Of Interest to the Whole Family

There is not a mother or a father or a boy who would fail to be interested in this suit sale if they knew all the facts of the case.

What are the facts?

We realize that this hot weather is not going to last forever, and we've got to get all our summer suits out of the store before the cool wave. The consequence is that all summer suit prices are considerably cut.

BELL STRUCK JOE KELLERT.

Called Him a Liar in Montreal Court When the Detective Was Testifying

REGARDING THE CARRANZA LETTER.

Bell Said Kellert Got $5000 From U. S. Government and Promised Him $1000 of It.

Montreal, Aug. 9.—(Special)—There was a first-class racket in the Police Court today, where Judge Lafontaine was hearing evidence in the case of George F. Bell, accused of stealing the Carranza letter.

When Detective Joe Kellert, who was giving evidence, testified that he had not previously known the accused, and did not see him until "recently," Bell sprang to his feet, struck Kellert, and, calling the detective a liar, said the officer had received $5000 from the American Government, and had promised $1000 of it to Bell.

When this assault had been committed, Bell was taken into custody, and later was fined $10 and bound over to keep the peace for one year.

Then the more novel part of the proceedings took place, and although Bell had declared, in a formidable document, that he had stolen the letter, the Judge decided that as Kellert's statement showed another party guilty of the offence of letter-stealing, Bell could not have been the guilty party, hence his discharge by the Court.

The following gentlemen, under the guidance of Mr. F. Miles of the Boeckh Co., Mr. G. Sweet, Mr. Whitworth of Whitworth & Restall, Mr. G. N. Rogers, Mr. Coulson, Mr. Charles Murray and Mr. H. Piper one day last week sailed out from Jackson's Point to Georgina Island, and, after two hours' sport, returned to mine host, Mr. Macdonald, with a catch of 65 bass, weighing from ¾ to 3½ lbs. This is a record-breaker thus far, and a fact.

HAMILTON NEWS

POPULAR PRIESTS HONORED.

St. Patrick's Church the Scene of a Farewell Gathering to Fathers Craven and O'Reilly.

PURSES OF GOLD WERE PRESENTED

Along With Flattering Addresses, Which Were Fittingly Replied to—General City News.

Hamilton, Aug. 9.—(Special.)—St. Patrick's Church this evening was crowded with a congregation that met to bid farewell to Rev. Fathers Craven and O'Reilly, who have been transferred to other parishes.

During the evening three addresses, accompanied by money donations, were presented to the priests. The address to each was read by Arthur O'Heir, and presented by Donald Smith, William Turner presenting the purses of gold. Miss Annie Stuart read an address to Father Craven on behalf of the choirs of St. Patrick and St. Cecilia, which was also accompanied by a purse of gold.

Rev. Father Craven and Rev. Father O'Reilly both replied feelingly to the addresses, the former speaking at length of the good works of the congregation and the many kindnesses extended to him.

At the close of the replies Mrs. Martin-Murphy sang Mercadante's "Salve Maria," and the choir sang Mozart's "Gloria in Excelsis," from the 12th Mass.

The amount received by the departing priests was $605. A few days ago the League of the Sacred Heart presented them with $100, and the young ladies' sodality $50. Rev. Father Craven's transfer is severely felt by St. Patrick's congregation, as he had been connected with it for nearly 20 years.

The poor fellow was brought to St. Joseph's Hospital this evening, and died shortly afterwards.

Two Fires.

The roof of Copp Bros.' foundry was damaged by fire this afternoon.

M. Murphy, a section man on the Hamilton, Grimsby & Beamsville Electric Railway, was struck by a car on the road about a mile east of Grimsby about noon today. He was standing on the track, and had plenty of time to get out of the way after getting the warning, but did not get clear, and was thrown violently, his head striking a tie and inflicting a bad wound.

Toronto Bicycle Thief.

Sam R. Berry of Toronto, who was captured last night by Detective Coulter, pleaded guilty before Magistrate Jelfs this morning to a charge of stealing a bicycle from a liveryman in Toronto. He was remanded for sentence. Berry, it is said, stole another wheel from a man named Phillips and sold it.

House Boat Party.

Mr. William Hendrie, jr., and Miss Tina Hendrie went to Sturgeon Falls to-day to arrange for a jolly house-boat party which will leave here to-morrow. In the party will be: Mrs. William Hendrie, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hendrie, Miss Jessie Hendrie (Detroit), Mr. and Mrs. Braithwaite, Mr. W. A. Spratt, Mr. H. Leger of Detroit, Mrs. Frank Mackelcan and R. B. Bruce. The trip through Lake Nipissing and French River is expected to occupy about three weeks.

Minor Matters.

There was a little trouble yesterday at the Stony Creek battlefield, which has been purchased by the Wentworth Women's Historical Society. The society wanted to take possession, but the occupant said he would not leave for a few days.

The St. Nicholas Hotel is in the hands of a receiver representing the Spring Brewery Co., Bertrand & Jones, the proprietors, being in financial difficulties.

Mrs. Phillips, wife of Ald. James Phillips, is dead.

Dundurn Park will be open to the public free every Sunday for the remainder of the season.

