar and Pemba. It is the principal product of the islands, and, together with copra and the ivory brought from the mainland, cloves form the principal item of export.

LONGBOAT RUNS FIVE MEN TONIGHT

Longboat makes his debut into the ranks of the professionals at Kingston tonight, where, though he is in anything but perfect form, he will race a relay of five men over a five-mile course.

Following this, the days will begin to be strenuous for Tom. As, once more under the control of the veteran trainer, he will undergo a hard course of training in preparation for the proposed races in New York against Dorando and Hayes. No meeting has been arranged with Shrubb, but lovers of the sport are hoping that it may yet be arranged, as he is the most likely to be able to draw out the Indian and make him do his best.

Russian engineers have discovered large naphtha fountains and also an entire naphtha lake on the Russian section of the island of Sakhalin. The spot is said to be easily accessible to steamers, and it is reported that a line of ships will soon connect with both Vladivostok and Japan.

THE ARENA

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Middleweight Champion Billy Papke and Hugo Kelly, of Chicago, will fight 25 rounds before the Jeffries Athletic Club, of Los Angeles, the night of Dec. 15. The match, which has been hanging fire for some time, practically was clinched yesterday, when Silvi Ferretti, manager for Kelly, received the articles of agreement, signed by Tom Jones, manager for Papke, and by the club. The papers were sent for Ferretti's signature, and the local man said last night that he would return them on Saturday.

There is one little hitch in the match, and, in order that this may be smoothed over, Ferretti decided not to sign the articles until he had heard from the coast again. In the articles the names of Jeffries and Eyton are mentioned for referee. Ferretti said that he would be pleased to have Jeff officiate as the third man in the ring, but that under no circumstances would he accept Eyton.

Ferreti stated emphatically that he did not believe he could get a fair decision if Eyton officiated. "We got the worst kind of a deal once before when Eyton refereed," the local manager said, "and I will not take another chance. When Kelly and 'Twin' Sullivan met in their first fight at Los Angeles on March 9, 1906, Hugo knocked out Sullivan in the fourth round. Sullivan was down much longer than ten seconds, but the referee counted too slow, and gave him time to recover and continue the fight. Tommy Ryan, who was with Kelly, became to incensed at Eyton's work that he said a few things and he was nearly put out of the clubhouse. Jeffries, or in fact, anyone but Eyton, suits me. I think there is no chance of the match falling through, for there are plenty of officials on the coast."

Kelly's manager said the terms offered by the Jeffries Club were satisfactory. The articles, as signed by Papke's manager and the club, stipulate that the fighters weigh in at 158 pounds at 6 o'clock on the night of the fight, and that they enter the ring at 9 o'clock. They are to receive 90 per cent of the gross receipts, of which 60 per cent will go to the winner and 40 per cent to the loser. Forfeits of $500 are to be posted.

Packey McFarland has signed for another fight. Reports from New York, where McFarland is sojourning, are to the effect that he will meet Dick Hyland in Denver next month, the date not yet having been set. In Hyland, McFarland will meet a rough and ready sort of a scrapper, but one not overburdened with cleverness. McFarland undoubtedly will be favorite at a long price.

Battling Nelson and McFarland are having a hard time keeping apart. The two fighters met in New York yesterday, and a mud-slinging festival almost resulted in a slugging match. Charges of untruthfulness and worse were made by both fighters, but friends prevented the two from hooking up in an impromptu bout.

Jimmy Coffroth, the fight promoter of Colma, Cal., is trying to arrange a 25-round battle between "Cyclone Johnny" Thompson and Packey McFarland, to be decided at his club on any date suitable to McFarland. Thompson recently stopped Rudolph Unholz in eleven rounds in San Francisco, and Coffroth is anxious to have him meet the Chicago wonder. It is doubtful if the match will be arranged.

Jack Blackburn, the clever pugilist of Philadelphia, who has always claimed that he was a genuine lightweight, and could make the weight of 133 pounds, has made good his assertion, for he only weighed 134 pounds yesterday, and has until Saturday to take off another pound for his six-round bout with George Memsic, the Chicago lightweight, which will be decided at the National A. C., of Philadelphia, on Saturday night.

