SLICED SPONGE TO REPLACE PLUME ON FRENCH BONNET

New Style of Trimmings Displayed by Parisian Milliners For Next Season Crop Shows Tendency To Economy—Good Only in Dry Weather.

PARIS, Nov. 1.—Here's a bit of interesting news for long-suffering husbands. Parisian milliners have found a way to utilize the common or kitchen variety of sponge as a trimming for milady's hats, and if models now being displayed in a popular showroom may be taken as an indication of next season's styles, costly ostrich plumes or gold-plated braids will no longer be en regle.

To a mere man the new process of trimming seems to consist of several slices of a well-developed sponge, which are attached to the silky or velour covering of the hat frame by tiny bows of colored ribbon, although for those of more luxurious tastes and well-padded purses real gold braid may be substituted for the cheaper ribbon.

It is estimated that one good-sized sponge, purchased at a bargain counter for perhaps 50 cents, will furnish enough slices to adorn at least two Paris creations, but there still remains some doubt whether there will be a corresponding reduction in the cost of the "bonnets" to the ultimate consumer. However, there is nothing in the French copyright laws to prevent economical housewives taking advantage of this advance tip on next season's styles. As far as the use of sponge trimming is concerned, only one disadvantage is foreseen. Such hats will be useful only in dry weather.

MARCHE DU MONDE IS MART OF WORLD

New Commercial Market in Paris Will Cater To Trade of Globe.

Paris, Nov. 2.—An innovation of world's commerce is proposed by the Paris Marche du Monde in its creation and maintenance of an international market and trading place, shortly to be erected in the city of Paris.

The markets of the world today are open to the nations which are awake and mindful of the advantages to be derived from general activity in export trade. The leading nations of the world, important commercial bodies, economists, and, in fact, every man who has given thought to the matter, are unanimous in their preachings to stimulate and expand export trade of his or its nation.

But this is as far as they can go. Paris' Marche du Monde begins there, for it provides the place and the means by which export business may be secured. The Paris Marche du Monde will enable the producer to install himself and samples of his goods or products in the recognized commercial trade centre of the world, and will keep his goods constantly before the eyes of the buyers from the various markets.

World's Largest.

The Paris Marche du Monde will be one of the world's largest buildings, in so far as the area of ground covered is concerned, having a frontage of 850 feet and a depth of 600 feet. It covers nearly thirteen acres of ground, and is situated on the Quay de Passy, on the banks of the Seine, six stories in height, and will contain selling agencies, display rooms and offices of all the industries of the world from the various nations of the world. The participants will be grouped according to industry, there being 43 main groups provided for. It will contain more than 6,000 industrial spaces and over 300 offices, each having a size about 160 square feet.

The building itself will be one of the highest class of modern construction, and will contain the latest comforts and conveniences. The plans have been prepared by leading architects and engineers of France, and have been sanctioned by the French Government. In addition to the industrial locations, there will be found, as affiliated services, branches of leading banks, credit establishments, insurance and transportation companies, and, in fact, everything to assist and facilitate commercial transportations.

Americans in Early.

The first American banking institution to realize the importance of this enterprise and locate a branch in this building is the Bankers' Trust Company, having taken five units of space, according to a recent announcement.

At the present time the buyers seeking to examine the various makes of a certain line are obliged to visit several places widely separated in one city, or even several countries, in order to inspect the goods of different producers. This expenditure of effort, time and money will be entirely eliminated by the Paris Marche du Mond.

Owing to the enormous space in the building, the company has been able to place its rates for space at an extremely low figure. The spaces or units within the building will not be on the open floor, as in exppsitions, but, on the contrary, will be entirely inclosed like stores or offices in any city, the tenant arranging his own show window and the distribution of the space within his premises according to his own needs and desires.

Paris today is the central marketplace of the world. The Paris Marche du Monde, situated in this world's centre, will be the great commercial clearing house of the day.

The company has created a Bureau of Trade Opportunities for the benefit of producers desiring to get into touch with foreign merchants, buyers or representatives.

