MYTHLAND PLAY CIRCUS OF GAYETY

Local Talent Proves Amateur Productions On Par With Professionals.

PROVIDES FULL VALUE

Returns From Syncopated Jazz To More Artistic Costume Spectacle.

It has been said of amateur productions that their principal purpose is to show how good, by contrast, are the very poorest of professionals. This axiom will be reversed in the case of "The Prince of Mythland," the production given by local talent at the Majestic this week for the London Advertising and Sales Club in the interests of the War Memorial Hospital for Children.

The whole thing bears out one of the first principles of advertising. If you have something worth while, bring it to the light of day—and advertise. In this instance the Advertising Club and Elmo Drakes have come upon some real talent with an advertising value.

A departure from jazz and syncopated stuff, a wholesome diversion from song and dance teams, throaty tenors, sopranos and "girly" sets certainly has an advertising value. "The Prince" is a very wholesome return to the good old-fashioned costume spectacle—an amateur show it is true, but a dollar's worth for everyone.

Gives Dollar's Worth.

One dollar's worth, we are free to confess, comes back across the footlights in the remarkable performance of Miss Mayme Bell in the title role, whose perfect contralto brought back memories of another "prince" who sang "The Lovelight in Your Eyes," when sweet Margarita Sylva was winning worshippers by the thousand in the tuneful "Princess Chic" almost two decades ago. Miss Bell's voice and presence and charm are a feature of the performance, and her duet numbers with Miss Ruth Little, who herself is possessed of a wonderful soprano, are beyond question the artistic vocal feature of the performance.

"The Newsboys" song and dance number led by Allan Tagg, contributed a few dimes to the dollar's worth of enjoyment. This is the sort of free and easy, rough and ready act, that always gets across, and these boys caught the idea and put it over.

The children of the piece provide much of the fun, and show complete confidence in their instructor. Children are the principals in the prologue, and the Pyjama Dance is the climax of some of the prettiest effects of the play—if there is anything "cuter" than twenty little kiddies in their slumber suits, the audience has never seen it.

Plays Heavy Hole.

The role of E. N. Harding as Prince Conrad demands the heaviest dramatic work of the performance. He has an unusual baritone voice and an appreciation of the character that would do credit to a leading part in light opera.

"The Prince of Mythland" is a three-ring circus of song, dance and gayety, with only one ring working at a time. Each of its five acts, in addition to the prologue, is full of good wholesome features, deserving of an audience that fills the Majestic from pit to gallery at each performance. Apart altogether from its charitable object the performance is worth seeing on its merits.

ICE IS STILL HEAVY IN LAKE SUPERIOR

Sault Ste. Marie, April 21.—Vessels which have passed up the lake so far are making steady but very slow progress, breaking away through the ice as they continue on their route, and are now in the vicinity of Iroquois Point. This was the latest report received by the local wireless station this morning. The ice in that region is still quite heavy and makes traveling somewhat cumbersome. There has been no further danger to vessels by storms, and since the weather on Lake Superior has subsided much since the recent outbreak no trouble has been reported.

Ottawa, April 21.—Mrs. J. D. Walker, Toronto, was last night unanimously elected president for a second term of the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church in Ontario. Windsor was selected as the place of the next annual meeting. Other officers elected included Mrs. J. M. McEvoy, London, fifth vice-president. Secretaries include: Recording, Mrs. C. G. Begg, Toronto; corresponding, Mrs. Frederick H. Ross, Toronto.

ATTACK SCHOOL IN MONTENEGRO

Podgoritza, Montenegro, April 21.—Serbian and Montegrain irregulars made a bold attack Wednesday midnight on the United States Industrial School at Danilogra, near here, carrying off ten thousand francs and other property, and throwing the teachers and 150 students into a panic.

The Jugo-Slavian government expressed deep regret over the incident to the American Red Cross, which supports the institution, and reimbursed the Red Cross for the amount of the theft.

OTTAWA STRIKE IS SETTLED AT LAST

Ottawa, April 21.—An amicable settlement of what for the past two or three weeks bore the earmarks of a strike developing between the members of local No. 71 Plumbers and Steamfitters Union and the Master Plumbers' Association, was announced last night, following a conference by represenatives of both sides.

Following the conference the agreed upon statement for publication was given to be as follows: "An amicable settlement is in sight. Both sides are to meet again on Tuesday."

No figures were given.

all smiling blandly as they arrayed themselves in line before Magistrate Graydon. However, they were not the same twelve that had been gathered in in the raid.

Police officers have learned to distinguish Chinamen by their features.

