"BULL" FOUGHT WITH A COW

Prize Animal Escaped During Review, and Policeman Had a 30-Minute Tussle.

There was an extra attraction added to the regular shows at the Exhibition yesterday. This was a "bull" fight. Policeman No. 274 was the fighter with a cow from the fair stables. The officer was standing near the press building when the animal came dashing along the road. There was a short rope dragging behind the animal, and this the policeman grabbed.

But the prize beast had no respect for the law and refused to submit to arrest. The officer wound the rope around his body and set his feet against a tree. It was all in vain. Half dragging No. 274 the cow reached the lawn behind the press bureau.

The policeman succeeded in getting beside her head and started to lead the animal to a handy tree. By this time a large crowd had gathered. The animal took advantage of an opportunity to play to a grand stand. Drawing back she charged the policeman. He was knocked some distance.

Then began a battle royal between a husky member of the Toronto police force and a maddened cow. The officer grasped the cow by the buttocks and attempted to throw it. The animal charged again and again, but with no apparent effect. The policeman then succeeded in securing the rope to a tree, but for 30 minutes later the animal held attendants and police and everybody else at bay. At length she was led back to the stable still protesting.

"Going to raise your own garden truck this year?" "I don't know. I'm going to plant vegetable seeds again, if that's what you want to know."—Detroit Free Press.

"Someone sent Jinx an infernal machine, I hear." "Yes, I heard it when I went past his house yesterday." "Heard it explode?" "No; phonographs don't explode."—Houston Post.

PLAY U.S. GOLF FINAL TODAY

Chick Evans of Chicago and Jerome Travers of New Jersey Remain in Wheaton Tournament.

WHEATON, Ill., Sept. 6.—The east will meet the west tomorrow for the national amateur golf championship.

Charles Evans, jr., of the Edgewater Club, Chicago, western amateur champion, holder of many course records, and joint holder with Harold Hilton of the low medal score in the qualifying round of this tournament, will play Jerome Travers of Upper Montclair, N.J., metropolitan champion, twice national champion, and a match player admitted to be one of the strongest in this country. Travers and Evans both are scratch men in the national handicap list.

Travers has played his way thru the tournament by defeating Sherill Sherman of Yahundas 8, 5 and 4; Walter J. Travis, 2 and 1; Mason Phelps of Midlothian, 2 and 1, and Hamilton Kerr of Ekwanok (whom he defeated today), 7 up and 5 to play.

Kerr's showing has been one of the surprises of the national championship. The young Vermont player was extended to his utmost to beat Paul Hunter of Midlothian in 37 holes, and was easy for Travers.

Chick Evans was forced today to defeat Warren K. Wood of Homewood, who carried the match to the 33rd hole. Wood was runner-up to Evans at Denver in the western championship. Evans had 18 fours and 5 threes in the 33 holes, but his second nine contained four sixes, and at noon he was sick and "all in." Evans went thru the field, defeating in turn A. W. Tillinghast of Shawnee, 3 and 2; H. B. Lee of Detroit, 3 and 8; H. Schmidt of Worcester, 6 and 5, and Warren K. Wood, 4 and 3.

Norman Hunter of Edinburgh, who yesterday collapsed because of the heat, and was forced to withdraw from his match with Wood, remained in bed all day today under the care of his physician, but was pronounced not in danger.
