SMASHES LICENSE INSPECTOR IN FACE, SPILLS HIS TEETH

James Kain Appears in Court for Aggravated Assault.

DENIES KNOWING OFFICIAL

Prisoner Claimed He Believed Mr. Keenleyside was "a Regular Pickpocket."

James Kain proceeded to raise Cain with License Inspector J. E. Keenleyside at the Talbot street entrance of the City Hotel last night, and when he was through the inspector was minus a plate of false teeth, while another molar was knocked out, with three more loosened. Kain was remanded till Monday in police court today, Magistrate Graydon having found him guilty of aggravated assault.

"I was making my rounds about 9:30 last night," said Mr. Keenleyside, "and just as I came out of the side entrance of the City Hotel, the prisoner said: 'Hullo, Whiskey Inspector.' I said: 'Good evening.'

Struck and Knocked Down.

"'The next time you interfere with me I'm going to smash your face,' went on Kain. 'I've a good mind to smash it now,' and with that he hauled off and smashed me in the mouth. He broke my upper plate, knocked another tooth out and loosened three more. He also knocked me down."

Sergt. Lucas, who arrested Kain at the Queen's Hotel later on in the evening, told him that he had done a foolish thing in hitting the inspector, and the prisoner had replied: 'Oh, I don't know.'

Kain Tells His Story.

"I thought he was a robber, a regular pickpocket," said Kain, in giving evidence. "Just as I was going into the City Hotel, this man, whom I did not recognize at the time, started to search me, and I naturally took a poke at him. I didn't say anything, but I turned and gave it to him." The evidence went to show that he had been telling the truth as far as the last statement was concerned.

The magistrate explained to Kain that it was a serious offence to resist an officer and remanded him for sentence.

CLAIM CITY OWES THE COMMISSION $70,000

Utilities Members Say Debentures Were Hypothecated To Raise Money.

The utilities commission yesterday afternoon spent some time discussing the charge made by Controller Shaw that the supposed surplus in the hydro department was made up largely of debentures. It was the opinion of Chairman Pocock and other commissioners that the city owed the commission $70,000 in debentures, which had been issued, but the proceeds of which had never been handed over to the commission.

Commissioner T. W. McFarland stated that the city council had issued debentures covering hydro work but had hypothecated them to the banks to raise money for its own purposes.

General Manager E. V. Buchanan explained that the council had been asked to issue debentures to cover the expense of certain additions to plant. The council had issued them, but the commission had gone ahead with the work, paying the cost of the construction out of surplus revenue. The market was not favorable for selling debentures, and they were held as an asset. The commission would have the surplus mentioned, as soon as the debentures had been turned over to it. There was an issue of $50,000 which had never been turned over to the commission.

"We have the surplus all right, and we can go ahead with the work," said Mr. Buchanan.

"The city owes us $70,000, and when the debt is paid, we will have plenty of money," said Mr. Pocock.

After some discussion, it was decided to go ahead with the construction of the hydro shop, the opinion being that the commission was entirely within its rights. Mayor Stevenson will look into the matter of debenture issues, and report to the commission.

The amended contract with the McClary Manufacturing Company was presented, and ordered to be signed. The company will advance the money for the work.

General Manager E. V. Buchanan reported that one of the Foster wells was being pumped into the main, but the water was being discharged into the river. By next week, the wells would be connected up with the pumping station. One well was showing 350,000 gallons a day.

The question of paving Wellington street from Dufferin to Central avenue was the cause of some debate. The commission objected to the payment of any of the cost. The parks board simply administered the department, and was not responsible for capital outlay. There was no objection to the pavement, but the commissioners were of the opinion that the council should pay the shot.

SENATOR COFFEY CHAPTER ROYALLY ENTERTAINED

The musicale and social held by the Senator Thomas Coffey Chapter, I. O. D. E., on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Forristal, King street, proved a success in every way. The proceeds, $20, will go to the soldiers' comfort fund. Miss Alice Graves of New York was received with great applause in the rendering of a delightful song, "The Awakening." Miss O'Donahue sang "Before the Crucifix," and as an encore, "The Rose Song." A very suitable piece for the occasion, "A Medley of Patriotic Airs," was rendered by Miss Cora Brennan, violinist. Miss Cooper delighted those present by performing most gracefully the "Butterfly Dance." Miss Catalano closed the program with two instrumental solos. Miss Catalano is one of the stars of St. Angela's College, and is undeniably a credit to the institution. Tea was served in the drawing-room which was prettily decorated with ferns and sunset roses, the younger members of the chapter serving. The regular meeting of the chapter will be held in St. Peter's Hall at 4 o'clock today.

People change from tea and coffee to POSTUM to better their health

ONE OF FIRST TO GO, NOW HOME RECOVERING

Lieut. Oswald Hicks, 34 Victor street, who returned yesterday from overseas, is not yet fully recovered from the effects of a wound in the knee, and gas, sustained a year ago at the battle of the Highwoods, which was a phase of the battle of the Somme.

