Doctor Tells How To Strengthen. Eyesight 50 per cent In One Week's Time In Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Philadelphia, Pa. Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weaknesses? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful Tree prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note: Another prominent Physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its prominent ingredients are well known to many eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family."

RUSSIAN SUCCESSES.

PETROGRAD, Jan. 28. (British Admiralty per wireless press.)—The Russian forces after artillery preparation assumed the offensive yesterday against the Austro-German fortified positions on both sides of the Kimpolung-Jacabeni road near the north western frontier of Moldavia. After stubborn fighting they broke through the Teuton lines along a front of nearly two miles, says the official statement issued today by the Russian war department. Prisoners and booty were taken by the Russians to an extent which has not yet been ascertained. Southwest of Riga three successive German attacks were repulsed by the Russians. On the western front, after heavy bombardment our trenches east of Kalnzen road toward Chlok, west of Riga, the Germans attacked our detachments but were beaten back suffering great losses. In the region of Mitau Highroad we liberated gas causing great panic in the German lines. On the Roumanian front there is no change in the situation. On the Caucasus front there is nothing important to report.

GERMAN POSITION CAPTURED.

LONDON, Jan. 28.

In a successful operation on the Somme front in the neighborhood of le Transloy to-day, says the official communication issued from the British headquarters to-night, a commanding position was captured by British troops and more than 350 prisoners taken in the operation. The statement follows: Successful operations were carried out by our troops on the Somme battlefront early this morning in the neighborhood of Le-Transloy. All objectives attacked were gained, and commanding position of the enemy position was captured. We have taken over 350 prisoners including six officers. Counter attacks made by the enemy during the day to regain lost ground were all driven back by our fire with heavy losses. Our total casualties were very light. The enemy positions were raided by us at daylight this morning to the northeast of Neuville St. Vaast, some prisoners secured and dug outs containing some fifty Germans destroyed. We had no casualties. Enemy trenches also were entered last night by one of our patrols northeast of Vermilles and a number of casualties inflicted on the hostile garrison. We bombarded enemy's positions to-day in the neighborhood of Serre, on the Somme front, and greatly damaged his defences. Northeast of Arras hostile working parties were dispersed by our fire. North of Hulluch a body of enemy infantry were caught by our artillery in the open and suffered many casualties. There was considerable artillery activity by both sides in the neighborhood of Armentieres and Ypres. Hostile air craft showed less enterprise yesterday and much useful work was done by our airplanes. Two enemy machines were destroyed and another machine forced to land in a damaged condition. Two of our machines are missing. Of the enemy's machines destroyed since the 23rd, six fell on our side of the line.

Gaynemer brought down his 30th German machine. During the 25th two of our aviators bombed the railway and military factories at Ham. Fire and explosions were noted.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.

IS GERMANY PREPARED TO NEGOTIATE?

LONDON, Jan. 28.

"Wayfare" the pen name used by W. S. Maissingham, writing in the Nation, says: "Is Germany prepared to negotiate on a basis of restitution and reparation? Rumor has it that she will, and that the President has a sketch of her terms in his possession. I give this sketch for what it is worth. The former Germin offer is said to include offer of Metz and part of Lorraine to France coupled with evacuation, but no indemnity; evacuation and indemnity of Belgians, an independent Poland; surrender of the bulk of the colonies in exchange for a deal in Central Africa; restoration of Serbia with retention of a line of passage for the railway; neutralization of the Straits; the Tretino for Italy, with Trieste as a free port. Necessarily the governing condition would be an economic as well as territorial peace and the abandonment of the boycott."

STEAMERS SUNK.

GALLANT ATTACK BY ENGLISH TROOPS.

LONDON, Jan. 28.

