THE BAR ASSOCIATION.

Constitution Adopted—What it Provides for—Delegates Lunched by the City—The Officers.

Montreal, Sept. 16.—(Special.)—At this morning's session of the Canadian Bar Association the constitution was formally adopted. Its objects are set forth as being the advance of the science of jurisprudence and international law; the securing of proper legislation; the upholding of the honor of the profession and the encouraging of cordial intercourse among the members of the bar in Canada.

The delegates and their friends were entertained at luncheon by the city on Mount Royal, the Mayor proposing the toast of the association.

The fear seems to have taken possession of younger members of the bar of Quebec that the object of the association is to undermine the system of French civil law that prevails in Quebec, and La Minerve voiced their opinion editorially this morning. In replying to the toast, Hon J. A. Robidoux emphatically denied this charge. This, he said, was not the country of the French, Irish, Scotch or English, but of Canadians.

Hon. Mr. Peters, Premier of Prince Edward Island, also spoke, as did Mr. O. A. Howland of Toronto. They had, said Mr. Howland, come not to destroy nor deprecate, but to see and learn.

At the afternoon meeting Sir Alexander Lacoste, Chief Justice of the Queen's Bench, delivered an able address in which he dwelt on the influence the association might have in removing provincial prejudices and misunderstandings. "I do not believe," he said, "that your association will endeavor to assimilate the laws of the others to our own, but I am sure that no one will object to borrow from one another certain changes and modifications which, though not destroying the spirit, nor the ensemble of each other's law, would adapt themselves better to the needs of our time, and of our country, or would favor the intercourse between the provinces."

Sir Henry Strong, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, sent a telegram regretting his enforced absence and endorsing the association.

The officers elected by the association to-day are: Hon. President, Sir Oliver Mowat, Minister of Justice; President, Hon. J. A. Robidoux, Batonnier-General of the Province of Quebec. Vice-Presidents: Hon. T. C. Casgrain, Quebec; Mr. O. A. Howland, Toronto; Nova Scotia, Mr. C. S. Harrington; New Brunswick, Mr. William Pugsley; Prince Edward Island, Hon. Frederick Peters; British Columbia, Mr. Aulay Morrison; Manitoba, Mr. J. S. Ewart; Northwest Territories, Hon. Mr. Haultain. Treasurer, Mr. C. B. Carter, Montreal; Secretary, Mr. J. E. Bulmer, Halifax. Executive Council: Messrs. H. L. Beique, D'Alton McCarthy, Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, Hon. F. Langelier, John A. Gemmill, Hon. L. H. Davies, George F. Gregory, Hon. D. McNeil.

Trade With Kootenay.

Edmonton Bulletin.

C. Gallagher returned on Monday's train from the coast. He went straight through to Victoria, arriving there on Sunday evening. He returned to Vancouver and found things lively on account of the regatta. They are awaiting the Dominion charter to build a railroad from Vancouver to Rossland. The capital has been subscribed and the provincial charter obtained. The road will be independent of the C.P.R. and Vancouver people are expecting great things from it when built. At Revelstoke Mr. Gallagher found over 60 cars of freight waiting for an opportunity to be transported to Rossland and Trail, and he thinks the difficulties of transportation on the Canadian side of the line will interfere considerably with our trade in the Kootenay. One Winnipeg traveler said that his firm shipped all their goods into Rossland and Trail by the Northern Pacific through the States via Spokane.

Roy Gordon Acquitted.

In the Sessions yesterday, D. R. McDonald, alias Roy Gordon, the bicycle rider, was arraigned on four charges of theft of bicycles. He was acquitted on all of them.

CHARITY ABUSED.

How Commissioner Coatsworth Was Induced to Buy Beer for a Very Thirsty Fellow.

