A ROMANTIC STORY.

A TRAGIC AFFAIR IN THE STREETS OF MONTREAL.

Eugene Cowles, Son of the Late Editor Edwin Cowles of Cleveland, Terribly Wounded by E. C. Hale While Defending His Sister.

MONTREAL, QUE., June 8.—A terrible tragedy arising out of domestic trouble was enacted here this afternoon. The victim, Eugene H. Cowles, of Cleveland, was shot in the neck by his wife's brother, and to-night lies at the point of death at the general hospital. The story of the trouble that led up to the tragedy is a romantic one. Cowles is a son of the late Edwin Cowles, the celebrated editor of the Cleveland Leader. He was engaged in business in Cleveland, and about 10 years ago was married to Miss Alice M. Hale, daughter of a wealthy Cleveland banker. The marriage was a most happy one, and the union was blessed with a little girl. For some years Cowles led an exemplary married life, and everything went well until he fell in with a woman named Clara Lienenschlon, who gained complete control over him. Cowles' business used to take him a great deal to Lockport, N. Y., and his visits became more and more protracted. Then he took several trips to Europe, and it was subsequently discovered that he was accompanied by the woman Clara, and that they lived as man and wife at a number of the leading hotels in Europe. While on one of these trips Cowles was taken dangerously ill, and believing himself about to die, he sent for his wife, admitted his fault and was forgiven. But no sooner had he recovered than he resumed his old course of living, and went to the United States with the woman. This continued until last November, when through the efforts of friends, another reconciliation was effected between husband and wife, who took up their residence in Buffalo. It was not long ago that Mrs. Cowles discovered that her husband was still unfaithful. He made frequent visits to New York, and it was discovered by means of detectives that he was again keeping the woman Clara in that city. Mrs. Cowles then decided to write to Cowles' father. The latter was thunderstruck at his son's conduct, and at once wrote to Mrs. Cowles, advising her to leave him and inviting her to stay with him. So great was the blow that Mr. Cowles' death soon followed, but few imagined the real cause of the celebrated editor's demise. After his death it was found that he had executed a will by which he provided that a certain part of his valuable estate should go to his son Eugene for use during his lifetime; but it was expressly provided that it would go to the wife and child on the husband's death. Young Cowles was enraged at the terms of the will and did everything in his power to break it. Mrs. Cowles in the mean time went with her young daughter to live with her husband. Cowles followed them to his wife stating that he was going to leave the country, and asked for a farewell interview with his daughter which was granted. The young girl saw her father at old Mrs. Cowles' house and agreed to return in the afternoon, which she did, in company with her mother's sister. Cowles invited them to go to the depot with him, and the upshot was that he took his child to Canada, and told the detective who tracked him that he would never give it up to the mother. Mrs. Cowles, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Bolten, her brother, C. C. Hale, and Judge J. E. Ingalls, at once followed Cowles to Toronto and engaged the legal firm of Blake, Lash & Cassel and prepared papers to submit the case to the courts. Cowles placed his case in the hands of Dalton McCarthy, Q. C., but before the case could be brought before the Toronto courts he left hurriedly for Montreal.

He arrived here on Friday night and registered at the Windsor Hotel. He then sent word to his lawyers in Toronto, saying that he wished to see his wife alone, and that unless she agreed to this he would place his daughter in an institution where she would be kept until she was 21, and that her mother would not be allowed to see her. Judge Ingalls, for the wife, replied that the interview would be granted. Cowles then sent word that unless the mother would agree to forfeit half of the estate he would, as legal guardian, place the child out of her reach. Mrs. Cowles at once took the train for Montreal and arrived this morning with Judge Ingalls. They proceeded to the Windsor Hotel and asked for an interview with Cowles, but it was refused. After several unsuccessful efforts to see Cowles the party met in Mrs. Cowles' rooms, and husband and wife had a long interview together. Cowles threatened to shoot anybody who would interfere with him. Mrs. Cowles asked to see her child, and Cowles said he would bring her to where she was.

A cab was called and Cowles, Mrs. Cowles, her sister and brother proceeded in the direction of the Sacred Heart Convent, on St. Catherine street. On nearing the convent Cowles turned to his wife and exclaimed: "You are now within sight of Florrie; agree to give up half of the estate, or I will shoot you," at the same moment he drew a pistol and pointed it at his wife's head. Like a flash her brother Hale, who was sitting beside his sister, had drawn a revolver, and, pointing at Cowles, fired. Cowles fell over with a ghastly wound in his throat, the ball passing right through from left to right. The streets were crowded at the time with people going home from church, and there was a tremendous sensation. Cowles was taken to the St. Charles Hospital, where it was found that the ball had passed completely through the neck without touching any vital point. Hale at once drove to the Central police station and gave himself up. Mrs. Cowles also gave herself up, but was arelessed on bail. She is completely overcome by the tragedy. This young daughter, who is only 9 years of age, is at the Sacred Heart Convent, a stone's throw from where the shooting took place. Some of the leading lawyers in the city have been engaged for Hale's defence. Cowles is reported in a serious condition at the general hospital tonight, but it is stated that he may pull through.

ALIEN LAND OWNERS.

AN IMPORTANT BILL REPORTED TO THE U. S. CONGRESS.

It Will Prevent Future Acquiring of Lands in the United States by Foreigners, and will Compel Present Owners to Become Naturalized or Sell.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Representative Oates of Alabama, from the committee on the judiciary, to-day reported to the house a bill to prohibit aliens from acquiring title to or owning lands within the United States.

