HUNTER TOLD TO CONTINUE.

Roberts Finds Some Boers Who Won't Surrender—No More Excuses Taken.

London, July 31.—A despatch received at the War Office to-day from Lord Roberts materially modifies yesterday's statement of the surrender of 5000 Federals under Gen. Prinsloo. It now appears that Generals Prinsloo, Villiers and Crowther surrendered with 986 men, 1432 horses, 955 rifles and a Krupp nine-pounder. Some of the leaders in more distant parts of the hills hesitate to come in, on the plea that they are independent of Gen. Prinsloo. Lord Roberts adds that he has directed Gen. Hunter to resume hostilities forthwith and to listen to no excuses.

HAINES DIED FROM ENTERIC.

Was a Private in "C" Company, First Contingent—His Home is in Newmarket.

Word has just been received of the death of Pte. W. Haines of C Company, first contingent, and formerly of Newmarket. His mother, who lives at Newmarket, on Monday last received a letter from Lieut. Marshall, who is in command of C Company, in the absence of Capt. Barker, notifying her of the death of her son from enteric fever at Johannesburg on June 6, which, it was inferred, was already known to her. This, however, is the first intimation of his demise and it seems strange that there has been no official news yet come to hand.

Trooper Ball is Dead.

Ottawa, July 31.—Sir Alfred Milner cables to Lord Minto to-day as follows:

Cape Town, July 31.—Regret to report No. 25, Pte. J. E. Ball, 1st Battalion Canadian Mounted Rifles, died of enteric fever at Kroonstadt, July 28. Pte. Ball came from Edmonton, and his father is John Ball of Strathcona, Alberta.

No. 4008, Pte. R. Barnside, Canadian Regiment of Infantry, is a released prisoner. (Signed), Milner.

PRAISED BY GEN. FRENCH.

Canadian Mounted Rifles Fought Hard at Oliphant's Flat—Were in Entry to Pretoria.

Trooper Charlie Rubbra of "D" Squadron, Canadian Mounted Rifles, writes from Pretoria, under date of June 7 (the day after the official entry of the British into the Transvaal capital). He says: "We are here at last, after lots of weary marches and hard fighting. We have had a rough time, but are at Pretoria alive and well, so have nothing to complain about. So far our squadron has not had a man killed during the campaign, and the general himself says we have the luck of the devil, and it is impossible to kill us. At one place (Oliphant's Flat) we were having breakfast on a kopje, when the Boers turned a couple of pom poms on us, and shells dropped all around us, and we had our horses bunched up, but by marvelous luck we got out with only one man wounded. They had our range all right, and the other regiments could not believe it when they saw us all come out alive. We were fighting for a day and a half there. Gen. French congratulated us on the work we had done, and praise from him is a whole lot.

"Kruger is thought to be 140 miles from here, but I don't think they will send us up after him. I fancy we shall be going home pretty soon, and none of us will be particularly sorry. War is all right, but peace is a darned sight better."

Trooper Rubbra says his brother Frank of the same squadron was left behind, sick, two weeks before the entry into Pretoria, and there is no further word regarding him.

Lieut. Southey Invalided.

Lieut. Southey of the 46th Regiment, Durham Stalwarts, who enlisted in the 1st contingent as a private and was, on arrival in South Africa, made a sergeant, and received a commission in the Imperial Yeomanry, has been invalided home. He was taken with fever no fewer than three times before he returned to the front, and time was too many for him, and he was sent to England.

President in Bowmanville, received a letter from him recently, stating he was from England for Canada.

BETWEEN BATTLES.

Mounted Rifles Work Done Quickly.

Trooper Writing to his father, C.M.R., says: "We have had hard work since we have been here, with them, of course, of per- Roberts, until we got to Pretoria, and then we had a rough time."

HAMILTON NEWS

THE ART SCHOOL DIRECTORS

Have to Face a Deficit and Other Troubles—Re-Engagement of Mr. Ireland Discussed.

THE MARRIAGE OF MISS HENDRIE

Was Fashionable, Yet Quiet—Ald. Reid on the Warpath—General News.