Commissioner Coatsworth is well known for the kind heart which is concealed beneath a rugged exterior. Yesterday he had an experience that somewhat disturbed the usual calm which characterizes him. As he was sitting in the small apartment which is known in civic circles as the "Commissioner's Office," his meditations were disturbed by the entrance of a man who unfolded a tale of woe which embraced all the ills that flesh is heir to, and ranged from a large family of small children down to no work and starvation. The individual also produced a letter of recommendation, purporting to be signed by Mr. Ted Gegg, the well-known officer whose absence is, generally speaking, much preferable to his company, but who, nevertheless, is highly respected where he is best known. The Commissioner's heart was moved, and after a diligent search he found in his pants pocket a 10-cent piece of silver, which was speedily transferred to the grimy hand of the starving man. A blessing and a large-sized chunk of advice were followed by the injunction to go and get a good meal and with a heart overflowing with gratitude, which flowed from his lips with as much freedom as butter off a hot plate, the visitor departed.

Billy Fitzgerald, who keeps watch and ward over the Commissioner and is held responsible for his safety, had his suspicions of the bona fides of the visitor, however, and when he saw that he was joined by a chum outside, and the pair made off in the direction of a saloon, he lost no time in whispering his suspicions in his worthy chief's ear. Determined to ascertain the truth, Commissioner Coatsworth, having armed himself with a dispensation from the Mayor exonerating him from discipline by his Quarterly Board, set out to follow his late visitor. He boldly entered the first saloon he came to, and swallowing his qualms of conscience, and the flavor of stale beer, with which the atmosphere was laden, he made a thorough inspection, but without success. In the second bar room which he visited, however, he was more successful. Standing at the other end of the bar, with his chum, was the man he was after, and just at the moment the bartender placed two huge "bootlegs" of foaming lager before them. A few strides and the Commissioner had his man by the coat collar.

"You scoundrel, did you not tell me you were starving, and here you are spending the money I gave you for this vile stuff," was his greeting.

The surprised man was indignant at being assaulted and protested that he had never seen the Commissioner before. That worthy gentleman was almost convinced that his spectacles needed cleaning, when he suddenly spied the corner of the letter of introduction protruding from the fellow's pocket, and snatching it he held it up before him. "I'll have you arrested for fraud, you rascal," cried the Commissioner, and as he paused in his denunciation to struggle with his choler and a bad cold in the head, the fellow broke loose, made a dash for liberty and was lost to view.

The Commissioner gazed sadly at the beer and walked out as the other fellow, with a wink and broad smile, emptied the two "bootlegs" and congratulated himself on his luck.

THE BRIGADE CAMPS.

Large Crowds Witnessed the First Drill—Major-General Gascoigne Inspected the Battalions—The New Rifle.

Niagara, Ont., Sept. 17.—Large crowds yesterday witnessed the first drill of the men who have been under canvas here since Tuesday. Major-Gen. Gascoigne inspected the 31st, 35th, 5th and 39th Battalions, and expressed himself as highly pleased with the general appearance and physique of the men. Later, the Major-General visited the rifle ranges, near Fort Mississaqui, where the 12th Battalion of York Rangers were engaged in musketry practice.

Lieut.-Col. Buchan, instructor of musketry, assisted by 17 instructors from the Royal Canadian Regiment, is busy teaching the men the use of the new Lee-Enfield rifle, and, judging from the comments of the men at the ranges yesterday, the rifle is meeting with much favor.

The officers, non-commissioned officers and men number 1802.

The Major-General was last night tendered a dinner by the headquarters staff, and left this morning.

The Camp at Kingston.

Kingston, Sept. 17.—The brigade camp at Barriefield is composed of 800 men and 200 horses. Medical inspection was performed by Surgeon-Major Neilson, A Battery, P.M.O. Eleven of the men were rejected for service on account of over age and lack of proper measurements—six from the 47th Battalion, three from the 45th, and two from the 4th Hussars.

WELLAND COUNTY FAIR.

Fine List of Entries and a Success Except in Point of Attendance.

Welland, Sept. 17.—(Special.)—The first of the county fairs opened in Welland today. The rain of last night and threatening clouds of this morning greatly reduced the attendance promised. The fair, under new management, was the greatest possible success, except in attendance. The entries were 549, gate receipts $262.80. The poultry exhibit was the finest ever seen at a county show.

The mile bicycle race was won by Ellis and the halfmile by Hemmings. 2:30 trot—Clark's Miss Vic first, James' Josephine 2, McKinney's Mamie Mack 3. 3-minue trot—Holcombe's Slick first, Record's Baby H 2, Van Alsine's Stella 3.

An Enormous Cylindrical Casting.