Tony Caponi, the Chicago middleweight who made such a miserable showing in the two bouts that he fought at the local club stags, has been matched to meet Fred Lucas, the Italian pugilist, of this city, who is in Chicago now. The men were signed up last night to fight before the club that offers the largest purse. Lucas has been beaten by nearly all the men he has fought in this vicinity, and if Caponi don't stop him he had better quit the ring.

PRO. HOCKEY LEAGUE TO MEET FRIDAY

Schedule Will Be Drawn Up for Championship Season.

Toronto, Nov. 10. — The annual meeting of the Ontario Professional Hockey League will be held at the Mutual street rink on Friday night, when the schedule for the season will be arranged. It is expected to have clubs in Toronto, Berlin, Brantford, and Guelph, the same as last year, and possibly in Galt and St. Catharines. The news from Guelph today that the townspeople are sore on the pros. isn't taken seriously here by the magnates. It is intended to play a double schedule, the same as last year.

The Toronto team, it is claimed, will be about the same as last year, and therefore better than the others.

PRINCESS DEFEATS THE VICTORIAS

First of Deciding Series for Public School Championship.

The first of the final series of the Public School Association Football League took place at the C. P. R. diamond. The Princess school team, champions of the eastern division, defeating the Victoria team, champions of the western division, by the close score of 1 to 0.

The public school boys have certainly got football down pretty fine, and there was an exhibition of the sport that might have done credit to more experienced players. The defense of the westenders was particularly fine, and alone prevented the Princess team from rolling up a larger score, the winners being better trained and playing better together.

Vice-Principal Little, of the Collegiate, refereed the game to the satisfaction of all.

The second game of the series will be played at the Cove, Friday night, with Dr. Downing officiating as referee.

NORWEGIAN HAS UNSINKABLE BOAT

Invents an Egg-Shaped Craft Designed for Use on Large Ships.

London, Nov. 10.——A peculiar little egg-shaped craft,resembling somewhat a submarine vessel, and flying the Norwegian flag, was the centre of attraction along the Thames when she was slowly towed from London Docks to Westminster bridge, and moored outside St. Thomas Hospital.

The strange vessel is the invention of Captain Bruce, a young Norwegian, who claims to have solved the problem of constructing a life-saving boat for passenger and cargo vessels, capable of resisting rough seas, cold weather and hurricanes with equal ease.

Captain Bruce left Norway for London in the Uraed (the Norwegian for Fearless), and he arrived at Gravesend in two weeks with his crew of two —a sailor and a Norwegian journalist —in the best of spirits.

The living compartment is quite roomy, and fitted with a table in the centre and two upholstered sofas running along the oval-shaped walls.

Handled From Within.

The steering and running gears, and all the ropes, are manipulated from within, as it would be utterly out of the question for the crew to venture outside in rough weather.

The captain, a typical Norwegian sailor, 28 years old, explained the vessel and the object of his visit to London.

"We have had a fine crossing from Norway," he said, "and I never felt safer ashore than I do on this little craft. The boat is absolutely watertight, and is capable of weathering any storm with any number of passengers, according to her size.

"Our company at Bergen, Norway, are now prepared to deliver the same type of boat to hold 40 passengers, which will probably meet the requirements of passenger and cargo steamers.

"Supposing a vessel is sinking, all the passengers have to do is to slip through the openings at both ends and wait for the ship to go down. The lifeboat may also be dragged down a few yards by the suction of the sinking vessel, but it will rise again triumphantly in a few seconds, and no one will be the worse for the experience.

Stanch in Hurricane.

"As for sailing about on the high seas in this boat, it is as comfortable as a railway carriage. The longer and heavier the waves are the less we feel the motion. The most terrific hurricane becomes almost a delightful experience.

"I am going to submit the Uraed to the test of experts appointed by the board of trade, and no doubt the result will be satisfactory.

"From London we go to Amsterdam and The Hague, and thence to Paris, in response to an invitation from the French Government to demonstrate the invention."

A fortnight's "cruise" across the North Sea in a 14-foot sailing vessel of this type would hardly appeal to the ordinary tourist, but the feat sinks into insignificance when compared with the voyage Capt. Bruce made across the Atlantic four years ago in a similar craft, only four feet longer than the Uraed. The object of that trip was to establish beyond doubt the reliability and sailing capacity of his boat in the worst of the dreaded autumn gales, and in this the inventor claims to have succeeded beyond all expectations.