D. W. Kelk, city agent of the Hamilton & Dundas Electric Railway, will leave here for St. John's, Newfoundland, on Friday, having accepted a position with the Reed system of railways on that island.

J. B. Nelligan, a city assessor, fell into the canal at the Beach last night and was nearly drowned.

A number of Hamilton's fast bicycle riders are expected to take part at the wheel meet at Toronto on Saturday, Aug. 19.

THEY CAN NOW GO SHOOTING.

British Parliament Was Prorogued in Due Form Early Yesterday Afternoon.

CONTENTS OF THE QUEEN'S SPEECH.

Relations With the Other Powers Continue Friendly—The Transvaal Situation.

London, Aug. 9.—Parliament was prorogued at 2 o'clock this afternoon by Royal Commission. The House of Lords met and summoned the Commons to the bar, and the proceedings terminated with the reading of the Queen's speech, as follows:

"My Lords and Gentlemen:

"My relations with the other powers continue friendly.

"The Conference summoned by the Emperor of Russia to consider measures for promoting the maintenance of peace has completed its sittings. Although the result of its deliberations did not fully correspond with the lofty aim which it was summoned to accomplish, it has met with a considerable measure of success. The institution of a permanent tribunal of arbitration cannot fail to diminish the frequency of war, while the extension of the Geneva Convention will mitigate its horrors."

The Transvaal Trouble.

After a reference to the conclusion of the Anglo-French convention on the subject of the Nile Valley, and the Anglo-Russian convention in regard to the railway enterprises in China, the speech continued: "We have received a petition from a considerable number of my subjects residing in the South African Republic, praying my assistance to obtain a removal of grievances and disabilities of which they complain. The position of my subjects in the South African Republic is inconsistent with the promise of equal treatment whereupon my grant of internal independence to that Republic was founded, and the unrest caused thereby is a source of danger to the peace and prosperity of my dominions in South Africa. Negotiations on this subject with the Government of the South African Republic have been entered into and are still proceeding."

Conditions in India.

Another paragraph deals with the satisfactory reports of the recovery of the agriculture and trade of India from the depression caused by the famine, but, it adds, fears are now entertained of the prospects of the harvests in Western and Central India, owing to the insufficient rainfall, though the officials are taking timely precautions to meet any scarcity.

The speech then reads: "I regret to add that the plague, though still confined to the total of 199 areas affected during the winter, shows no sign of abatement."

The speech thanks the Commons for the liberality with which they have provided for the naval and military defence of the Empire, and concludes with references to the benefits which may be expected from the domestic legislation passed.

Yankees Were There.

President McKinley's secretary, Mr. John Addison Porter, and Solicitor-General John K. Richards visited the U. S. Embassy to-day, and were afterwards introduced to Speaker Gully. They witnessed the prorogation of Parliament.

A Scale of Wages.

The scale of prices and other regulations agreed upon by the Employing Printers' Association of Toronto has been issued by Secretary Fleming.

According to it wages will be $12 a week of 54 hours, with Saturday afternoon off. Night compositors will get $12.50 per week of 45 hours, and one night off.

Lost His Thumb.

While at work in Firstbrook's box factory yesterday morning, John Robinson of 171 Parliament-street, had the thumb of his left hand, above the first joint, cut off by a circular saw. He went to the Emergency Hospital, where the injury was dressed.

STILL MORE TROOPS GOING.

Mr. Chamberlain Speaks With No Uncertainty Regarding the Transvaal.

PREPARING FOR CONTINGENCIES.

"We Have Put Our Hands to the Plow and Will Not Draw Back," Says the Secretary.

London, Aug. 9.—Replying to various questions in the House of Commons to-day, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, said no official confirmation had been received of the report that the Transvaal had declined to agree to a joint enquiry into the effect which the franchise reforms will have on the Uitlanders.

Several regiments, he added, were about to be despatched to South Africa for the defence of Natal, in response to the request of the Natal Government, and preparation was being made for all concindencies.

Later, replying to Mr. T. P. O'Connor (Scottish Nationalist member for the Scotland Division of Liverpool), Mr. Chamberlain deprecated a resumption of the debate on the Transvaal situation, which, he pointed out, while serious, still remains doubtful.

Could Not See as O'Connor Did.

The Colonial Secretary added that he sincerely hoped that the report saying the enquiry proposal had been rejected was unrue. While he regretted the necessity of answering Mr. O'Connor, it would be a fatal mistake to allow the latter's views—my assistance to obtain a removal of grievances and disabilities of which they complain. The position of my subjects in the South African Republic is inconsistent with the promise of equal treatment whereupon my grant of internal independence to that Republic was founded, and the unrest caused thereby is a source of danger to the peace and prosperity of my dominions in South Africa. Negotiations on this subject with the Government of the South African Republic have been entered into and are still proceeding."

