Service

No other single word can better summarize the reasons for the pre-eminence of the Cunard-Canadian Steamships in Atlantic travel, than the word SERVICE.

From the moment you first seek information regarding schedules, reservations, tickets, etc., until you have reached your destination, you are conscious of a thoughtful attentiveness on the part of the Cunard agents and employees, which lends very considerably to your enjoyment of the trip.

With A Carload Of Haberdashery

Houlton, Me., June 20—George McGuire, deputy-sheriff of Island Falls, arrived here tonight with three men charged with breaking, entering and larceny from a clothing store in Fort Fairfield Sunday night.

The men were discovered trying to enter another store at Island Falls when caught.

They had an automobile containing six suits of clothes, shoes and rubbers, shirts, neckties and raincoats.

They will be given a hearing in the municipal court Tuesday morning.

Very Impressive Reception Given William H. Taft

Was Guest of Honor at the Pilgrims Banquet in London Monday Night.

(By Associated Press)

London, June 20.—Britain's foremost statesmen, jurists and lawyers and a great body of American friends joined in an impressive reception to William Howard Taft, chief justice of the United States, upon his first public appearance in England tonight. He was the guest of honor of the Pilgrims banquet, at which five members of the cabinet, many former ministers and the greatest legal minds in the country lent their presence.

Rarely before has a visiting American received such a spontaneous welcome. The King, the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught sent messages of greeting, and the Earl of Balfour and the Very Rev. William Ralph Inge, dean of St. Paul's testified to the affection and admiration in which Mr. Taft is held by the English people.

Mr. Taft was introduced by the Earl of Balfour, who expressed the hope that the distinguished visitor would not measure the warmth of Great Britain's greeting by the prevailing chilly weather.

"Our climate may be changeable, but our hearts are constant and true," he said. "The high esteem in which we hald the former President is not one that will change with the winds."

His auditors listened with rapt attention to Mr. Taft's description of the American republic and his explanations of America's policy of foreign aloofness aid some of the reasons for divergencies between the two peoples.

They vigorously applauded when he declared that the sinister activities of hyphenated groups in the United States were overwhelmed by public opinion, and that among naturalized Americans none were more loyal than British and Canadians.

Mr. Taft was followed by Dean Inge, who pleaded for greater solidarity between the two nations.

Those who sat at the principal table with Lord Desborough, Chief Justice Taft and Ambassador Harvey, included the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Earl of Balfour, the Earl of Derby, the Earl of Devonshire, Viscount Cave, Lord Lee of Fareham, Lord Carson, Lord Buckmaster, Lord Sumner and James M. Beck, solicitor general of the United States.

The other guests included Viscount Astor, the American consul-general Robert P. Skinner, and the staff of the American embassy.

Mr. Taft proceeded briefly to review the history of the relations between Great Britain and America, in the course of which he said: "No trouble arises between the two countries that we of America do not all of us look forward to its settlement either by negotiation of by arbitration. Any other event is not considered for a moment. This American state of mind is a constant factor in our relations; it sometimes produces an apparent indifference or lack of excitement on the part of our people over irritating issues that is misleading to the British observer."

He alluded to another source of misunderstanding—the gigantic experiment which America was engaged in trying to Americanize masses of immigrants congregated in large cities where they retained the same environment as in their own home countries and did not feel the Americanizing influences to which earlier immigrants were subjected and whose home and racial prejudices had not been mitigated, as had been hoped, by living under the American flag.

Mr. Taft then referred to the reaction following the overwhelming strain of the war and the interval of convalescence, which was not a period of good nature or common sense and which all the allied peoples were now experiencing.

"We must regard bickerings and unreasonable sensitivness," he added, "not as a discouragement, but as a symptom of recovery."

He was unable to touch upon the question of why America did not enter the League of Nations but could only say, looking back over the controversy, that American membership in the League would have had to overcome a deep seated popular conviction, confirmed by a century and a quarter's experience of the wisdom of America keeping out of European entanglements.

Water Still Rising In St. John River

Came Up Over Five Feet at Fredericton in Twenty-Four Hours.

Fredericton, June 20—The water in the St. John river rose over five feet during the past twenty-four hours and is still coming up today, the heavy rains on the head waters of the St. John during the past few days being responsible.

One well known and authentic river man said today that there was now a freshet of eight feet, and every prospect of still more. There is considerable drift wood and logs coming down the river today and local men are busy trying to catch some drift wood. At the St. John River Log Driving Company plant wire lines have been placed to keep the freshet from tearing away the booms and carrying them out.

The rainfall here during the past 48 hours amounted to 1.07 inches, or almost as much rain as fell for the whole month of June, last year.

Traffic on the Canadian Eastern section of the Canadian National Railways was delayed two and a half hours, last evening, by two cars of pulpwood leaving the rails at Taymouth, late yesterday afternoon.

A wrecking train was sent out from Fredericton and a track about 100 feet in length laid around the wreck to enable the train from this city going to Newcastle to proceed on its way. The delay cause was about two and a half or three hours.

Secret Enquiry Held In Peters Murder Affair

Examination of Five Witnesses, Brings Ward-Peters Mystery No Nearer Solution.

White Plains, N. Y., June 19—After a court inquiry held behind closed doors, at which five witnesses were examined, Westchester county officials tonight were no nearer a solution of the blackmail plot which is alleged to have led up to the slaying last month of Clarence Peters, former sailor, by Walter S. Ward, wealthy baker.

