SEAS OF PEOPLE ON STREETS MAIN AVENUES BLOCKED

Old Boys and Mardi Gras Parades Attracted Thousands to This City—Citizens Turned Out En Masse to Witness the Pageants.

The crowds!

Never was such a mass of humanity jammed on the streets of London as was seen yesterday in the afternoon and evening.

The route of the procession on each side was lanked deep with humanity.

It was a most impossible to wedge one's way along the walks, and climb along the roofs.

When the procession passed the crowds turned down town, and the streets again were jammed. It was scarcely believable that any person had gone to Queen's Park.

But the large stands there were crowded to capacity. In the paddocks there was a restless sea of humanity. Along the fences were straining thousands of people who wanted to get just one look at what was going on.

The inclosure was crowded with rigs and carriages. Others did not care to go into the stands and view the programme, so they took a walk around the park.

Here the crowd was larger than a fair day. It was a real old-fashioned picnic crowd. Everybody had a great time. They patronized the ice cream booths, and drank pink lemonade until they nearly burst.

But the fun of all was in the evening. There was a great crowd in the stands and in the park, but down town there was an awful jam.

Everybody headed for the cowpath. All through the market there was a terrific jam. Tides of humanity ebbed and flowed all evening.

The people "joshed" and "kidded" each other, all unmindful of the proprieties. It was a typical holiday crowd, and everybody just did what they wanted. Staid old citizens were seen hustling their pals of thirty and forty years ago through the throng, and had more fun than enough.

The younger boys and girls tossed confetti and tickled each other well nigh to death with feathers provided for the occasion.

It was immense.

It continued till well past midnight, when a weary lot of merrymakers headed for their trundle beds.

The crowds were most orderly.

The sight in front of the grandstands at the park was most interesting and will not soon be forgotten.

The reunion is a great success. The people were here, and there was something doing every minute.

Brantford Man Badly Squeezed Between Trolleys on Richmond St.

Ernest Kallie Meets With a Very Painful Accident Yesterday.

Ernest Kallie, a young man who came from near Brantford to see the Old Boys' celebration yesterday, was caught between two street cars on Richmond street, near the corner of Dundas, last night at midnight, and had his collarbone broken and was injured internally.

Kallie was standing on the devil-strip waiting for a car to pass, and did not notice another car coming from the north.

Before he could get away he was caught. Fortunately for the young man the cars were stopped before he had been rolled around very much, and when taken out he was hurried to St. Joseph's Hospital, where his injuries were attended to at once.

Today he is resting easily and no serious results are anticipated.

King St. Girl Was Severly Burned

On Saturday evening the little daughter of Mr. R. J. Sanders, of 260½ King street, had both her hands severely burned while trying to extinguish a Chinese lantern that had started to blaze, and which she feared would ignite a number of other paper decorations which were close by.

Mr. Sanders rushed to the child's assistance, and succeeded in extinguishing the fire, but not before he was even more severely burned about the hands than the girl.

Mr. Sanders will be laid up for several days with very sore hands.

A SMALL BLAZE IN EAST LONDON

Japanese Lantern Caused a Fire at J. T. Smith's.

A Japanese lantern in front of Mr. J. T. Smith's store on Dundas street east set fire to the decorations last night about 10 o'clock, but no damage was done.

A verbal alarm was sent into the East End fire hall. Two men were sent to the scene of the blaze, but the fire had died out by the time they arrived.

THOS. CHAMBERLAIN DEAD

"Jimmy" Bell Goes Down to Defeat London Quoiter Signally Beaten

W. Nickle, of Sarnia, Did the Trick—The Other Matches.

Today's games in the Forest City Quoiting Club tournament witnessed the defeat of ex-Champion James Bell, and several other good quoiters.

W. Nickle, of Sarnia, was the conqueror of Bell, and the result, while somewhat of a surprise to those who did not witness the match, was never in doubt after the twenty score mark had been reached, when Nickle seldom left an opening for the London man, and won hands down.