Inspection of the dozen, confirmed their suspicions that all was not well.

Face Possession Count.

The first two men charged, Lee Sing and Charlie Lee, who were alleged to have had opium in their possession contrary to the provisions of the narcotic drug act came forward. So did Lee Chung, Wong Gong and Lee Tung.

"John Lee," called the court clerk.

A young China boy answered to the name. Officers protested that he was not John Lee. He swore by all the pagodas of the Land of the Dragon that he was, but finally left the court to search for the original John Lee.

Ah Lee failed to appear, but even repetition of the roll call failed to reveal who his double was, so successfully were the twelve in line shuffled.

Charlie Lee and Lee Yook, along with the former five, were charged with smoking opium. Lee King, whose real name, police say, is Charlie Johns, and John Sam, were also booked as alleged smokers. Wong Long Poy, police charge, had drugs in his possession.

Although Magistrate Graydon was opposed to an adjournment, contending that there was not sufficient grounds for one, he granted a week's stay when Major T. J. Murphy, appearing for the prosecution, gave his consent.

Albert Judd and D. B. Menzies appeared for the Chinamen.

Cash bail of $1,600 was allowed to stand.

OTTAWA RIVER FLOODS VALLEY

the river will be swollen still further.

The situation at Gatineau Point is becoming grave and more residents have been forced to leave their homes.

It became known last night that booms containing approximately 60,000 logs owned by John R. Booth, Ltd., and other local lumbering companies had broken loose from their berth, and had swept down to the outside of the booms on the Booth log reservation.

In the mad rush of the logs the sorting gap and booms of the Shephard & Mor Lumber Company have been swept away, and carried down to what is known as "Rochester's Pond."

It was estimated last night that there were around three million logs just west of the dam, which holds back the flood waters from the Chaudiere Falls, water lots and power-driven machinery of various Chaudier companies.

The J. R. Booth and E. B. Eddy industries are carrying on with great difficulty, and in both plants the pulp mills are only working on part time, owing to the high water having submerged the water wheels.

CENTENARIAN BARES SECRET OF LIVING

shillings a day and that was during harvest time.

"We used to make our own clothes then, too.

"People are not sociable enough nowadays.

"When I was young, if anybody was sick we all turned out and helped him. Today you have to pay for such attention.

Mr. Johnson lived in Bayham Township for fifteen years before a single road was cut through the virgin forest.

Money was seldom used then, as it was exceedingly scarce.

Steel cost 50 cents a pound and iron 30 cents a pound. Out of the raw material the pioneers used to make their own nails.

"I used to make three nails to a heat on a small rod. That meant quite a number in a day. I worked in a blacksmith shop for a while.

"When I was working there it used to cost $5 to shoe a team of horses. Most of the people let their horses go barefooted then."

As if it was yesterday, Mr. Johnson can remember seeing the first bear killed.

Girl Killed Bear.

"Just a few feet from this house it was," he recollected. "A young girl about 20 years old—Jane Barker was her name—killed it. She had an axe and a little yellow dog with her when she met the beast. She drove the axe into it right behind the shoulder and pierced him clean through the lung."

Speaking of school days, Mr. Johnson said: "We used to learn more in one month than the children of today do in ten months."

"It cost the father two shillings for each child he sent to school for three months. The teacher used to board around at the homes of the different scholars, going home with one, one day and another the next. John Ketchebough was my first teacher.

"The ministers also boarded around, and were given whatever the members of the church saw fit. Later each member of the church was assessed one dollar a year.

"There were no regular salaries paid.

Champions Revivals.

"And they had better revivals than they have now, and they didn't have to bring in outsiders."

The trip from Avon to the Putville and return used to take the pioneers two days, until Mr. Johnson discovered a more direct course. By his route one could go to the mill transact all business and return the same day.

This route is now the road from Avon to Putnam, and passes Mr. Johnson's present home. Tom Putnam first surveyed it.

The pioneer still enjoys watching a game of baseball. He played the game himself until he was 60 years old.

Women's styles of today do not suit Mr. Johnson. "I don't think much of them."

"The dances today are not dances. There is no action in them. All you have to be able to do is walk.

"We used to dance the Irish reel and the Scotch reel. I danced until I was 60 years old."

Painting and powdering on the part of girls were bad habits, Mr. Johnson stated, but the girls of today were outclassed at their own game by two girls that Mr. Johnson knew when he was young.

Galvanized Faces.

"They galvanized their faces. They looked nice when they had their pictures taken, but the stuff was still on their faces when they died.

"I only grumbled once, and then I won $3.00. After I won it, I didn't want it, because it came to me so easy.