American firms are invited to avail themselves gratuitously of the services of this bureau. No expense is attached to this service by way of commission or otherwise, this being merely to lend assistance to international trade, the only purpose for which the company was organized.

PRINCESS PATS' BAND IS ONE OF THE FINEST

Famous Bandsmen Compose Majority of Members—Parade Sunday.

The majority of people in London are unaware of the fact that London now harbors one of the finest, if not the finest military band in Canada. Having been in existence but three months and practicing at least eight hours every day, this band has as yet not been heard by the public. It is hoped that when it is fully recruited, its strength will be forty members. At the present time it numbers about twenty-one, and includes twelve of the finest artists in the British Empire, graduates of Kneller School of band music there. Lieut. T. W. James who is the bandmaster was formerly head of the G. W. V. A. Band, Ottawa and was invited by the United States to take the band on tour in aid of the Liberty Loan. He was also head of the first Canadian band in France.

One of the latest additions to this band is W. Everson, considered one of the most celebrated solo cornet players in the world, who arrived from the old country on Monday last to join the Princess Patricias Band, for that is its name. Drummer Sadler of the fifth Lancers is another member of whom the band is very proud. Indeed he was perhaps the finest drummer in the old land, and his ingenuity as well as his musical ability is demonstrated by the fact that several of his percussion instruments are of his own manufacture.

Other distinguished members of this company are Solo Trombone Player Scholery of the 5th Royal Arch Lancers, Band Sergeant C. A. Matthison of the Bradford Regiment who does splendid work on the flute and piccolo; French horns Mace and Loney, both Kneller Hall men clarinet, players Robertson of the Scotch Guards and Maule of the Royal Scotch Fusiliers; R. Cready of the Trinity College of Music and Harber of thhe Royal Scotch Fusiliers. In the band there are five clarinets, a piccolo, a flute three French horns, a bass horn, a bass fiddle a zylophone and other percussion instruments two drums, etc. To these will be added saxophones, an oboe, bassoons, etc. The insruments now used belong to the band members themselves or are borrowed. However, a new set of instruments is on order, which will cost over $9,000. The band practices every morning for four hours, then turns itself into an orchestra and practices another four hours in the afternoon and again in the evening the men are seen singly or in groups playing on their instruments Lieut. James had an up-hill work at first recruiting the band, but he has had splendid support from Major Hugh Niven and other officers of the headquarters staff and now his band is realizing into something ahead of anything else of its kind in Canada. The only regret is that it will have to travel west with the Princess Patricia Regiment.

That the concert, given at the Grand Theatre on next Sunday night, at which the band will make its first public appearance, promises to be something finer than anything of its kind yet heard of in London, is testified by A. D. Jordan, Rev. Quintin Warner and other musicians whohave had the pleasure of attending some of the morning practices at the Tecumseh barracks. The Advertiser will never forget their rendition of the "Bronze Horse" and "The Hunting Scene" the other morning. The latter number begins with soft music of early morning introducing bird notes and the call of the hunt. Then bursts forth into the well-known hunting song "A Hunting We Will Go," following quickly by the galloping of the horses, and then the whole carried to grand climax giving the sense of great speed and dying away in the roll of the drum. The "Bronze Horse" will be given at the Sunday night concert as well as selections from "Pinafore" and solo numbers by the distinguished cornet player Everson. The concert is to be in aid of the Sick Children's Hospital.

INTELLECTUAL GENIUS ENIGMA TO PHYSICIANS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 3.—(United News).—Physicians at the city hospital were puzzled today at the plight of a man about 50 years old, whom they call an "intellectual genius," but who knows not his name, birthplace, or his age.

He quotes Shakespeare and Homer, knows the canals of Venice, the wharves of Liverpool, the boulevards of Paris, and can prove the binominal theorem. Still he does not know who he is nor whence he came.

Stranger than the mythological "no man" is the tale of this person garbed in laborer's attire, but whose brain wears the clothing of a college professor.

He can remember Sienkiewicz's story of the feasts of Nero in "Quo Vadis," the wandering of Ulysses from the shores of Illium, and the campaign of Douglas against Abraham Lincoln, but he doesn't know that a patrolman found him wandering and sent him to the hospital.