Another One.

The contest between Farrell, of Woodstock, and Dave Miller, of Fort Wayne, was another of the same order, the quoiters going along evenly until each had ten points, when Miller settled down to work, and covered the pin on every first shot afterward, allowing no openings for the Woodstock man.

In the draw for the semi-finals of the heavyweight championship Nickle was pitted against Bolton, and Miller meets the winner of the Robson-Treble match. The final will be played tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock on the Horton street grounds. Miller and Nickle are the favorites in the semi-fianls.

Mardi Gras Will Be Repeated Tonight

The great Mardi Gras pageant will be repeated this evening. The crowning of the queen, and the gorgeous pageantry in connection with that ceremonial will be given.

It will commence at 8:15 o'clock sharp, and there will be no delays. The parade will commence after the ceremonial. There will be in addition many specialties by those on the floats.

This is worth while.

Rumor Regarding Local Broker Firm

In some manner a rumor gained ground today to the effect that Mr. Norman S. Spencer, the well-known local stockbroker, had failed.

Mr. Spencer, when interviewed by The Advertiser, stated positively that he not only had not failed, but that he expected to be able to pay 100 cents or more on the dollar at any time called upon to do so.

It has been alleged that Charles Bultman & Co., stockbrokers, of Cincinnati, for whom Mr. Spencer is acting in London, are retiring from business, whether voluntarily or not does not appear.

Mr. Spencer stated that from the tone of a wire he had received today from the firm he was led to believe that it intended to go out of business.

Losses to Londoners, he thought, would be very slight, even in the event of total failure, the amount being less than $1,000.

In case of failure Mr. Spencer will be closed for a few days until he can arrange for another New oYrk wire.

Local Items

Mr. James A. Much, of Chicago, is spending a few days, with Mr. Chas. E. Wheeler.

—Mr. George W. Yates, formerly of The Advertiser reportorial staff, and now secretary to the Ontario Minister of Crown Lands, Hon. Mr. Cochrane, is visiting his old home in this city.

Half Holiday.

Mayor Stevely has issued a proclamation declaring Wednesday afternoon a half holiday.

Meeting Postponed.

A meeting of the International Old Boys' Association was scheduled for this morning, but it was postponed until Wednesday morning.

Old Boys' Dance.

An Old Boys' dance will be held in the city hall on Wednesday night under the auspices of the Old Boys' Association. It will be worth while, and is likely to be very largely attended.

Inspected Hotels.

Inspector Galpin and P. C. Probyn made an inspection of the hotels of the city last night and found, it is said, that there had been a sale of liquors during prohibited hours. After the inspection, however, the hotels were closed and no liquor was sold.

J. W. Fuller's Funeral.

Brantford Expositor: The funeral of James William Fuller, who died in London, took place on Saturday afternoon on the arrival of the train from London. The remains were brought to this city in a special car and were accompanied by many of the deceased's friends, a number from this city also attended. The interment was made in Greenwood Cemetery. The floral tributes were numerous and very pretty.

Mr. Buskard Returns.

Mr. George F. Buskard, of Winnipeg, formerly city editor of The Advertiser, and now private secretary to Hon. Mr. Rodgers, minister of public works in the Manitoba Government, is in the city with his wife and son. Mr. Buskard was for years one of London's most popular newspapermen, and his many friends are glad to see him in the old town again.

A LIVELY FIGHT ON A STREET CAR

Young Man Needed Services of Physician When It Ended.

A young man named O'Farrell, who resides on Princess avenue, near Adelaide street, became engaged in an argument on a street car on Dundas street east yesterday afternoon, and as a result required the services of a physician.

He was accompanying an Old Boy friend on the trip when it is alleged that the conductor accused him of ringing the signal bell. He denied it and the trouble started.

The conductor is said to have struck him on the head with the fare box, and also with the switch bar, inflicting slight cuts.

He was taken to the doctor who put a few stitches in the wound.