Hamilton, July 31.—(Special.)—The trouble of Principal Ireland's Board of Directors of the Hamilton Art School have commenced. At the meeting this evening, the Finance Committee presented a report showing that there is a deficit of $135, and that the Government and city grants have been received. Blank membership books were given to each of the members, the idea being to raise money in that way. Another thing which worried some of the members was the re-engagement of the principal. The Internal Management Committee recommended that he be appointed for three years, at a salary of $1200, and 10 per cent. of the fees collected. Chairman Dixon was the first to object to this, however. He thought if the board re-engaged Mr. Ireland for a two-year term, it was doing as well with him as he could expect.

Mr. Glassco questioned the legality of such an action. He did not think the members could engage any person for a longer time than their term of office, one year; in other words, that the hands of their successors could not be tied. He did not think they had a moral right to do so, anyway.

Mayor Teetzel took the same view, and suggested that legal opinion be secured before action was taken. He named the City Solicitor as a disinterested party. Mr. Smart moved that the opinion of the City Solicitor be obtained, but Principal Ireland wanted the opinion of Mr. Henry Carscallen procured. There was a division on the matter, and an amendment to refer the question to Mr. Carscallen carried by a majority of two.

On the recommendation of the Management Committee, the following teachers were re-engaged: A. W. Peene, Misses Mabel Ireland, Emma Counsell, Marion Mattice. Miss Jessie Thompson was appointed to succeed Miss Fraser, who did not desire re-engagement. Miss Flora Soper was named as an emergency teacher. E. H. Darling was appointed a teacher in machine drawing, and A. W. Conner teacher of mathematics. Miss M. E. Bedell was chosen registrar.

The board decided to increase the fees of the day class pupils from $8.75 to $9.75.

Mayor Teetzel objected to a clause in the committee's report referring to newspaper comments on the question of oil and water color painting, and it was struck out.

Fire at the Moore Foundry.

There was a fire at the D. Moore Company's foundry, Catherine-street, this afternoon. The roof of a storehouse was burned, and $600 damage done by fire and water.

Charged With Burglary.

Joseph Forrester, South Catherine-street, was arrested to-night by Detectives McMahon and Bleakley, on a charge of burglary. The officers allege Forrester broke into Cauley's tobacco store, with a man named Ely, and stole a lot of pipes.

Ald. Reid Endorsed.

Ald. Reid has the support of the taxpayers generally in his crusade against what he calls "City Hall illegal business." He is insisting on pay sheets being presented at the meetings of committees, in the light of the recent irregularities of the Sewers and Board of Works Departments, when extra money was paid to an official without the sanction of the committees.

In connection with the Assessment Department, he says Commissioner Hall complained that he had not time to obtain options on property required for the opening up of West-avenue from Main to King-street, yet, says Ald. Reid, Mr. Hall, as a self-constituted "advance agent" of the city, has drawn money from the City Treasurer and taken jaunts to different points.

He points out that the Toronto architect who was brought here to value the Canada Life Building put in a bill for only $50 (he was here twice), while Mr. Hall's bill for going to Toronto to secure him was $24.

Mr. Hall, on the other hand, says his Toronto trips cost the city, on the average, a little over $3 per trip.

Eckford-Hendrie Nuptials.

The marriage of Herbert Eckford of High River, Alberta, and Miss Christina Hendrie, daughter of William Hendrie, in the Central Presbyterian Church this morning, was witnessed by a large gathering. While a fashionable event, it was quietly carried out.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the wedding party proceeded to the Heudrie residence, where the wedding breakfast was partaken of. Among the guests who sat down were Major and Miss Eckford of Largs, Ayrshire, Scotland, father and sister of the groom; George and Mrs. Hendrie, Mrs. Mult, Mrs. Henry Russell, Miss Russell, S. and Mrs. Hendrie of Detroit, Colin and Mrs. Campbell of Montreal, and Mrs. A. Allan and Travers Allan of Brockville. About 70 guests in all were present.

The happy couple left this afternoon for New York, where the bride will meet her soldier brother, Murray Hendrie, who is returning from South Africa.