SEVEN KILLED AND A NUMBER INJURED.

about 100 yards from the station the engine ran off the track, the tender followed, falling on its side on the right of the track, and the baggage and express cars went off on the left. The second-class car ran up on the engine and was smashed. I was sitting in the first-class car, and we got a terrible bumping and jolting, but, although the car left the track, it did not turn over, and no one in that car was seriously injured. A few got bruised a little, but nothing worth speaking about. The parlor car also left the rails, and the front truck of the big Intercolonial sleeper followed suit, but the rear truck held the rails, and this car was back on the metals before I left St. Polycarpe."

Where the Loss of Life Occurred.

"The loss of life," continued Mr. McClure, "occurred in the second-class car and the tender, where, as you know, the fireman, George McCuaig, was killed. The second-class car was not very full, but there must have been fifteen or twenty people. The car seemed to climb right up on the engine, which, somehow or other, got itself partly turned round, and the passengers in the front part of the car escaped miraculously. The brakesman was on this end, and got his leg badly hurt and was considerably bruised. It was in the rear end of the second-class car that the loss of life took place. This part of the car got over the boiler and the escaping steam scalded the unfortunate passengers in that end to death."

A Horrible Sight.

"It was horrible," exclaimed Mr. McClure, putting his hands up to his face, as if to shut out an unpleasant vision, "to see those unfortunate men and women taken out of the windows of the car, which was lying on its side on the engine. Most of them were dead, or died not long after they were taken out. They all looked as if they had been boiled. Their flesh was all blistered and dropping from them. I saw one man taken out who was alive. He was the most horrible looking object I ever saw in my life. His flesh was dropping from him, and he was screaming in fearful agony. He was laid on the grass, and I afterwards saw the flesh from his hands lying there, just as if it had been a glove pulled off."

The Cause a Mystery.

"How did the accident occur?" was asked.

"I do not know," said Mr. McClure, "and nobody seemed to be able to tell. I had a talk on the way up to Ottawa with the engineer who was on the train, and who was badly, but not dangerously, injured, and he said that he could not account for it. He said the engine had passed the switch at St. Polycarpe and run about her own length beyond it, when sue suddenly seemed to buckle up, and fairly jumped off that track. The engineer said that the rails had not spread, and the only way he could account at all for the accident was that something had gone wrong with the fore truck."

A Curious Occurrence.

"One of the curious things about the accident," continued Mr. McClure, "was the way the express and baggage car twisted to one side, and ran into a box car, which was standing on the switch, knocking it into kindling wood. The express car fell over on its side, and the express agent, Sandy Mellon, was thrown out and cut and bruised a good deal, but not seriously hurt. He saved all his express matter and transferred it to the express car which came from Ottawa, and when it was leaving the station I saw him delivering his packages, although his face and hands were pretty well covered with plasters and rags, and his clothes looked as if he had been through a threshing machine."

This ended the interview.

Large Crowd at the Station.

A large crowd assembled at the depot here to meet the special which had gone down to the scene of the accident.

Three ambulances were in attendance and two or three undertakers' vans, but they were not used, as none of the bodies were brought up, they being kept for the inquest. Three of the victims are Ottawa people, George McCuaig, the fireman, Nelson O'Connor and Ed. Starrs.

McCuaig was employed on The Free Press here some years ago, but left the composing room and took up railroading.

A "LAMENTABLE PROJECT."

Financial Times Appears to Think Our Government is "Easy."

The Demon Dyspepsia—in olden times it was a popular belief that demons moved invisibly through the ambient air seeking to enter into men and trouble them. And once he enters a man it is difficult to dislodge him. Life that finds himself so possessed should know that a valiant friend to do battle for him with the unseen foe is Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, which are ever ready for the trial. ed

SHOCKING DETAILS OF HIS DEATH

Other Interesting Items Gathered Yesterday From All Over the County of York.

The restaurant of Mr. H. Hind, at Kew Beach, was broken into last night. The thieves got a lot of gum, about $5 worth of cigars, 5 gallons of ginger ale, and some candies. They also tried to break the lock off the store two doors west, but were frightened away by a dog.

Court of Revision on the Kingston-road sidewalk improvement took place last night. There were no objections to the project. In council, two resolutions were passed; one to erect a railing on the north side of Stevenson-avenue, and the other to instruct the Clerk to write to the Grand Trunk Railway Company, protesting against the manner in which their officials have repaired the bridge on Main-street, and asking that a walk be erected on the outside of the west side of the bridge.

A Shocking End.

The remains of the late William J. Griffiths arrived here this morning and will be interred to-morrow at Norway cemetery. Service will be held at Hope Methodist Church, of which he was a member, after which, Lodge Cambridge, S.O.E., and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen will fall in line and follow the remains to their last resting place. Later particulars show that his death was a most shocking one. When he saw that a collision was unavoidable, he attempted to jump from the cab of his engine. When the smoke of the collision had cleared away he was found with his body caught between the tender and the cab, his leg and right-arm pinned in an iron grasp, and his body hanging downward, dripping with blood. There was no way to rescue him. Men tried to release him, and could not. He was conscious, but suffered frightful agony. When the physicians came they were powerless to ease his suffering. His agonized face pleaded for death to relieve his suffering. An axe was brought with which to dispatch him, but the physicians said they would amputate his limbs in the customary manner, and after his legs and arm were taken off he swooned and died.