When the immense drying cylinder of the E. B. Eddy Company's new tissue paper machine arrived at Hull the other day a good many guesses were made as to its weight, so the Black & Clawson Company of Hamilton, Ohio, the makers of the machine, were written to and asked to give the exact weight of this enormous casting, and they replied that they did not weigh the large dryer accurately after it was finished, but from a careful estimate they make the finished weight to be 15,870 lbs. Their reason for not putting the cylinder on to their scales after it was finished was because they did not want to have to turn the wagon when loaded with the cylinder for fear of breaking the wagon, and on account of the danger of moving such a very large, cumbersome and heavy casting. So the question of its exact weight must remain in doubt. That it is within a few pounds of eight tons seems certain, and it is therefore the largest and heaviest cylindrical casting in Canada, probably one of the largest in America.

The entire paper machine is now being set up, and if one is to judge from the appearance of the machine, the extent and quality of the paper to be turned out, it looks as if the Eddy Company had a good thing in this their last (seventh) paper machine, and it looks as if the output therefrom would be of the very best quality. One of the most experienced men in America in the tissue and thin paper line is expected at the mills early next week, when the machine starts up.

Northwest Missions.

Edmonton Bulletin.

Rev. Mr. Scott arrived on Monday's train. He has been in Winnipeg for some two months, where he underwent an operation at the hospital. His health did not allow of his attendance at the Synod. His daughter and Miss McKnight arrived with him. Miss McKnight goes to assist the Rev. Mr. Robertson, whose wife recently died, in his mission and as governess to his children. Mr. Scott has been engaged in mission work at Vermilion, Peace River, for ten years, has visited Cree and Beaver Indians in their camps continually, and has always traveled on foot by snowshoes in the winter, and by canoe and on foot in the summer time. They are endeavoring to get a sufficiently good knowlege of the language of the Beaver Indians to reduce it to writing so that the Scriptures may be translated to their own language for them. The party left for the north yesterday.

TYNAN HAD NO PLOT AT ALL

That is the View of an English Journalist.

WAS SENT FROM NEW YORK

By the Physical Force Party to Make a Show of Doing Something.

Finding Himself Shadowed the Fenian Got Scared and Decided to Peach—Then He Began Drinking and Talked of Blowing Up the Queen and the Czar—Another Suggestion Is That He is an Agent of Scotland Yard.

New York, Sept. 17.—Mr. Julian Ralph cables from London to The Journal: I am informed by an intelligent English journalist, who has been studying the news at first hand among the detectives, that Tynan had no plot at all, but that he and his accomplices were sent over by the physical force party in New York to do something in repayment for the money it is collecting. After the men reached Europe, they took a house in the suburbs of Antwerp and manufactured bombs, but without any definite idea what they were to do with them. The plot was to be matured after other men had been employed.

TYNAN GOT SCARED

Finding themselves shadowed from the instant they left New York, Tynan became afraid, and exposed the whole business to the English police. After Tynan had decided to peach, he took to drinking heavily, and boasted at various times that he was going to blow up the Czar and Queen, or Marlborough House, just as the humor seized him. I send this, because of the standing of my informant, also because it tallies well with everything that has been made public, and goes a great way towards clearing up the confusion of the telegraphic reports from all over Europe.

News of the Antwerp dynamiters is still reeled off by the yard, but the more one reads the less one knows. All the rest of the news is contradictory, and leaves the reader in the plight of the blind man groping in a labyrinth.

The German press imagines the plot was at least partially against the Czar, and in Belgium leading papers declare that the plot was jointly against the Czar and the Royalty of London, but France scouts the idea, and Paris papers all take the ground that England has caught Fenians, but wishes to drag in the Czar in order to make it appear that she is guardian of the peace and safety of all Europe.

WHAT A NIHILIST SAYS.

A Nihilist tells The Daily Telegraph that it is wretchedly absurd to imagine that Nihilists are such idiots as to unite with the Irish, who in every case upset their own plans by treachery. He says the Nihilists have but two safe asylums—England and America—and to co-operate with the Irish would close England against them. He adds that the Nihilist branch in America does not possess enough money to "stake" anyone, as these Antwerp wretches were outfitted. To tell the truth, nothing has as yet been disclosed to connect Tynan and his bomb-throwers with a plot against the Czar.

