The Economies of Charity.

The problem of dealing with the poor is always a perplexing one. It very often happens that our good intentions and our good deeds have anything but a beneficent effect upon those whom we are trying to help along or relieve from temporary distress. The distribution of bread and meat to all-comers is sure to have a demoralizing effect on the community. Every city is full of people who have no sense of self-respect or of personal independence, and it is these people who will benefit the most in any promiscuous scramble for bread. In this class are included the chronic good-for-nothing people, professional beggars and people who, though able to support themselves, are always on deck whenever and wherever anything can be got for nothing. In any charitable organization the most important part of the work consists in ascertaining who the people are that should be helped, and in what way assistance should be given. The collection of articles of food and clothing and of money is easy when it is known for certain that they will be devoted to those really deserving assistance. The practical side of helping the unemployed is set forth with precision in the last number of The Forum. Josephine S. Lowell discusses the various methods of relief proposed, and makes the leading feature of her paper the maintenance of a clear distinction between the chronic form of poverty as it presents itself in the great cities at all times, or, at least, annually, and the acute form due to a temporary disturbance of the wheels of industry. The usual remedies adopted to meet such distress, viz., charitable relief, charitable work and relief by public works, are condemned as directly calculated not only to aggravate, but actually to create the very conditions they are designed to relieve. The present deplorable condition of Chicago is charged directly to the fact that $30,000,000 have been spent there on temporary work during the past three years. Turning next to the sufferer from the acute stage of the disease the writer points out that the two chief dangers to be confronted are: (1) The encouragement of chronic dependence in the weaker sufferers, and (2) The diversion of the relief from its intended purpose to the doubtful benefit of those who are in chronic need. To avoid these two dangers the writer insists on the relief being of a kind which those in acute distress will accept because it does not offend their self-respect and which will not tempt those in a chronic state. "Relief work to be a benefit must be continuous, hard and underpaid." The greatest danger of all, she points out, is that by the very means adopted to help one hundred or one thousand ten thousand should be injured. She argues that the sole permanent dependence of the toiling masses is regular work, and any interference with trade on the regular market which acts unfavorably on the producers will result in greater mischief than any amount of relief work or charitable effort can atone for.

Armageddon It Will Be.

Spring is at hand and the customary prognostications of the coming European war are being made by the newspaper prophets. Archibald Forbes, the war correspondent, reviews the situation in the current number of The North American Review. In his opinion there will be no clash of arms this year, nor in 1895, but that is as far ahead as he can see. Mr. Forbes thinks a general conflict is pretty sure to come. He does not mention Roumania as a likely participator. In the conflict that seems predestined before many years Mr. Forbes foresees a terrible Armageddon. It "will be a struggle to the death. The vae victis will be overwhelming, for the nations which will be vanquished must reckon on suffering dismemberment. The map of Europe shall be transformed out of recognition. If the triple alliance conquers, there will be no longer a French nation, and Russia will be reft of all territory west of the Dnieper, and of the Baltic Provinces as well. In the contrary result, Italy will be the washpot of France, and over Germany will Russia cast her shoe,"

The Bylaw is Now a Fact.

After two months' arduous fighting the civic economists have succeeded in passing the salary reduction bylaw. It became operative yesterday, and next month's salaries will be paid according to the revised scale. The economy crusade, which Ald. Sheppard and Thompson have instituted so vigorously, is of quite a different kind from Ex-Mayor Fleming's attempts in the same line. Mr. Fleming talked oceans about economy, but he never did anything. He never attempted anything. During the two months' life of the present council more economy has been effected than during the two whole years that Fleming held office. It is understood the crusade will be carried still further. Several officials whose services are not required will be dispensed with and there is talk of closing up two of the fire halls.

Railway Ferries.

A despatch from Cleveland discloses a project for establishing a railway ferry from that city to Rondeau Harbor, to connect with the Erie and Huron Railway. The distance is 55 miles, and the company is figuring with a shipbuilding company for the building of a steel transfer boat capable of carrying 21 loaded cars and 600 passengers, to operate between the points named. Coal, merchandise and other freight can be transferred in the cars without change to Ontario, Michigan and the Northwest.

The same reason which makes such a ferry system desirable in this locality operates in regard to a ferry between Toronto and the Niagara River, with the advantages all in favor of the Toronto-Niagara project.

Mr. Meredith's Appointment.