The Way the Money Goes.

Up to July 25 $28,309.79 of the good roads bylaw money had been expended of the total of $75,000 to be spent this season. The Board of Works Department will have to hurry to do the full amount of work estimated on for this season.

The Board of Works, up to July 28, had expended $30,056.83 of its appropriation. The Sewers Committee's expenditure up to the same date was $7577.58. The expenses of the Ferguson-avenue disposal works were $4493.87, and those of the Wentworth-street works $3105; a total of $15,176.54.

Police Points.

Judge Snider imposed the following sentences to-day: Thirty days on John Kendrick for stealing a bicycle belonging to George Moore of Ancaster; 18 months on Charles Lappin for stealing three bicycles last September; two months on Freeman Smith of Dundas for assisting young Harry Patterson to escape from the Dundas jail.

Philip Ely will come up to-morrow for sentence, he having pleaded guilty to receiving a number of goods, knowing them to have been stolen.

At the Police Court George Connors was given six months for stealing $13 from his employer, William Connolley.

For giving his wife a black eye, George Stoddard was fined $20 or two weeks.

Henry Hill, for covering his anatomy with nothing more than trunks while bathing, was fined 5 cents by the magistrate today.

A Libel Action.

The Royal Templars of Temperance have begun suit against The Economist of Toronto, a monthly insurance paper, for libel and $10,000 damages. The plaintiffs claim The Economist falsely stated the order's financial standing.

Minor Matters.

An interesting program of games has been prepared for the annual meet of the Hamilton Police Athletic Association on Wednesday, Aug. 8.

Ward's Restaurant, 6 York-street, open day and night; beds 10c, 15c and 25c. 36

The funeral of the late Robert McKee, who died at Vancouver, will take place on Saturday afternoon.

The Cataract Power Company is willing to leave the dispute over the track repairs to the sole arbitration of Judge Snider.

The late Rev. E. Lounsberry was laid to rest in Hamilton Cemetery this afternoon.

VOTED FOR CIVIC OWNERSHIP.

Brockville Decides to Buy Lighting Plant and Have a Commission to Manage It.

Brockville, Ont., July 31.—A bylaw to raise $100,000 to purchase the electric light gas plant of the Brockville Light and Power Company was submitted to the voters to-day. The result was 413 votes for and 67 against the bylaw. A vote was also taken as to whether the plant would be under the Town Council or or five commissioners. The vote showed a very large majority in favor of commissioners.

A Norwich Romance.

Norwich, July 31.—Mr. Miller went to Britton, north of Stratford, to attend the marriage of his son to the daughter of Mrs. Stephen Cronk, which took place a week ago last Tuesday. He had never met Mrs. Cronk until the Friday before the marriage. The result was that on Tuesday they had a double wedding. The same minister that married Mr. Miller's son William and Mrs. Cronk's daughter, made Mrs. Cronk and Mr. Miller, sr., man and wife. The happy couples are spending their honeymoon at Mr. John Cronk's.

Celebrated the Wedding.

A parade of the Hendrie Cartage Company horses and trucks was held yesterday afternoon in honor of the wedding of Miss Hendrie in Hamilton. About 60 of the heavy G.T.R. lorries, with the horses gaily decorated, proceeded from the stables on West Front-street to Yonge, Queen and Simcoe-streets and back to the stables.

like a large piece of machinery; everything moves when Lord Roberts says so. The C.M.R. were offered positions on the Mounted Police there and in the railroad service, which a great many of the Toronto squadron accepted. Out of 36 in Sergt. Metcalfe's troop, only 17 were on duty, the balance being laid up sick.

Trooper Hillyard is Well.

Trooper A. E. Hillyard of A Squadron, Canadian Mounted Rifles, who was formerly an exchange broker on Melinda-street, has written an interesting letter from Pretoria to a Toronto friend. It is dated June 6, the day of the British entry into Pretoria. Trooper Hillyard is in excellent health.

