FIREMEN JOIN STRIKERS.

proper police protection. As long as we are given that we will be able to conduct our business as usual."

During the afternoon the members of the State Board of Arbitration called on Mr. McCulloch, and on the latter's suggestion went into conference with E. R. Bliss, counsel for the company, with the hope of arranging a settlement. Another meeting has been arranged for to-morrow, and one of the Arbitration Board said that the indications were that the management of the company WOULD AGREE TO ARBITRATE ALL THE DEMANDS OF THE MEN EXCEPT RECOGNITION OF THE UNION.

TORONTO MEN THERE.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—The Tribune's report of yesterday's riots says: While John McMahon, one of the vice presidents of the union, was rejoicing over the City Railway Company's failure to run its cars, his only brother, Patrick McMahon, was lying at his home, 3729 Elmwood-avenue, one of the first victims of the strikers. It was Patrick McMahon, a loyal employe, who took the first train out of the barns at Thirty-eighth-street and Cottage Grove-avenue yesterday morning, and for his temerity he was made a target for flying bricks hurled by angry strikers. One of his ribs was broken, and he is suffering from internal injuries which caused several hemorrhages.

It is said that John McMahon was in the crowd that attacked his brother.

"I my husband dies he will be a martyr to his sense of duty," said Mrs. McMahon last night. "I begged him not to go out to-day, but he said, 'The company has always stood by me; now I'll stand by the company. John will be angry, but no more than he was when I refused to belong to the union. It is more than a fight for the company. It is a fight for the individual liberty of its employes'."

The brothers have not spoken for years. They came from Toronto to Chicago twenty years ago. Patrick has been in the employ of the railroad for nearly that length of time.

Division Superintendent Laid Out.

The men that took out the cars in the morning were all old employes, their periods of service ranging from fifteen to twenty years.

Division Superintendent William M. Weatherwax pluckily attended to his duties all day after being knocked unconscious for several minutes by a brick that struck him in the head while he superintended an attempt by Wentworth-avenue cars to break the blockade. He was on one of the cars manned by a crew of four men when struck, at Clark and Fifteenth-street.

He regained his senses in a few minutes and with blood streaming from a deep cut in the side of his head continued to encourage his men. He complained that the police did not do their duty. Mr. Weatherwax has been in the employ of the company for fifteen years, starting as gripman. He lives at 969 West Sixty-ninth-street.

"It is nothing less than anarchy," said H. S. Orton, a non-union conductor, as with bandaged head he discussed the strike at his house, 4550 Cottage Grove-avenue. "The United States troops ought to be called out. The police afforded us little or no protection. They ewre elsewhere when they were wanted. I believe they sympathize with the strikers. I know of several who have relatives among the men that are out, and one patrolman until a year ago ran a grip car."

"Anarchy," Loyal Employe Says.

Orton ws conductor on the last of the five trains that left the barn at Thirty-eighth-street and Cottage Grove-avenue in the morning. His coat was torn from his back when a gang of strikers boarded his car and he was struck on the head with clubs and bricks, receiving four severe wounds.

Gripman Tells His Experience.

William Watson, gripman on the car on which Orton was conductor, was found at 379 East Forty-fifth-street with a fractured right arm. He was telling the story of the attack on his car to a party of five of the company employes.

"I suppose we would be called 'scabs,'" said one of the men, "tho we have been in the company's employ for the last fifteen years and haven't a single complaint to make about our treatment. Life has been made a burden to us because we won't join the union."

"I don't want to go thru another such a howling mob," said Watson. "I started out with a grip and one car right behind the mail train, which got thru without trouble. I saw that our time had come at Forty-seventh-street when the driver of a Consumers' ice wagon got in front of the car. I tried to butt the wagon off the track, but it wasn't any use. There wasn't a policeman in sight. Crowds began to gather about the car, and bricks and stones commenced to fly. One of the bricks hit me on the arm and I had to drop the grip for a moment. I had a revolver in my pocket, but did not dare to show it. Orton's coat was torn from his back. He was knocked unconscious by a shower of bricks. With my left hand and shoulder I managed to work the lever and ran the car to Fiftieth-street, where Orton was carried to a drug store. I recognized the men who boarded the car, but if I told their names I would be a marked man. I have been with the company seventeen years and have been kindly treated."