WEDNESDAY PROGRAMME—MILITARY DAY.

Morning—Meeting of International Old Boys?' Association.

WARM WEATHER GRIST IN COURT

Police Magistrate Love Deals With Many Cases. Today.

In the police court this morning Abraham Kanti, charged by Inspector Galpin with breaking the liquor license law, was found guilty and fined $50 and $3 60 costs.

Mr. Kanti was charged with selling cider that contained more alcohol than is allowed by the law.

Inspector Galpin had an analysis made of some of the cider found on Kanti's premises, and it was found to be good strong stuff. Kanti's only excuse was that he had bought the cider for sweet cider.

Magistrate Love regretted that the minimum fine was $50, but had to impose it.

Indian Lister.

James McIntyre, an Indian lister, charged with being drunk and disorderly, was fined $10 and $2 costs, and given a week to pay it in.

McIntyre denied that he was disorderly, but P. C. Powell said he had been called to the house by a man who told him McIntyre had threatened to "do him up."

McIntyre told the court he wanted to leave London and go back to Brantford, and that if he went, he would not be back to pay his fine.

"All right," said Magistrate Love.

Jacob Fox Again.

The case of Jacob Fox, charged by James Lampotus with breaking his pushcart, was withdrawn, it having been settled out of court.

A young man who was charged with stealing a sum of money from a local insurance company, was let go on condition that the amount is made up at once.

John Hooper, an Indian lister, said he got his drink from a stranger on the market.

"It's a funny thing to me," said the court, "how all strangers seem to be going around and never give a drink to anybody except those on the Indian list, $10 and $2 costs.

Michael Costello, for being drunk, was fined $10, or 21 days. He took the days.

Richmond Scott, an Indian lister, was fined $10 and $2 costs.

Was Rough Indeed.

P. Hutchinson got drunk last night, and told everybody he met that he was going west, and that he would like to wipe them off the map before he went.

When he arrived at Mr. Thomas Mason's house he met Mrs. Mason, and threatened to strike her, and used insulting language to her.

Mr. Mason threatened to knock Hutchinson down with a rocking chair if he didn't go away, and Hutchinson went and stood on the sidewalk and used more insulting language.

A policeman came along and removed him. In court this morning Magistrate Love fined Hutchinson $5 and costs.

The Best Cook In London

Undoubtedly uses Strong's Baking Powder. The best cooks everywhere generally use the best materials and Strong's Baking Powder is the best material for leavening that can be made. You can pay more for baking powder, but it is impossible to get anything purer. Government analysis proves it. This baking powder insures lightness, whiteness and deliciousness in every batch of biscuits made. Costs but 25 cents a pound.

WAGON RAN OVER CHICAGO LITTLE BOY

While crossing Richmond street near the postoffice yesterday afternoon Hector Munro, an 8-year-old Chicago boy, was struck and run over by a butcher wagon, and, while no bones were broken, Dr. Alexander, who attended the youngster, fears internal injuries. The wagon is said to have run across the lad's stomach.

Mr. Harry Ranahan, with whom the boy is visiting, will make a thorough investigation of the accident today, it having been alleged that the driver of the rig was careless.

Mr. Wheeler Returns.

Mr. Charles E. Wheeler, organist of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, who has been holidaying for some weeks, has returned, and presided at the organ on Sunday last. During his absence Miss Yelland substituted most satisfactorily.

Merchants Objected.

The Old Boys' committee were advised yesterday that certain merchants on Talbot street objected strongly to the shows and tents being placed so as to block the west side of the street. As soon as the committee were advised of the affair they took the matter up with the manager and the tents and shows were removed.

Printers Will Entertain.

London Typographical Union, No. 133, will entertain visiting printers on Wednesday night in their rooms, on Richmond street. The printers are princes at entertaining and they cordially invite all union printers to be present.

Miss Jean Blair, of 311 Bowen avenue, Detroit, is visiting Miss Florence Dalton, 570 Maitland street.
