MEDICAL.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

ONTARIO PULMONARY INSTITUTE,

No. 135 CHURCH ST.
opposite the Metropolitan church),
TORONTO ONT.
M. HILTON WILLIAMS, M.D.
PROPRIETOR.

All diseases of the respiratory organs treated by "Medical Inhalations," combined with proper constitutional remedies.

CHRONIC BRONCHITIS.

Bronchitis is an inflammation of the mucous membrane of the bronchial tubes, and is one of the most common of the pulmonary affections. Chronic Bronchitis more often occurs later in life. When a cold settles on the lungs, the disease either ends in bronchitis or pneumonia. If it ends in bronchitis, it usually passes off as a cold on the chest, and still the patient does not feel entirely well. He feels tired and languid, and is incapable of taking his usual amount of exercise, and experience a shortness of breath, with more or less warmth in the palms of his hands. Soon after this a cough appears, accompanied by an expectoration of thick mucous, followed by a hectic flush, loss of flesh and strength, and night sweats continue, when the patient assumes all the appearance of having a genuine case of consumption. But this is simply catarrh of the lungs, or chronic bronchitis.

In the later stages of the disease the mucous membrane of the larger bronchial tube softens, while in the smaller tubes and air cells of the lungs the mucous membrane becomes congested and inflamed. There are no cavities nor tubercles in the lungs, but merely a wasting away of the large bronchial tubes, and death takes place from obstruction of the bronchial tubes and air-cells of the lungs. The patient dies from exhaustion and suffocation, being unable to expectorate the mucous which accumulates in the passage leading to the lungs, which in some cases is sticky and small in quantity, but more commonly copious, of a light straw or yellowish green. Oftentimes streaks of blood make their appearance in the mucous, and at times there is a disagreeable smell. Persons thus afflicted are very liable to take a cold, at which time the mucous becomes clear and frothy, and it is not uncommonly the case that the patient dies in one of these attacks.

Inhalations are applicable in all diseases of the respiratory organs, including catarrh, throat diseases, asthma, bronchitis, consumption; and thousands of cases can be cured by this mode of treatment when nothing else can reach them.

Those who desire to consult me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for an examination, but if impossible to visit the office personally, may write for "List of Questions" and circular, both of which will be sent free of charge. Address

A mass meeting was held in the assembly chamber at Trenton, N.J., yesterday to protest against the passage over the Governor's veto of a bill granting the river front at Jersey City to railroads. One speaker said, "Any Legislature that would do the bidding of any railroad corporation may God damn it." The audience was so impressed that not a whisper was heard for some seconds. Sudden y it burst forth into loud and prolonged cheers. It is believed the house will not sustain the veto

Attempted Suicide.

KINGSTON, March 29.—John Kennedy, a farmer residing a short distance from the village of Parham, attempted suicide last night by poisoning. At latest accounts he was still alive.

Dominion Supreme Court.

OTTAWA, March 29.—At a session of the supreme court to-day judgments were delivered in the following cases:

Confederate Life Insurance Company vs. O'Donnell—Appeal allowad with costs.

Anchor Insurance Company vs. Corbett—Appeal dismissed with costs.

McDonnel vs. Lane—Appeal dismissed with costs.

Dominion Telegraph Company vs. Silver—Appeal allowed with costs.

Barsalou vs. Darling—Appeal allowed with costs.

Bergeron vs. Lasalle—Appeal dismissed with costs.

PARLIAMENT YESTERDAY.

THE SENATORS AND THE WORK THEY DO.

An Insolvent Law—Opposition to It—Costigan's Irish Resolution—Bunster's Joke.

(From our Special Correspondent.)

OTTAWA, March 29.—In the senate today Senator Alexander moved a resolution to the effect that the government ought to give the senate more to do.

Senator Dickie moved an amendment to the effect that there had seldom or never been a session during which so much work had originated in the senate as the present one. After some discussion the old gentlemen came to the conclusion that they had fought nobly, and would not allow themselves to do anything that looked like introducing the thin end of the wedge of abolition, so they voted in favor of Senator Dickie's amendment.

IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Mr. Beaty moved for leave to introduce a bill to provide for the equitable distribution of the estates of insolvent debtors. The bill is practically a somewhat modified form of the late insovent law, and the sentiment of the house against re-enacting anything of that nature was shown by the opposition to the motion, as it is a very unusual thing for the introduction of a motion for the first reading of a bill to be opposed at all. There were loud cries of "Lost" as soon as the motion was made. A number of members spoke briefly in opposition to any attempt to revive the insolvent act. Finally the bill was allowed out of courtesy to Mr. Beaty to pass its first reading. But it will undoubtedly be defeated at its next stage. Who took part in the discussion but the perennial Plumb who spoke for over one hour. The prevaling impression is that he was put up to speak against time to prevent Costigan's Irish sympathy resolutions, which the government feel for obvious reasons to be rather embarrasing from coming up. If that be the case the scheme was successful for he managed to prevent the notices of motion being reached before six, and after that hour they cannot be taken up on Wednesdays. After recess several private bills respecting railways were passed, as was also one to incorporate the Canada Mutual Telegraph company.

Mr. Cameron's bill to amend the criminal law and extend the provisions of the act respecting offences against the person (as amended by a select committee), and to provide that persons charged with misdemeanor shall be competent as witnesses were referred to a sub-committee.

Mr. Ive's bill to further amend the Dominion election act was read a second time. In course of the discussion on it Mr. Bunster caused some amusement by suggesting that as it was proposed that $200 should be put up by each candidate that the winning man should take the pot. The house adjourned at 10.20.

DARING BURGLARY NEAR DETROIT.

A Large Amount of Jewelry Stolen from Two Widows.

DETROIT, March 29.—Two burglars entered the house of Mrs. Cooley, a widow living at Wildwoods, on the western city limits of Jackson, yesterday, in broad daylight, and while one held a pistol to her head the other ransacked a drawer and stole $80 in money, a gold watch and chain, a diamond pin, gold rings, two revolvers, and a sealskin sacque, in all worth about $400. From the house of Mrs. Cooley they went to that of the widow of Andrew Wilson, on Cooper street, and robbed her of $1000 worth of valuable jewelry, consisting of two gold watches with chains and seals, a collection of gold and silver coin, four dozen each of solid silver forks and spoons, sets of amethyst, pearl and gold jewelry, and everything of value they could find. In both cases they treated the women kindly, but were determined to get all they had of value. The alarm was given to the police shortly after the thieves left, but no clue has yet been obtained.

ALTERING A GRAIN TICKET

A Case Tried at the Owen Sound Assizes—The Farmer Guilty.

OWEN SOUND, March 29.—At the assize court here yesterday a case of some interest to the farming community was tried. The case of the Queen v. Ellis was one of forgery, and arose through the defendant altering a grain ticket, thereby increasing its face value some six bushels. The defendant Ellis, a farmer of the township of Arran, it appears came into town last fall with a load of oats, which was purchased by John Wright. After the oats were weighed and a ticket given for the number of bushels, it is alleged that the defendant, before presenting it for payment, altered the figures. The jury, after about an hour's consideration of the case, returned a verdict of guilty. His lordship reserved sentence.

A $250,000 FIRE.

Destruction of Walker Hall of the Amherst College—Valuable Collections in Ruins.

AMHERST, Mass., March 29.—The whole of the interior of Walker hall, the finest of the Amherst college buildings, was burned to-night. The estimated loss is a quarter of a million; insurance $72,000. The Shephard cabinet of minerals, worth $80,000, the collection of physics' apparatus, $16,000, besides a fine collection of paintings and valuable archives were destroyed. The building contained the lecture rooms for philosophy, history and mathematics, the treasurer's office and president's room and mineralogical cabinet.

GUELPH, March 29.—The drying kiln of H. Murton's new oatmeal mill was gutted by fire this morning. Five hundred bushels of peas was destroyed and considerable damage done to the rest of the stock by water.

ELECTION INTELLIGENCE.

The Reform Candidates in North Ontario.

CANNINGTON, March 29.—An enthusiastic convention of the reformers of North Ontario met here to-day. Geo. Wheler, M.P., received the unanimous nomination for the house of commons. For the local legislature, the following gentlemen were nominated: Fred. Warren, L. Burnett, I. J. Gould, A. D. Weeks, Chas. Marsh, D. McKay and Philip Lapp. The result of the first ballot being announced, Mr. Gould was rendered the unanimous nomination, which he accepted.

A Maniac's Crime.