Physicians are making a study of the man with hope of restoring his faculties.

LIGHT CROPS CAUSE FAMINE SWEEP OVER CHINESE PROVINCES

Death by Starvation Threatens 20,000,000 Unless Help Comes.

PEKING, Nov. 1.—(By the Associated Press).—Famine conditions in Chihli, Shansi, Shantung and Honan provinces, due to repeated light crops, followed by almost complete failure this summer, are reported by investigators to be the worst in years. It is estimated that 20,000,000 people are in peril of death from starvation and disease during the coming winter unless help on a large scale is afforded. Thousands of families are already afoot making their way northward in the hope of finding food and employment. Others are selling their belongings piecemeal to procure food at greatly-advanced prices. Farm and draught animals are being disposed of for a song for lack of fodder to keep them and fuel to cook them if slaughtered.

Dr. F. F. Tucker of Tehchow, Shantung Province, and Dr. E. J. Peill of Siaochang, also in Shantung, report that being without food and unable to buy it, people are living on weeds and the leaves of trees, cottonseed and bran. Children, especially girls, are being sold or given away, they say.

John Griffith of the Canadian Presbyterian Mission, Changteho, North Honan, writes:

"The last fading hope was that at least a crop of quick-maturing buckwheat might be secured after a late rain. But no rain has come and that hope is now entirely gone. Every road northward swarms with the hunger-pinched humanity. The Peking-Hankow Railway is generously allowing refugees to travel free on all trains bound for South Honan and Hupeh and these are crowded with families having many little children or old people who cannot face the trek over the mountain roads to Shansi and Shensi.

The American Red Cross has appropriated $500,000 for the famine sufferers in China and Japan has promised a large amount of rice.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

EGG PRICES FIRMER ON LOCAL MARKET

Oats Takes Drop, While Price of Hay Advances—Turnips Sell at 50c Bushel.

With the active demand and the small supplies, eggs moved up to from 66c and 70c, wholesale, and from 75c to 78c, retail, at the local market this morning. This jump has been expected to occur this week, but not until Saturday. Whether they will be any firmer on Saturday could not be said, but officials say that they will not be any cheaper.

Oats were offered in large quantities and prices fell down to from $1.80 to $1.85 per cwt., and 61½c to 62¾c per bushel. The demand is slow.

Wheat was slightly firmer, when prices of $2 and $2.10 moved up to $2.10 per bushel. This makes all quotations for the cwt. lots $3.50.

Timothy hay advanced from $30 to $33 per ton. Clover hay brought from $27 to $28 per ton. Both are in good demand and the quality is of the best.

Several large supplies of turnips were offered, and the price for these was 50c per bushel.

Live hogs remained at $16.50 per cwt., but buyers predict that they will be lower before long. All are of the opinion that quotations on hogs will be much lower before the end of next week.

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE.

Toronto, Nov. 4.—Paper stocks, both listed and unlisted, met with heavy reverses in dull trading on the exchange this morning. The tone of the market generally was heavy.

Abitibi sold down to 65, with a drop of 1½ points between the sales, while Spanish River common lost 1½ at 94½. Brompton declined 1¾ to 65¾, and Laurentide was weak at 97.

C. P. R. was the one bright feature of the market, and, after fairly active trading the price advanced steadily from 138¼ to 140½. The railroad stock closed yesterday 1½ points below this mark. Strength of rails on the New York exchange this morning had much to do with the bullish sentiment expressed by traders here.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

New York, Nov. 4.—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Wide openings in Southern Pacific and Reading, the dominant issues of the previous day, were the features at the outset of today's stock market session. A block of 8,000 Southern Pacific changed hands at 114½ to 114¼, against yesterday's final price of 114½, while 4,000 Reading sold from 103 to 102⅝, the latter figure representing an over-night loss of a small fraction. Other active rails embraced the Pacifics, grangers, coal and cotton groups, which were higher by fractions to 1 point, except Canadian Pacific, which lost one point. Shippings and equipments also improved, but Mexican Petroleum, Crucible Steel, International Paper and Sears-Roebuck denoted pressure.