An elaborate report accompanied the bill, which says: "Certain noblemen of Europe, principally Englishmen, now own in the aggregate about 21,000,000 acres of land within the United States. This alien non-resident ownership will, in the course of time, lead to a system of landlordism incompatible with the best interest and the free institutions of the United States."

The bill proposes to place these aliens under the disabilities of the civil law.

As to all future attempts to acquire lands in this country, it declares that all foreign born persons who have not been naturalized, are incapable of taking a title to lands anywhere within the United States, except a leasehold, for not exceeding five years.

It also contains a provision which will compel alien land owners to cease to be such or to become citizens of the United States within ten years.

A "DIVINE HEALER'S" FINANCING.

He Charmed Four Hundred Dollars into His Own Pocket.

BOSTON, MASS., June 7.—J. A. Rose, a "divine healer," was arrested yesterday charged with embezzling $400 from Berto & Super bankers. The members of the firm seemed to recognize a certain power alleged to be possessed by Rose, who, through some mysterious spiritual influence, was to increase the business of the firm tenfold. Mr. Berto had three tin boxes made, placed in one $175, $125 in another and $100 in another. The money was to remain in the boxes, be anointed through Rose and thus become wonderfully reproductive. While Rose was undergoing a trance the money, he says, by some unexplainable means was transferred to his pockets. Rose is but 19 years old and a Spaniard. The case is of such a complicated nature that it will probably be settled out of court.

THE BIGGEST RAILROAD COMBINATIONS EVER ATTEMPTED.

The whole gang fought on the train returning to this city and were pulled in by wholesale.

NEW YORK, June 10.—The Times says the biggest railroad combination ever attempted, the amalgamation of the Missouri Pacific and Atchison systems is being discussed by prominent railroad men.

The plan proposed is that Jay Gould shall buy the Chicago and Alton road which is in a position to make either the Missouri Pacific or the Atchison considerable trouble and having grafted it into his Missouri Pacific system will lease the entire system to the Atchison people, the latter to guarantee a certain percentage per annum on the Missouri Pacific stock.

This combination would have the great advantage of stopping ruinous rate wars in the sections of the country through which these roads run.

The exact amount of the guarantee on the Missouri-Pacific stock is said to be the bone of contention.

Dorothy.

This tuneful and interesting opera was produced in admirable form at the Institute last night by the ladies and gentlemen who have so assiduously worked to this end. There was a large and select audience present and every one in the house was delighted at the clever manner in which each part was rendered.

Miss Fowler and Miss Burpee were the friends, Dorothy and Lydia, and their singing and acting, as well as their elegant costumes in the second act, were features of the performance. Miss McInnis as Phyllis Tuppit; Miss Halliday as Mrs. Prueet (Priscella) and Miss L. Watters as Lady Betty were also excellent in their general roles.

Mr. F. H. J. Ruel as Geoffry Wilder, sang his solos admirably and to Mr. Lindsay and Mr. Daniel a similar tribute is due. The toast contentment was well given and with its well balanced and well sung chorus, secured a very hearty encore.

Mr. Chas. F. Harrison as Lurcher, was remarkably funny, his make up was a revelation, and his acting truly mirth provoking. The quartettes and choruses were real good, tuneful, prompt, well balanced, and show the results of careful, thorough instruction by Mr. Ford.

Harrison's orchestra well deserves the unstinted praise bestowed upon them and they justified every anticipation made in respect of their work in opera. Unlimited credit is due to the energy, and good taste of Manager Duncan Robertson, to whose efforts a large measure of the success is due. The stage settings of last night have rarely been equalled on the Institute stage, the setting in the second act, Chanticleer Hall being exceptionally fine.

Miss Hancock will perform the role of Dorothy to-night, The opera will be presented tomorrow evening also and for the last time.

"Running Wild" will be given its second presentation in advance at A. O. Smith's, Charlotte street.

STOLE SOME MONEY.—A thief entered the residence of James Lord, of Prince street, Carleton, last evening, and stole about $26.40 from a closet in the rear of the house. Entrance can be gained to this room by a window and by two doors, the latter leading from other rooms. It is thought the person who committed the robbery knew where the money was kept as nothing else was taken. Mr. Lord's daughter was in the house at 6 o'clock in the evening, having only gone out for about half an hour at mid-day. This is the time, no doubt, that the thief gained admittance.

A FLOURISHING INDUSTRY.

The Business of the Calkin Electric Light Company Increasing Rapidly —The Incandescent Light.

The Calkin Electric Light Co. are making rapid strides in the popular estimation, for they are displaying much enterprise and push in introducing the most modern methods of lighting our streets, our shops and our houses. The old light station of this company is situated on Princess street, but the company have practically completed arrangements for the purchase of the Wishart property on the harbor front, and operations will be begun in a few days for the re-construction of the old Wishart building to suit the purposes of a station. This morning Mr. Geo. F. Calkin received the invoices for the apparatus which the company employ for their incandescent lighting. The plant has already been shipped and it will arrive here very shortly. The new station will likely be in running order about the middle of August or the first of September. With regard to the incandescent lights the Company will have 4000 lamps, and already a large number of these have been spoken for. The work of putting them up will not occupy much time, and so great are the advantages offered that the incandescent system will beyond a doubt be generally used throughout the city for lighting purposes. Besides these lamps 250 more arc lamps have been purchased, some of which will be used for lighting the streets. This will make in all 350 arc lights and 4,000 incandescent lights run by the Calkin Electric Light Company, an advance over past years, pleasing to the company and the public alike.

It is their intention also to start a day circuit for motors, if the inducement is sufficient, that is, if the cost of this will be met by the returns.

The company is a local one, and is composed of a large number of prominent men of this city, whose efforts are deserving of the appreciation of the whole community.