Nor did the authorities gain any additional knowledge of the reasons for the continued absence from the State of the slayer's father, George S. Ward, head of the big baking concern that bears his name. Today's inquiry before Justice Morschauser was designed, in part, to gain knowledge as to whether or not the elder Ward had knowledge of the circumstances surrounding the case.

The witnesses questioned by Justice Morscheuser and District Attorney Weeks were Alan R. Campbell and E. M. Rabinold, the defendant's attorneys; Ralph D. Ward, his brother; Leland Stanford Wood, his brother-in-law, and Mrs. Wood, Ward's sister. Each remained in the room but a brief time and all but Campbell refused too discuss what had transpired.

Campbell said he had been questioned concerning George Ward's knowledge of the case, as well as the millionaire baker's continued absence from the jurisdiction of the grand jury subpoenas that have been issued for him. He replied, he said, that he knew nothing about either matter. Ralph Ward is said to have declared his father was away on business. Wood is understood to have denied any knowledge of his father-in-law's affairs, and Mrs. Wood was reported to have replied indignantly that she knew nothing whatever of the events under probe.

Justice Morschauser adjourned the inquiry for several days. It was announced that yet another woman, not hitherto identified with the case, would be a witness at the next hearing, for which no date was set.

Prior to the court hearing Deputy-Sheriff Cherico went to New York, where he interviewed a taxicab driver who was known to have passed near the scene Ward named as that of Peters' slaying the night of the shooting. It had been thought that the cab's two passengers might have been the mysterious "Jack the Speeder" and Charlie Ross," alleged by Ward to have been Peters co-conspirators in the blackmail plot against him. But the chauffeur told Cherico that his passengers were "two prominent bootleggers."

No date has been set for the Peters inquest, but it probably will be held next Thursday.

Labor Convention Settles Down To Its Final Work

Officers of A. F. of L. Instructed to Wage Fight Against Sales Tax.

Cincinnati, O., June 20—(By the Associated Press)—Opposition to a retail sales tax with a warning that effort can be expected to have it written into the soldier bonus bill, and the redeclaration of a policy opposed to unrestricted immigration marked the action today of the American Federation of Labor convention as it settled down to its final week's work.

By unanimous vote the convention directed the officers of the Federation to wage the fight against the tax sales with "unabated force" the decision of the delegates coming without debate on the legislation committee's report. The immigration policy provoked only brief discussion during which Max Greenstein of the Jewelry Workers' Union, urged unrestricted immigration at least for skilled workers, while Charles L. Bayne, of the Shoe Workers' Union, replied there was "too much unemployment in this country now without bringing more immigrants."

Administration of the Federal Budget Law also brought before the convention by the committee report asserting that the "budget administrators have prostituted the high purpose of the budget system by using it for political propaganda." The committee, however, declared in favor of a "satisfactory budget system." Special complaint was made by the committee that administrators of the budget had been overzealous in reducing expenditures of the Department of Labor.

Faced with a heavy programme for the final week, the delegates were not inclined to debate. Quick action generally ruled in the disposition of all questions and adjournment came when no more work was ready for immediate consideration.

Executive Meeting Of The Union Of N. B. Municipalities

Decided to Hold the Annual Convention at Edmundston During August.

Sackville, N.B., June 19—A meeting of the executive of the Union of New Brunswick Municipalities held in Town Hall with President Campbell of Sackville in the chair.

The executive decided to accept the invitation of the Town of Edmundston to hold its annual convention there on the 23, 24 and 25 days of August.

The president and secretary were appointed a committee to prepare a paper for the consideration of the union on "The Establishment of an Institution to Care for the Feeble Minded in New Brunswick."

Dr. Roberts will also be invited to further discuss the Health Act.

There was an open discussion on the care of the poor by the Municipalities, and the Government will be again urged to pass further legislation compelling the Municipalities to care for their poor in proper institutions.

The matter of questioning the wisdom of the minimum salaries for school teachers was also discussed and referred to the convention.

The secretary was instructed to protest against the recent Stamp Act on receipts in relation to Municipal taxes.

The failure of the proper instruction in the French language by qualified French teachers capable of conversational French in the public schools was discussed. The executive will not refer it to the union for discussion and no definite action was taken that the question might become political.

Church Acts In Behalf Of Pastor In Toils Of Court

Baptist Clergyman Indicted for Misappropriation of Funds — Denominational Court Investigating.

Fredericton, N B., June 20—As a result of representations which were made to the Attorney General by a deputation of prominent members of the Baptist church, the indictment against Ray Parent, of Douglas, who had been sent up for trial before the May session of the York Circuit Court on a charge of theft of church funds from the United Baptist church of Douglas, was not proceeded with at that time, pending further enquiry by church officials into the facts of the case. The announcement that no indictment would be proceeded with was made by P.J. Hughes, K.C., who appeared for the Crown at the preliminary hearing before Police Magistrate MacKay when the case was called on May 30, by Mr. Justice Barry, and the case was consequently stood over until the following term of the court.

The case has since been investigated by a denominational court, composed of three clergymen and two laymen, at Douglas, which has only recently concluded a hearing of the matter. This court was composed of Rev. Dr. W.C. Kierstead and Rev. W.D. Wilson, of this city, Rev. H.H. Ferguson, of Devon, ex-Warden Ernest W. Stairs, of Southampton, and W. B. Wallace, of this city. Although it will be several days yet before it is expected that the decision of the court on its findings will be announced, it is understood that the view taken by the court, after hearing the evidence, is that this is not a case of criminal intent, but rather of carelessness in accounting and loose bookkeeping.