The city is to be congratulated on the appointment of Mr. Meredith as City Solicitor. The learned gentleman has had a wide experience in the special matters which will engage his attention in his new office. What is needed more than anything at the City Hall is a lawyer who will display greater ability in preventing and heading off law suits than in defending them. His best work will be seen in the drafting of contracts, in the securing of legislative enactments in the city's interests, and, generally speaking, in seeing that our affairs are attended to in such a way as to permit of the least possible litigation. It is time the city was freed from the everlasting litigation that contractors wage against it. The only drawback we see to Mr. Meredith's appointment is the fact that it is to be for such a limited time. The Ontario general elections will come off this summer and Mr. Meredith will then have to resign to form his cabinet. Except for this contingency the appointment of Mr. Meredith is as good a one as could be made.

Owing to Dr. Oronhyatekha having been called away from the city, the letter regarding Mr. McCabe's Commercial Endowment Plan and Commercial Plan will not appear before Saturday.

AFTER TWO YEARS' SUFFERING.

A Young Lady Is Restored to Perfect Health—Speaks for the Benefit of Others Afflicted.

Miss Jessie McGregor, daughter of Mr. James McGregor of Big Island, Pictou, N.S., says The New Glasgow Chronicle, relates an experience which should go far towards giving hope to other sufferers. Miss McGregor took sick in 1890 and for a considerable time was attended by the family physician, but with no improvement. Another doctor was then called in, but no better results attended his ministrations, and a third was sent for, but still no improvement. Indeed, she was rather growing steadily worse. She seemed to be in a condition of decline. Then a large gathering commenced on her neck, which was opened and discharged considerable matter, but did not heal. This, with the suffering she had undergone for over two years and a half, brought her to the very brink of the grave. At this juncture her brother insisted on her giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, and sent for a supply. Although wellnigh disheartened, Miss McGregor began use of the Pink Pills and soon found that they were helping her, and joyfully continued using them for some time longer, until she found herself as well as she had been for years in her life. She says she feels very thankful that after two years of suffering, during which she had almost despaired of recovery, she again finds herself enjoying the blessing of perfect health.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have a wonderful efficacy in building up the system when shattered by a depraved condition of the blood or impaired nervous forces, and there is no case of this kind they will not cure if given a fair trial. Ask for this great blood builder and nerve restorer, and positively refuse all imitations and substitutes said to be "just as good" or "just the same." These substitutes are only offered by a few unscrupulous dealers because of the larger profits they get on them. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills may be had from dealers or by mail, post paid, on receipt of 50 cents a box or $2.50 for six boxes, by addressing the Company at Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y.

In the Old World and in the New.

Africa has long been styled "The Dark Continent," and enterprising men have from time to time endeavored to penetrate its vast wastes. It is now developing railroads, and in a recent article on that subject a writer in one of the London papers calls attention to special fast trains that are running between Cape Town and Johannesburg, a distance of a little less than 1000 miles, or almost exactly the same mileage as between New York and Chicago. "The Black Flyer," as it is called, makes this distance in 60 hours, requiring just three times the time taken by the New York Central's "Exposition Flyer" between New York and Chicago during the World's Fair. The London correspondent explains that there is no way of heating the cars and morning and night it is very cold; you have to wash in ice water and eat your meals in a dining car that is perfectly cold, and in a draft that will nearly take your hair off. Some Americans, and even some European travelers who at home have never been in favor with the facilities that American lines give, are inclined to find fault, occasionally, with the accommodations on American roads, but we imagine that if they took one ride from Cape Town to Johannesburg on "The Black Flyer," they would never again complain of the facilities that American lines give them.—From The Buffalo News.

Competition is beyond the thought of resurrection with the unheard-of prices charged for gents' furnishings in the great sale of Cooper's Rossin House stock, bought at 56c on the dollar, and now selling at half usual prices at the Army and Navy Store, corner Yonge and Temperance-streets.

Technical School Board.

At a meeting of the Technical School Board last night it was resolved that the board hold a special meeting next Tuesday night for the purpose of conferring with a committee appointed by the City Council and ascertain whether the salaries can be reduced. The reports of the various committees were read and adopted.

Rare Old Port.

A great many people are aware of the excellent quality of Feuerheerd's Commendador Port Wine (bottled in Oporto) and regularly supply themselves with it. This wine was introduced in Canada nearly 30 years ago, and to-day can safely lay claim to be the leading bottled Port brand registered. Beware of imitations. 135

That Canal Scheme.