Atlantic Sugar, however, strengthened over-night to 75, after closing at a new low of 73¼ yesterday. Wayagamack was considerably weaker, falling 2 points to 128. ALDERMAN APPEALS TO OUTSIDE HELP Wants Expert Engineers to Examine Ridout Street Bridge.

Ald. W. A. Wilson is planning to have the Ridout street bridge examined by expert engineers. He believes that it can be strengthened considerably by tightening some of the braces and rods at a very slight cost. City Engineer Brazier maintains that such work would cost a considerable amount, and that little good would result from it.

Confident that some improvement can be effected, the alderman has appealed to outside help and expects to have the structure examined within a few days.

LOTS OF SULPHUR WATER UNDER CITY

Four Million Gallons Per Day If Purified Could Be Used.

Preliminary reports on the possibility of using sulphur water to augment the city's drinking supply may be available for the public utilities commission when it meets Friday afternoon. According to present opinions at least four million gallons could be obtained from this source. Large supplies of this kind of water are said to be available 150 feet below the surface of any part of London.

The quantity available cannot be estimated as it has never been pumped. The pressure has been sufficient to force it to ground level in any shafts that have been sunk without the need of artificial help. In fact at the foot of Dundas street a flowing well had to be capped and controlled by a valve because the pressure was so great.

According to General Manager E. V. Buchanan, there are good prospects of purifying the water as it has been successfully accomplished at Dayton, Fla. Purification is accomplished by taking the water to the top of a tower and flowing it down ripple like steps of an artificial cascade. Having been thus aerated, it is treated with lime which recipitates with the sulphur. When the sludge is drawn off, no trace of odor or offensive flavor remains, it is claimed.

MAN IS SERIOUSLY INJURED WHEN HE FALLS FIVE STORIES

Montreal, Nov. 4.—Falling five stories to the cellar in a freight elevator at the Wilson chambers, 230 McGill street, Alexander Dey, 27 years of age, who lives on the top floor of the building, suffered a fractured skull and fractured right leg. Dey had returned from the cellar in the elevator when, as he was about to open the gate on the fourth floor, the elevator dropped. His wife and his sister-in-law heard the crash and rushed to the cellar, where they found him lying across the elevator, one foot caught between the iron side bar and the side wall. An ambulance was summoned, and it was not until the arrival of the doctor that he could be released from his position.

ELEVEN CAR PARKERS ARE EACH FINED $2

Result of Police Campaign on Dundas Street During Evening Hours.

As the result of a campaign instituted by the police force against motorists parking their care on Dundas street after business hours, eleven local men were fined $2 each in police court today. They were L. B. Fonger, B. Silverman, W. J. Clark, William Hexter, T. Hodkinson, A. A. Werlick, N. Fox, E. N. Gould, G. F. Morris, Roy Robinson and W. H. Hire.

The chief of police stated today that the habit must be stopped. Motorists who attend the theatres park their cars on Dundas street for two and three hours at a time during the evenings, thereby creating a great menace to traffic between Richmond and Clarence streets. There have been few complaints on this score during business hours.

P. G. Mitchell, Wm. Turnbull, W. P. Dowell and W. G. E. Manness were assessed $3 and costs each for breaches of the motor vehicle act, while John Jow was fined $2 and costs for infringements of the same act.

One drunk paid $10 into the coffers of the court.

WOULD COST MUCH MONEY TO HEAT HOMES BY HYDRO

Power for Seven Months Would Mean Expenditure of $357.

Heating London homes by electricity is wholly impracticable even if a power shortage did not exist, according to a statement given out by the public utilities commission today.

The city is now using approximately 11,000 horsepower to operate factories, run street cars, light homes and for other purposes. Should an attempt be made to heat houses with electrical current the demand would increase from 11,000 horsepower to 180,000 horsepower. The lowest domestic rate for electricity is one cent a kilowatt hour, less ten per cent for prompt payment. Power consumed at the average rate of 10.5 horsepower for a seven-month season would cost $357 net for the whole period. Nine tons of coal to do the same work even at $20 a ton would cost the approximately small amount of $180.