ITALY HAS BEEN THE HATCHERY OF FOUL ANARCHIST PLOTS

President Carnot, Senor Canovas, the Empress Elizabeth and Last of All, King Humbert, Have Fallen By Natives of That Land.

That there exists a universal society of Anarchy, the members of which are working along logical lines, cannot be doubted after a careful review of the recent crimes that have been committed in its name. With well-established branches reaching into every state of Europe and America, the parent stem of this noxious society seems to be firmly implanted in Italian soil.

Four notable assassinations have startled and horrified the world since the last decade of the nineteenth century opened. Each was committed by the hand of an Italian. President Carnot of France was stabbed to death by Pietro Santo, an Italian. Senor Canovas del Castillo was shot by Santa Agueda, an Italian. The Empress Elizabeth of Austria was stabbed by Luccheni, an Italian. King Humbert was shot by Angelo Bresci, one of his own subjects.

With Each Blow Its Warning.

Before the murder of President Carnot significant warnings were given that Anarchy intended striking a blow at organized authority. One week before Canovas fell it was told all over Europe that the Carnot incident was to be repeated.

In 1898 the European police carefully guarded their monarchs. It was then thought that King Humbert was the special object of the Anarchists' hatred. Instead the Empress of Austria fell. And during the trial of Luccheni it was boasted by the assassin's friends that Humbert would have little time to linger.

Each threat has been made good. The Anarchists have struck from the dark, but each time after a warning that another crime was contemplated.

Vainly have the powers of the world sought to stamp out Anarchy. Congresses have been called and laws have been made. Special police have been appointed to obtain information concerning the societies which propagate the anarchistic teachings. King Humbert himself attempted to give force to the movement to do away with Anarchy. In spite of all the mysterious band of assassins continues to spread terror by striking an occasional blow such as that which deprived Italy of its monarch.

Blind Obedience the Rule.

The police of Rome about six years ago made a successful raid on one of the groups of Anarchists, capturing important papers, which showed how ironclad are the rules of the society. The first oath taken by the new member is to labor mentally and physically to effect the triumph of the social revolution. Before the attainment of anarchic communism, however, the members must obey blindly the orders of their superiors, even at risk of life and without regard for their dearest affections. They must recognize in advance the justice of punishing all who break their oaths to maintain the strictest secrecy.

France tried to expel the Anarchists from her borders. The replies came fast and with force. Ravachol, a French subject, of Italian parentage, was arrested after numerous dynamite outrages, in Paris. He was put to death in July, 1892.

Then came Valliant, another Frenchman, of Italian extraction, who exploded a bomb in the Chamber of Deputies, wounding eighty men and women. Valliant's head fell into the basket, but his cry of "Courage, comrades!" aroused Henry, who did his best to avenge anarchy. Henry's head followed Valliant's, but President Carnot was put away by Pietro Santo.

President Carnot had attended a festival at Lyons, France, June 24, 1894. The occasion had been a great success, and the President had just taken his place in his carriage amid the enthusiastic cheers of thousands who loved him, when Santo sprang forward with his knife, and before the guards could interfere had inflicted wounds that soon proved fatal.

Anarchist Invasion of Spain.

In the meantime the Anarchists had been active in Spain. Pallas made his unsuccessful attempt on the life of Martinez Campos. He was later killed by a firing party that put a score of bullets thru his back. Salvador Franch, an Italian, exploded the bombs in the Liceo Theatre, in Barcelona, with disastrous effect.

Finally, on Aug. 7, 1897, Senor Canovas, while at the baths with Senora Canovas, was shot by Rinaldi, who made certain of his work by stooping to put a final bullet thru his victim after the Spanish Premier had fallen and was writhing in the agony of death.

Seldom has the civilized world been so shocked as it was on Sept. 10, 1898, when Luccheni thrust his stiletto into the heart of the good old Empress Elizabeth of Austria. This crime was committed in Geneva, Switzerland, where capital punishment is not recognized. Luccheni is now undergoing life imprisonment.

All Europe aroused itself to war against Anarchy when it became known that Luccheni had been selected in Italy to assassinate the Empress of Austria. Riots occurred in many cities, Italians being the sufferers. King Humbert proposed to the powers the organization of an international police service to operate against Anarchists. Nothing of importance, however, was accomplished.