The $60,000,000 Canal Committee met yesterday and passed a resolution instructing the City Engineer and Solicitor to draw up an agreement on the lines of a resolution moved by Ald. Hewitt at the last meeting of the committee, without any reference to Ald. Lamb's letter requesting that safeguards be put in the agreement to protect the city.

California and Mexico.

The Wabash Railway has now on sale winter tourist tickets at the lowest rates ever made to Old Mexico and California. These tourist rates are available for the great winter fair at San Francisco. The banner route is the great Trunk Line that passes through six states of the Union and has the most superb and magnificent trains in America.

Full information may be had from any railroad agent, or J. A. Richardson, Canadian Passenger Agent, northeast corner King and Yonge-streets, Toronto.

Thousands more of our fellow-citizens will make money this week by attending and buying at this great sale of Cooper's Rossin House stock of high-grade gents' furnishings, bought at 56c on the dollar, and now being sold at positively half-price at the Army and Navy Store, corner Yonge and Temperance-streets.

Fagged Out—None but those who have become fagged out know what a depressed, miserable feeling it is. All strength has gone and despondency has taken hold of the sufferers. They feel as though there is nothing to live for. There, however, is a cure—one box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will do wonders in restoring health and strength. Mandrake and Dandelion are two of the articles entering into the composition of Parmelee's Pills.

Relief in Six Hours.

Distressing kidney and bladder diseases relieved in six hours by the Great South American Kidney Cure. You cannot afford to pass this magic relief and cure. Druggists.

Mr. R. L. Simpson, 108 Oxford-street, says he considers St. Leon unsurpassed as a pleasant aid to digestion. This gentleman has drank it for over seven years, and has proved its beneficial effects by practical experience. 36

GOVERNMENT PAID THE BILL

BUT THE HOUSE DIDN'T SANCTION THE EXPENSE.

Minister of Education Ross Hauled Over the Coals By Mr. Meredith—The Debate On Mr. Marter's Resolution With Reference to the Abolition of Government House Postponed For a Week.

In the Local Legislature yesterday Mr. Clarke, the newly-elected member for South Lanark, was introduced to the Speaker by Messrs. Bronson and Caldwell, amid an enthusiastic hammering of their desks from the supporters of the Government. The Attorney-General beamed on the demonstration with a smile that was child-like and bland.

On the request of the Minister of Education Dr. Ryerson consented to allow his bill to amend the Public Schools Act to stand for a day or two.

Provincial Aid to Railways.

Mr. Clancy enquired: How much of the sum voted by the province in aid of railways has been paid by direct cash payments? How much have the railway aid certificates or scrip been issued for in lieu of direct cash payments respectively to Dec. 31, 1893?

Hon. Mr. Harcourt: The list of cash payments in aid of railways to Dec. 31, 1893, amounts to $5,959,084.13; the direct payments, where no certificates were issued, to $1,704,195.16; where certificates were issued and have been paid, to $4,254,888.97; the total amount of certificates issued has been $5,567,038.85; of which certificates now outstanding amount to $1,312,149.88. The present value of these outstanding certificates on the basis of 4¼ per cent. is $922,091.92.

Contested Elections.

Mr. Willoughby inquired in how many cases since the introduction of the ballot have petitions been filed against the return of members to this Legislature, and in how many of such cases has a scrutiny taken place, and what was the cost, in each case, of the scrutiny?

Hon. Mr. Gibson: Since the general elections of 1875, since the ballot was first introduced, there appear to have been 82 contested elections—in 1875, 22; in 1879, 17; in 1883, 21; in 1886, 3, and in 1890, 22. There have been other contested elections, but the above appear to be the only ones that went to trial, and they are made up from the records of the journals of the House. I cannot apply to any official records with regard to scrutiny. There was, however, the case of Lincoln in 1875 and that of South Wentworth in 1879. I do not know whether there were others, but I believe that formal applications for unseating members were made in other cases, which were not found necessary, as in the majority of instances the cases were brought to a termination before it became necessary to enter on a scrutiny of the ballot. There are no available statistics as to the cost of scrutiny.

Government House.

Mr. Marter rose to address the House in support of his motion with reference to the maintenance of Government House, but at the request of Sir Oliver the motion was allowed to stand until next week.

The Prohibition Vote.

Mr. McKay's motion for a return from the records of the votes cast "yes" and "no" on the question of prohibition on Jan. 1 last and all particulars in connection therewith was agreed to.

Bills Read the First Time.