"I was in the United States at the time, riding in a train, when a man from Chicago asked me to take a chance. There were three feed boxes. One of them had a five dollar bill in it and you had to pay $1 for a chance. I picked the bill out every time. I left the money in charge of this man, who stayed at the hotel with me that night, and he never took one dollar of it."

Prohibition is not effective, Mr. Johnson declared. He did not vote for it. "And I would not vote for it if I lived another 100 years. There was less drinking when I was young than there is today. All the young fellows took temperance pledges and lived up to them."

The age of chivalry is dead, the old pioneer is convinced. When he was in his prime, one man would say to another, "I'm a better man than you." Then both would strip to the waist and do battle, shaking hands afterward.

"I was never licked with the fists," concluded Mr. Johnson, with a twinkle of the eye, as he peeled another apple, and proceeded to eat it.

WOMAN WHO STOLE FOOD RELEASED ON PROBATION

Mrs. Annie Govier, Aldborough Township, To Spend 5 Years in Elgin House of Industry.

Special to London Advertiser.

ST. THOMAS, April 20. — Mrs. Annie Govier, Aldborough Township, recently convicted of stealing a quantity of groceries from a neighbor, appeared before County Police Magistrate Hunt and was allowed to go on probation on condition that she spend the next five years in the Elgin House of Industry.

If during this period it was reported by Superintendent W. H. Gooding that the woman had failed to obey the rules of the institution she would be brought before him and in all probability sent to jail, Squire Hunt said.

Before the trial, a county constable searched the Govier home and found it in a most deplorable condition. The house was unfit for habitation, and the family appeared to have been without food or fuel for some time.

The family, which included an imbecile child and an aged woman, has been removed to the House of Industry.

KINSMEN CLUBS OPEN CONVENTION

Hamilton, April 21.—The first annual convention of the International Association of Kinsmen Clubs opened here this morning, with delegates present from this city, Toronto and Montreal. Mayor Coppley gave the address of welcome. He considered such clubs good for the community and indicative of the growth of public spirit. The mayor said it was well to commemorate the anniversaries of great national events to keep alive national ideals and perpetuate the memories of valorous deeds. He made allusion to the need of immigration, and said that the provincial and federal governments had not co-operated as they should.

NOMINATED BY LABOR.

Brandon, April 21.—A. E. Smith, M.L.A., Brandon, was last night nominated by the Brandon Labor Party to re-contest the seat at the forthcoming provincial election.

Chicago, April 21.—Geenral commission house buying, in which individual operations counted for little, swept wheat prices strongly upward today during the early dealings. The May delivery, in which there have been prospects of a big shortage, went to the highest price level reached of late by that month. An unlooked-for advance in Liverpool quotations acted as a stimulus to buyers, and so too did optimistic reports about progress at the Genoa economic conference, as well as bullish advices regarding domestic crop conditions both in the winter and spring wheat belts. The opening, which ranged from ¾c to 1¾c up, was followed by decided further gains.

Sympathy with the wheat upturn led to higher prices for corn and oats. After opening ¼c to ½c higher, the corn market scored a moderate further advance.

Oats started a shade to ¼c higher, and later continued to show a tendency to rise.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

New York, April 21—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Mexican oils were the strongest features at the opening of today's stock market, on denial of reports that the Tampico district showed salt water deterioration. Mexican Petroleum made an initial gain of 1½, and Pan-American, Sinclair and Texas Company were fractionally higher. Union, Houston, and Standard Oil of New Jersey gained almost 2 points. Coalers added to yesterday's gains, and transcontinentals strengthened. Higher quotations for the leading foreign exchanges accompanied over-night advices of more hopeful developments at Genoa.

looting in the Falls district yesterday received a severe shock when they were tried and sentenced by Republican police to be tarred and feathered.

The sentence was duly carried out, and the thieves were marched down the street labelled "Looters, beware!" and accompanied by a joyous shouting crowd. The arrival of the military ended the thieves' ordeal.

The wireless station at Bunbeg, near Gweedore, on the western Donegal seaboard, has been seized by Republican forces, it was announced here today. The raiders provided the naval men in charge of the station with transportation to the nearest railroad depot.

SIEGE LASTS 40 MINUTES.

Dublin, April 21.—The attack on the Wellington barracks, which began at 11:15 o'clock last night, continued 40 minutes, after which the besieging forces were beaten off by the garrison of regular Irish Republican army troops.

An attempt was made to rush the front gate, and two grenades were hurled, slightly wounding three of the garrison. The guard replied