WAS TYNAN A SPY?

The Westminster Gazette, perceiving the widest latitude for guesswork, announces the theory that Tynan never was the genuine "No. 1," but played at the most a secondary part in the Cavendish-Burke atrocity. The Westminster Gazette suggests that Tynan is more likely to prove a spy in the pay of the English police.

This theory, it says, will account for his immunity from arrest during the last 14 years, and it will account for his having been seen in friendly company with a Scotland Yard man at Boulogne soon after the Dublin horror. It will also account for the present fact that Inspector Walsh visits his prisoner several times daily, and on Monday spent two hours with Tynan over a bottle of wine, and at Tynan's request Walsh had him removed to a more comfortable cell."

TYNAN'S BOASTING.

Tynan's loud boasting of American citizenship and the telegrams to the White House have already had the desired effect in Paris, where, it is said, the Government was disposed to grant extradition, but must now satisfy itself whether Tynan is a naturalized American, because if he is it would be peculiar to surrender to a second country a citizen of a third.

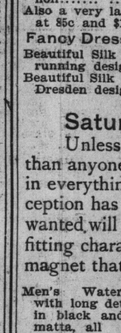
The Glasgow police hear that Bell came into their city very gingerly, carrying a black leather valise. They are busy hunting bombs that may have come in it. They say he came with letters to a dangerous dynamitard, now dead, and had not the time to arrange new connection with the inner circle of desperate men in the local Fenian organization. The same police say they are able to prove that Bell was in communication with Tynan while in Glasgow.

THINKS HE IS A SPY.

New York, Sept. 17.—Among those who deride the suggestion that P. J. P. Tynan is or has been concerned in a dynamite plot against British officials is Gen. O'Byrne, Commissioner of Charities.

"In my opinion," said Gen. O'Byrne yesterday, "Tynan is nothing more nor less than an agent of the British Government, and in this matter he is acting entirely in concert with the Scotland Yard authorities. I have always believed that he was not at heart a friend of the Irish cause. He has never explained how it was that he managed to keep a handsome cottage at Audubon Park and live for so many years without work. His book proved the character of the man, if nothing else would. And here is another significant circumstance. Why did not the British authorities wait until he landed in Dublin, when they could hold him without the necessity of any extradition proceedings? Besides, for a man who was engaged in a secret desperate enterprise, Tynan was much too talkative."

Chief Detective O'Byrne denied that the New York police had anything to do with the apprehension of Tynan and the other alleged dynamiters, as asserted in a cablegram from London.



Do You Use It?

It's the best thing for the hair under all circumstances. Just as no man by taking thought can add an inch to his stature, so no preparation can make hair. The utmost that can be done is to promote conditions favorable to growth. This is done by Ayer's Hair Vigor. It removes dandruff, cleanses the scalp, nourishes the soil in which the hair grows, and, just as a desert will blossom under rain, so bald heads grow hair, when the roots are nourished. But the roots must be there. If you wish your hair to retain its normal color, or if you wish to restore the lost tint of gray or faded hair use

AT TORONTO THEATRES

"THE THOROUGHBRED."

A thoroughly pleased audience witnessed the presentation at the Grand last night of Ralph Lumley's latest success, "Thoroughbred." It is a pure comedy and strikingly illustrative of the characteristics of English life. The leading role is that of the exceedingly virtuous but well-to-do merchant, the Mayor of the town, who has been led into purchasing and running a race horse in order to assist an impecunious but aristocratic racing family to retrieve its fortunes. It is taken by Thomas Q. Seabrooke, who, with Maggie Holloway Fischer, as his wife, did some very good character acting. E. M. Pitt, as Lord Sandacre, the aristocratic racing man, Isabel Evesson and William Norris, who assume the roles of his daughter and son respectively and Edgar Davenport, the American millionaire, all looked and played their parts remarkably well. Edwin Thanhauser, as the dude, and Lucille Nunn, the stuttering sister of the American, both made the best of the specialties assigned to them, and Maud White, as the daughter of the sporting merchant, was piquant and vivacious. The company is well balanced, the stage setting is good and the play is one of the best light comedies that have been seen at the Grand for some time.