The nearest approach to a mishap on the 85 days' voyage from Aalesund to Newfoundland happened a few days after leaving Norway, when a whaling vessel, mistaking the Uraed for a whale, bore down on her full speed. Fortunately, the men on the whaler saw the Uraed's signal in the nick of time.

AGED PEOPLE

Mrs. Sarah J. Windrom, of Chicago, Grandniece of Alexander Hamilton, Who Signed the Declaration of Independence, Says:

"Vinol is a godsend to old people. I am 76 years old, but I have a hearty appetite, sleep soundly, and feel active and well today — thanks to Vinol. When I was young, cod liver oil was dispensed in a greasy, unpalatable form, and it fairly gagged me to get it down. Vinol is entirely different, very palatable and nourishing to impoverished blood. It is the finest tonic and strength-creator I ever used."

Mrs. H. W. Avery, Norwich, N. Y., says; "At the age of eighty-nine I felt the need of a tonic, something to strengthen and build me up. For some time I have taken Vinol, and have found that it brings vigor and life to the aged as nothing else will."

The reason Vinol is so beneficial to old people is because it is composed of two world-famed tonics—the medicinal elements of cod liver oil—and iron. Vinol tones up the digestive organs, aids assimilation, makes rich, red blood, and strengthens every organ in the body.

We will cheerfully return money to all those who try Vinol and receive no benefit. Anderson & Nelles, druggists, London, 268 Dundas street, near Wellington. Sign of the Red Cross.

SURGERY CURES ILL-SHAPED NOSES

Operation Can Transform Beak of an Eagle Into an Ornamental Feature.

Berlin, Nov. 10.—Dr. Jacques Joseph, a Berlin surgeon, has devised an operative system whereby he entirely reconstructs the most conspicuous feature of the human countenance—enlarging small or undeveloped noses, reducing abnormal ones, straightening the crooked type, and otherwise correcting the unkindness of Mother Nature.

Dr. Joseph is not a "beauty specialist." He is a serious surgical practitioner, who has been called upon to detail the modus operandi of his miraculous operations before the first medical societies of Germany, and in the columns of the medical journals. His first successful reversal of nature —an operation upon a gentleman farmer who wanted to be rid of an unsightly hook nose, took place in 1898 in the course of a general surgery practice. Since then Dr. Joseph has perfected his nose, correcting system to such a point that he is compelled now to devote his entire time to it.

Operation Leaves No Scar.

The two most remarkable features of Dr. Joseph's nose surgery are that his operating is done exclusively with the nose by way of the nostrils, and that reconstruction is complete within a period from one to two weeks.

Through the use of a "local" anasthesia operations are not only painless and devoid of danger, but have the cosmetic advantages of leaving no scars.

Dr. Joseph received a correspondent in his "nose clinic" in the Kleist strasse the other day and talked in popular language of his system and some of its typical results.

"There is hardly any other physical deformity," said Dr. Joseph, "apart from organic disabilities, which plays so important a role in humanity's social and economic relations as a misshapen nose.

Handicap of a Big Nose.

"The child so afflicted is the butt of merciless ridicule. When the boy or girl becomes a man or woman there is added the serious social or business handicap of an ugly face. Women are deprived of matrimonial opportunities or of stage career. Their noses, or, as sometimes happens, their lack of noses, are in the way.

"I have demonstrated that we can successfully cope with the problem with aid of the knife. I am remedying every day, by operative means, defective noses of various kinds; that is, noses from which by nature or through illness or accident a part, or nearly the whole, is missing.

Uses Shin Bone of Patient.

"I build up the nose from the inside after delicate use of the knife, either by injecting liquid or solid paraffin, or by fitting in a piece of the patient's own shin bone. The employment of paraffin is desirable because of the shorter treatment required, usually only a few days, except for the fact that red growths sometimes appear on the nose several years after operation, necessitating renewed treatment.

"Transfers of shin bone never being followed by such consequences are therefore to be preferred, notwithstanding that the treatment lasts from ten to fourteen days.