The following bills were read the first time:

To amend the Ontario Election Act by providing that nothing contained in the oath to be administered to voters shall affect or prevent any voter voting in Ontario who has gone to the United States to obtain employment, but whose family resides in Ontario, even though he has taken the oath of allegiance to the United States.—Mr. Garrow.

To amend the act respecting writs of execution by providing that such writs may include both goods and land, the contrary being the present practice.—Mr. Garrow.

To amend the Municipal Act by repealing the provision which enables municipalities to demand contributions from the county towards the maintenance of bridges.

To amend the Municipal Act by providing that bylaws may be passed requiring auctioneers to take out licenses for selling real estate, as well as for the sale of goods.

Unauthorized Expenditure.

The House was about to adjourn, when

Mr. Meredith rose to call the attention of the House to a return brought down yesterday respecting an order in council concerning the ratification of the printing contract, and expressed surprise because the contract itself was not submitted for the approval of the House. No copy of it had been offered for their inspection, and consequently the order-in-council was not intelligible. He wished to call attention to another matter: the printing of documents of no considerable expense to the province without the sanction of the House. He had in his hand a book, a good book, because it exhibited the name of the Minister of Education on the title page, which appeared to have been printed for the Department of Education, but he must protest in the strongest possible manner against expenditures of this kind made without the sanction of the House. The Government was altogether too ready to deal with the people's money without the consent of the people's representatives. This was not the only case. Many like instances had occurred. This practice had become the rule, not the exception, and should be stopped.

Hon. Mr. Ross replied that he had followed the usual practice.

After some further discussion, in which Messrs. Willoughby, Balfour and Hardy took parts the matter was dropped.

Private Bills.

Mr. Preston enquired whether the time for presenting petitions for private bills would be extended this year.

Hon. Mr. Gibson censured the perpetual carelessness of persons desiring private legislation, but added that no doubt some extension of time would be granted.

The House adjourned at 3.35 o'clock.

Are you ready to buy gold dollars for fifty cents? Then don't fail to attend the great sale of Cooper's Rossin House stock of high-class gents' furnishings, now selling at positively 56c on the dollar at the Army and Navy Store, corner Yonge and Temperance-streets, and you'll find you'll get a full two dollars' worth for every dollar you spend.

Death of Rev. Mr. Maxwell.

Rev. William John Maxwell, pastor of Elm-street Methodist Church, died at his residence, 273 Queen-street-avenue, a few minutes before 8 o'clock yesterday morning, after an illness that extended over nearly 16 months. Mr. Maxwell was born in Lambton County in 1845. He spent his early life in school teaching, and was ordained to the ministry in 1875. His probation was spent on the Walford and Parkhill circuits. Among his charges after ordination were St. Catharines (twice), Brantford, Guelph, Hamilton and Bloor-street, Toronto. During his ministry in Hamilton he was chosen president of the Niagara Conference, and last June he stood second in the vote for the presidency of Toronto Conference, which meant the presidency next year. The sickness which resulted in his death was contracted a year ago last October while he was pastor of Central Methodist Church. After partially recovering, contrary to the advice of his physicians, he entered his work with that devoted energy which characterized his whole life. Shortly after he became pastor of Elm-street Church his constitution once more gave way and he gradually grew weaker, until at 8 o'clock yesterday morning a severe attack of hemorrhage brought his career to a close. He leaves a widow to mourn his loss.

So rapidly does lung irritation spread and deepen, that often in a few weeks a simple cough culminates in tubercular consumption. Give heed to a cough, there is always danger in delay, get a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and cure yourself. It is a medicine unsurpassed for all throat and lung troubles. It is compounded from several herbs, each one of which stands at the head of the list as exerting a wonderful influence in curing consumption and all lung diseases.

EASTERN AND WESTERN BAR.

High Court Sittings To Be Held At London.

A deputation consisting of Messrs. W. Hogg, Q.C., F. H. Chrysler, Q.C., W. Wyld, F. R. Latchford, representing the Eastern Bar Association, and Messrs. Sydney Smith, Q.C., J. Idington, Q.C., and J. P. Maybee of Stratford; M. Wilson, Q.C., of Chatham, F. Hellmuth, T. H. Purdon and P. Moore of London, representing the Western Bar Association, waited yesterday afternoon at the Parliament buildings upon Sir Oliver Mowat and Hon. Messrs. Gibson and Fraser with regard to legislation in amendment of the Judicature Act and rules of court. The draft of the bill submitted provided for weekly sittings of the High Court of Justice at London, except during the long and Christmas vacations, and applied its provisions to the counties of Bruce, Perth, Elgin, Huron, Oxford, Middlesex, Lambton, Kent and Essex. A similar request was made with regard to Ottawa and vicinity.