THE COTTON SPINNER.

"The Cotton Spinner," which comes to the Toronto Opera House next week, is said to be not only a stirring play, but also a striking and amusing picture of life in the South. There are four acts, in each of which the interest rises until it culminates in the elaborate scene of the cotton mill, in the third, and the startling cyclorama explosion. The plot deals with a secret marriage, which is regarded by a proud Southern family as a mesalliance, and some of the situations are very strong. Several of the climaxes are thrilling, and the company is said to have been so well selected that the play loses nothing in the acting. The leading part, that of a good-natured gambler, Heath Honlore, is taken by Mr. F. A. Anderson, who is well known in Toronto, and the heroine is Miss Mileen Moretta. Several of the characters are copied from persons known to the author in real life, especially "Randy," "the tired girl," played by Miss Alice Truedelle, who is said to be very amusing. In the second act Billy Barlow introduces a number of songs and dances, and the Columbia Trio also appear. The sale of seats is now in progress, and matinees will be given on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

A NEW LIGHT OPERA.

A comic opera without a topical song and entirely destitute of buffoonery is a novelty, and that is what Messrs. Canary & Ledeyer, the managers of Lillian Russell, proclaim their latest venture, "An American Beauty," to be, presented at the Grand the first three nights of next week. Messrs. Hugh Morton and Gustave Kerker, the authors of "An American Beauty," have departed altogether, it is said, from the conventional in their latest work. They have written it to suit the talents of the fair Miss Russell, and she will have many chances to display her abilities as a comedienne. The sale of seats begins to-morrow morning. The prices are: Lower floor and first two rows of balcony, $1.50; remainder of balcony, $1; gallery, 50c. There will be no matinee.

AT THE AUDITORIUM.

Last night at the Auditorium Theatre "The Octoroon" drew a large and appreciative audience. Next week's attraction at this popular house will be the romantic comedy drama, "My Partner."

DEATH OF MR. JOHN SMITH.

A Well-Known Torontonian Passes Away—He Was an Old Railroad Official.

One of the most widely-known and highly respected citizens of Toronto passed away at noon yesterday in the death, resulting from a fall last Sunday, of Mr. John Smith, late Ontario agent of the Canada Atlantic Fast Freight Railway Co. The deceased gentleman, who was 67 years of age, came to Canada from Manchester, England, 40 years ago and was made traffic agent at Hamilton of the Great Western Railroad. This he left to go into the grain business, and after that, until superannuated a few years ago, when he re-entered railway life, did valued service as Government immigration agent for the Niagara district. The deceased was vice-president of the Cuer-Bowell Club and was to have played to-day in a bowling tourney between that club and the Granites. He was also a keen sportsman and the owner of a famous kennel of setters, which had taken many prizes. Among those left behind to mourn him are the widow, two married daughters and a son, Mr. Charles Smith of the Canada Atlantic road at Ottawa. The funeral service was private. The body will be conveyed to Collingwood for burial at 8.30 this morning.

PTE. HATTON SHOT DEAD.

He Was Marking for the 12th Battalion at Camp Niagara When a Ricochet Bullet Struck Him.

Niagara, Sept. 17.—This forenoon, while the 12th Battalion target practice was in progress, Pte. Hatton of No. 8 company, 31st Battalion, was acting as marker. One of the bullets struck the ground in front of the target and then struck Hatton on the temple, passing through the brain.

No blame for the accident is attached to anyone. Private Hatton was in his right place, and the company were firing at the proper time. The range was altered this year. It is protected in front by four or five feet of packed earth. Before any further firing takes place, however, the lower floor of the trench will be lowered about 18 inches.

Bernard Hatton comes from Owen Sound. He is about 22 years of age, and joined company No. 8 when it was first organized, a little over two years ago. He was considered rather a good shot himself, and was chosen yesterday for duty at the range because it was understood that he was accustomed to target practice. He is an orphan, but has two brothers living in Owen Sound.

Perhaps you did not know that our coal took the medal and diploma for purity as an anthracite coal. NO, of course our competitors would not tell you so. Doubtless that BOARD OF INTERNATIONAL JUDGES on whose decision OUR COAL received the medal had never heard the old sing-song chaff of the coal RING.