"Crooked noses can also be straightened by operation from within, without leaving any semblance of scars on the outside.

How an Actress Was Helped.

"With the reduction of abnormally large noses I have highly satisfactory results. I have just heard from a young woman patient who was debarred from the advancement in her chosen theatrical profession by a big nose. She writes from Vienna, in enthusiastic gratitude, to say she has now acquired leading roles and is on the road to fame and fortune.

"Almost every week I get the engagement cards of men and women, former patients, who, long denied matrimonial bliss on account of repulsive noses, now describe me as the architect of their new-found happiness.

Operations Are Various.

"It does not always happen that the whole of a big nose requires reduction, but only a part or parts —for example, the removal of the commonly encountered hook or Roman nose. In other cases the setting back of the tip of the nose is required, or the narrowing of a nose too broad at the nostrils.

"In all such cases I reduce the inner formation or trestle work of the nose by removing everything superfluous or irregular from the bones or cartilage. Through having been operated from within, and left without scars of any sort on the outside, my patients universally give the impression of having always looked as they do now."

CHEATS TO DRESS

Must Have Gowns Whether She Begs, Borrows, or Steals Them.

London, Nov. 10.—It is fast becoming a case of beg, borrow, or steal for the woman who aspires to be smart and in the swim. It is more imperative today for a woman to be exquisitely robed during the country house visiting season than during the London season.

In crushes and crowds in town frocks pass muster which won't stand the more limited space in a country house and the sharp eyes of one's dearest enemies. At this season women with dress allowances of $50,000 per annum are often driven to desperation to keep pace with the sartorial art of their rivals.

A story is just now being told of a woman who was one of the guests recently invited to meet the Prince of Wales at a famous country house in Scotland. She did not consider that her wardrobe was up to the essential standard demanded by the prince, who fancies himself as a connoisseur in gowns, so she immediately 'phoned to two swagger west end tailors. She explained that she was in a violent hurry, and must have the garments on approval.

They were accordingly forwarded without demur. They included dinner frocks, tea gowns, tailor-made suits, and so forth. The same night they were packed in "my lady's" boxes and dispatched to Scotland. She wore each in turn for a week and at the end of the visit it was again carefully packed in its tissue paper and returned from her ladyship's London house by her maid to the firm which supplied it.

"My lady's" rival, who was furiously envious of the unique display of "creations" her ladyship had exhibited, realized that there was only one house in Dover street which could turn out a rose leaf charmeuse tea gown of the order her ladyship had worn for the prince. She immediately repaired to the particular house, therefore, at which she was well known, and said she wanted such a robe.

"We have the identical thing you desire," they said, and forthwith the garment was produced.

"Why!" she exclaimed, "that is the identical garment Lady A wore at the Duke of G—'s house party a few days ago. Beautiful as it is I should not think of wearing a model which was repeated."

Shop assistants in the smart houses are as perfectly trained never to show surprise as the best servants. The young shopwoman merely remarked that she was sure "Mrs. X was mistaken."

People are now wondering what attitude the house in question will take up against her ladyship. The tea gown was a $500 one and it is a recognized fact in the trade and to the best dressed women that a great house like the one involved never turns out two models alike.

A bell, the gift of Emperor William of Germany, is to be placed in the tower of the German Evangelical Reformed Church, in New York, in celebration of this church's 150th anniversary. Some months ago the pastor wrote to the Kaiser asking for a donation, saying that the German language had been spoken in the edifice ever since its incorporation.

From his window, John Barnes, of Waterville, Me., saw a cat chasing a large bird, which he recognized as a partridge. Stepping outside he picked it up with his hands, and the family had partridge for dinner.

WITH CRICK IN THE BACK

You need a strong liniment like Nerviline, which instantly dislodges the stiffness from all muscles and joints. Just rub the painful spot with Nerviline—not much rubbing because Nerviline is made to penetrate. You'll not suffer long after Nerviline is applied for it acts like lightning, swift and sure. "If I hadn't used Nerviline," writes Mr. Philip Adams, of Oakland, "I guess my back would be stiff yet. A few applications took out all the soreness. I can recommend Nerviline for rheumatism, neuralgia and muscular pains also." Fifty years on the market—larger sale than ever—Nerviline must be good.