(With the British Armies in France, from the Staff correspondent of the Associated Press.)—In spite of hard weather conditions a gallant attack was made to-day by English troops against a strong German point on the Somme, which resulted in the capture of three officers and more than 300 men. The Germans apparently did not anticipate the attack and were somewhat off-guard, owing perhaps to the heavy frost and strong blizzard sweeping over the snow-covered field. The Germans remained snugly in their dugouts, probably believing that the British would do the same. Outwardly there was no movement within the British lines, but in the trenches the troops were waiting for the sudden attack which had been prepared for and organized beforehand. Suddenly the ordinary desultory fire of the British batteries was concentrated into a terrific drum of fire, flinging shells of enormous destructive force upon the German trenches and defensive works. The barb wire before the German positions was cut off as though by a sharp shears. Following a curtain of fire the English troops went briskly out into No Man's Land. The British men looked like a smoke cloud as they went across the field of hummocky snow and shell craters filled with solid ice. The British troops had been cold, but, made fresh with the heat of battle, they moved forward like a machine and carried out the operations with precision and self-control. The Germans were trapped in their dugouts. The English boys were over and around the position before the Germans could get up and bomb them or fire upon them with machine guns. The whole garrison at this strong point surrendered almost without fighting, seemingly thinking resistance useless. The English troops suffered few casualties and sent back their prisoners in triumph. Meanwhile the German gunners had seen the signals of distress and presently they became aware of the fact that a strong point had been captured. They came out of their dugouts and began firing on the captured position, but the visibility was bad, owing to a whitish fog, and the German fire was not so intense as in former days on the Somme front. The British troops took possession of deep underground rooms within the German position. In this way, they celebrated the German Emperor's birthday.

QUESTION OF CONFIDENCE.

PARIS, Jan. 28.

The question of confidence in the Government again came before the Chamber of Deputies to-night in a close secret session, which had been debating Grecian affairs. Six resolutions on this subject were introduced on the resumption of the public sitting. Premier Briand announced he would accept only one resolution, clearly expressing confidence that the Government would make all measures required by the situation in Greece, including the question of Macedonia and reparations demanded of the Greek Government. The Chamber adopted the resolutions by a vote of 313 to 136.

On the left bank of the Meuse there were hand grenade engagements near the east slope of Hill 304.

BRITISH RESUME OFFENSIVE.

LONDON, Jan. 28.

Four hundred Turkish corpses were found in the positions. Two violent Turkish counter attacks were broken down under British force.

BERLIN OFFICIAL.

BERLIN, Jan. 28.

Afte rstrong artillery preparation, says the official to-day, English forces yesterday succeeded in occupying a small section of a most advanced line of the Teutonic positions defended by troops under Crown Prince Rupprecht, southwest of Le Transloy, in the region north of the River Somme.

On account of superior Russian pressure directed against the Teutonic lines in the Mesto Canesce sector, on the Golden Bystritza River, on the front in Roumania, says today's German official, the Austro-German forces were compelled to withdraw to positions nearer the east bank of the river.

Shannahan Has Interview

With a Lady From Joe Batt's Arm.

Seated around the bogie "up to Tucker's" were The Cute Man, Tucker and Mrs. Tucker, a woman who is here from Joe Batt's Arm awaiting her turn to get into the Hospital, and Yours truly. Mrs. Tucked had a fire agoing that would roast an ox and beads of perspiration stood out glistening on the high, intelligent brow of The Cute Man. Our friend, the lady from Joe Batt's Arm, was in a very talkative mood and her conversation was interesting and instructive. What a change, says she, from the old times, and how different is the way in which the sick are treated in the Outports. Thursday night, says she, I arrived in here on the train, or rather 'twas Friday morning at two o'clock. All the way as we neared St. John's, I was wondering to myself if there would be any one at the Station to meet me. But as the train steamed in who did I see on the platform but Mr. Eli Whiteway waiting there. While the city slumbered he was faithfully attending to his duty. We hear a lot of criticism, says the Lady from Joe Batt's Arm, of public officials, but I want to tell you here to-night friends, that there is one public official who is worth his weight in gold and that official is Mr. Eli Whiteway. By Jingo, says the "Cute Man," 'tis like a ray of bright sunlight through a leaden sky to hear any one praise a public official in this country. The idea prevails throughout the land that censure must be heaped upon Government officials from the time of their appointment 'till thaey are laid in their graves.

Tucker agreed with the "Cute Man" and said: in years gone by if a man got a Government job he was hated ever afterwards, his most intimate acquaintances gave him the cold shoulder, and looked upon him as a man who was receiving a lot of money out of the "chest" for doing nothing. A Government official no matter how upright, honest and energetic he was, never received any bouquets from the big crowd that is generally known as the People. They always waited for him to die, then they suddenly awoke to the fact that he was a "good official". Then a sadness creeps o'er the heart, and those who gave him "hard knocks" while he was in the flesh, feel like wishing they had another chance and they would treat him differently. Then they go to the poor public official's funeral in the hope of soothing their consciences.

We all do too much grumbling and fault-finding says the "Lady from Joe Batt's Arm," in this short life of ours, and how, if we had the chance once more would we grasp the opportunity to play the game fairer and squarer with friends, now no more. This is a kind of a religious night around here, says Mrs. Tucker, as she gave the fire a poke, but all the same there's more truth than poetry in what ye say.