At Cairo, Egypt, in March of last year, thirty Anarchists were arrested while plotting against the life of Emperor William of Germany.

THE QUEEN FURTHER BEREAVED BY DEATH OF HER SAILOR SON

Prince Alfred, Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, Better Known to Canadians as the Duke of Edinburgh, Passed Away Suddenly From Heart Paralysis Yesterday.

Coburg, July 31.—Prince Alfred Ernest Albert, Duke of Saxe-Coburg, died at 10 o'clock last evening at Rosenau Castle from paralysis of the heart.

Recently, at a consultation of specialists in Vienna, it was discovered that there was a cancerous growth at the root of his tongue. By his sudden demise he escaped a painful, lingering death.

During the minority of his heir the Duke of Albany, the government of the Duchy will be conducted by the hereditary Prince of Hohenlohe-Langenberg, the guardian of the young Duke.

The News in London.

London, July 31.—The news of the death of the Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, second son of Queen Victoria, has created a sensation in London. It was totally unexpected.

There were many callers at Clarence and Marlborough Houses and the Lord Chamberlain's office.

Flags were half-masted.

The Queen Deeply Affected.

The Queen was deeply affected.

It is stated that the body of the late Duke will be embalmed and brought to England for interment, and that it will lie in state at Windsor.

Numerous public and semi-public functions have been abandoned, and the ebbing season will be brought to a sudden close, as the court and society will immediately be ordered into mourning.

Funeral on Aug. 3.

The funeral of the late Duke will be held at Coburg on Friday, Aug. 3.

On that occasion the Prince of Wales will represent Queen Victoria. He will be accompanied to Coburg by either his son, the Duke of York, or his brother, the Duke of Connaught.

Career of the Deceased.

Alfred Alexander William Ernest Albert, the late Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, Duke of Edinburgh, was the second son of Her Majesty the Queen, and was born at Windsor on Aug. 6, 1844. From the very first, Prince Alfred, as he was then, was destined for the Royal Navy, which service he entered on Aug. 31, 1858, as a naval cadet, on board the Euryalus. In October of the same year he joined the St. George, for active sea service, and visited many of the countries on the Mediterranean, and later extending his journeyings to Halifax, Quebec and Toronto, where he spent a few days in the summer of 1861. The Prince returned home after his lengthy cruise in the autumn of 1861, and continued his studies and work in his chosen profession.

Declined the Greek Crown.

In 1862 Prince Alfred, who had just completed his 18th year, was offered by the Greek people the throne of that country. Acting on the advice of the Queen's Ministers, the honor was declined.

In February, 1866, Prince Alfred, who had by that time attained the rank of captain in the R.N., was granted by Parliament an annual income of £15,000 sterling, with an additional £10,000 a year when he should marry. On the Queen's Birthday, in 1866, among the honors announced in The London Gazette was that Prince Alfred was, on the peerage of Great Britain, created Duke of Edinburgh, Earl of Kent and Earl of Ulster.

A Memorable Voyage.

In the beginning of 1867 the Duke of Edinburgh sailed from England in command of the frigate Galatea, and on that memorable voyage he visited nearly every country in the world. He proceeded at first to Australian waters, where he remained some time. At every place he visited he was most enthusiastically received, the inhabitants of the various localities and towns vieing with one another as to who could do him the greatest honor.

Attempt to Assassinate Him.

While in Australia occurred an incident which happily had no evil results, tho might have been most calamitous. This was the attempted assassination of the Duke, whilst at a public picnic at Clontarf, N.S.W., organized in his honor, by a have-brained individual named O'Farrell. This attempt was made on March 12, 1868. The would-be assassin was speedily captured, tried and suffered the penalty of his crime on April 21 in the same year.

Visited the Mikado.

Leaving Australia, the Duke proceeded to Japan, where he was royally received by the Mikado, and then continued his travels in Asiatic waters, visiting China and then India. In the vast eastern peninsula the cordial greeting extended to him was only equalled by that accorded to the Prince of Wales, when eight years later he paid his celebrated visit to the Queen's Indian subjects in 1875-76.