Lieut. Hicks, who was a sergeant in the 7th Regiment, and organized the Collegiate Institute Cadets prior to the war, enlisted with the first draft of Engineers, to go overseas with the Queen's University unit. He was instructing in England for two years before receiving a commission in the machine gun section of the 13th Royal Worcesters.

LIFE NO LONGER HARD FIGHT FOR ARMLESS LOUIS

Familiar Figure at The Advertiser Lane Is No More.

IS STRICKEN SUDDENLY

French-Canadian Lost Arms When Youth, But Always Made His Own Living.

Armless Louis Joben, familiar to every pedestrian on the downtown streets as he stood in the entrance of The Advertiser laneway, and probably acquainted with more people than the most aspiring politician, is dead. Hundreds of citizens have helped him to earn a livelihood by buying pencils and shoe laces from him, for since he was eighteen years old he has been unable to work because of the loss of his arms. He was born in Quebec, where he lived for a number of years. While employed in a sawmill there he took a fit, and, falling across a circular saw, had both his arms cut off, as well as receiving injuries to his chest.

Wanted To Be Independent.

Although charitable institutions were open to him, he wanted to earn his own living, and in doing so is said to have traveled to every part of the globe. Friends say that he has been in every portion of Canada and the United States, that he has sojourned in England and other European countries, and in China and Japan. He has been prosperous at times, and is said to have owned a large hotel in Michigan at one time. He was married and had one child, a boy, who died exactly three years ago. His wife has been dead for some time. No other relatives reside in London or this district. A brother is a resident of California if he is still living.

Found Gasping for Breath.

Mr. Joben was 55 years old, and for the past three years had been making his home in London and Hamilton. In Hamilton he resided with Edward Proud, 132 Florence street. In this city he stayed at 265 Clarence street, and was cared for by Thomas Edwards. He appeared to be in the best of health on Thursday, and in the evening sat out on the veranda. Following his usual custom, he retired about 9 o'clock. Mr. Edwards, who went to his room about an hour later, found him gasping for breath. By the time other inmates of the house had been called to the scene the man was dead. He had been subject to epilepsy, and the frequent attacks were chiefly responsible for his death.

That he was well developed physically is evidenced by a story told of him by Mr. Edwards. According to Mr. Edwards, he accomplished a walk which took him nine days without eating or touching liquid of any kind.

Mr. Edwards states Mr. Joben owned property in Hamilton, but knows nothing of his financial condition except that. The funeral will be held from the parlors of Smith, Son & Clarke. No date has been set yet.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

BOYS, GIRLS, BEES, WAR.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

These are the days when the Allied nations expect every man and woman to do their duty. These are serious days. We are at war. The suffering of our Canadian boys is going on at a tremendous rate every day against the monstrous delusion that kaiserism "Might Makes Right." The war now seems likely to be won or lost by food conditions. Just here is where every citizen who has the opportunity to produce foodstuff, can enlist in the world's efficiency, as can the soldiers at the front, and here is where the beekeeper can enlist now and at once.

Among the many efforts of conserving resources induced by the war, the increase of honey by amateur beekeepers is not to be overlooked. It is said that honey in some degree is taking the place of sugar, and that Russia is trying to introduce beekeeping.

The boys and girls everywhere are enlisting in the army of producers to raise fruits and vegetables and poultry and help the farmers to care for their crops. It is a most excellent movement, tending to health and wholesome interests, and practical efficiency. Many farmers who have only one or two old-fashioned hives might produce honey in abundance if these were taken over by their sons and daughters to be arranged in innumerable country and suburban places that have no bees.

It is not necessary to raise alsike and buckwheat, as in many places the roadside alone produces a vast amount of bee pasture, and with sugar at war prices, a few suppers of homegrown sweets will be welcome.

A boy or girl of ten is old enough to be of valuable assistance in hissing the swarms and taking off the honey. A year or two later he could be induced to start a swarm of his own. Beekeeping encourages self-courage and stimulates the habit of observation. It requires some pluck, deftness and watchfulness at a certain season, but not the patience of monstrous labor, and the hives are so attractive that it does one good to watch the little ladies devote themselves to the commonwealth.

If the established beekeeper were to start an enterprising boy or girl with one of his early swarms he would be doing his bit.

Backyard gardens should be supplemented by backyard beehives. Let Middlesex take notice and do its bit.

D. ANGUISH.

"SLACKER" AND "DOG" TERMS USED IN FIGHT

A north end young man, who insisted on taking up his young brother's battles, was fined $2 in police court today. Apparently the young brother was trimmed in a fight, and the older boy went after the victor, so much so that he landed in court.

"He called me a slacker and I hit him," said the older boy.

"He called me a yellow dog first," shot back the youngster.

"I don't like to encourage families taking up the quarrels of their children, so I'll have to fine you," said Mr. Graydon. "Two dollars and costs."

IS RECOVERING.

Mrs. Olmstead, who is in St. Joseph's Hospital as a result of being run over by an auto on Queen's avenue, near Colborne, Wednesday evening, is progressing favorably, although she suffered greatly from shock. The driver of the car failed to stop after running over Mrs. Olmstead and all efforts to locate him have so far proven unsuccessful.

