REVUE DE VOGUE IS HEADLINE ACT AT THE GRAND TODAY

Fine Vaudeville Features and "Mickey," a Special Photoplay Comprise the Bill.

The headline vaudeville feature at the Grand again today at 2:15 and 7:30 will be the Revue de Vogue, a classy offering of singing, dancing and instrumental musical numbers presented by a talented company of nine artists. Seven elaborate scenes are used in the presentation of this vaudeville classic, which is best described as a radium of splendor.

Other feature acts include Van and Belle, "the Flying Missile Experts," clever young man and woman, who give an exhibition of boomerang throwing, as well as hurling other missiles of peculiar shapes. This act is one of the most novel in vaudeville.

Douglas Flint and company, two men and an attractive young woman, present an amusing comedy sketch, entitled, "Easy Money." George Lee and Miss Teddy Bennett, in a comedy talking and singing number, "I Love That Girl," and Sandy McPherson, the eccentric Scotch comedian, conclude an all-feature vaudeville program.

"Mickey" is Feature Film.

The feature film presented before and after the vaudeville performance is Mabel Normand's greatest success, "Mickey." In this most unusual and delightful photoplay the sad and pathetic incidents grip with a genuine human appeal. The situations are natural and never overdrawn, and the shadows blend in a perfect harmony with the sunshine of the scenario.

The acting throughout is so simple and unaffected and real and the climaxes are reached so abruptly that the audience is frequently on the verge of tears without quite knowing why.

"Mickey" will remain at the Grand for the remainder of the week in order to give everyone in London an opportunity of witnessing this most unusual of photoplays. The vaudeville program will undergo a complete change on Thursday.

WOMEN AGREE THAT UNCHAPERONED GIRLS ENCOUNTER DANGERS

Y. W. C. A. Workers Have Evidence Before Their Eyes.

BETTER TRAINING NEEDED

Both Boys and Girls Should Be Taught To Meet Risks.

Tuesday a little group of prominent Dominion Council and local Y. W. C. A. officials discussed as they chatted together the statement made by Chief Justice Sir Glenholme Falconbridge regarding the manner in which young girls of today go about unchaperoned, and the menace to them this laxity constitutes.

They were agreed one and all with the chief justice, these women of wide experience in working with girls, Miss E. F. Jones, national city secretary, and Miss Winifred Thomas, national girls' secretary, who are in the city in connection with the Y. W. C. A. conference in progress; Mrs. A. Henderson, local general secretary; Miss MacDonald, house secretary. They know from what they have seen of young girls allowed out on the streets until late at night unchaperoned, and going to all manner of places without any investigation on the part of her parents.

The girl of today is more self-reliant, no doubt, and times have changed, but, in the opinion of the women who discussed the subject, this does not constitute an excuse for parents failing to provide adequate protection, and the best kind of protection of all, the training which will enable a girl to take care of herself.

Among All Classes.

Further, they pointed out that the lack of chaperonage for girls is not confined to any one class of society. It has come to be a prevailing custom for girls to go their own way, girls who have by no means the same reason as the girl employed away from home.

The question of proper protection for girls, they agreed, involves the questions of home training, proper dress, recreation, and last, but by no means least, training boys to have a chivalrous regard for girls.

"When I see young girls, 16 and 17 years old, by no means capable of taking care of themselves, away from home, holding positions in cities, I often wonder what the mothers are thinking about," said Miss Jones. "In the first place, mothers should keep their girls at home with them as long as they can, at least until character and habits are getting well formed. And mothers should not allow their girls to go out into the world without training them to meet possible dangers they may be obliged to face. A little incident which occurred one dark night in one of our big cities illustrated the point that much depends upon the girl herself whether she is safe or not. I came up to a corner to wait for a car, and noticed standing near me a slender, slip of a girl.

Few Protections.

"We waited quite a length of time, and no car appearing, I commented upon the fact. 'Yes,' said the girl, 'there are few cars, few lights and few policemen tonight, and lots of toughs out.'

"Has somebody been bothering you?" I asked.

"'No,' she answered, 'not since last November.'

"And what happened then? I asked, knowing there was a story.

"'Oh,' she said, 'I was going home one night, just about like tonight, and a man I never saw before stepped right up and put his arm through mine. What did I do? I took my fist and hit him such a whack on the face I knocked two of his teeth out. He didn't bother me any more. The policeman came hurrying up and said, "You done right."'

"Pity there weren't more girls who would try that sort of thing. After that it came to me, it isn't being big that counts taking care of yourself, but being smart."

A comment made was that many mothers in the country districts absolutely have no idea of conditions which their girls going away from home will meet. Mrs. Henderson held that many city mothers are just as careless, lacking in information, or ignorant.

No Excuse.

"There is absolutely no excuse for ignorance on the part of mothers, either in the country or city districts in this age," declared Miss Jones, "there is so much literature circulated from which they can obtain information. Again, the father has an equal responsibility. The father is perhaps in a better position to know conditions out in the world, and should hold himself responsible for the proper training and protection of his daughters."

Mrs. Henderson, local general secretary, took the view that the churches have been in a large measure to blame, paying more attention to balance sheets than the training of young people.

So far as dress is concerned, Miss Thomas thought that if girls of means would confine elaborate dressing to their homes there wouldn't be so much of business girls appearing in flimsy waists and elaborate coats and hats in the morning at business. Both showed equal lack of taste and judgment.