Sir Oliver Mowat informed the deputation that the Government would grant sittings of the High Court of Justice at London, but had not quite decided with regard to dates. As to Ottawa, the return showed that the business there was extremely small. In his own county and in Huron the bar were not unanimous with reference to going to London. The whole thing was of course tentative, but they might arrange that cases should be confined in the first instance to those of lawyers living in Middlesex and to those entered by consent in a book kept for cases arising in other counties. In some instances it would be much more convenient to go to Ottawa, and a similar provision might be made for that locality. If this were agreeable all difficulties would be removed. He suggested the appointment of a small committee to attend to details and to confer with himself.

Hon. Mr. Fraser remarked that the profession in counties outside of Ottawa, and particularly in Brockville, did not approve of the scheme.

Sir Oliver Mowat desired the committee to consult with him not later than some time next week and possibly this week.

The deputation assented and retired.

A committee consisting of Messrs. Hogg, Idington, Wilson and McGee, Q.C.'s, was appointed to arrange details with the Attorney-General.

HOW THE MONEY GOES.

Public Accounts Brought Down Yesterday by Provincial Treasurer Harcourt.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt yesterday afternoon placed the public accounts in the hands of members of the Legislature.

During the past year overdrafts to the amount of $38,032 were issued under the provisions of schedule A of the Supply bill, made up as follows:

Legislation $14,804.35, education $2915.50, public institutions maintenance $632.08, repairs and maintenance $908.25, public buildings $15,145.38, and certain unauthorized expenditures $3626.08. A special warrant for $250,000 was issued on Feb. 9, last year, to provide $140,000 for public institutions' supplies; $55,000 for the furnishing of the Parliament buildings, $35,000 for departmental pay lists and $20,000 for purposes of legislation.

The receipts are as follows:

Auditorium Last Night.

The Daniels Company of Comedians drew a crowded house last night, which proves conclusively that our amusement-seekers appreciate a first-class specialty performance, and to say that last night's entertainment was strictly first-class is putting it mildly. It was a high price company of artists playing at a paltry admission fee. The management will turn the auditorium into a regular amusement place next week, giving five matinees every week, the matinees commencing on Tuesday of every week, and no doubt it will be a very great success in our city, judging by the way they have been appreciated for the last month.

A Black American Hare.

Recently there was shot near Newcastle a lusus naturæ in the shape of a black American hare. The animal was given to a local taxidermist to fix up, and he put it in a case along with an ordinary hare for purposes of instantaneous comparison. The animal, which has every appearance of age, was deformed by having a double line of muscles on its back and by its shoulder blades being reversed. The greatest curiosity has been aroused by this freak of nature, Mr. Joseph Taylor having had to answer many queries at his place in Colborne-street, where the curiosity is to be seen. Unfortunately the taxidermist destroyed the skeleton.

WANT THE DUTY REDUCED.

Surveyors Think the Tariff on Professional Tools Excessive.

The second annual meeting of the Ontario Land Surveyors was opened yesterday in the Canadian Institute with the President, Elihu Stewart of Collingwood, in the chair.

The standing committees met and prepared the reports of the several departments.

After a quantity of correspondence had been disposed of in the afternoon the president gave a short address, in which he called attention to the necessity of having a topographical survey of the Dominion made at once, and of having the duty on professional tools reduced. Mr. J. W. Tyrrell, Hamilton, read a paper on "The Eskimo."

Mr. Joab Scales of Toronto writes: "A short time ago I was suffering from Kidney Complaint and Dyspepsia, sour stomach and lame back; in fact I was completely prostrated and suffering intense pain. While in this state a friend recommended me to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. I used one bottle, and the permanent manner in which it has cured and made a new man of me is such that I cannot withhold from the proprietors this expression of my gratitude."

Don't hoard your money, you can't make anything that way, but invest it in buying your next spring and summer's stock of underwear, shirts, collars, ties, etc., at the great sale of Cooper's Rossin House stock, bought at 56c on the dollar and now selling at positively half-price at the Army and Navy Store, corner Yonge and Temperance-streets.

Had a Row With His Mother-in-Law.

William Johnston, 107 Wellington-avenue, evidently doesn't live on friendly terms with his mother-in-law. Yesterday he proceeded with the destruction of some of her furniture and she swore out a warrant for his arrest. He was lodged in No. 3.