SUNDAY CANVASS OF EVERY LONDON HOME WINDS UP CAMPAIGN

Appeal Will Be Made Between Hours of 9 and 10

FOURTEEN TEAMS WORK

Public Requested To Be Ready for Solicitors and to Give Generously.

The Sunday morning house-to-house canvass will be the closing feature of the "Big Heart Campaign" for tuberculous soldiers, which has been in progress all this week. A meeting of the captains of the districts was held in the council chamber last night, with E. R. Dennis as chairman, and it was reported that all the arrangements were well in hand. The city has been divided into districts, with a captain for each, and teams have been secured consisting of younger businessmen, commercial travelers, bank staffs and office staffs of leading London business houses. The teams will all be on the ground at 9 o'clock, and it is expected that within an hour they will have made their rounds and reported their collections to headquarters.

It is particularly requested that citizens should have their contributions ready, and it is hoped that the Sunday morning gifts will take the form of real family contributions, in which every member of the family will have a share. The Sunday gift will be a measure of the "Big Heart," and it is urged that the contributions shall be as liberal as possible. Mr. Dennis and his associates in this effort wish the public to be assured that the men who do the collecting are all responsible persons, and the arrangements make it assured that all contributed will reach headquarters without delay.

The captains of the teams are as follows: Thomas Jones, ex-Ald. Palmer, Ald. Drake, E. Flock, D. H. Porter, W. G. R. Bartram, R. H. Dowler, B. V. Buchanan, Ald. Keene, C. G. McCormick, P. R. Braddon, Ald. Cunningham, R. M. Burns and R. E. G. Davis.

PERSONAL SERVICE CLUB HAS DONE BIG WORK

The Personal Service Club, one of the organizations of the city which, in an unobtrusive way, has accomplished an enormous amount of patriotic and charitable work in the past year, is closing for the summer months the headquarters kindly loaned in the Greene-Swift Building for Red Cross work. It is not intended, however, to suspend operations during the warm weather—many of the members of the club go to Port Stanley for the summer, where they propose to knit as industriously as in their city homes.

The club resumed work last October, with Mrs. C. E. Keene as president, Mrs. L. H. Graves, vice-president, and Mrs. Sidney Swift, secretary. The membership totalled sixteen. Since that time they have sent in to Hyman Hall the following donations: 380 pairs of socks, 106 flannel shirts, 78 pyjama suits, 59 bed jackets, 12 surgeons' coats, 12 dressing gowns, as well as donating $4 a month to the prisoner of war fund, $75 to the Y. M. C. A. overseas fund, $50 to the patriotic fund, $28 to the C. W. C. A. sewing machine, $25 to Christmas stockings, $25 to the sailors' relief fund, and $25 to the Santa Claus fund.

SYNOD EXECUTIVE IN BRIEF SESSION

According to constitution, a meeting of the newly-appointed executive was held immediately at the close of synod. Business transacted in a brief session included the granting of superannuation to Very Rev. Dean Davis, the appointment of Dr. Moorhouse, synod physician, and of Dean Davis, Archdeacon Young and Messrs. Pope and Col. Fisher a committee on the seehouse.

The finance and land and investments committees were re-elected. It was decided to publish a new issue of the constitution and canons, including the alterations made at the synod session.

SPEAKERS UNABLE TO COME FOR MEETING

No meeting will be held in London to discuss the question of conscription as outlined by the Citizens' Recruiting League a week ago.

It was the intention then to have Sir William Hearst, N. W. Rowell, K. C., M. P. P., Michael Clark, M. P., and others, come to London and speak on the subject.

Gordon Philip, commissioner of industries, got in touch with them, but not one of them was available during the month of June.

As the conscription bill will have been dealt with by that time, it was thought advisable to call off the meeting for the time being.

BARBER CURED OF ECZEMA

Generously Tells Others How Cure Was Effected.

Toronto, Ont., April 26.—No one is better qualified to judge of treatment for skin troubles than the barber. He finds his customers bothered with barber's itch, pimples and eczema, and has his own difficulties in treating these conditions after shaving.

Mr. Lewis learned from a customer about Dr. Chase's Ointment, and when he contracted eczema, applied this treatment with most satisfactory results. He is naturally enthusiastic now in recommending this ointment to anyone suffering from similar skin troubles.

Mr. George Lewis, barber, 202½ Wellesley street, Toronto, writes: "I was for some time troubled with an eczemic eruption on the scalp and obtained temporary relief by the use of a tonic. About six months later little blotches broke out on my face and the doctor pronounced the trouble to be eczema. I heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment through a customer who was cured by this treatment after trying many remedies in vain, so I began the use of this ointment and in a short time the eczema entirely disappeared from my face and scalp. You can imagine my relief, as I am a barber by trade and having a face covered with pimples or blotches was not conducive to good business. I shall take great pleasure in recommending Dr. Chase's Ointment to any customers with facial or other troubles of this nature."