LOUISVILLE, March 29.—Alex Wingate was shot and killed this morning on a train near Sparksville, Ind. The assassin was unknown. He was crazed by drink and had no provocation. The maniac jumped from the train while going at forty miles an hour, walked to a creek and drowned himself.

TORONTO HARBOR.

The Government will Help Those who Help Themselves.

OTTAWA, March 29.—The deputation of the Toronto city council, Mayor McMurrich and Ald. Boswell, waited upon Sir Hector Langevin, minister of public works, in connection with the improvement of Toronto harbor. Messrs. Hay, Beaty and Platt, M.P's. for the city, and Capt. Murray accompanied the deputation. Mr. Perley, chief engineer of the public works, was also present.

Mayor McMurrich commenced by reading the resolution of the city council appointing himself and Ald. Boswell a deputation. He submitted plans of the island and harbor, showing what damage had been done by recent storms, the widening of the eastern gap from 1200 feet to nearly 4000 feet, being included in this damage. He said the citizens felt very strongly the necessity of protecting the harbor, especially those owning property on the bay front.

Mr. Perley believed the island was gradually moving westward, as he had noticed new ridges indicating such movement.

Alderman Boswell said all he could to support what the mayor had brought forward in favor of the government taking action.

Sir Hector said the government recognized the importance of the work, but did not think it reasonable for the city to suppose that the government should bear all the expense. He thought the council should have given some idea of what part of the burden the city would undertake. In answer to a question by Ald. Boswell, he said he thought the city should pay one-third of the cost.

Ald. Boswell said it would take several weeks to submit a by-law to the people, asking for an appropriation, to which Sir Hector replied that he did not expect this to be done; if a public meeting was called and passed resolutions, promising to work in favor of the matter that would be sufficient evidence of good faith on the part of the citizens.

Sir Hector promised to have Capt. Eads' report on the harbor improvement printed and distributed at the earliest possible date so that the citizens of Toronto might discuss the matter intelligently.

After which the deputation withdrew.

On his return the mayor will call a public meeting to discuss the matter.

A SWINDLING EX-GOVERNOR

A South Carolina Man Defrauds Many New Yorkers.

NEW YORK, March 29.—Franklin J. Moses, an ex-governor of South Carolina, was a prisoner to-day at police headquarters on a charge of swindling F. J. Smith out of $175. During the day he was identified by a number of victims, who will appear against him to-morrow. Moses represented himself to Smith as a brother of the governor of Georgia, and got him to cash a worthless check. E. W. Crowell, of the Phœnix insurance company, entertained Moses under the name of White of South Carolina and cashed his check for $156. Howard Stewart of Wall street cashed two $50 checks for Moses who represented himself as General Curtis, state commissioner of North Carolina. Stewart informed the police that a number of Wall street men had been similarly victimized by the ex-governor. B. H. Hazd of the Charleston steamship company of Boston writes that that he lost $520 by the operations of the prisoner. When the recent scare about fenian explosives in steamships prevailed Moses imposed on one transatlantic companies by pretending to have discovered a plot to blow up their steamers. He was paid for the secret, and when the company found itself swindled it prevailed on the police to drop the matter.

WAS POOLE MURDERED?

The Inquest at Hamilton—Strong Evidence of the Crime of Murder.

HAMILTON, March 29.—This evenning the adjourned inquest on the body of Joseph Poole was resumed. A number of witnesses were examined, mostly employees of the Great Western. They all agreed that deceased could not possibly have had his head cut off by a passing train, but that the man had been evidently murdered and then trown on the track. Thos. Caldwell thought it was a clear case of murder. On the bank near the track there was the blood, also marks, showing that he had been murdered near that spot, and afterwards carried on the track. He also proved the finding of blood on the fence near where the deceased is supposed to have been killed, also the finding of the slung shot over this fence, which was also covered with blood. The medical testimony not being ready, the inquest was further adjourned till next Tuesday evening.

A HUNDRED NEGROES DROWNED

Taking Refuge in a Gin—Too Lazy to Work.

NATCHEZ, Miss., March 29.—Information has reached the city of the destruction of the Ralston cotton gin near Lake St. John, Tensas parish, La., by which 120 negroes lost their lives. The gin was one of the largest in Louisiana, and packed to overflowing with negroes from the adjoining plantations. This city is crowded with colored refugees. Many have been offered work at fair wages, but refused it, preferring to remain idle while the government feeds and provides for them.