On Jan. 23, 1874, the marriage of the Duke of Edinburgh to the Grand Duchess Marie of Russia took place at St. Petersburg, the event being celebrated with the greatest pomp and ceremony. The Duke and Duchess, after their marriage, went on a lengthy tour, and made their public entry into London on March 12, 1874. It was a very singular circumstance attending the entry of the Duke and his bride that the first thing which attracted her attention, and which she asked for information respecting, was the Guards' monument in St. James-street, in memory of the Guardsmen who had fallen in the Russian war 20 years previous to the period now being spoken of.

The Succession.

Among naval commands held by the late Duke, his most distinguished one was that of the Mediterranean fleet, which he held from 1884 until 1888. On the death of his uncle, the late Prince Consort's brother, the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, on Aug. 22, 1893, the Duke of Edinburgh succeeded him in the title and on the throne. He will himself be succeeded by his nephew, the Duke of Albany, who has all but completed his 16th year.

He Was a Musician.

The Duke, besides being an excellent sailor, was a most accomplished violinist, and a musical composer of no mean merit. One of his compositions was of such excellence that it was produced at one of the great musical festivals held in Birmingham in 1870, Sir Michael Costa being the conductor.

ANARCHIST WOMAN JEERED.

Was Badly Frightened in Paterson, N.J.—No Designs Against President McKinley.

New York, July 31.—Several hundred persons jeered and followed Miss Ernesta Gravelle, the young woman who professes to be an Anarchist, when at noon to-day she left the silk mills in Paterson, N.J., where she works, for her home, for luncheon. She reached home breathless and badly frightened. Policemen dispersed her tormentors. She said afterwards of King Humbert's assassination and his slayer:

"I feel like Bressi, who did what he did because he thought of others. Now that the King is dead, they say he was a great, good man. He was not good. He treated the poor badly. I belong to that group. To say that we talk of killing the President or anyone else is not true. We do not plot to kill kings. When a brother kills a king, he plans it himself. What good would it do to kill McKinley?"

BOERS BEING PUSHED BACK.

Preparing to Retreat From Waterval boven—Frank Pettigrew on Botha's Staff.

London, Aug. 1.—The Lorenzo Marquez correspondent of The Daily Express says:

"The Boxers are preparing to retreat from Waterval boven.

LONDON'S CROOKED LAWYERS.

Sismeye, a Solicitor, Goes for Trial on Five Charges of Conspiracy to Defraud Clients.

London, July 31.—Thomas Boulton Sismeye, a solicitor, was committed for trial in the Marlborough-street Police Court today, on five charges of conspiracy to defraud clients. Sismeye is a partner of Julian T. B. Arnold, who is now contesting extradition at San Francisco. The magistrate placed Sismeye's bail at £10,000, which is considered prohibitive.

Caldwell Beat Miller.

Springfield, Mass., July 31.—Harry Caldwell of Boston defeated Charles Miller of Chicago by four laps in a 15-mile motor-paced race this evening at the Coliseum board track. For six miles Caldwell led by 50 yards, when he began to gain rapidly. He lapped Miller in the ninth, twelfth, fourteenth, and finally in the fifteenth mile. The time, 25.30 2-5, is the fastest ever ridden on a six-lap track.

WAR ON THE TELEGRAPHERS

Chicago Board of Trade and Other Western Brokers Propose to Have Their Own Lines.

THE WESTERN UNION AND POSTAL

Have Taken Up the Gauntlet and Will Supply New York Instead of Chicago Quotations.

Chicago, July 31.—At a conference of Chicago and out-of-town brokers yesterday, representing 20 cities of the middle, west and Atlantic coast, it was decided that grain and stock quotations shall be handled over Board of Trade wires. Prominent men from Minneapolis to Cincinnati promised to support the new scheme of establishing a system of private wires. Chicago men pay $750,000 yearly for leased wires, and they think the new company can count on that much in rentals from Chicago people alone.