Advises Recreation.

Miss MacDonald, house secretary at "Lenmore," the King street home of the Y. W. C. A., lays strong emphasis on wholesome recreation for young people, more recreation in the homes, recreation under right conditions, recreation which will give happiness to young people without any associations which are hurtful. Miss MacDonald it is who is the "house mother" to girls who make "Lenmore" their headquarters staying up until the last one is in at night, arranging for their parties, making their boy friends welcome and playing on the piano for their singing and other amusements.

The Dominion Council officials announced that the policy of the Y. W. C. A. is to give more attention to recreation and amusement than ever before and to establish recreation centres to this end where young people can meet and enjoy themselves together under "proper chaperonage."

HEALTH OFFICERS TO GO TO ROCHESTER TO GET MILK POINTERS

Dr. Arnott Would Decrease Mortality in London.

ESTIMATES PREPARED

Board Prepares For $15,139 Expenditure—Nurses Get Spending Money.

Estimates of approximately $15,139.25 were passed at the meeting of the board of health yesterday afternoon. Among the items in the estimates were: Medical health officer, salary, $2,500; assistants to M. O. H., salary, $500; Dr. C. S. Tamlin, V.S., salary, $1,000; Sanitary Inspector J. B. Lutman, salary, -1,000; Assistant Sanitary Inspector John Scott, salary, $840; Miss Barron, nurse, salary, -1,000; Miss Friend, nurse, salary, $1,200; institute of public health, $1,000; printing and advertising, $200.

Dr. D. H. Arnott was in favor of sending Dr. Tamlin and Inspectors Lutman and Scott to Toronto, and Rochester, N. Y., to inspect the milk supply and other things under the control of the boards of health in those places. Dr. Arnott contended that it would be of great value to the city and to the men themselves. The hot weather was coming on and the men should be sent as soon as possible. In the summer time the milk supply was very important to the life of the baby. He declared that in London things always ran in a circle, and that London had a higher mortality than any other city. It was decided to send the three board of health men, but their expenses will not be put in the estimates at present.

There was some talk of taking one of the telephones out of the public health board office because it was not necessary. It was argued, however, that the phone was very convenient, as the other one was very often busy. The matter was then referred to the chairman of the board.

It was thought that a hospital for the treatment of such diseases as measles should be built in the city, because Victoria Hospital did not take those cases, and not infrequently patients live in a dirty house and could not receive the best of care. It was said that previous to the military authorities taking over that part of Victoria Hospital known as the Central Military Convalescent Hospital, patients with such communicable diseases as the measles were admitted.

There was a discussion on the question of giving a small sum of money to the public health nurses each month as money to be used for emergency relief cases. The board of health does not include relief work on its schedule, but it was decided that $100 be put in the estimates for this purpose.

Residents of Florence street, Ashland avenue and Oakland avenue all put in petitions for sewers, but they were not sufficiently signed.

According to a report forwarded to the board the following cases of communicable diseases were found in the city in February: Chickenpox 13, diphtheria 17, scarlet fever 10, tuberculosis 21, whooping cough 2, venereal diseases 6. The following deaths occurred: Diphtheria 3, scarlet fever 1, tuberculosis 5, and whooping cough 1. During the month six military patients and five civilian patients were admitted to Byron Sanatorium, and during the month eight military patients and three civilian patients were discharged.

Visits to the number of 120 were made by the nurse on public health during the month.

STANDARD RELIANCE MORTGAGE CORPORATION IN A STRONG POSITION

At the recent annual meeting of the shareholders of the Standard Reliance Mortgage Corporation, the president, Mr. Nathan H. Stevens, in his address, pointed out the exceptionally strong position the company enjoyed.

This position, he said, reflected in a very complimentary manner on the careful management given to the corporation during the past 4 or 5 eventful years.

Notwithstanding the peculiar financial conditions and many Government loans offered at extremely advantageous terms; the sale of Standard Reliance debentures had increased by $16',821.48, and the total assets had increased $87,-419.72.

GIRL LOVED BY FOUR MEN WAS UNABLE TO MAKE A CHOICE

Great Morality Play at the Patricia Today Only—Also Charlie Chaplin.

To be loved by four men and unable to make a choice is the complex situation confronting a beautiful girl in the morality production, "Why I would Not Marry," showing again today at the Patricia Theatre.

The play is a unique presentation of the marriage problem. With the aid of the mystic globe, the girl is able to peer into the future and visualize married life with each of the men. In consequence, she is so horrified that she comes to fear men in general.

The eternal triangle, blackmail, sacrificing of the soul, all the trials and tribulations of unhappy married life are brought into play, but the girl finds real happiness and the right man at last.

Also Charlie Chaplin in "The Hula-Hula Dance" and the Four Troupers, vaudeville singers and dancers.

Y.W.C.A. WORKERS TALK TO GIRLS OF HYGIENE

The final session of the Y. W. C. A. conference being held in the city for the past two days was a meeting for teen age girls last evening, in the Central "Y" Building on King street. Dr. Margaret Patterson of the Dominion Y. W. C. A. spoke on "Social Hygiene" to a large audience of girls, her address being followed by a short talk on the broad work of the association, given by Miss Jones, national city secretary. Miss Winnifred Thomas, Dominion girls' work secretary, also brought her work before the girls, emphasizing girls' ideals and what they should be.

Mrs. F. W. Hughes was in the chair.