THE ROOF THAT FELL IN.

When the firemen were on top of the roof of Morrison Bros.' foundry during yesterday's fire the roof was not on fire as stated when it fell in. The structure must have been very weak, for apparently it was the weight of the men that caused it to cave in. A very fortunate circumstance in connection with the collapse was the presence of a crane immediately under the place where the firemen fell. The crane broke the fall of the roof, and let the boys down easy, or else the loss of life might have been the result of the mishap. Their escape was remarkable, and the scene as viewed from the Esplanade was quite dramatic.

THE TARIFF QUESTION.

In the U.S.—The Debate Continued in the House—Incidental Protection—Capital Notes.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—In the senate Pugh (dem., Alabama) read a series of resolutions declaratory of what he believed to be the true constitutional American system of tariff. These asserted it to be the duty of congress at this session to reduce and readjust the import duties so as to secure justice, equality, uniformity and permanence in the revenue system. This being a revenue power only, cannot be construed to embrace a power to prohibit importations so as to protect any American industry, but duties should be so apportioned on imported articles as that the rate on each, while producing its just share of revenue, will afford incidental protection to American labor and capital without burdening any industry further than necessary to supply the legitimate wants of the government. Resolutions tabled. The house in committe on the tariff:

Carlyle resumed the argument. He said it is our duty to legislate for all, not for part—for the benefit of all if we can, for the injury of none if we can avoid it. Such a course will develop every industry in the country, do justice to all people, and demonstrate the benefit of the free institutions under which we live. We have now an opportunity to enter on that course and we ought not to let it pass away from us. (Applause.)

Speers (dem., Georgia) said the time had come for the people of this country to rid themselves of the excise system as rapidly as possible. Internal revenue laws were unpopular, and unpopular laws were generally bad. He thought free trade, like charity, should begin at home. He knew the governmen must be supplied with revenue, and the public debt must be paid, but this could be done without imposing on the people a dollar of internal taxes. The sale of spirits poured a stream of wealth into the treasury, but it also poured its costly poison down the throats of the people. These laws were a fruitful source of anarchy, bloodshed and disquiet to every peaceful interest of society. They must be stricken from the statute book. Then let the revenues of the country be raised by customs. If the United States could not have free trade with the world it could at least have it at home.

Evrett favored the pending bill.

Russell said though he opposed the bill in committe he would vote for it in the house as affording the speediest means of bringing about a revision of the tariff. Adjourned.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

The committee on railways and canals has reported the bill for the construction of a ship canal across Michigan.

The amendment to the bill granting a pension of $5000 to Mrs. Garfield was concurred in. The amendments includes Mrs. Polk and Mrs. Tyler

Secretary Folger has removed several clerks who have been living extravagantly and forgetting to pay their debts.

The house committee on post offices has agreed to report favorably a bill modifying the postal money order system. The only important features not heretofore mentioned are the introduction of the postal note at a fee of 3c. for sums of $500 and under, payable to bearer at any time within three months from date of issue, after which the amount can only be obtained by forwarding the note to the treasury through the money order office, paying an additional three cents. It reduces the money order fee on sums of more than $5 and not more than $10 from 10c. to 8c.

PRISON ATROCITIES.

An Ex-Keeper on Sing Sing Punishments—A Bad Record if True.

ALBANY, March 29.—The assembly committee investigating Sing Sing prison this afternoon examined D. H. Blodgett of Batavia, an ex-keeper of Sing Sing prison. He testified to having been employed there four months, and resigned because he could not stand the evidences of brutality around him. He never saw a man paddled, but three convicts had shown him evidences of its use The flesh was horrible to look at, so thoroughly had punishment been inflicted. The assistant convict doctor told him that Head-keeper Bow paddled a man three times one day, stopping each time to a glass of lemonade and rest himself and then continuing the work. A prisoner in Blodgett's gang refused to work, and was changed. Four weeks afterwards he saw the man in a dark cell. He did not know him. The man said he had been locked up ever since he was changed—with only a few crumbs to eat, and no bedding or anything to cover himself. A terrible odor was emitted from the cell. Blodgett gave the man part of his own rations. He would not be a keeper there again for a thousand a month on account of hearing moanings and lamentations of convicts while being paddled.