"Like Charging a Battery."

Gripman John Weatherwax and Conductor William Johnson, who took out the second car, were not molested. The gripman thought his immunity might have been due to the fact that his brother was a division superintendent until he learned that the superintendent himself had fallen a victim to the anger of the strikers.

"It was like charging a battery," said the gripman. "I shouldn't want to do it again. Ihave been with the company a great many years and felt under obligation to take my regular run when volunteers were asked for. I am not a strike breaker."

High praaise for the men who took out the crs comes from the officials of the Chicago City Railway Company:

"They are brave men," said Gen. Supt. McCulloch. "They are regular employes of many year's service, who have worked faithfully, and they know they are appreciated. They would be a credit to any walk in life."

WILL AFFECT 10,000 MEN.

Pittsburg, Nov. 13.—Officials of the Builders' Exchange League announced to-day that the lockout of all the building trades in the city affiliated with the Building Trades' Council will go into effect to-night and will continue indefinitely unless all sympathetic strikes are called off. About 10,000 will be affected.

SYMPATHY WITH STRIKERS.

Boston, Nov. 13.—The American Federation of Labor to-day passed a motion expressing the good wishes of the convention to the striking street railway men in Chicago, and hope for their success and for an early settlement.

TO RETURN TO WORK.

Louisville, Col., Nov. 13.—As a result of the concession of an eight-hour day by the operators, all of the striking miners in the northern coal fields will return to work on Monday morning. This was practically decided at a conference here this afternoon by the operators and a committee representing all the unions in the districts.

FEMALE RIOT.

New York American: A young Englishman who rejoices in a ducal title, because he is the son of his father, met a young American girl whose millions were won in trade by her democratic ancestors, and they were married. He gets millions and a handsome wife. She gets a well-behaved husband and a title. It is ungenerous to assert that it was not a genuine love match. Certainly the young duke would have cast his titles at the young woman's feet even tho they were encased in wooden shoes. Certainly she would have married him if he had been a London dock laborer instead of the possessor of an ancient title.

Love, like death, is a leveller, and surely the wedding that made Fifth-avenue like a mob-filled street Tuesday afternoon was a love affair.

Unfortunately, however, many would not have it so. Love begets respect and deadens curiosity. All the world loves a lover—when it believes the love is genuine. But the crowd in the street when the Roxburghe-Goelet wedding party appeared was unbelieving. It was out to see. Women of fashion were there, and those who ape fashion were there. They came to see, to touch, to be in contact with the purple of royalty and the yellow of riches. They were well dressed, but their charge on the church, on the police, on the bride and groom would have shamed the blood-loving women of the Paris canaille. Seventy-five policemen sought to drive the women back, but like five thousand Amazons they returned to the charge. Some secreted themselves under benches and were dragged out by their heels, and others sought entrance to the church thru the coal chute and were pulled out by their necks. Others formed a flying wedge and broke thru the police lines. One woman made three charges on one officer and when the minion of the law threw her back among her struggling sisters, she cried out: "How dare you push a lady." It was a greater spectacle than a riot after a fake prize fight or a daylight lynching bee, and it was more disgusting.

Women who earn their bread in the sweat of their face were not there. Those in honest walks of the lowly were not attracted. The mob was made up of the idle and those having no other occupation than that of struggling for a place in what is called society or struggling to hold a place there after they have fought their way within its charmed circle.

The incident is no indictment of real American womanhood. It disgraced only those who took part in the riot. Possibly had the female rioters stopped to realize that this marriage was a genuine love affair and not an exchange of titles to duchies and earldoms for titles to real estate, they might have regarded the occasion with respect instead of hysterical and flippant curiosity.
