WITHERED FLOWERS.

Treasured relics! leaves and flowers—
Tokens of life's happy hours;
Myrtle blossoms, rosebuds fair,
Twined with leaves for sunny hair;
Sweet boquets of every grade,
Gathered from Love's rural shade;
Though ye now are faded, dead,
With your sweetest perfume fled,
Breath ye of hearts that lie
Where the zero leaf nestles by;
Haunt ye memory's hallowed dream
With a concentrated theme!

Holy treasures of the past,
Scenes too beautiful to last,
Softly thrilling tones of song,
Borne by the summer's breath along,
Soul lit-eyes of melting hue,
That from heaven their lustre drew,
Fair white hands, and locks of gold,
That an angel's beauty told,
Moonlit walks, and aspen bowers,
These ye tell of, withered flowers!

But there comes a whisper low,
Gentle as the streamlet flow,
From each dry and dewless leaf,
Hushing every sigh of grief,
Breathing of that garden fair,
Where affection's flower's rare,
Spring into perennial bloom,
Far beyond the blighting comb;
Voices from the "better land,"
Loved of many a household band,
Linger around these rustling leaves,
In the song the south wind weaves!
Though ye tell of bright hopes riven,
Point ye to a glorious heaven.

VARIETY.

BAPTISM IN HOOPS.—At Chicago last week, a rather amusing scene took place during the baptism of a young lady by the pastor of the Tabernacle. The Union says:—The minister requested her to assume the dress peculiar to the occasion, but she declined to take off her hooped skirt; the minister told of the inconvenience that must result from her obstinacy, but she persisted. When she came to descend into the bath, the inflated skirt touched the water and rose up round her like a balloon. Her head was lost to the congregation, she was swallowed up in swelling skirt; the minister tried to force her down into the bath, but she was kept above the surface by the floating properties of the crinoline, and buoyed up so successfully that it was not until after much difficulty and many forcible attempts to submerge the lady, the minister succeeded in baptizing the fair one. Finally it was effected, to the relief of the minister and the seriously inclined audience, who could not keep from laughing in their pocket-er-chiefs.

SHOCKING TRAGEDY IN CALIFORNIA.—The deliberate murder of himself and family by Michael Brenan, at Grass Valley, California, on the 23d February, was a most shocking affair.—Mr. Brenan went to California from New York about two years since, as agent of the Mount Hope mining company. He was formerly a reporter for the New York press. It appears that he had lost largely and was greatly embarrassed, and the circumstances show that he deliberately formed the plan to escape from the difficulties by destroying himself and all dependant upon him. His family consisted of a wife and three children. He obtained a large quantity of Prussic acid from San Francisco, and on Sunday sent his servants to church that his operations might not be interrupted. A letter from a lady of Grass Valley gives a connected account of the affair.

"It is supposed that he did not tell his wife that he had lost heavily, and was deeply involved, more than ten minutes before her death. As she was totally unacquainted with her husband's financial condition, she knew nothing of his embarrassment; and when he told her of his situation and what he meant to do with himself, the shock caused her to feel faint and she laid down on the sofa. At this time he handed her a glass of claret, with the deadly poison in it, which she drank, thinking it was only wine, and that it would revive her. A loaded pistol was on the table for use in case she had not drank the wine. After drinking, she clenched her hands and struggled some, when he put the pillow over her face and smothered her; then saturated a piece of sugar with the poison and fed it to the child. When the cook returned, he took the oldest child, a girl, and administered the sugar to her. He then called the boy Bobby, into the room, but he ran out, crying 'Oh! mamma!' but the father followed him, calling him his little man, took him up in his arms, carried him back, gave him some sugar and smothered him. The girl who was preparing lunch in another apartment, did not think anything unusual of his action. After killing the entire family, the father secured all the doors and sat down to write, but hearing Martineau come, he stepped out, and holding the door in his hand, told him the girls were at church, and that they would not bother about lunch, but have dinner at 5 o'clock. He said Mrs Brenan was not well, and had laid down."

After writing several letters giving directions about his affairs, and especially urging that the bodies should not be buried until their death was absolutely certain, he took the fatal poison, and the whole family were soon after found dead in the same room.

SIMPLE BUTTER COOLER.—Melted butter is all very well in its right place but when butter is put upon the tea or breakfast table having the appearance of being just out of the oven, it is anything but creditable to the housekeeper, and far from satisfactory to those who eat it. Dry toast is positively spoilt if spread with soft butter; indeed, if butter cannot be brought to the table at least firm if not hard, it is better to keep it away altogether. Fortunately, however it is not necessary to proceed to such desperate measures as butter can be kept nice and cool in the hottest weather and that in a very simple manner. Procure a large new flower pot of a sufficient size to cover the butter-plate and also a saucer large enough for the flower pot to rest in upside down; place a trivet or meat stand (such as is seat to the oven when a joint is baked) in the saucer and put on this trivet the plate of butter; now fill the saucer with water and turn the flower-pot over the butter so that its bottom edge will be below the water. The hole in the flower-pot must be fitted with a cork; the butter will be in what we may call an air-tight chamber. Let the whole of the outside of the flower-pot be then thoroughly drenched with water, and place it in as cool a spot as you can. If this be done over night, the butter will be as "firm as a rock" at breakfast time; or, if placed there in the morning, the butter will quite hard for us at tea-hour. The reason of this is, that when water evaporates, it produces cold; the porous pot draws up the water, which in warm weather quickly evaporates from the sides and thus cools it; and, as no warm air can now get at the butter, it becomes firm and cool in the hottest day.—Septimus Piesse.

WONDERFUL WORK OF ART.—It is stated in the European papers that the famous astronomical clock of the Cathedral of Strasburg reproduced, by means of its machinery, with perfect accuracy the various phases of the recent eclipse of the sun. This clock as is known in addition to declaring the time presents the heavenly bodies and their movements.

A young man in New York recently advertised for a wife. In less than two hours 18 married men sent in word that he might have theirs.—Connubial bliss in New York must be at discount.

The Subscriber having been appointed Agent to the above Company for New-Brunswick, begs to announce that he is prepared to receive Proposals for FIRE AND LIFE ASSURANCE. The large Capital of the Company, and the number and influence of its Proprietors, enable it to rank with the most eligible Offices, either in America or Europe, with respect to the advantages offered to the Public.

FIRE BRANCH.

Persons Assured by this Company are not subject to any covenants or calls to make good losses which may happen to themselves or other, nor do they depend on any uncertain fund or contribution, the Capital Stock of this Company being an unquestionable security to the Assured in case of Loss or Damage by Fire.

LIFE BRANCH.

In addition to the more common methods of insurance, the Company likewise Assures Lives on any of the following contingencies:—

For the terms of One Year, Seven Years, or any ther definite period.

For the whole continuance of Life.—The Premiums to cease, after a limited number of Annual Payments.

For Two Joint Lives.—The sum assured to be paid on the death of either.

On the longest of Two or Three Lives.—The sum assured to be payable at the death of the last survivor; or,

The Survivorships.—To secure the payment of the sum assured, if a life A die before another life B.

For a sum to be payable at age 60, or at death.

Premiums on Credit.—A portion of the Premiums on Credit. Assurances may be effected in various ways, not enumerated, to meet the convenience of parties.

The important advantages afforded by the Company in the Life Branch will include the following viz:—

The Guarantee of an ample Capital, and Exemption of the Assured from liability of Partnership.

Moderate Premiums.