Chicago the Centre.

Chicago is the centre of the projected web, with four lines radiating in as many directions. Milwaukee, La Crosse, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth are on the northwest division, with a line dropped down to Des Moines from Minneapolis to complete the loop. Peoria, Des Moines, Omaha, Lincoln, Kansas City, St. Louis and Springfield are on the western loop. Toledo, Detroit, Cleveland, Buffalo, Albany, New York and Boston will string along the eastern line, while a southeastern line, with Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Louisville, Columbus, Pittsburg, Harrisburg, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington for stations, will loop with the eastern system at Cleveland and New York, and with the western at Springfield.

Cost to Be About $4,000,000.

The lowest estimate of the cost of the new system made yesterday was $4,000,000. It was the unanimous opinion of the meeting that the exchange lines should be built on a cash capital to avoid interest charges, and to put the new system on a basis to meet competition from existing lines.

A sub-committee is considering ways and means of financing the company and the cost of the various routes.

Telegraph Companies Ousted.

The wheat pit speculated yesterday as to how out-of-town commission men will obtain market quotations to-morrow, when the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies will be ousted from the floor of the board. Judge Bishop's temporary injunction to restrain the board from interfering with the central stock exchange's efforts to secure the quotations, it is thought, will give the telegraph companies a loophole of escape.

"We'll continue to send messages filed for transmission at our usual rates," was President Clowry's comment on the situation.

A Declaration of War.

This message from Cleveland came over the grain tickers yesterday:

"On and after Aug. 1 the New York Produce Exchange quotations, instead of those of the Chicago Board of Trade, will be sent over this ticker."

The Cleveland tickers are those of the Western Union Telegraph Company, and this announcement is taken as the final declaration of war with the Chicago Board of Trade. Local brokers seem to be fairly well satisfied with the coming arrangement.

A PICTURESQUE WEDDING

Was That of Mr. W. L. Scott and Miss Alice May, Daughter of Chief Justice Sullivan.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., July 31.—The wedding here to-day of Mr. W. L. Scott of Ottawa, son of Hon. R. W. Scott, Secretary of State, to Miss Alice May, daughter of Chief Justice Sullivan of P.E. Island, in St. Dunstan's Cathedral, was a picturesque and brilliant function. Bishop McDonald officiated, and was assisted by Rev. Dr. Morrison and Rev. Dr. Monaghan. The bride was given away by her father. Her gown was of white satin duchesse, the bodice made with a transparent yoke, and sleeves of shirred chiffon with a fichu of lace caught with orange blossoms, the skirt being also handsomely trimmed with lace and bridal flowers. A tulle veil was worn over a coronet of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of Princess lace and carnations, the gift of the bridegroom. The train was borne by two little cousins of the bride, a page in a Lord Fauntleroy suit of black velvet and white lace, and the wee maid in a frock of white muslin, trimmed with valenciennes lace and insertion and picture hat of white chiffon.

The bridesmaids, Miss Sullivan, sister of the bride, and Miss Mary Scott, sister of the groom, were gowned alike in white organdy muslin, trimmed with lace and insertion, over pink silk slips, the fichus fastened with gold bar pins, lettered in pearls, the gift of the groom. The best man was W. F. Cleaver Sullivan, brother of the bride.

A reception was held after the ceremony at "Brighton Villa." The honeymoon will be spent in Quebec. The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl pendant and chain.

The list of presents includes the names of many prominent Ontario and Quebec people.

GAME BACK EMPTY-HANDED.

Inspector Greer and Detective Harrison Did Not Bring the Alleged Bank Robbers Back.

Provincial Detective Greer and Detective Harrison returned to this city yesterday from Chicago, where they had gone to bring here for trial Fred Lee Rice, Frank J. Rutledge and Thomas Jones, the three alleged Aurora bank burglars. They did not bring back the prisoners, however, and cannot do so before Aug. 16. The extradition warrant has been issued, but the prisoners have till that date to enter an appeal. The appeal requires a deposit of $5000, and if they fail to raise the amount they will have to come back without any further proceedings.
